WHERE ARE YOU? WHERE ARE YOU?

EL ABUELO

Que Tal Amigos! The other day I was sentado over by the fountain watching los estudiantes (y tomando mi lonche). I saw negros, blancos, amarillos, Raza, gordos, flacos, y muchos. Hijo! I felt like una hormiga. I saw this Chicano walk by a Chicana. She didn't even look at him. He didn't look at her hasta que she had passed by (y era preciosa). I called the guy, "Hey ese, are you mudo?" El dijo, "What do you mean?" "Why didn't you talk to that chica?", I said. "No te gusto?" "Sure I like her, man, but I don't even know her." I told him, "What do you want her to do, make menudo or something?" He started llorando on my shoulder. "We don't have any unity around here--we're not together--la Raza is too uptight, etc." I said, "Que too uptight ni que la chingada! If you don't talk to each other how will you ever get all thses things." He told me, "Come on man, are you on that Chicano and carnalismo trip?" I said, "Mira, you're Brown and she's Brown. What's wrong with saying, "hello" or "Que Tal" or how's it going. You're Raza and she's Raza. You don't need to go beyond that. I don't know any philosophy, but I know one thing: If one Brown man can't talk to another Brown man something is wrong." El student me dijo, "You don't know anything--you're uneducated." Pues, lo que paso is that he just left me standing there. Well, maybe he's right. All I know is that I follow my feelings. Pero sabes que--when that guy left I really felt empty.
