How to Survive in San Jose

If you're broke and you need some cash, rip it off from the ruling class.
The best things in life are free.
If you steal them from the bourgeoisie.
—Country Joe McDonald
THE SAN JOSE WOMEN'S CENTER, at 9th and San Carlos in the basement of Building 2, 353-7103, offers legal, psychological and abortion counseling and is open to all women. They offer a rape session on Women's Liberation the 2nd and 4th Monday night of the month, as well as a Men's Rap Night the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of the month. The Center also has a Free Store and is in the process of publishing the second issue of Xanthippe, a women's magazine. There is a lot of literature about the women's movement and a bulletin board with information on child care, rides, crash pads, etc. General meetings are held the second Tuesday of the month at 7:30, and any woman can initiate a project.
When I was snail
He was snail
When I wanted affection
He gave me come
When he wanted me
He always got me
When I desired him
He often declined
When he got tired
He said goodbye
When I wished
He kept on
When he smart
He got upset
When he strong
He moved along

CHILD CARE
A student-coordinated child-care center is open five days a week at St. Paul's Methodist Church, at the corner of 10th and San Salvador. They can handle 50-100 preschool individuals in half-day and full-day sessions, with snacks and hot lunches provided. Fees are arranged on a sliding scale according to income.

The Center needs donations and volunteer labor. If you can contribute anything, call the College Union Information Center at 277-3228. Applications for child care are available at the C.U. Information Desk.

TRANSPORTATION
RIDE BOARD
There is a ride board on the first floor of the College Union. If you need a ride, or riders, fill out one of the little cards.

HITCHHIKING
For someone who has no car, San Jose has little sympathy. The city provides only a token gesture for public transportation: a shitty busline which costs half, is coordinated, and has old uncomfortable buses. Hitchhiking here is not the most pleasant experience either. But in the city, your thumb will get you around better than the busline. The only suggestion hitchin' out of town is if you're heading south, try to get a friend to take you down to where 101 becomes highway and is legal to hitch on. From there you can pretty much pick your ride. GOOD LUCK!!

FREE CLINIC
Two are available: one on 151 W. Mission (297-8161 after 5 PM) which is open on Monday and Thursday nights from 5-9 PM, and one on 1915 MOncée Road, open Monday from 5-7 and Wednesday from 5-9. They treat hepatitis, alcoholism, VD, and other medical problems as well as providing pregnancy tests and birth control information. They can't really handle acute medical problems though, as they don't have labs or x-ray facilities. This is a county program.

SAN JOSE STATE
San Jose State Health Center is opening a birth control clinic this fall on campus. It's mainly for women getting birth control for the first time. After an hour's lay session, women sign up for a doctor's examination for a fee of about $10.

RECYCLING
At South Benson and Leigh, near San Jose City College, a recycling center is open on Monday-Friday from 11-5. They accept glass and cans.

THE SAN JOSE RECYCLING CENTER, on Singleton Road next to the City Dump, is open Saturday and Sunday from 9-4, and takes cans, paper, and newspapers.

FLEA MARKETS
The San Jose Flea Market has been in existence for eight years and covers about 68 acres of land which accommodates approximately 27,000 people every week-end. This fantastic market place includes a Farmers Market, kiddle rides, auctions and plenty of 25¢! 15¢ lots to be rented for $6.00 per day. The market is a selling unwanted items. Since the S.J. Flea Market has become so dominated by big business outlets, the prices for parking ($7.50) and drinking Washington have become so high. However, if you arrive early and maybe bring your own lunch you'll find many good deals and possibly an honest profit. The Flea Market is located at 12000 Berryessa Rd. S.J., 297-7346. If you would rather avoid a large crowd and enjoy a mellow non-commercial atmosphere, then the Morgan Hill Flea Market might be a better place to go. This market place covers about 2 acres of land which includes free parking. To get there take 101 south into Morgan Hill and turn left on East Main (1st stop light). Phone 779-3809.

FOOD STAMPS

Due to a Supreme Court ruling last spring which declared the "unrelated households" clause unconstitutional, free food is once again available to most of us. Several new rulings, however, remain in effect. The most significant is one which permits only individuals applying, and not house=holds. The effect is that each person (about 30 people in the household) must apply as a separate unit. Someone must be chosen as the "head of the house" and accepted in the responsibility for the case. The household's income, expenses, debts, and property are all considered as one entity. This all has had very little effect except that many people have been scared and confused by all the bullshit. The stamps are still as easy to get as ever as long as you have your story together. In fact in many cases, your eligibility is made easier. One of the best ways is to lie about the number of people in your house. Instead of telling them that you're living in a three bedroom place with three people, tell them it's only two bedrooms and don't mention the third person (if their income is too high).

The ruling that remains in effect includes a tax dependency (if you were claimed as a dependent within the last year you are ineligible; it will be checked, so talk to your parents before lying). Also you will have to register for work (if unemployed) with the Human Resource and Development Department.

No one should have any ill-feelings about lying and taking off a government which is so unresponsive to the people's needs. Even the program was designed for agribusiness.

We are most sympathetic to the plight of needy persons. We must however not lose sight of the fact that the primary responsibility of the Department of Agriculture is to carry out the farm programs that benefit farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Sara Tofts Benson, 1969

FOOD CONSPIRACIES

New residents in the San Jose State community probably want to avoid the "poison" served up by big market chains. About a year ago various neighborhoods began to cooperatively buy good food at wholesale prices.

The way the food conspiracies work is that each person (about 30 people per conspiracy) is responsible for helping with the ordering, pick-up and distribution of the food. Generally, most conspiracies meet once a week; at this time food for the following week is ordered and paid for, usually $4 or $5 of vegetables can be purchased for $1.50. However, most conspiracies do not limit themselves to vegetables only. Some food conspiracies order a variety of organic food. Besides buying food at a reduced price the food conspiracy concept is one more step in building a sense of community.

If you are interested in joining a food conspiracy or starting one call one of the following:

MINNEAPOLIS AV. FOOD CONSPIRACY
They are very well organized and have food stamp authorization. You can get organic produce, dairy products, nuts, grains and meats. They can take a few new members but they will be glad to help you start your own food conspiracy. Call Margie 287-0422

NINTH STREET FOOD INVOLVEMENT
The Involvement is an organic splinter group from the Minnesota Ave. Food Conspiracy. The Involvement offers prices 20-50% below rip off food stores. You order food a week in advance. Orders and pick-ups are made on Wednesdays 6-7 PM. New members are needed. If you want to start your own they can find assistance here. Call Linda 285-1167 or come by 314 S. 14 street, San Jose.

SYLVIA DR. FOOD CONSPIRACY
Dr. Edward Bjerk has organized a food conspiracy and obtains canned fruits and vegetables at wholesale prices. Orders must be called in before midnight of the last Wednesday of each month and pick-ups and payments are on the following Sat. Call Edward at 227-6184.

NEIGHBORHOOD FOOD CONSPIRACY

The RFC which operates for about a year will be reorganizing. New members are welcome and most of the other food conspiracies you order and pick up one night a week. Mostly fruits and vegetables will be handled. However, if there is an interest, cheese, nuts and grains can also be ordered. Call Paul or John at 222-6184.

Here is how to build your indoor FM antenna: Go to any store where TV antenna wire is sold and buy 10 feet of 300 ohm wire (standard TV antenna wire).

To do the following:
1. Cut the 10 foot piece into two 5 foot sections.
2. With one of the 5 foot sections expose the wires at the ends. At each end twist together the two wires.
3. With the same piece cut here.
4. And with the other 5 foot section attach to the FM radio at one end and with the other end attach to the middle of the 5 foot piece in which you twisted the ends together.

The basic trend in our advanced capitalist economy is toward more monopolisation and centralisation of all institutions, including all forms of media. "Big Business" and "underground" FM stations have been built to "groove" the system of control and centralization of all institutions, including all forms of media. Even "hip" FM stations and hear endless commercials, ranging from sports cars to Bank of America credit cards. However, the people of San Jose have worked and "underground" stations to "groove" the system of control and centralization of all institutions, including all forms of media. Even "hip" FM stations and hear endless commercials, ranging from sports cars to Bank of America credit cards.

DEAD IN SAN JOSE

You're tired of hangin' around and you want to travel
You're tired of travelin' and you want to settle down...

I've just come to San Jose from Minneapolis via Wyoming and am writing this review of the Grateful Dead concert as a result of vocalizing my fantasies to some of the people who have been putting this paper out.

I had consciously decided to try to see the Dead right away before I got here, and made the pleasant discovery that they were going to be in San Jose just a couple days after I arrived in town. This was a nice coincidence, and it fit in with the smooth way things were going for me in general. Actually, although I was doing all right I was still a little unsettled—just having come to town, not knowing anyone yet, uprooted and all.

Anyway the whole point of this effort is to try to explain that while I was there at least, listening, watching the band and the crowd, I kind of felt at home in this new place. That may not be a flash observation to make about a more than four hour show, but you must be tired of superlatives as the staple of these reviews.

Some nice words are in order though, simply because they gave such a fine performance. The band started at 7:00 and not 8:00 like the ticket said—so I missed some arriving at 7:30. The ushers didn't seem super interested in where people sat and I cheated a few rows on my 4:30 seat. Everyone was already having a pretty good time, and after another half-hour as the place filled up more and the band picked up the slack of the fresh audience, the crowd was on its feet.

Bob Weir, the rhythm guitarist, was in the forefront of the group more than usual, taking the lead vocal frequently. One of the songs from his new album, "Ace," as well as those he's sung all along like "Truckin,'" this would seem to be a healthy sign for a band that has been together as long as the Dead, to take its emphasis off Garcia and redistribute it a bit. What with the high level of egotism in the music business it is refreshing to see a band as good as the Dead work out their changing roles in the band apparently rather successfully. Everyone in the band deserves credit for that.

As a whole the show was relatively even-paced, not sluggish but shifting moods. For me the highlights were Weir's vocal on "Truckin'," his new song "One More Saturday Night," which sounds like an instant classic to me and which got a terrific reception from the audience; and their encore number, the ever-popular "Uncle John's Band."

It was a damn good show and the highest compliment I could pay them is what I've already said—they can make you feel at home in a place you've never been before.

One of the many Tenants Union goals has been to conduct a housing survey wherein multiple-dwelling units in the community were evaluated; this information may be found in the "Tenants Tower List." Also, the second edition of Squatters' Unite is available. Some of the articles include: True or False trendy, and the latest on Nixon's Rent Control program.

This summer Tenants Union members helped to organize the Continental Branch of the Milpitas Tenants Union when the land­lord refused to make repairs. They are now taking their legal battle under the " Humphries warrant of habitability" and stand a good chance of winning their $2 million suit.

The Tenants Union, which is also helping with the development of the 22 Street Tenants Union, opened a new office at Sixth and Williams, and did extensive counseling of tenants, both personal and over the phone, about their problems with deposits, evictions, rent control, eviction, etc.

Some goals of the Tenants Union are to inform their rights; help coordinate effective tenants' actions against landlords, including court actions, rent strikes, and informational picketing; do positive research on local landlord holdings and community housing developments and make this information available to all tenants. We must reform or tenant reforms will never effectively solve the housing problem until we see a fundamental change in the social, political and economic organization of society.

Many tenants in the community have had the benefit of knowing that through the Tenants Union their rights as tenants are being upheld and that no longer do they have to be harassed such as illegal rent increases, non-refundable "security deposits," retaliatory eviction, etc. So far, the success of the Tenants Union can only be attributed to people living in the community and their time and assistance. Anyone interested in the Tenants Union or who needs advice in a hassle with their landlord can call 990-9555 X. Williams

THE DRUG SCENE

Most San Jose students lives are controlled by the activities of almost every social group smoke dope. Drug busts against users are not a rare occurrence, but when they do happen; if you're Black or Chicano or riding around on the East Side, your chance of getting busted is increased.

Here are some simple things that might save you from getting in a tight spot:

1. Never carry dope around in a car that's in need of repair; broken lights, no license plates, etc., are just an invitation to the pigs to pull you over.
2. If you do get pulled over, the driver should get out and walk to the cop car while the lights, no license plates, etc., are just an invitation to the pigs to pull you over.
3. Always carry dope either in your shoe or in your underwear.
4. Don't smoke in houses with open windows, without curtains, etc., and if you live in the dorms, put a towel under the door.
5. Don't say anything about dope over the phone.
6. Buy only from dealers you know and will see again, and don't buy anything without sampling and examining it in advance.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For quite a few years at State you were free to drop courses for nearly two months into the semester. Last year, however, many students learned painfully through experience that this is no longer true. These days you have only three weeks in which you can freely decide whether or not you want to drop a particular course after that, you have to go through a huge hassle with your department, which must then be evaluated by the Dean of Students. She will only approve "good" reasons (not liking the class is not good enough), like a doctor's certification, your house burned down so you had to get a job, etc. Many people end up with F's just because they put off dropping a class until it was too late.

If you blow that, though, there are still several things you can do. For one, you can take an incomplete. Incompletes no longer turn into F's on your record, but simply fade away if you don't make the rest away. But if you keep coming back, a few students will eventually get the rest away.

BOOK SWAP

This year, for the first time, the SJS student government is sponsoring a book exchange on campus the first week of classes. Students can get away from money and specifically the rip-off prices of the Spartan Bookstore. The book exchange will take place Sept. 10-12 in the Student Services Center, near the BBQ pits and the lawn area in front of the barracks. There'll be different stations set up for different departments and two different school will be handled each day. So remember to bring your used books to school next week. Don't pump more money into Spartan, go back to the natural state.
It has been summer too long. All the things that I was going to do this summer, I did at least once. Now it’s almost time for another fun-packed semester at dear old SJS, or should I say CSJS? At any rate, it is just about that time and it is important that one consider what he or she is really returning to.

The housing situation is about the same as it has been for five years now; school housing is too sterile and house costs too much for too little in return.

There is no work in this county so if you had any plans about staying well-to-do next semester, forget it.

The same fun-packed administration, the Anything-for-a-Laugh faculty, and those Seeling Medecancy is exact your return with breathless anticipation.

Hari-Krishna, the Campus Crusade, the Black Maxima, the YMCA, the Army, and Air Force, not to mention the fair and Justice-Minded Police of San Jose are all there each wanting something different, but each wanting SOMETHING.

I also note the great food at the Union, the famous Satellite Snack Bar, and Peanuts. The Health Service can still give you something you don’t have in order to cure something else that you have never had. Registration won’t solve your academic problems, the Library is still as inaccessible as it’s ever been, there is an election this year, and you’re cut off dope. All in all, going back to school looks pretty bleak.

But consider this: If the student hamburger eat and every dull lecture you sit through, you come closer and closer to becoming an active part of the generation that soon will inherit the future of this planet, and perhaps even determine the future of this form of intelligent life in the Universe.

When that time comes, and it will come, very shortly, you are going to be prepared to have your say as to how the future is determined. Unless you are actually aware of what goes on around you, this era will catch you by surprise and your future will be determined for you whether you like it or not.

There is a war on in S.E. Asia. There is an election this year. There are people all around you this year who will vote validly for the first time in their lives to this, and then, one and all. You may not agree with what is said, but at least have the right to be intelligent and objective. This year for a change, make up your own mind. Commitment is a big step but your future is worth much...isn’t it?

REFLECTIONS...

WHAT IS A BUNZEL?

It was right after the national student strike against the Cambodian invasion of 1970, when many colleges found themselves with quitting and fired college presidents. Obviously surprised by the scope of this spontaneous eruption of student dissent, the corporate state was quick to blame college presidents for their "permissiveness" and in the words of Spiro Agnew, their "lack of backbone."

The wake of student protests and an escalated Indochina war, San Jose State found their acting president Robert Bunzel (presently SJS academic VP) resigning from his post. During the same time, angry college trustees still in shock over the first-ever U.S. national student strike, began their frantic search for "law and order" college administrators, those who would not sympathize or give into the "student mobs." In other words, they were looking for more cops, not educators, to administer their schools.

For SJS the rich capitalists and bureaucrats who make up the Board of Trustees drafted John H. Bunzel to fill the vacancy of College President. Charmed by Bunzel's performance during the 1968 and '69 student strike at San Francisco State, where he was head of the Political Science Department, the trustees elected John Bunzel to be their top man at SJS.

Also a close look at some of Bunzel's writings, especially his books, The American Small Businessman (1962) and Anti-Politics in America (1967—funded by the Rockefeller Foundation), reveal Bunzel's conformity to the theory of liberal pluralism, this theory which denies the existence of a U.S. ruling class and views the U.S. as an essentially democratic society. This is not the theory (if one can call it that) that the Rockefellers and the wealthy trustees want taught in their schools.

BUNZEL AT FRISCO STATE

At San Francisco State Bunzel co-starred as part of an active cast of reactionaries who, under the leadership of then-acting president S.I. Hayakawa, favored the use of brute police power to break the rapidly growing student strike which began on Nov. 6, 1968 and lasted for 4½ months. The demands of the Third World student led strike included the creation of autonomous, community-oriented ethnic studies departments, were bitterly opposed by Bunzel.

Seeing that the entire corporate-ruled educational system was being challenged by these demands of educational self-determination and community control, the trustees, the Bunzels, and Hayakawas were quick to respond.

Under Hayakawa the SFS campus became a mini-police state. Rallies were declared illegal and strikers were brutally attacked by SFS riot police who converged on the campus from various cities. To counter this outside police provocations, students from other campuses, including many from SJS, came to the aid of their striking brothers and sisters under attack at SFS.

BUNZEL VS. CHICANOS

Over last summer, in a low-key fashion when most students were away from the campus (having learned from his SFS experience), Bunzel fired or failed to rehire for the Fall '70 of the entire Chicano faculty at SJS.
STRUGGLE ALONG CLASS LINES

All three of these elements pose a direct threat to the functions and purposes of education as defined by the ruling class. The state universities which superimpose the SFS structure on the SFS are an integral part. The school did not place its graduates in insensitive and class-biased state bureaucracies (like IBM, Mobil Cities, etc.) but instilled in them a procedure and in their community to struggle for fundamental change for Chicanos whose daily lives are afflicted by the forces of racism, capitalist exploitation, and police repression. Meanwhile Chicano students plan and hope to gain wider support from returnees in their struggles against President Bunzel.

QUOTATIONS BY PREZ BUNZEL

"Our politics, like our milk, are now homogenized. (American Small Businessman, p. 186)"

"One of the myths that dies hard is the notion that most of the important political decisions in the United States are made by so-called 'powerful' and influential members of a ruling clique." (Anti-Politics in America, p. 84)

"In a democracy—where politics is firmly practiced—power is a commodity." (\"Anti-Politics in America, p. 83)"

"Faculty power over all academic decisions must not be compromised.\" (\"The Bancroft Sept.-Oct. 1970 p. 59)"

"Our politics, like our milk, are now homogenized. (American Small Businessman, p. 186)"

"...milk in a democracy do not constitute a natural commodity. Many of them do not know each other and have no built-in way of getting the kind of thing that really counts for an intelligent vote.\" (\"The Bancroft Sept.-Oct. 1970 p. 59)"

"...milk in a democracy do not constitute a natural commodity. Many of them do not know each other and have no built-in way of getting the kind of thing that really counts for an intelligent vote. And in the meantime they are training the sons and daughters of the ruling class and the old middle class to be the grass-roots peoples' organizations (like Welfare Rights, Los Pintos, Community Alert Patrol, etc.) The students and faculty made a basic decision whether to opt for individual monetary success and prestige within the system, or the students make a basic decision whether to opt for individual monetary success and prestige within the system, or to train efficient workers (temporarily) to put themselves through college, and some long-time community residents supplied input to the school as "barrio professors."

THE PURPOSE OF EDUCATION

"Parental discipline is the gateway to knowledge." — Sprio T Agnew

Many people seem to have the impression that public education is something that's for the benefit of the gift of a beacon state. In fact, nothing could be further from the truth. Public education is here to solely benefit and fill the needs of America's ruling class as it has from its inception.

Education at every level is designed to train efficient workers for the different sections of the labor force—to make their discipline, the rich, richer. This is accomplished in many ways. In elementary and high schools it's done through tracking. Certain students are grouped solely for college entrance, and others are not. This works out well for the economy since there are few well-paying jobs which over-educated people wouldn't want to take.

After high school there's the strainer of junior college, state college and university. In City College and the other junior colleges in the area, students are generally trained in a specific skill. Corporations don't have to pay in advance all the millions of young workers, it's done by the taxpayers. And transfer requirements from junior to state colleges keep becoming more demanding, to keep a steady flow of workers in the place in the "blue-collar" and service jobs.

State colleges, like the newly christened California State University at San Jose, turn out the many middle managers required by an advanced capitalist economy. They also impart the mind-set of bourgeois mentality to their students. They teach students discipline, obedience, and try to condition us to accept a role as a servant of authoritarian hierarchy—assets so necessary for the efficient worker. As always, it's the directors of corporations that profit, not the workers who don't have to put out anything for training and in return get ambitious workers that will keep the money rolling in, or thought-control monitors (like teachers) who assist by carrying bourgeois mentality to future generations.

Additionally, the economy gains by having students who are willing to accept the cruddiest job (temporarily) to put themselves through school. Who else would work in the fast-in-the-boxes, the McDonald's, the fast-food industry wages? It's like to keep them from supporting themselves. When added up, that amounts to a huge, almost invisible work force that fills a very specific role. The cost of private and public colleges to the corporations are even more obvious. Universities do over 20% of all corporate research and development—directly for the benefit of business. More and more are developing "Area Studies Centers" that catalog the languages, the civilizations, the political institutions, and the social systems of China, Russia, Latin America—purely for the sake of imperialist penetration. And in the meantime they are training the sons and daughters of the ruling class in the old middle class to be the managers and directors and skilled specialists of the American industries and multi-national corporations.

Is that why you're here, to become a cog in the well-oiled machine that in some more rational and wasteful ways reaps eternal profits for the rich? For a machine that rapes the people and resources of the world to give Americans more and more material trappings while increasing the meaningfulness of life cannot be allowed to exist!

FIGHT BACK! Examine carefully what they're trying to do and don't let them use you! Confront your teachers when they tell you lies, don't try to be anybody by forcing them to treat you as an equal. Learn to treat you as you need to know to build a better world. Look around you, don't let your friends walk around deceived, more college to fight the power wherever you are—in your house, in your classes, in your community, in your life.

We are the children of Babylon. We are the ones born into the belly of the beast. If the worldwide struggle is a jig-saw puzzle, we are the ones who hold the very last pieces.

Struggle, keep on struggling, struggle everyday.

Choose life in your struggle, don't try to be anybody.

Within us and without us we've got to fight the beast. Sisters and brothers, we shall be released.
Tree speech?

It is strange, but true, that SJCC limits students' right to free speech to a private tv show "FIGHT." By subjecting students to authoritative control, bureaucratic hassles, and time restrictions, the administration seriously discourages our efforts at free public speaking.

All of the above are interrelated and function something along these lines: first, rallies, assemblies, or large gatherings are forbidden except on Tues. and Thurs. between 11:00 A.M. and 12 Noon (supposedly the all-college hour when all students should be free, but which in reality doesn't exist.) Secondly, before even the all-college hour can be used a student must belong to an" authorized" on-campus club, fill out in duplicate a form which requires the signature of your club sponsor. Thirdly, after meeting all the above requirements, the Dean of Student Activities must sign your "permission" slip for "free" speech and, he has the power to deny it as happened once before when permission was denied for Bobby Seale to come and speak.

It seems absurd that this "institution of higher learning" should make such a concerted effort on limiting the term "free" to free speech and assembly as guaranteed in the first amendment to the constitution. Indeed outrageous that we should be subjected to this sort of bullshit! But every time the administration has happened once before when permission was denied for Bobby Seale to come and speak.)

The fact that SJCC is "one of the least innovative junior colleges in the state" hardly comes as a shock to none of us who have attended this school for any length of time. And the fact that the bureaucratic administration makes operation "cumbersome." It is astounding that the administration and the faculty make such a result turn off or alienate them from the whole scene. A good number of students also hang in there, putting up with all this stuff even though they are not really into it. And there are those students whose desire to learn or succeed far overpowers any discomfort they have with the school. But, regardless, the school's lack of innovation and the cumbersome bureaucracy can only serve to hamper the educational program.

One of the results of the "Bortolazzo Report" has been the new "innovative" INTERDICIPLINARY STUDIES PROGRAM that the administration was permitted to begin this semester. Actually the program was put together by a handful of instructors, but it still seems doubtful that the program would have been approved had not the "Bortolazzo Report" been so timely.

The program will attempt to break down some of the cold rigidness and alienation in a number of ways. There will be an effort to relate traditionally separated subjects and to promote a sense of community among participants. Hopefully this will be accomplished by a greater interaction between all faculty and students alike. There will be trips to places like Salinas at Big Sur and to San Francisco.

Contracting will also be used so that there will be more flexibility in the work load for each class.

"Radical" is not a word that may be applied to the ISP. The whole classroom structure is still present, the elite authority of the instructor persists, and the "purpose of education"ingers on. But these are things which will remain until alienation is put to rest for control of their institutions. When we finally have some say so, when we have fought for enough, we will break down the alienation which is so prevalent in the educational system today.

Said Dr. Kingman, "I am二氧化one of the Board of Directors who is fighting for control of their institutions."

San Jose City College is one of the least innovative junior colleges in the state, said Julio Bortolazzo, hired as a consultant by the district last year to review SJCC functioning and make recommendations for change. The report which Dr. Bortolazzo constructed at the cost of around $9,000.00, also contained a number of interesting statements like, "The operation of the college organization is made cumbersome by a detailed, exhaustive, and voluminous legislative superstructure", and "...there seems to be a mutual lack of trust between the Administration and the Faculty Staff."

A good way to gauge the administration here is to note the graphic accompanying the "Purpose of Education" on the opposite page. The picture was put on a leaflet for the new ISP program with the caption "WANTED: OF THE SAMP OLD SHIT?" The Dean of Instruction had the leaflet confiscated for its "obscenity."
The day after Nixon gave his Miami acceptance speech, a "War of Unacceptance" demonstration was held in San Francisco to protest Nixon's policies. One of the speakers that day, a brother from the Third World Coalition Against the War, told people to "dump Nixon" and "repudiate Nixon." He went further to explain that McGovern, like Nixon, represents part of the same corporate ruling class. The activities of America's parte of the U.S. empire. He concluded by implying that McGovern was simply an "imperialist with a human face."

Jane Fonda, addressing the same rally, urged all anti-war people to continue to unite in the streets to exert mass pressure upon the U.S. government to stop its aggression in S. E. Asia and for it to adopt the 1972 Peace Plan to settle the war. However she finished her talk by telling people that even voting for George McGovern will be necessary if that will prevent the total destruction of Vietnam.

Both these references to McGovern are important because they pose the serious question: How should we, who consciously know that Republican as well as Democrat, are politicians who are the proteges of the corporate imperialist system that we despise, respond to the present presidential campaign?

To simply ignore the presidential elections during one of the most dangerous times in recent history, and to allow the existing system and activity to exist is a not only foolish but is also an empty gesture. National elections are an opportunity to raise political and revolutionary issues in a way that both ruling class parties and to show that our politics are distinctly different from those of even the most liberal capitalist politicians.

However, this does not mean we should discourage people from voting for a George McGovern who promises to immediately stop the bombing and to completely end all U.S. involvement in Vietnam sometime in March of 1973. However the alternative to Nixon on the Vietnam war right now is the Seven Point Peace Proposal of the Provisional Revolutionary Government of Vietnam and not the candidacy of another candidate. And when we discuss "lesser evil" politics we must point out that the lesser evil still remains evil by definition; that the only alternative to evil politics lies in the creation of a non-corporate, non-bureaucratic society in which racist and sexist behavior will not be tolerated.

DUMP NIXON!

Our reluctance to campaign for the lesser-evil candidates is certainly not based on any underestimation of our part of the Bomber Nixon. Nixon should not only be damned as President but he should be tried for war crimes along with E. McNamara, Westmoreland, David Packard and others who directed the genocide in S. E. Asia. Not only has Nixon by intensifying the U.S. war prolonged the immense suffering of the Vietnamese in order to save the fascist Thieu regime from impending extinction, he has now, by deliberately bombing N. Vietnam's dike system, set the stage for a possible repeat of the Vietnam 1944-5 flood disaster.

In 1944-5, according to Bernard Fall in "Messages from Hanoi" (Nation, Sept. 5, 1966) the U.S. Air Force bombed many parts of N. Vietnam's dike system in order to keep the food crops from going to the Japanese occupation troops. In the ensuing floods and droughts that followed at least 1 million Vietnamese starved to death.

Ironically, while the U.S. was bombing these Vietnamese dikes, Soyse-Inquart, German High Commissioner for Holland, was strongly denounced by Eisenhower for ordering the opening of some Dutch dikes which resulted in the flooding of 500,000 acres of crops. At the post-WWII Nuremberg war trials, Soyse-Inquart was ordered executed for his "crimes against humanity." If these Nuremberg standards were applied to Nixon today he would no doubt suffer the same fate.

At the home front Nixon continues to bring the U.S. closer to the reality of a police state. Using the Law Enforcement Assistance Act (LEAA) to give special police agencies, allowing the widespread use of electronic surveillance, employing special Federal grand juries to conduct fishing expeditions into the activities of America's radicals and revolutionaries, and by appointing reactionary lawyers to the Supreme Court, Nixon has made his intentions crystal clear to all of us.

Also his pressuring of workers' wages while allowing corporate profits to advance at historic highs of over 16%, before taxes (U.S. News and World Report, June 26, 1972) clearly shows Nixon's paternalism to the corporate monopolies that bought him the presidency in 1968.

LIBERALS' HISTORIC MISSION

"The liberals imagine McGovern a lot more liberal than he really is." --Dr. Benjamin Spock, presidential candidate of the People's Party.

Dr. Spock by no means could be considered a flaming revolutionary, but, he, like a growing number of other Americans, has concluded that working with the two capitalist parties will never bring a fundamental change to our society. Instead Spock, like many other people, favors the building of an independent popular mass movement that will not depend on, but will directly counter the monopolistic power of the corporations and the bureaucratic unions.

In this respect the capitalist politicians representing the liberal sectors of the American ruling elite have sensed this growing dissatisfaction among America's ordinary working people (especially its youth) with corporate rule and bureaucracy. Along with mass sentiments against the Vietnam war and against the forces of rule and white supremacy, this growing dissatisfaction is finding more and more expression in independent movements. It is exactly this reality that the American ruling class and its political functionaries fear most. The historic mission laid out for the liberal Democrats is to somehow divert these independent movements back into the established two party system.

NO MORE CHICAGOS?

After Nixon's victory in 1968, the Democratic Party found itself in total disarray. At their Chicago convention, the Democrats stood naked in the eyes of millions of Americans. The corruption, the reactionary police repression, and the authoritarian boss rule showed all the faults and contradictions of both ruling class parties and to show that our politics are distinctly different from those of even the most liberal capitalist politicians.

However, this does not mean we should discourage people from voting for a George McGovern who promises to immediately stop the bombing and to completely end all U.S. involvement in Vietnam sometime in March of 1973, as Eugene McCarthy phrases it, back into "the established forms of dissent" (i.e. the Democratic Party). Found itself, as usual, split with the base-rule regime in which McGovern was born.

These liberals knew that the (phony) image of the Democratic Party as a representative of the average "powerless" citizen would have to be restored in the large, sometimes explosive, independent protest movements, and the possibility of a 1972 rerun of Chicago, 68.

The main strategy of the Democratic Party, which had been trying to channel the energy of the independent movements, as Eugene McCarthy phrases it, back into "the established forms of dissent" (i.e. the Democratic Party). Found itself, as usual, split with the base-rule regime in which McGovern was born.

At their Miami convention, 21% of the delegates were reported to be under 30; nearly 5% of them were women, 1% were black, and there were five times as many Chicanos as in 1968. However, a statistic often left out is that regardless of race, age, or sex, the average income of these people was around $23,000 per year, which implies a solid middle class character.

Of course the progressive newcomers that participated in this convention were not wanted for their radical views, rather they were simply used as a foil to get McGovern nominated. In the words of Rich Stearns, McGovern's floor manager, "The function of conventions is not to overthrow the elites, but to choose between competing elites. The McGovern rules simply made the process more fluid."

WHO IS MCGOVERN?

"I hope they (young people) stay alienated, not by dropping out but by remaining indignant...Some feel that our society is too corrupt, too far gone to save, but I really have to caution against anger on my part when I confront that kind of attitude, because I know it's not true...

--George McGovern (Playboy, August 1971)

Since he was Democratic Party Secretary of South Dakota in 1953, McGovern calling himself to his party and his major financial backers, has remained unchanged.

His wealthy allies include his longtime friend Henry Kiss-man, chairman of the Board of Directors of World Famous Corporation and co-owner of the Virgin Islands Hilton; Ruth Hendler, president of Mattel Toy, which has "cheap labor" plants in Taiwan, Hong Kong, Japan, and Mexican border towns and recently merged with Del Monte Co.; James Kerr, president of ADCO (which specialised in ICBMs and ABM target vehicles) and chairman of the Aerospace Industrial Association; Stewart Mott, a large GM heir; and E. Bronfman, presi-

In 40 days, the U.S. military has dropped two thirds of the amount of explosives equivalent to Hiroshima on South Vietnam— an area about the size of Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. By mid-1972, 40,000 troops in S. Vietnam, and about 300 aircraft in the war zone. This was an attempt to keep the war from blowing out of control. Nixon has now admitted he has deployed most, if not all, of the available air and naval power into the war including all of the U.S.-based strategic bomber fleet, one half of U.S. aircraft carriers, two thirds of the total U.S. jet fighters and fighter bombers and one half of the ships of the Seventh Fleet.

1) His failure to do so will send thousands of angry people back to the polls in S.F, Examiner, Sept. 5, 1972).

2) The points which have been selected for bombardment would significantly affect the hydraulic system and could cause heavy flooding in the rainy season.

3) The targets selected to those bombardments are vast food producing and densely populated areas.

As a result of this massive buildup in S. Vietnam, and about 300 aircraft in the war zone. This was an attempt to keep the war from blowing out of control. Nixon has now admitted he has deployed most, if not all, of the available air and naval power into the war including all of the U.S.-based strategic bomber fleet, one half of U.S. aircraft carriers, two thirds of the total U.S. jet fighters and fighter bombers and one half of the ships of the Seventh Fleet.

McGovern has been able to secure his candidacy by not only using McGovern’s candidacy to stifle mass protest movements, but also voting for anti-union “right-to-work” laws, and against a 1967 amendment that would limit direct cash subsidies to growers and landowners to $10,000.

4) The methods of destruction used were such as to make effective repair difficult.

5) The damaged dikes observed by the team do not form part of a road network and were not capable of being used as roads. They are situated in isolated areas and were not capable of being used for any kind of transportation.

We must also show the people that there is a humane peace plan that if acted upon could end the war right away: the PRG 7 Point Peace Proposal published in 1971.

Now more than ever, when McGovern is toning down his anti-war speeches in order to gain the support of right-wing labor bureaucrats, we in the anti-war movement must continue to struggle militantly against the war and against corporate capitalism.

Agricultural Labor Relations Board (appointed by Ronnie Reagan),

Well, men and women, these are your definitions, your elements of the Boycott and makes strikes at harvest ineffective.

The Agricultural Labor Relations Initiative created a 5-person Agricultural Labor Relations Board (appointed by Ronnie Reagan),

The clear intent of the Initiative is seen in the following procedure which controls all elections. The date of the secret ballot election shall be set at a time when the number of temporary agricultural employees entitled to vote does not exceed the number of permanent agricultural employees entitled to vote. Most large growers employ only a few workers year-round and hundreds of workers at harvest.

In regards to strikes:

the threat of a strike or boycott the threat of a strike or boycott is an employer can get a 60-day restraining order to allow for "conciliation." This section effectively eliminates strikes at harvest time which is of the only time when most seasonal workers are on the job.

In regards to boycotts:

It is unlawful to use a generic name to "encourage or induce" consumers to refrain from purchasing an agricultural product. If the initiative succeeds it would be illegal to ask people to boycott lemons since "lemons" is a generic name.

The initiative was designed and financed by agricultural employers to stop the organizing of workers. Clearly, it was not conceived to help farm workers. The initiative was designed to make the rich richer, thus stripping the poorest workers of our state ($100 a month) of their only means of training basic rights. The growers will pour millions of dollars into a public relations campaign to pass their initiative. The public will probably hear a lot about "power to the people" on Prop. 22, the California Agricultural Labor Relations Initiative.

AN INTRODUCTION TO FEMINISM

In communication, it is of utmost necessity that the words we use to convey our thoughts have a distinctly defined meaning which is agreed upon by all parties. Since this is an introductory article for a series of articles on Feminism, I will define what it is to be a woman.

Our world is one which is run by a few "authorities," so my definition will be that of an authority--Standard Dictionary tends to reinforce delicacy, tact reinforces modesty:

"Tenderness--restrained, delicate, easy-going; easily moved, capricious; bashful; sensitive; sentimental; tenderhearted, gentle; capable of evoking sensitiveness; susceptible to spiritual or moral feeling; easily moved, of delicate effect or quality, requiring deft or delicate treatment."

One must that even a quantity like tenderness is one that, if further investigation, a person would rather not have. And the first word of that quality reveals even more about the tender person:

-Yield--flexible, subservient, a give-in, to give up to a superior power; admit, surrender; concede; produce, bear, bend, collapse; to give place to, as through necessity or weakness.

This is sounding worse and worse. And the quality of tenderness reinforces delicacy, tact reinforces modesty:

-Partly--of or characterized by or characteristic of woman-kind; having qualities, as modesty, delicacy, tenderness, tact, etc. "normally underlined mine" characteristic of women.

Lacking in many qualities; effeminate (not--more on this later). 3) Applicable to females only, or to objects classified with them, -men. 4) Women, or a woman...

Let's look a little closer at those words in the first part of this definition: modesty, delicacy, tenderness, tact, etc. Modesty--restrained by a sense of propriety or humility. Delicacy--sensitive, fragile, requiring careful treatment; a luxury considered of others; delightful; nicely constructed. Tenderness--yielding easily to force; soft or delicate, weak or delicate, youthful and delicate; kind, affectionate, gentle; capable of evoking sensitiveness; susceptible to...

SHELTER Socked

During the past two weeks the Shelter Saloon, 349 W. San Carlos St., has been raided four times by the San Jose "FBI" Dept. The first time the raids were conducted by only a handful of officers anxious to make arrests. But last Wednesday, August 30, at least 25 "Blue Meanies" drove real riot gear really got their rocks off, not to mention the half-dressed or so plainclothes pigs sitting in the audience like anyone else enjoying the sounds of Daily Bread. The action started when about ten Tac Squad goons came rushing through the door while the rest charged through the back door, knocking over some band equipment and setting the place on fire. Everyone up against the wall and screaming "Everyone up against the wall and giving the "peace officers" a bust, the crowd gave the "peace officers" a raucous round of applause along with cheers and foot stomping. As the police in investigating team proceeded to file out into the street, the remaining goons, the band that was so rudely interrupted stepped back up to continue the song that was started an hour before. Sgt. Luis Hernandez, head of the raiding party claimed that the "operation worked smoothly" and credited the "success of the enforcement action to a "sufficient show of force." (Mercury, Fri, Sept., 1, 1972.)

There was a "sufficient show of force" alright! As one customer was trying to enter the Saloon before the armed raiders made their entrance, he was told he'd better leave because a raid was about to take place. When the man proceeded to walk toward the door, confused by what was going on, an officer said, "You'd better run,"and struck him in the back of the legs with a club and then chased the man down the street. Luckily the innocent man was not apprehended and now plans to take action against the striking officer. The Saloon is one of the very few hot spots in this community, and it is very much suspected that since two minors were cited by the ARC for drinking, along with a woman serving them, and three other "legal adults" were arrested on drug charges, that the pigs are really out to get the Shelter.

The owner of the Shelter is filing a suit against Sgt. Luis Hernandez for his slanderous statement which was quoted in the Mercury News on Friday, Sept. 1, 1972. Hernandez claimed that the Shelter has an "amateur sex night" once a week where non-professional " hustlers" come in and provide free experiences for both sexes! WHAT ABSURDITY! It just proves what extremes the so-called authorities will take to show their power.

SEXUAL POLITICS. Call to Rebels—If you're serious about taking some radical changes in this world, there's a book that's a must for expanding the political consciousness. Sexual Politics by Kate Millet is a mind-blowing exposé of the basic oppression of society—and civilization. Ms. Millet tells of the history and literature of this oppression and explores some treasured myths. She tells of a grand experiment to eradicate this oppression and why it failed. Sexual Politics is an essential primer for the beginning revolutionary, and an excellent handbook for the proselytizing anarchist.

POST-SCARCITY ANARCHISM, by Murray Bookchin. "The organization we try to build is the kind of society our revolution will create." Bookchin discusses the type of social transformation possible in advanced capitalist society, and the need for our behavior in daily political work to reflect our goals. He emphasizes the need for ecological consciousness to be incorporated into revolutionary thought, and develops the idea that trade-unionist and wage-oriented struggles by workers in the advanced capitalist countries never lead to truly revolutionary change, for they still maintain the position of workers as a commodity, one that's merely demanding a higher price. Historically it's been shown that such demands can be absorbed by bourgeois society. Strategy for Labor encompasses a critique of the traditional European left (although it can apply just as well to the old American left) for its failure to carry the trade union struggle beyond simple wage demands. Gors believes that additional agitating around such radical demands as how the work place should be managed will ultimately install into workers the need to control their own workplace. Or in other words, if workers' self-management and control is the revolutionary goal, then union demands truly leading into this direction, ones that cannot be co-opted by the bourgeoisie, will increase the possibilities for the revolution.

MEN'S CONSCIOUSNESS RAPS

We come from different backgrounds, but we all share the American male experience. We have all been socialized into the way we have abused women, men, and ourselves.

We meet with a desire and a commitment to change the nature of our male and female relationships. We push ourselves to deal with each other and ourselves honestly about our sexual fantasies, self-concepts, painful experiences, fears, shame, roles, expectations, etc.

We deal with the feelings and fears we have in relating to men. Most men live their lives with no more physical involvement with another man than a handshake and a pat on the back. We work on hugging, on going beyond the barriers which prevent our sharing our affection and support in physical ways.

The discussions are personally liberating and have an important effect on the group. We come to feel strongly the commonness of our experience as men in a society which oppresses us and turns us into the animals of the third world, gays, and women.

Some of those who are gay view our homosexuality as a positive expression of lowdown manhood. We believe we must teach our heterosexual brothers in overcoming socially imposed standards in male relationships. At the same time we retain a deep respect for each person's sexual orientation, for only through trust and respect can honest relationships grow.

This is an experiment to find the meaning of the "we". We hope to spread the concept that brotherhood is meaningful, and to break the bonds male supremacy has on all of us. Join us at the Women's Center, the first and third Tuesday of each month, at 6:00 PM, 8th, 10th, and 15th. We've got to help each other throw away our chains. Come on and join the movement for the future we see it today.

In the last few years, most large ecology movements have been dominated by local efforts aimed at Zero Population Growth and recycling. These efforts have been good honest ones aimed at helping our dying planet and have raised peoples' consciousness about the need to take some kind of action. Hundreds of recycling centers have sprung up all over the country and the result has been that great number and variety of people have responded. Family planning and birth control centers have also appeared offering everything from abortion counseling to free birth control pills. But it seems that there is more to the present environmental destruction than simply "too many people."

It is very interesting to note that the "demographic transition" which took place in nineteenth-century Europe is now occurring in the U.S.

"Demographic transition" is the term scientists gave to describe the decline in birthrate. The process was nothing more than common sense practice which destroyed the theory "population increases geometrically." As 19th-century Europe developed from an agriculturally based region to one industrially based, large families became a burden rather than a benefit. Instead of children providing mouths to feed.

The following is a list of the 10 most unwanted landlords around the SJS campus community. The information was compiled from tenants who were living in apartments owned by these people:

Barrow, James R.
Home address: 1375 Dry Creek Road S.J.
Phone: 263-8793
Market Value of owned property $439,000.
Barrow is one of the biggest slum landlords around the campus community. He is known as a clever speculator - one who constantly buys and sells property at the expense of tenants. He recently told tenants to vacate their residence at 791 S. 7th Street after he sold the property to Standard Oil. Old rundown houses are his specialty.

Failure to make repairs and rip-off rents are some of the common characteristics of absentee slum landlords that Barrow shares.

Borelli, Nelo
Home address: Phone 285-8933
Market Value of owned property $150,000.
Tenants generally bring up his name frequently as one of those who doesn't return deposits.

Chubb, Charles R.
Home address: Rt. 2 Box 891A SJ 95131
Phone: Market Value of owned property $96,500.
"Slow on repairs, lets the place rundown, seems to discriminate against non-whites" are some of the complaints aired by tenants against Chubb.

Killion, George
Home Address: 100 Bush Street, San Francisco 94104
Phone: Market Value of owned property $1,000,000.
Owens Kennedy Hall, 555 S.10 Street where many tenants have consistently complained about low quality lawn-type furniture and aggressive towing service (Cal Towing). Most tenants say they would not live there again. Some more complaints: thin walls (noisy), hot water heaters mal-function. Also owe 599 S.10 Street.

Killion, James
Home Address: Box 1609 S.J.
Phone: Market Value of owned property $425,000.
Tenants consider him a as racist; his property is in deed of constant repairs, has a history of poor tenant relations. Owns 560 S.10 Street.

La Torre, Gilbert
Home Address: 6174 Rocky Glen Ct.
Phone: 225-9367
Market Value of owned property $67,000.
Common tenant complaints: bad heating, insects, rodents, no hot water heater, bad refrigerator, no sink in one unit and bad looks. La Torre has told tenants to make their own repairs.

Licursi, Salvatore
Home Address: 451 E. Santa Clara
Phone: Market Value of owned property $149,160.
Tenants complained that Licursi expects them to make all the repairs themselves; combined with high rents etc.

Oliver, T. Ms.
Home address: 85 S.19th Street
Phone: Market Value of owned property $670,000.
Ms. Oliver sits on the City's Tenant/Landlord relations committee. Slow at repairs, strict house rules, stiff contract.

Pastone, John
Home Address: 3003 Moorpark Ave. 95128
Phone: Market Value of owned property $425,000.
Tenants complaints for 502 S.4th Street area place is run down, rent too high, noisy, no lights on windows, no repairs, bad furniture and plumbing.

Roberts, Adelaide, Ms.
Home Address: 18350 Blossom Hill Rd.
Los Gatos, Phone: 356-8877
Market Value of owned property $717,000.
Tenants on 4th Street have received nothing but harassment. Also tenants reported leaky sinks, roaches, ceiling falling out, kitchen floor rotted and broken windows. It is very difficult to get owner to make repairs.
There are very few places to eat out in San Jose that are cheap, apart from the processed slush that is McDonald's, Jack in the Box, etc. A few good places:

THE TAMALE FACTORY, 1339 E. William, sells good authentic Mexican food for a real low price, and even accepts food stamps.

PAPA'S DRIVE-IN, 2301 Stevens Creek Boulevard, makes great Middle Eastern vegetarian sandwiches, good milkshakes.

TOGO'S, 336 E. William, makes great Middle Eastern sandwiches at reasonable prices.

PAULA'S BREAKFAST NOOK, on 15 S. 4th, has delicious breakfasts for low prices.

MARIE CALLENDAR PIES, on 780 S. Winchester Boulevard, makes great Middle Eastern dishes.

LAS CAUSALES, 30 S. 2nd St., is one of the better Mexican restaurants in town, as evidenced by the fact that many Mexican families eat there. They have an extensive menu, and you can eat an excellent meal for under $2.

DE ANGELI'S, 175 E. Santa Clara, doesn't make the greater dinners, but they're about 5 courses and only $1.25.

Other than that, there are very few places around where you can get a good dinner for less than $2. But when you can afford it try:

THE OLD BARBEQUE PIT, 15 S. 11th, has excellent roast beef dinners and deep-dish pies.

EL REBOZO, 118 E. Santa Clara, makes excellent guacamole and dinners.

OKAYAMA, 5551 N. 6th, is one of the best of the many Japanese and Chinese restaurants over around 4th and Jackson. Most plates are a little over $1, but if you go with about 10 people and order 7 main dishes to pass around, you can have a real feast for around $1.60 apiece.

CHINESE BEST KITCHEN, 998 N. 4th, has delicious Chinese food.

NICK'S PIZZA, 354 E. Santa Clara St. Nick's definitely makes one of the best pizzas in San Jose, and has been a landmark here for a long time. Their lasagna is also very good, and they serve many varieties of beer and wine.

HOUSE OF PIZZA, 395 Almaden Ave. Many people think House of Pizza makes the best pizza in town. They also have a bar and pinball machines.

PAUL'S STEAK HOUSE, across from Welfare dept. on lot, steaks and an immense menu.

ROMA, 2852 Alum Rock Ave. Good Italian food.

ED'S FINE FOODS, 780 Willow St., good wholesome food at reasonable prices.
