American Women Now Crave Liquor Says L. Dickstein

Girl of Yesterday Was Insulted When Asked To Take Drink

Representative Samuel Dickstein of New York, has started another round in the prohibition bout. In a speech before the Senate beer committee in Washington the other day he declared that the American girl who would once slap a man's face for offering her liquor, now "will kick you in the pants if you don't have some."

Among other things the statement aroused the ire of some of our local populace. "It's just wet propaganda to try and discourage the dries," declares Mrs. Jessie Kenyon, official of the W. C. T. U. here. "They think they can influence a few weak-kneed dries, but the staunch dries will be just as staunch as ever. They even said Frances Willard smoked cigarettes, and she never did."

Dr. C. B. Sylvester, pastor of the First Methodist Church, boosted prohibition by agreeing that there may be more drinking and immortality than before, but that prohibition has nothing to do with it.

"Increased drinking, smoking and immoral relations among the young men and women of today are part of a great moral sag," he declares. "The root of it is the economic revolution of recent years. Economic revolutions attempt to destroy organized religion in the belief that it is closely allied with capitalism. It's the weakening of organized religion and not prohibition that has brought about the change."

"Before prohibition the woman who wanted to drink left the baby outside while she went into a saloon."

Earl Carroll, New York producer, believes that Representative Dickstein's assertion "conveys but small conception of the damage done by prohibition among the girls of our country."

"When I first became a producer even the average girl seemed proud of the fact that she did not drink. It denoted strength of character and decided femininity. Now a girl is rather ashamed to admit abstinence from liquor. To drink and show one's independence seems like just the right thing to do."

"Prohibition has changed girls completely—except in appearance," he hastily added.

The reader may decide for himself the victory of this round.

Depression Starts Forward Movement in Education

New York—"It's an ill wind"—Every major economic depression in the United States has been the starting point for a great forward movement in education, according to Professor William Chandler Bagley of the Columbia University Teachers College, and he predicted that history would repeat itself in the present instance.

Panic years in the past, he pointed out, have witnessed "remarkable expansion" and events of great significance in the field of education.

World Is Changing Views on Literature

Chapel Hill, N. C.—"It is my opinion that the world is visibly changing from the greatest age in the history of permanent literature to the new age of mass production and transitory thought."

This was the evaluation of modern literature made last fortnight by Professor Stephen Leacock, famous humorist, in an article especially written for The Daily Tar Heel at the University of North Carolina.

Owing to the demand for substantial economic returns from published literature of today, writers must appeal to all classes, with the result that their product must be "leveled down to the lowest," he declared.

"Our magazines, our press, our stage, more and more are driven to sacrifice excellence of art to width of appeal," Dr. Leacock wrote.

His comments were contributed in connection with a symposium of opinions compiled by The Tar Heel on trends in modern humor.

Legal Fraternities Attack Legality of New Campus Courts

BEGINNING OF PRECEDENT MAY RUIN LAW AS PROFESSION

Madison.—There was enough free legal advice floating around the University of Wisconsin campus to bankrupt the entire membership of the American bar!

It all started when the newly appointed traffic court convened, with their Honors, Professor Ray S. Owen, Professor William A. Sumner and Albert F. Gallistel (superintendent of buildings), attempting to mete out justice. Six students were assessed small fines for traffic violations—which served only to create a cause celebre.

Said representatives of Phi Delta Phi, law fraternity: "If they want to be judges, why don't they run for circuit court? If this court is O. K., then anyone can set up a court and levy fines."

Said the Gamma Eta Gammas, ancient rivals of the "Fiddle-de-Fees": "The Phi Delta Phis are all wet. The Wisconsin statutes gives the regents and faculty the right to enact laws for the government of the university."

Said the Tau Epsilon Rho lawyers: "The university traffic court is illegal and having no judicial basis has no right to impose fines. One of the statutes cited by the Gamma Eta Gammas has been repealed."

All this cross-fire of argument over the legality of the court finally was climaxed by the announcement of four members of Phi Delta Phi that they would carry their fight for an injunction against the faculty jurists to the State Supreme Court if necessary—"if we can raise enough money."

Meanwhile, they promised to defend student traffic offenders without charge.

Sir Norman Angell, British statesman, asserted recently that the depression was not so much the result of natural causes as it was the failure of man properly to educate himself.

Introducing One Froggie, Who Ups and Croaks News

TO YOU, GREETINGS! THIS IS THE ADVENT OF A NEW "COLYUM" WHICH WE HOPE (AND YOU ALL, TOO, PROBABLY, FEAR!) WILL APPEAR ONCE A WEEK ON THIS PAGE.

It does not pretend to represent a consensus of campus opinion, but it will be our endeavor not to limit its scope to the viewpoint of any one group on the campus.

In addition, we expect to print alleged quips, epigrams, verse, and such-like trash as it comes to us.

The best "fast-answer" of the week goes to Morry Williams for a lightning shot at Leon Warmke. Warmke ended a brief moralizing monologue with the words, "You can't get away with it. Your past always catches you up!"

To which Morry smartly cracked, "Oh, I don't know. Your's doesn't seem to have caught up with you yet!"

Another cross goes to the gent who quipped that "college students are young men and women who spend four years finding out that they really don't know any more than they did four years ago."

Another vegetable salad was decorated with hearts cut out of slices of beets. In addition to the other desserts there was a cherry sundaie blanc mange; vanilla pudding, cherry red syrup, whipped cream, and topped with a red candy heart. Also the very delicious angel food cake that is one of the fortes of the cafeteria cooks.

Artists of Upper Division Unite to Form Organization

GENERAL SCHOOL WELFARE IS OBJECTIVE FOR ORGANIZATION

To foster a deeper appreciation of art in its more specific phases, to develop a professional attitude, and to further a mutual friendship among its members, as well as to be of service to the college at large through its various activities, the Upper Division Art Majors have united to form a new organization in the Art Department.

Each week interesting meetings are held, with speakers on the various phases of art. Miss Raymond, from the University of Minnesota, gave a most delightful talk on art fraternities and art organizations at the last meeting.

Revealing many peculiar little incidents which she experienced by her contact with negro art, Miss Berry held the members fascinated when she spoke to them last Monday.

Plan Valentine Luncheon
As general chairman of luncheon, which is being planned for next Monday, Halley Cox is working very hard and making extensive arrangements for the affair which will reveal the spirit of St. Valentine.

Officers of the organization are: President, Hope Allario; vice president, Susan Tallmon; secretary, Marian Ries; treasurer, Halley Cox; reporter, Charlotte Howard.

Harvard Will Be Host to Astronomical Convention

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—DELEGATES TO THE INTERNATIONAL ASTRONOMICAL UNION'S ANNUAL MEETING WILL GATHER AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY THIS YEAR, IT WAS ANNOUNCED THIS WEEK BY DR. HARLOW SHAPLEY, PROFESSOR OF ASTRONOMY AT THE UNIVERSITY.

The Union, which represents astronomical organizations in many countries, will meet from September 2 to 8.

The laws of physics told him that this could not happen unless the atom's nucleus was spinning. The spectrum lines are an effect produced by the orbits, or paths of motion, of some of the electrons that pass near the atom's nucleus. When the lines are split into still narrower lines, it indicates the electrons passing near the spinning nucleus react with it so as to cause slight changes in the energy given off by the atom.

Nucleus, or Central Plant of Atom Spins Like Top on Axis

WITH THE DISCOVERY THAT THE NUCLEUS, OR CENTRAL PART, OF AN ATOM SPINS ON ITS AXIS LIKE A TOP, IT IS THOUGHT THAT ANOTHER STEP TOWARD RELEASING LOCKED-UP ATOMIC ENERGY, A DREAM LONG CHERISHED BY SCIENCE, HAS BEEN MADE.

The newly discovered fact, which was announced by the bureau of standards, is expected to give a scientist a better apprehension of the make-up of the atom and another clue as to how all earthly material is put together.

Atoms are the tiny "bricks" out of which everything is constructed. There are billions of them in the head of a pin. Each atom is like an infinitesimal solar system with a center, or nucleus, or protons, particles charged with positive electricity. Revolving around it, as planets circle the sun, are electrons, negatively charged particles. The electrons spin on their own axis just as the earth does. And now it has been found that the nucleus also spins on its axis, like the sun. Dr. Meggers discovered this by subjecting the spectrum, or split-up light waves given off by the atom to a magnification of 250,000,000 times. When light from any mechanical element passes through a prism it is split up into its different wave lengths, registered as narrow lines on a photographic plate. The lines are arranged differently for each element, the arrangement being known as the spectrum of the element.

Kappa Delta Pi Education Group Elects Members

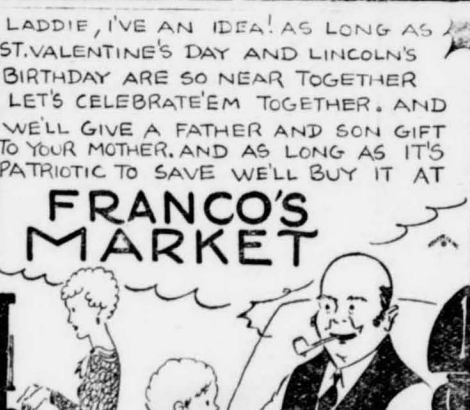

Meeting Is Held at Naglee Park Home of Dr. George Froeland

The home of Dr. George Froeland in Naglee Park, furnished the setting for the last Kappa Delta Pi meeting on Tuesday, February 9, when the main business was the election of new members.

Miss Hill will attend the biennial convocation of Kappa Delta Pi, which will meet in Washington, D. C., February 20-22. Miss Hill departed Saturday evening, February 12, for Washington.

The program of the evening was under the direction of Frances Thompson. The first part of the program was a play in scenes, entitled "The Twins of the American Revolution." As the play was put on as for a child audience, and the audience accordingly. Emmy Lou Bue took the part of Roger Priestly and Beth Nelson that of Sarah Priestly. The part of General Priestly was taken by Rita Hays and that of the faithful patriot servant by Iline Summers. Harold De Fraga, the loyal old black face, and later, the part of the red-coated General Howe, who ordered the Priestly family from their home when they would divulge none of their secrets. Gertrude Miller took the part of the old colored mammy, Aunt Hester. Another member of the cast was old De Fraga, who was first, a British spy, and second, an American Lieutenant. Jose Players Honor Pledges at Semi-Formal Dinner Held at the Sainte Claire Hotel Last Friday

WARD EVANS IS SPEAKER FOR ANNUAL INITIATION CELEBRATIONS

Low candle light, acacia blossoms, that rich baritone voice of Edward Evans, and the calm, active voice of Howard Evans, completed the dramatic atmosphere that enveloped San Jose players and their newly initiated members at a semi-formal dinner, held in the Gold Room of the Hotel Sainte Claire last Friday evening.

The dinner took place in the Mor-Dalley Auditorium. Twenty-five new members were taken into the organization. Howard Evans, president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Edward Evans, as only Howard can.

Howard Evans, coach of Players, in his words gave the new members a cheery, heartfelt welcome to the organization. Howard Evans, president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Edward Evans, as only Howard can.

Dumas Malone Makes Plea for Government

Atlanta.—A plea that American colleges and universities take a more active interest in aiding the government was made before the Atlanta chapter of the University Alumni Association by Dr. Dumas Malone, editor of the Dictionary of American Biography.

Accordingly, it seems that the university of tomorrow will play a larger part in the vital affairs of the nation. The social scientist, dealing with persons rather than things, and the humanist and philosopher, glorifying the mind of spirit, will come into their own perhaps at the expense of the scientific technician.

Students Voice Opinion on Closing of Shows

The University of Kansas pointed out that the law is not helping the law situation, as was intended, but is forcing students to seek town entertainment.

School Editor Replaced for Ideas on Marriage

A scathing editorial denunciation of the institution of marriage recently cost Charles J. Thurmond his job as editor of the Cento, student publication at Centre College in Danville, Kentucky.

In it, Thurmond made the accusation that marriage "ends in wrecked lives and the casting of ugly blemishes on young lives having to come in contact with it."

Although a movement was immediately set on foot among the students for the editor's reinstatement, the consensus of opinion seemed to incline to the belief that the statements made were a little too radical and unbecoming a college publication, and little support was forthcoming.

New Type of College Is Started at Cincinnati

Cincinnati.—A new type of college, to be organized for benefit of non-professional students, and to be of three year duration, was suggested by Dr. Ernest Hatch Wilkins, president of Oberlin College, before the meeting of the Association of American Colleges, of which he is also president.

Citing the special needs of this type of student, Dr. Wilkins said: "I therefore propose the creation of a new type of college, to be called the general college, which would give these students what society really wants them to have, namely, a training which will enable them to live well as members of society. To live well as members of society means to live with intelligence and good-will in each of the five fields of social living, which are: home life, the field of earning, citizenship, leisure, and the field of philosophy and religion."

"Training for successful life in these five fields involves training in health, training in the use of what may be called general mental tools, English, logic and so forth, instruction and some type of experience in each of the five fields, and the encouragement of social mindedness. A college course carefully designed for this purpose could be completed in three years. New institutions might be founded as three-year general colleges, and those four-year colleges which, through lack of endowment, cannot stand the cost of specialized work, would also do well to become three-year general colleges."

"The establishment of such colleges would mean that the four-year college could be more exacting than it now is in its admission requirements and might thus secure a more homogeneous body of students."

"The lower half of the four-year college should, however, not content itself with the type of work it is now doing but should devote its two years primarily to the same type of training for which training is to be given in the general college."

Sororities No Longer Have Private Houses

Los Angeles.—Groans turned to wails and then back to groans again when authorities at Occidental College announced an edict abolishing the use of sorority houses after next September.

The feminine Greeks hereafter must live in college dormitories and maintain their headquarters there. They were also ordered to pledge only junior and senior women in the future.

Although numerous protests were registered, Occidental officials remained adamant.

Co-Ed Capers To Be Given as Aid for Student Loan Fund

STUDENT SUPPORT NEEDED FOR SUCCESS OF THIS ANNUAL EVENT

Proceeds of Co-Ed Capers this year will go to the Student Loan Fund which is sadly in need of reimbursement. This was decided Tuesday, when A. W. S. Council met for a regular business meeting.

Money taken in last year from the Capers was turned over to the Spartan Union Fund, but this year, with the "seeming depression," many students of college have been forced to go to work and they are finding it rather difficult to make ends meet. For this reason the Student Loan Fund functions, but can not go on indefinitely, and A. W. S. realizing this need is coming to its aid.

This is something which concerns the welfare of our own State students and deserves support of every student of college. Come one, come all, to Co-Ed Capers, March 11th, in the assembly.

McDonald's Mind Is Failing Say Friends

"I forgot" is a mere form of insanity. Not specifically implying that this is the case; yet one cannot help but wonder at the portrayal of absent-mindedness now and then among some of our professors on the campus.

Aside from several humorous cases, that of Professor H. C. McDonald seems to be getting rather serious. Five faculty members of the board of athletic control eye the director of physical education doubtfully whenever they sight him—no implications, of course!

Called together late one afternoon last week, the members of the board, Dr. P. Victor Peterson, Walter Crawford, Ervin Blesh, Harold Walker, and N. O. Thomas, came to the director's office at the appointed hour. Nothing strange about that, except that everyone was there but the headman, "Mac".

After a half hour's wait there was still no "head-man". Motion to adjourn was made and carried unanimously.

Investigations revealed that while the aforementioned members were biting their nails and glancing anxiously at their watches and then at the door, the famous "Mac" was attending to other—or—a-business in San Francisco—no implications, of course. The incident was passed up as just a mistake.

But the neglected faculty members and others have been noticing other symptoms of absent-mindedness—or mistakes. And to crown all, while in the very presence of our Honorable Governor in the new gym, Mac opened his speech, which was a sincere and rather touching one, with: "My memory isn't so good. I can't remember . . ."

Economic Depression for Good of Civilization

Montreal.—Economic depressions such as the world is now experiencing are necessary for the progress of civilization, Prof. E. G. Conklin, head of the biology department at Princeton University, said here in a lecture.

"Some of the weaker, according to the law of nature, will naturally die under stress of the times," he declared. "Others will not propagate their kind. The strong and hardy will survive and reproduce, and thus the human race will be strengthened."

Climate Is Even Over Long Period of Time

Albany, N. Y.—Folk who think all winters, not only this one, are milder in these parts, simply have the wrong kind of memories, according to Gustave S. Lindgren of the United States Weather Bureau here.

He considers this winter an exception, but he asserts that over a long period of records show no climatic change.

"When I went to college," he says, "the daily task of breaking the ice in the water pitcher to wash sent chills down the spine. That was enough to make the weather seem cold for the rest of the day. Now we have warmer houses, better clothing and food, are more athletic and are not so aware of the cold."

Japanese Students Riot at University; Attempt Parade

POSTERS DISTRIBUTED IN ORDER TO DISSOLVE ASSOCIATION

The eight hundred students that rioted in front of the Imperial University in Tokyo on February 11th, heard speeches by four of their fellow students and then attempted to parade through the streets but were dispelled by the police. Posters were pasted on the university buildings and handbills had been distributed around the university in the forenoon urging the students to dissolve the students' patriotic association. This was the first demonstration of the kind that has occurred since Japan moved toward Manchuria and Shanghai.

Any attempt to bring Japan to peace seems to be definitely stopped by the Japanese. Last August Premier Muko Habaguchi was shot and killed, and J. Inouye, leader of the opposition party was assassinated last Tuesday. With the death of these two, Kijuro Shidehara, former foreign minister, is the only one remaining of the famous trio of liberal statesmen. It was learned that K. Shidehara is seriously ill with an attack of cerebral anemia. Tadashi Konuma, a youthful reactionary member who shot the former minister, is believed to be suffering from a form of dementia. Police arrested, but later released the person at whose home Konuma had been living, believing that he had nothing to do with the assassination.

The students who started the riot believe that Japan is in the wrong in starting this imperialistic war and have been agitating for a cessation of activity against China. Twenty-five of the students who were distributing the handbills were arrested.

The Japanese national holiday, Kigensetsu, was celebrated February 12th. It is the supposed anniversary of the founding of the empire in 660 B. C. by Jimmu Tenno, a descendant of the sun goddess.

Great Britain, United States, and France will probably be the hosts to special envoys that are being sent by the Japanese government to clarify the Japanese-Manchurian policy, announced Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa.

Co-Eds and Stockings

Aside from being attractive and in style, Chicago co-eds have found a real use for these new open-work mesh stockings the girls are wearing.

Prior to examinations the fair co-eds take notes and write answers to possible questions on small pieces of paper which they place under the stockings.

Then during the examinations all that it is necessary for the girls to do is to move their skirts and copy the needed knowledge.

And, as Professor Norman Bradish of Northwestern University says, "What is the poor prof to do about it?"

Kindergarten-Primary To Give Formal Dinner

The Hotel De Anza will be the setting this Saturday evening for a formal dinner given by State's Kindergarten-Primary majors in honor of those girls who have graduated and are teaching in the Kindergarten-Primary field.

Plans are about completed for Saturday's affair and committees have been working diligently to make this first banquet a "tradition" in college. A delightful program has been arranged, with Miss Eleanor Freeman, superintendent of San Mateo County schools, as speaker for the evening.

All girls in college, registered in the K. P. department, have received invitations, and should respond immediately if they intend to come.

This affair promises to be a unique and interesting one; so all girls should arrange to be present.

Those wishing to reserve a place can see Miss Alice Shoup, president of the K. P. group, or Irah Hix, chairman of invitations. Miss Emily De Vore and Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, with their respective groups, are responsible for this forthcoming event.

Indiana's Strong Teams To Play Ball Together

South Bend, Ind.—The two strongest teams of Indiana are to meet again on the football field next year after a ten-year lapse of grid relations. Contracts have been signed for a home and home series of two games, the first to be played in 1933 at the Notre Dame stadium, and the second in 1934 at Purdue.

Notre Dame and Purdue played their last game in 1923. In thirteen games played previous to that Notre Dame won eight, lost three, and tied two. Purdue last season tied for the Big Ten title, which it won in 1929. Notre Dame last season was defeated for the first time in years, by Southern California and the Army.

Women Appreciate Big and Little Sister Party

One of the most enjoyable evenings of the quarter, as concerns the women of the college, took place last Wednesday evening at 5:30 when A. W. S. held a banquet in honor of Big and Little Sisters of State. Seventy students and faculty were present.

Miss Mary Jones, chairman of Big and Little Sisters, and toastmistress of the evening, introduced the honored guests of the evening, among whom were Miss Helen Dimmick, who spoke of the girls on the values of having a "big sister." She recalled the time when she was taken care of by her "senior toter," as she called her. Mrs. Snyder, assistant dean, was also introduced. Miss Virginia Clohen, president, welcomed the girls to college, and explained what A. W. S. meant to all women.

Entertainment was furnished throughout the dinner by a musical trio composed of Miss Emily Schwartz, piano; Miss Jessie Sterling, violin; and Miss Morine Cornell, cello, who played selections which threw an air of festivity about the whole affair.

Miss Eleanor Greene gave several vocal selections, and Miss Dorothy Griffin gave a clever reading.

Decorations were red and white, carrying out the Valentine's idea.

Truly this was a delightful party—due to Miss Mary Jones' efforts.

Professor Asserts U. S. Policy Is Imperialistic

New York.—Speaking before the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Conference of the Unitarian and other liberal churches, Professor Jerome Davis of the Yale University asserted that the United States today is in many ways like the Russia of the Czars.

He said in part: "We have an industrial autocracy in the United States now just as real as the autocracy exercised by the late Czar over his subjects. The only difference is not so much in kind but in degree. The fact is that Americans haven't begun yet to realize what it's all about—that an industrial revolution or transformation has changed this nation into an urbanized one, a mechanized one, where fewer than 200 corporations out of 200,000 control half the wealth of the country. The result is that we've lost our liberty and freedom of action without realizing that we have drifted into a state where power is predominant."

"Freedom and liberty are meaningless if a man has no job. Freedom today is to some extent freedom to starve. The average American is constantly indifferent to this fact. It is only when he is unemployed that he appreciates what this means, that he and his fellows have drifted silently into the loss of their freedom without realizing that this has occurred."

"Talents are born in us, but they are not ready made. They have to be developed. Education which does not help you find and develop your best talents is not good education."

"Education must help one adjust himself to his environment. Adjusting to the physical environment is relatively simple. Adjusting to the human environment presents the hardest problem of education."

San Jose State Splits Series With San Francisco Teachers; Winning 41-35; Losing 39-24

THE ENTIRE SQUAD SHOWS REVERSAL OF FORM; GOODELL SCORES ON FREE THROWS; CAPTAIN KALAS STARS

McGrew Stars for S. F. T. C. SPARTANS FAIL TO SCORE FIELD GOAL IN SECOND HALF SATURDAY

After trouncing the San Francisco Teachers' College by a score of 41 to 35, the San Jose Spartans showed a complete reversal of form on Saturday night by losing to the same team. Score 24 to 39.

Johnny Laznibat, regular guard, was unable to play on either night because of a strained ankle. Just how serious the injury is has not been ascertained, but Coach McDonald expects to have Johnny back for the Fresno games next week-end.

The opening whistle Friday saw San Jose take an early lead from which they were never headed. Goodell, Olsen, and Rea played a steady tattoo on the basket to give San Jose a 26 to 18 lead at half time.

Many Fouls Twenty-five fouls were recorded during the game, and San Jose again showed her ability to make the free throw count by making 9 out of 12 shots, which is a very high average.

Second Game Basing their attack around the same Kenny McGrew, who on Friday night had lead his team in scoring, an undaunted S. F. Teachers' quintet rushed a leaden-footed Spartan varsity off its feet to take a well-earned 39 to 24 victory in the second game of the series last Saturday evening in the new men's gym.

S. J. Leads The game opened fast. Goodell lanked one in, and Olsen scored another, a couple of free throws, another field goal, and with the game barely under way, San Jose was leading, 9 to 0. About that time the Teachers' woke up and scored 4 points in their own account. San Jose held her lead until a minute before the half-time gun, when, by virtue of two long shots by McGrew, the Frisco boys went into a one point lead of 18 to 17.

Second Half The second half found the whole team unstrung. Sucker shots were missed, and teamwork forgotten. Rea had to be taken out since he had not fully recovered from his recent illness, and was unable to stand the pace. Smith replaced "Jillopy" Rea, but seemed to be able to do little to stem the tide. Smith took up right where the rest of the team left off, and missed his share of sucker shots with the others. It was just an off night for the men of Sparta, and the Bay City boys made the best of it by increasing their lead. Getting the jump at center proved to be a huge advantage for the visitors, and they were able to sneak under the Spartan basket for several set-ups. Cecil George replaced Leibrant during the second half, and played a great game. "Cec" handles the ball well on the offensive, and seems to fit well with Capt. Kalas. Both Taylor and Countryman were sent in to try their hand at basketry, but neither boy had his "luck," and so San Jose had to be content with scoring her total of 7 points in the second half by virtue of some great foul shooting by Goodell and George.

Last Minute Attack Lead by Capt. Kalas the Spartans opened a last minute drive by attempting several successive long passes which traveled from one end of the court to the other, and nearly carrying the walls with them. The spectators were a little confused as to whether these were attempts to shoot or merely passing to Goodell, who was unable to get in front of them. It is probably a good thing that Goodell could not reach the ball.

An usual, "Angus" lad led the Spartan scorers. Earl made 11 points. Goodell scored 7 of his 11 points on foul shots, making the remarkable amount of 7 out of 7 attempts. Of San Jose's 24 points scored 12 were made by the free throw route. Twenty-four personal fouls were committed, and San Jose scored 12 points out of 16 tries, while the Teachers' made 5 out of 8.

COACH WALKER SUPERVISING GAMES; FACULTY IN FIFTH

The Tau Delta Phi and the P. E. Majors are at present leading the Spartan division of the Intra-Mural league, with three wins and no defeats. At their present rate of wins the two teams will maintain their leading positions until they meet in what will be one of the deciding games of the league.

Ping-Pong Is Too Rough for College Boxers

Asserting that ping pong is too strenuous for college athletes, the coach of the St. John's boxing team has said the team can no longer indulge in the manly sport.

The reason for this ban of ping pong is due to one of the members of the boxing team, a 160-pounder, suffering from an injury after playing ping pong, was forced to forfeit a match to one of the college's opponents.

The athlete, Novicki, was injured by missing a ball and striking his head on the wall.

The fight for second place is very close between three strong teams, the Industrial Arts, Sigma Gamma Omega, and the Print Shop, with two ins and one defeat.

So far the games have been successful, with most of the teams showing up on time for every game. The referees have been furnished principally by the Phy. Ed. Majors organization.

The success of the league is due mostly to the energetic work of Coach Walker of the Physical Education department.

Table with 4 columns: Team, Won, Lost for Gold and White League.

The games with the San Francisco Teachers' don't count in the F. W. C. rating; so the loss of Saturday's game will have to be charged to profit and loss.

STATE BASEBALL TEAM LOSES FIRST GAME BY 11 TO 4

The San Jose State baseball team lost its first game of the season to the strong Mission High school team of San Francisco, 11 to 4.

The first four innings, during which Coach Crawford used his first string, the Mission High team was unable to secure any hits, due to the stellar support of the team, and the superb pitching of Carrol DeSelle.

The game showed the weakness in the batting power, due, no doubt, to the necessary layoffs caused by the prolonged rainy weather. The pitching staff showed potentialities, particularly DeSelle, and Simoni, who twirled the last three innings.

The Spartans were unable to obtain more than 6 hits off the pitching of Ogulin, and the Jones brothers. Three of these hits were made by the Spartan pitchers.

Felice, the State third baseman, showed flashes of midseason form by his sparkling catches. Besides this Sammy also hit a double.

Gomes, Mission High shortstop, was the batting and fielding star of the game. The Indian lad hit a triple, double and a single in four times at bat, besides fielding in a sensational style.

Fresno State at San Jose, Friday and Saturday.

The University of Nevada's double victory over the College of Pacific basketball varsity at Reno last week-end practically cinched the Far Western conference title for the Wolves.

While Chico State, which is reposing in second place and with an outside chance to tie the final standings with Nevada, remained idle, the California Aggies maintained their strong hold on third place by trouncing the lowly Fresno State Bulldogs in two games.

Spartans Out San Jose State, conference champion last winter, but definitely out of this year's race for honors, took on a non-conference team, the San Francisco State Teachers, and split a two-game series, winning the first 41 to 35, and losing the second, 39 to 24.

This week's schedule finds the Fresno Bulldogs invading San Jose to play the Spartans in a

Ernie Nevers May Get Coaching Job With Wolf Pack

Ernie Nevers, considered by many as the leading football player of all times, may be the solution of the coaching problem of the University of Nevada—that is, if the salary is arranged to the satisfaction of both parties concerned.

In the past week the big football star has been interviewed by the college authorities no doubt concerning the present position. Without a doubt the Nevada University would like to have him and will do everything within their power to accomplish this purpose.

Although Nevers had high hopes of securing a position with his Alma Mater, Stanford, he would be in a receptive mood concerning any position on the coast, especially after dropping his professional football activities.

Philbrook May Resign For the past year the "Sagebrush," the Nevada college paper, has been constantly pointing out the errors of Coach Philbrook's policy, especially the number of games lost in the past years. The overwhelming defeats of the Nevada football teams at the hands of California and Stanford have aroused criticism that has been directed against Philbrook.

The editor of the "Sagebrush" has reflected an attack against scheduling any of the games of this year, especially when they are so certain of defeat.
