Clancy Will Play Romeo In First Shakespeare Play

Clancy's Own Remarkable Success in Three Short Years Acting at San Jose

Clancy's Own Dramas and Directs in Spare Time

It would rather play the part of Romeo than even that of Hamlet.

Thus did James Clancy, who has been in the San Jose State University production "Romeo and Juliet," reveal the mental romanticism of his spirit in a recent interview.

Not but what I'd get a real kick out of Hamlet, which is used to be the goal of every actor," continued Mr. Clancy, "but I'm something about Cyrano de Bergerac."

Clancy, who has already established himself at San Jose as one of the greatest dramatic stars in the history of the school, in his first year, in the short space of three years, when in his last year of high school.

Plays Many Leads

After attending State, this quiet young man has played the lead in many of the school's most outstanding success. His work in "The Queen's Husband," and "The Who Gets Slapped," are memories of those who witnessed these productions.

His Other Outstanding Work

He was in "Julius Caesar" and "The Who Gets Slapped."

Unassuming Manner

Clancy possesses, however, one characteristic not at all in accord with his usual impression of acting. In place of the customary arrogance of pride, Mr. Clancy exhibits a modesty of bearing and a quietness of manner which makes his work all the more remarkable.

Quiet in speech, he rarely uses a remarkable power contained in his vocal organs, but even in ordinary conversation, one realizes that his is a voice far beyond ordinary.

Director of a San Jose company, for which Clancy has done some work predicted a brilliant future for this young man if he stayed on the stage.

Writes Plays

But acting is not the only stage interest of this talented thespian. He intends going to school in the East to study the stage from every angle.

He has already written two full three-act plays and is at present working on the revision of another which he hopes to present at State.

Exhibiting a preference for the more subtly drawn interpretations, Clancy writes in that vein and holds up for his ideal among present-day actors, Leslie Howard and Katherine Cornell as the foremost exponents of the subtle art.

In "Romeo and Juliet," as in all other productions, Clancy promises to give an eminently artful and finished characterization.

Dr. MacQuarrie Praises Work of Walter Crawford

In a statement made to the Times last night, Dr. MacQuarrie said that Mr. De Groot has been engaged to fill the vacancy left by the former Spartan coach, Walter Crawford.

"Crawford has asked us to release him from his contract at the end of the quarter," said Dr. MacQuarrie, "and we have been very fortunate to secure so able a man to fill his place."

Crawford has played on professional football teams in the East and has himself turned in some wonderful exhibitions of football. Not the least of his accomplishments, however, is baseball. Coming from the major leagues, Crawford has turned out consistently good teams at San Jose, and is to be complimented on his work.

Dr. MacQuarrie went on to say that Crawford was leaving entirely at his own volition, and that the college has always been satisfied with his work.

Coach "Pop" Warner

(Special to The Times)

Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, Stanford coach and famous football authority, in a statement made to the Times today spoke in the highest terms of Dudley De Groot, new Spartan football coach.

"I think Dud is a fine fellow, and a good man," said Pop. "His teams have one championship in football and has been second in conference standing."

De Groot is to aid Warner in spring football practice at Stanford, and plans to use the Warner system at San Jose.

Stanford Faculty Hosts to Women

Campus faculty who are members of the American Association of University Women, were hosts to the University Women at a social meeting Saturday afternoon, in the Home Making building.

The discussions and the theme of the meeting was Mexico. The Misses Bertha and Lena Lindemann offered several vocal solos in Spanish, in Spanish costume.

Miss Sloane of the San Jose High School faculty, gave a short talk on "Seeing Mexico," and Mrs. Mary Center addressed the group on "Shopping in Mexico," giving an account of her personal experiences in buying in that country.

What Menlo Students Think About Losing De Groot to State

You students of San Jose State can't realize how the gods smiled on you when Dudley Sergeant De Groot put his signature at the bottom of that coaching contract.

A man in the true sense of the word, De Groot is bound to fire up the Spartan Spirit and bring San Jose to its rightful place in Far Western Conference football. His personality radiates about him constantly. His high ideals are an inspiration to push on. Take that from one who has worked under him for two seasons.

He built Menlo Junior College athletics from the ground up, and they now are among the leaders in the Northern California Jaycee Conference, of which Menlo is the smallest school.

Menlo's loss is San Jose's gain—and what a gain! All these statements may sound hysterically far-fetched, but you spend a year with Dud and see if he isn't a great guy.

Profanity isn't one of his weaknesses. "Damn" is his limit, and he seldom uses that. He can burn you up or cover you with roses in other ways that are much more effective.

As this is being written, we haven't had a chance to talk with Dud, but it is to be presumed that he will live in San Jose—where he can "polish apples" with Joe Custer and "Buddy" Lietch. His wife and four kiddies are as nice as their husband and daddy. Mrs. De Groot frequently accompanied Dud and the Menlo teams on various trips around the State, and we all learned to like her real well. The whole family will be liked by San Jose.

Gosh, we hate to see him go.

S. J. Verse Choir Gives Entertainment at Stanford Union

VERSE CHOIR TO PRESENT PROGRAM ON STANFORD CAMPUS WEDNESDAY

At the request of the Stanford Woman's Club, the San Jose State Verse Speaking Choir entertained at a meeting held on the Stanford campus, Wednesday evening, at 7:30.

Last year the choir appeared at a similar meeting, providing part of the evening's program. This year, however, the members of the club were eager to hear more poems, and asked Miss Elizabeth Jenks, director of the group to provide the whole program of the meeting.

Those who appeared on the program Wednesday evening are: Ruth Sandkule, Marie Anderson, Grace Murray, Verna Parr, Elizabeth Alempress, Dorothy Vierra, Edith Boasso, Catherine Epps, Al Dunn, "Chet" Hess, Melvin Newcombe, Cal Kirby, and Maurice Travis, also Miss Elizabeth Jenks.

Among the recent numbers which have been added to their list, and which the choir gave Wednesday evening are: "City of Sleep," by Oipling; "Joy of the Hills," by Edwin Markham; and "Go Down Death," by James Weldon Johnson.

Anemia Treatment Is Success at Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Periodical injections of a new liver extract for the treatment of pernicious anemia have proven so successful at the University of Michigan's Simpson Memorial for Medical Research that methods of producing the extract in large enough quantities for general use by physicians were being considered this week. Experiments have been under the direction of Drs. Raphael Isaacs and Cyrus C. Sturgis of the medical division.

New Members to Be Initiated Into 'Ile de France'

PRELIMINARY SPEECH HAS ALREADY BEEN COMPLETED

Preliminary speeches for the initiation into Ile de France, the new French honor society that was organized on the campus this quarter, were completed on Monday evening, February 8th, at the home of Dr. Lubowski. Speeches in French, from ten to twenty minutes, were given by the prospective members. The following people were accepted to the organization: Pauline Guida, Leonard Rising, Vivian Leek, Ruth Sutton, Emma Foster, Edith Hartz, Charlotte Rhines, and Evelyn Cavala. Charter members Frank Covello, Alfred Gorostody, Erma Faxon, and Lucille Myers, and faculty advisor Dr. Boris Lubowski were the judges. Officers for the winter quarter were elected. Temporary president, Frank Covello, was re-elected president of the organization.

Next Friday night the club will hold a dinner at the De Anza Hotel, at which meeting Dr. Mathurin Dondo, professor of French at the University of California, will speak.

Student Body Officials Give Views on De Groot

San Jose State should consider itself extremely fortunate in securing a football coach embodying a combination of athletic ability and intellectual grasp such as is represented in Dudley De Groot.

We pledge our spirited support to the new coach, wishing him the best of luck and resting assured of a successful regime.

Football Coach Dudley De Groot

De Groot Announces Plans for Spartan Football Next Year

"I am looking forward to that job at San Jose State," said Dudley De Groot, coach of next season's football squad, in an interview last night with a Times reporter. "I get a great kick out of football. I like to be with the fellows, play with them, and teach them all I can about the game. I believe football training, with the endurance necessary to undergo it, aids men in gaining aggressiveness which will be essential to their success in later years."

De Groot went on to mention that during his career as a Stanford University football player, he has played under several different coaches. He uses the Warner system for team play, and has already gained a keen insight into "Pop's" little bag of tricks. He will be aiding Warner with spring practice this year, and expects to have several new plays ready for use at San Jose State.

De Groot believes that since a large percentage of the football players on a teacher's college squad will later be coaches, that it is essential that they be given much individual attention. "Dud," as State students will soon be calling him affectionately, is ready and willing to give them this attention.

"During the course of the time I have coached at Menlo," said De Groot, "I have never cut a man

Coach, Formerly Director of Menlo Junior College Athletics, Noted Stanford Scholar

New Mentor Won State and Rocky Mountain Titles in Junior College Division While Coaching at Menlo in 1930, Despite Small Attendance

DE GROOT HAS SANTA BARBARA COACHING RECORD WAS COMMANDING OFFICER OF AIR CORPS

(Special to the Times)

The football world of San Jose turned topsy-turvy this noon, when Dr. MacQuarrie's office announced that Dudley Sergeant De Groot, Stanford University All-American football star and Phi Beta Kappa scholar, had been secured as head football coach for the San Jose Spartans.

Has Astounding Record

De Groot has turned in an unparalleled record as Director of Physical Education at Menlo J. C. and at Santa Barbara. Building powerful gridiron machines from student bodies numbering but slightly over a hundred students, De Groot's football teams defeated San Jose State at Santa Barbara in 1927, and at Menlo in 1929. Menlo Junior College won the State and Rocky Mountain J. C. championship in 1930. This record from a school of 131 students!

Has Many Affiliations

Dudley De Groot, besides being a Phi Beta Kappa, is also affiliated with Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Phi, Skull and Snakes, Circle S, Block S, and Scabbard and Blade, all Stanford University organizations. Besides belonging to these organizations, this man is a member of the California Academy of Sciences, Pacific Coast Basketball and Football Officials Association, and is recognized throughout the State as an authority on Ornithology.

Military Record

De Groot enlisted in the United States Air Corps in 1918, and was appointing Commanding Second Lieutenant in the Field Artillery Reserve Corps. In 1929 he became a Captain in this organization.

Captained Stanford University

In 1922 De Groot captained the Stanford Varsity in football and was selected as All-American center by 214 outstanding coaches throughout the United States. He was for three years (1921, 1922, 1923) All-American Interscholastic Backstroke Champion in swimming.

Taken all in all, the record made by this man is most formidable. Born in Chicago in 1899, De Groot soon moved West and attended Stanford University, from which he secured his M. A. in 1924. Not satisfied with this achievement, Mr. De Groot studied advance work, and has now only seventy more units of studies to complete to secure a Ph. D. degree. In 1924 he was a member of the World's Champion U. S. Rugby team in the Olympics.

To complete a record of this sort, a man must possess a remarkable character. In the case of De Groot there is no doubt of this fact, for he has a smile "as wide as a barn door," and possesses the faculty of instantly making friends of all with whom he comes into contact.

from the squad. A few have dropped of their own volition, but usually the squad is larger at the end of the season than at the beginning.

In the matter of "buying" athletes, De Groot is emphatically opposed to the plan.

When a fellow really needs a chance, and has no money, I am in favor of granting him a scholarship, but this principle of sneaking about offering money to players is one to which I am bitterly opposed," he said. "I believe that football is a game, and that it should continue to be so."

De Groot is an accomplished and likeable man, and will most certainly be popular among State College students.

(Further plans of De Groot for Spartan football will be announced in later issues of The Times. Watch for them.)

Past Masters at Slang Only Imitators Now

Northampton, Mass. — College students, once past masters at the creation of new slang words, are now mostly imitators in that respect, according to Dean Marjorie Nicholson of Smith College.

Dean Nicholson is no enemy of slang, which, she says, is accepted as a natural part of our language, even by scholars, because it is brief and pungent.

In a recent chapel talk to the undergraduates here Dean Nicholson asserted that the same old slang words prevail throughout the country. There was a period, she said, when college students used to set the pace, while now they seem content to imitate.

Until they can come across with something better than "OK" and "KO," they might as well say "yes," she declared, in effect.

McDonald's Statement Upon Walt Crawford

"Mr. Crawford has been with the San Jose State College since the fall of 1928," stated Coach McDonald, Physical Education department head, last evening. "I considered him outstanding in his knowledge of football and basketball. He has a delightful personality, and I have enjoyed immensely working with him. I am sure the entire physical education staff, as well as his many other friends in the community, are sorry to see him leave. However, we wish for him the best of success in his new work."

Since Mr. Crawford has been a member of the San Jose State faculty, he has coached both football and basketball, as well as instructing his share of gym classes. Though San Jose State has not in this time been in any basketball league, Coach Crawford has won a good majority of his games. His football teams were not quite so successful, but even though they won very few games, were good, hard fighting teams.

In addition to the fine technical instruction Walt Crawford gave, his good influence was felt by everyone he came in contact with. Many of his students join with the faculty members in wishing him all the success in the world in his new work.

Coach H. McDonald Spikes Rumors of Entering P. A. A.

SPARTAN SCHEDULE PLUS
 OTHER SPORTS HALTS
 SAN JOSE

Rumors that the San Jose State varsity basketball team would enter into the P. A. A. were dispelled by Coach H. C. McDonald late last week.

McDonald stated that several important reasons prevented his acceptance of the invitation to enter the tournament. Principally was the reason of conflicting dates of the P. A. A., with the remainder of the conference schedule.

Without a doubt this reason alone would be sufficient to remain out of the tournament. However, another important factor has a great bearing on the refusal.

The entire squad, with one exception, are members of the basketball team in the school, and thus to prolong the season would be unfair to the rest of the coaches who are depending on the basketball men to bolster their squad.

At the conclusion of the State "casaba" tossers schedule, the following men have expressed their opinion that they will report for the following sports: Baseball: George, Leibrant, Gates, Kalas, and perhaps Smith and Laznibat.

Taylor and Countryman will, without a doubt, report for track, while Goodell and Rea will form the nucleus for the tennis team.

Several of the baseball men will double on the tennis team by playing in outside competition in both sports.

Perhaps in another year the Spartan basketball team will enter into the tournament, and should stand a fair chance to win a percentage of their games.

OBERLIN UNIVERSITY HOLDS A MOCK CONVENTION

Oberlin, O. — To those who spent youthful years absorbing the Puritan-Republican atmosphere of this seat of learning, surrounded by a citizenry which pretty generally praised God and the Republican party exclusively, information that the Oberlin College quadrennial mock convention to be held here in May will, in all probability, be non-partisan, comes like a punch in the jaw.

The poor Democrats here have had a tough row to hoe, and no mistake. It was quite precarious to be a Democrat. The Munson boys used to sit in front of their little grocery on South Main Street of a sunny afternoon. They were practically the entire Democratic party.

As for the mock convention, it was always called the Republican National Mock Convention. It was called that ever since 1862, when the first one was held and Abraham Lincoln was nominated, at Oberlin. So, whenever the boys and girls became a bit liberal, they had to seek within the Republican party for their heroes.

But Dr. Ernest Hatch Wilkins, president of Oberlin, is known as a liberal, and he is known to favor a mock convention which will give all the liberals a chance.

Eight times since the convention was begun here, it is recalled, the Oberlin nominee has later been nominated and elected by the Republican party. Perhaps Oberlin thinks its chances are better if the Democrats have a place in the nominations.

Then again it is entirely possible that Oberlin might go socialist. Oberlin's mock convention is run exactly as a national presidential convention. It lasts two days. The first is given over to the adoption of a platform, the second to the nomination of a candidate. Student delegates are picked to represent the various states. As a rule a national figure is invited to act as chairman of the convention, and in 1928, when the convention nominated Herbert Hoover, most of the proceedings were broadcast over the radio.

Students run the entire affair.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Construction of boat houses, flats and other equipment necessary to complete preparations for the rowing events of the Games of the Xth Olympiad, which are to be celebrated in this city from July 30 to August 4, is now under way, according to the Organizing Committee for the Games.

The races will be held in Long Beach Marine Stadium, 40 minutes from Olympic Stadium, for five days, beginning August 9. Events include four-oared shells with coxswain, pair-oared boats without coxswain, single sculls, two-oared shells with coxswain, four-oared shells without coxswain, double sculls without coxswain, and eight-oared shells.

Long Beach Marine Stadium comprises a fresh-salt water course of sufficient length to contain a splendid 2000-metre straightaway course. More than 100,000 spectators can view the races from the bordering shore, and grand stands to accommodate 10,000 more, are being built.

College President Sends
 100 Roses to Aged Lady

Oberlin, O.—With the entire student body and faculty expressing its congratulations, Dr. Ernest Hatch Wilkins, president of Oberlin College, last week ordered 100 roses sent Mrs. Catherine Boardman of Sulphur Springs, O., on her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Boardman is believed the oldest living former student of Oberlin.

In a letter to the students of the college she commented that since she was partially blind she had been unable to see all the new buildings on the campus, and added, "But some things, such as women smoking, I am glad I can't see."

She attended Oberlin in 1847 and 1858.
