Carol Taylor To Appear At State February 28

Musical Concert To Be Held on Tuesday in Morris Dailey

Tuesday evening, February 28, Carol Taylor, "America's Singing Sensation," will be presented in the annual concert of the year at State. This is the first time that San Jose has ever had the opportunity of presenting a performer of Carol Taylor's type. She is unique in that she changes costumes to every group of numbers, which includes selections of many countries, and briefly sketches the history of each song before the rendition.

An added attraction to this very unusual program will be the accompanist, Mr. Raymond McFeeters, distinctive young American pianist. Mr. McFeeters will accompany Carol on all her western engagements, and will render solo variations on the programs with

It is interesting to note that Carol Taylor's debut was made at the conclusion of her famous uncle, Dr. Frank Crane, in Paris. Immediately upon her debut, she won fame for her exceptional merit, penetrating personality, and exquisite beauty. Since then she has appeared before famous audiences and elicited world-wide praise.

The concert series committee is justly proud that they were fortunate in being able to secure an artist who possesses such wonderful talent, widespread fame, and technique in her presentations.

Tickets are going fast, and will be on sale in the quad or in Mr. Osterstein's office from now until the morning of February 28th. For further information, see Carl Hilde, general chairman of the concert series.

Delta Phi Re-Elects William Threlfall

Delta Phi, men's honor fraternity, held its bi-annual election officers at the last regular Friday noon meeting in the Tower, with the following results: Bill Threlfall re-elected grand magistrate; Rex Dunipace, replacing Tom Merson, as magistrate; Chas. Baumasset taking the place of Bob Schulenberg as master of records.

Valuable Dog Is Lost on College Campus

Three mo. old German Police dog strayed away from new Science building on Tuesday, between 11 and 12 o'clock. Anyone finding said dog please communicate with Dr. Peterson or Mr. Jensen, foreman of the building.

Dr. Rifenbark To Lead All-College Chapel At Noon

This week's All-College Chapel is to be a definite part of the Economic Conference on the campus, and will deal with an important phase of the problems.

Dr. Mark Rifenbark, of the Trinity Episcopal Church, who is well known to college students and faculty, will lead the thought of the service on the "Contribution of Religion to Social and Economic Problems."

It is felt that it is necessary and helpful to consider this whole field as a definite part of study and research in the problems of economics. All students, faculty, and conference delegates are urged to attend. The date is Wednesday noon from 12 until 12:15, in the Little Theater.

LUNCHEON CLUB ENJOYS UNUSUAL PROGRAM THURSDAY NOON

Thursday a novel program was given to the Freshman Luncheon Club by Jeanne French, Mary Lockhead and Gabrielle Coovert. The broadcasting system was composed of a chair on the floor, a table, a chair on the table, and a long pole with a bow tied on it composed the microphone.

The first number on the program was "Goodbye, My Lover, Goodbye," by Jeanne French, who sat on an upright piano and imitated one of the popular radio singers. The second number was "Little Lies," sung by two girls, Mary Lockhead and Gabrielle Coovert. Some of the other songs sung by the trio were "Juanita," "Santa Lucia," "Prisoner's Song," and "My Buddy."

The Luncheon Club party invitations will be sent out through the Co-Op boxes, and the girls are asked to answer at once whether they will or will not come. The party is to be Friday evening and a colonial theme will be carried out.

Les Bibliophiles Have Valentine Party Last Friday

Friday, February 10, Les Bibliophiles held a Valentine party at the home of Miss A. Irwin, 349 South 12th Street. The evening was enjoyably spent in playing bridge and solving jig-saw puzzles. The door prize, Sinclair Lewis' "Ann Vickers," was won by Mrs. F. Keegan. Light refreshments were served by the committee, headed by Miss Ernestine Peabody.

Activities for the year were discussed and all library majors and minors are urged to attend the meetings. Announcements will be up on the main bulletin board.

Dance in Women's Gym After Game Saturday

Chairman of Student Affairs, Dario Simoni, announces an after-game dance to be held Saturday night in the Women's Gym immediately following the conclusion of the Chico-S. J. State basketball game.

Refreshments will be served during the course of the evening, and as a special feature, do-nuts from the Popular Glazed Do-Nut Company, will be included.

Admission to the affair will be by student body card and ten cents.

Dr. Richard Graun Will Speak To Pre-Med Club Wednesday Afternoon

Dr. Richard Ernst Graun, psychiatrist and M. D., will speak to the Pre-Med Club at 4 p. m. Wednesday afternoon in Room 17 on "The Different Types of Mental Cases."

Dr. Graun is a most interesting speaker, and quite an authority on the chosen subject, having studied it in the East and at the present time he is visiting psychiatrist at the Santa Clara County Hospital.

Since the subject and the excellent presentation will undoubtedly be of exceptional interest to students and professors of psychology, they are especially invited to attend the meeting.

Previously, the meeting time of the Pre-Med Club has been 5 p. m., but hereafter it will be every other Wednesday at 4 p. m. It is hoped that this earlier hour will make it possible for more students to take advantage of the unusual opportunities to hear some excellent speakers presented by the club. However, it is asked that you please be prompt, for the meeting will start promptly at 4 o'clock.

Spartans Will Debate With Fresno Thursday

A debate with Fresno State at Fresno is scheduled for February 24.

The subject to be debated on will be "Resolved, That Twentieth Century Emancipation of Women Is Achieving Its Purpose."

It will be a mixed team and a mixed school debate with Katherine Hodges of San Jose State siding with the girl from Fresno on the affirmative, and Joel Carter joining with the boy from Fresno in upholding the negative.

British Dinner Will Be Held Thursday Evening at the De Anza

Representatives of China, Japan, Great Britain, and Germany, from the foreign consulate in San Francisco, have consented to speak at the British dinner Thursday, at the Hotel de Anza of San Jose. The dinner starts at 7:00 o'clock.

The banquet, which is one of the main events of the World Economic Conference, has a varied program of speakers and musical numbers scheduled for the evening. Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie will act as toastmaster, with Leon Warnke, president of the student body, giving his impressions of the World Economic Conference. The Honorable Chen Chang-Lok, consul general of China, the Honorable Kaname Wakasugi, vice consul of Japan, the Honorable Cyril H. Cane, British vice consul, and the Baron von Berchen of Germany, will give short talks on the economic and cultural situations in their countries.

In order to add color and interest to the Conference, the dinner has been planned as a British one, since the actual World Economic Conference, occurring in June, will take place in London. The dinner will be interspersed

Conference Program Opens With Luncheon in State Quad

Food is being served in the Quadrangle this noon by the Language clubs on the campus. It will be sold at booths in the Quad, and it has been specially prepared in the college cafeteria as typical of the foods of foreign countries. French pastries, Spanish tamales, German sauerkraut and weenies, and many other foreign dishes will be served, and all for the low price of five or ten cents a dish.

A program of music, dancing, songs, and skits has also been arranged for this noon. Dr. L. C. Newby of the Language department, will act as master of ceremonies.

The committee which has arranged the program for this noon consists of members from several clubs and honor societies on the campus.

Following the program in the Quadrangle, a lecture will be given in the Morris Dailey auditorium from 2:00 to 3:00 p. m., on the subject of "Problems of World Finance." The speaker is Dr. Theodore Boggs, professor of economics at Stanford University. Dr. Boggs is an authority on International trade, and has written a book entitled "Balance of International Payments." He is a Yale man, and has taught for many years in the University of British Columbia before teaching at Stanford.

After Dr. Boggs' lecture this afternoon, sub-conferences will be held on inter-governmental debts, held on inter-governmental debts, private finance, movements of capital and investment, pre-war situation, post-war developments, and problems of today and the future. These discussions will take place from 3:30 to 5 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium, and the Little Theater. The sub-conferences will be divided into two sections, with Professor A. C. Kelley of the Commerce department, acting as chairman for the discussion on debts, and Mr. O. M. Broyles of the Social Science department, as chairman of the group considering the other questions. Everyone is welcome, and delegates, who have been elected to the Conference from several campus organizations to represent various countries of the world, will attend the sub-conferences and lead the discussions.

From 8:15 o'clock this evening, a fascinating program of music, dancing, poetry, and drama will be given in the Little Theater. This presentation of the fine arts of the countries of the world by nationals and others has been arranged by Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity of San Jose State. A silver offering will be collected during the program.

Tomorrow morning from 9:00 o'clock to 10:00 o'clock, an address on "World Monetary and Fiscal Problems" will be given by Professor Dowrie of the School of Business Administration of Stanford, and will be followed by sub-conferences held in the Morris Dailey auditorium and in the Little Theater.

These sub-conferences will occur between 10 and 12 o'clock on Thursday morning, and one conference will be on the problems of Gold Production with Mr. Merton Bassett as chairman, and the other sub-conference will be on the subject of the Gold Standard and the future, with Dr. Elmer Staffelbach acting as chairman.

with musical numbers given by Doris Kuine, violinist; Maurine Cornell, celloist; Marjorie Marshall, pianist; Marion Arnold, violinist.
The affair has been arranged by a Student-Faculty Committee consisting of Dr. William H. Poytress, head of the department of Social Science; Charles B. Goddard, dean of men; Miss Lois Larry, senior student; Miss Anne Aalfs, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Leon Warmke, president of the Student Body; Miss Charlotte Rhines, junior student; Miss Isabel Koehler, member of A. W. S. Council; and Charles Pinkham, president of the sophomore class.
Tickets for the British dinner may be obtained from the booths in the Quadrangle at noon today, from Mrs. Buchser in the Information Office, or in Room 14, the Y. W. Office. Reservations must be made before 5 o'clock today. The price is sixty-five cents.

New System of Grades Is Installed by Illinois

Attention students: A new system for getting grades has been inaugurated. Professor Maurice Visscher of the University of Illinois college of medicine in Chicago asked the "secret six" today to investigate threats made to him purportedly by members of his classes.

Three notes were received by the professor within a week to the effect that if the students in one of his classes did not all receive passing grades he would have to "suffer the consequences."

Evidently the professor has been frightened by the notes as he has removed his family from their home to a secret residence outside of the city.

Letters Await Owners in College Co-Op Boxes

There are letters of importance in the Co-Op boxes for every student living outside of Santa Clara County.

Write to your legislators! A list of the representatives and of their districts may be found to the left of the Co-Op boxes. If you are in doubt as to the number of your district, pick any one in your home county. Ask your parents and friends to write also. Let's go after these law makers of ours in a big way. Address the letters to the State Capital, Sacramento, Calif.

The Phantom Cargo

A Serial Novel by Owen Ulph—Louis Scales—and Frances Ayres

CHAPTER ONE
Ivanoff Plots Evil

The fog hung like a limp rag over the hills of the Dover coast and where the ocean beat sullenly on the shaggy rocks it shifted restlessly, blown about in icy whorls by the chilling sea breeze.

The Monarch pushed steadily ahead, dangerously close to the rocky shore. All was quiet on board save for the lapping of the waves on the sides of the liner as she nosed her way through the soup-like fog. It was early morning and not many passengers had yet summoned sufficient courage to merge from their staterooms. Only the figure of a slip of a girl could be distinguished leaning over the rail peering ahead of her in a vain attempt to get a view of the shoreline that was lost in the blanket fog. The dainty creature was exceedingly pale for she had been suffering from a severe attack of mal-de-mere, yet in spite of her wan appearance a fairy-like smile played about her ruby lips. Pauline was filled with enthusiastic expectancy.

"England at last," she cried in her happy girlish voice as she danced precariously near the edge of the great French liner.

"Yes, England at last," echoed a suave voice of a stranger who had suddenly appeared behind her. Pauline turned suddenly with a surprised and frightened little gasp. Back home on Buzzard's Roost Ranch, 9 miles south of Cow Center, in the Indian Territory, folks did not speak to young girls unless introduced. Blushing with embarrassment she looked up into a dark handsome face crowned with sleek black hair.

"Sir," she said with all the native dignity of a maiden reared on the great western prairies, "I don't know you."

"Don't tremble, little one," the stranger's face took on an expression of father friendliness, "you mustn't be afraid of me, allow me to introduce myself, I am Count Ivanoff Nurv. I have been watching you. You are like a tiny" briefly lost in the great marble halls of one of my castles. I want to be your friend."

Pauline quivered, overcome with the stranger's beautiful altruistic token of respect and with his divine manners and grace of motion. Her heart throbbed with excitement. Pearly tears of joy welled to the pupils of her shining hopeful eyes. She brushed them away with her pink silk handkerchief but was unable to utter a word. Little did she realize the black soul that lay hidden behind the glittering front of the count.

"This is the first time I have been on deck," she simpered, "I have been sea-sick during the whole voyage."

"Smell this and you will feel better," purred Ivanoff smoothly as he drew a rose bud from the lapel of his coat.

"A rose!" exclaimed Pauline in a rapturous tone as she took it from his long tapering fingers. "Oh, it is so long since I have seen one, how did you get it way out here at sea?"

"I grow them in my cabin and nurse them tenderly," explained the count. "You may have that one if you wish."

"Oh, may I!" Pauline was impressed. "I do so love roses." "If you will come down to my stateroom, I will show you many beautiful species from the Orient," murmured the count quietly.

Pauline felt herself being torn inwardly. She would loved to have gone, but to a man's room—No—After all she did not know this man—suppose he attempted to kiss her—but he was such a gentleman. She was quite distressed.

The Count sensed her bewilderment and knowing the exact procedure

Experiments May Hasten the Downfall of Professors

Harvard will try a new type of lecture as an experiment. We've heard of "canned" heat, "canned" peaches, and the like, but now we have a college put out "canned" talk. Well, all we have to say is, "How the devil held by a contraption without legs or arms to flop around in the air, such as our profs have?"

The Count descended the stairs to his stateroom. He opened the door gently and entered, sweating himself out as he walked around the room, singularly pleased in himself. He took a long flourish of his cigarette from his silver case and lit it casually from the flame of a beautiful candle that was burning on his dresser. He blew the smoke in languishing wreaths about his head, then paused a moment and whistled very softly.

TO ASSIST STUDENTS

Women Will Benefit By New Clothing Welfare Group

A few days ago the University of Utah's sororities moved to help the less fortunate young women students by organizing the Better Clothes Bureau, which will be located in the student's union building on the campus.

An appeal was made for contributions of clothing which will be sold to needy students for whatever they are able to pay. Receipts will be placed in a woman's student welfare fund to be administered by the dean of women.

The project was suggested by a girl of the junior class. These junior classes are surely continually breaking the "ice" with new ideas. Even our juniors are forever giving us "ideas." Well, we all know that ideas don't cost anything, so let's get some.

Paul Blanshard Features
Freshman Orientation

Freshman Orientation was called to order, Thursday, February 16, by the Freshman Class President, Dan Feeley. Mary Carlisle announced that the Freshman Luncheon Club would meet at 12:00, following the orientation meeting, in room 1 of the Home-Making building. A surprise program was anticipated.

An announcement to the effect that Lincoln Steffens had been lured to San Jose State to speak on Economics, was made. A Freshman committee to act as registrars for the World Economic Conference was appointed by the president.

The minutes were read and approved as read. The student body dance, to be given Saturday night, was announced.

At this time the meeting was turned over to the vice president, who had charge of the program, Roy Steffenson, vice president, introduced Dr. Poytress, who, in turn introduced the speaker, Paul Blanshard.

Mr. Blanshard said that he would talk of the world, the economic world, in which we live, as it is, and as it should be. He declared that the dreams that we have for better industrial conditions will come true. We should dream dreams of reorganizing our economic world.

Asking the students to cast aside the cob-webs and prejudices and look at the world in a new light, Mr. Blanshard suggested that we take an imaginary trip from Mars to the Earth and impersonally look over the world as it is.

Most of our American brains are being exerted in the wrong directions. There must be something wrong when we have bread lines on one side of the road and acres of surplus wheat on the other. We have a surplus of cotton, and at the same time, our people, are unclothed.

Los Angeles orange growers are making arrangements to destroy the greatest amount of their crop and at the same time there are innumerable children, 35% in fact, in the New York schools who are suffering from malnutrition and all they need is orange juice.

One of the evils of industry is individualism. Monopolies are created because each man is dashing madly about for his own personal gain, ignoring all other people.

There is a mal-distribution of money. We should have people receive money only for what they have done to earn it.

Men are out of work because they make too many shoes and then are not given enough money to buy back enough of the shoes to keep going.

Another great evil of industry is that we do not plan the use of machines. We need unemployment insurance. The dole in Britain is an example of what we should do for our unemployed.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR COACHING INSTRUCTION

Faculty Will Include Head Coaches of the School

A summer coaching school with an "all-star" faculty will be held this summer from June 19th to the 30th, at the University of California.

W. W. Monohan, graduate manager, announced today the completion of plans for intensive training for coaches in football, track, basketball and baseball.

The "faculty" of the school will include W. A. "Bill" Ingram, head football coach; Brutus Hamilton, new head track coach; C. M. "Nibs" Price, head basketball coach; and Clinton Evans, head baseball mentor.

The summer school for coaches, as it is to be called, is scheduled just before the opening of the summer session at the university. The new school, to be held for the first time this year, will be sponsored by the Associated Students rather than by the Department of Physical Education of the university, as has been the case in the past.

San Jose State Cagers To Close Season Here This Week-end Against Coach Acker's Chico State Wildcats In Two-Game Series

"Great Disappointments" to Appear Here in Last Act

Coach Art Acker and his squad of twelve "great disappointments" will arrive in San Jose Friday morning to do basketball battle with the State Spartan casaba artists for the doubtful honor of seeing who shall occupy the Conference cellar.

Teams Well Matched

While San Jose-Chico State basketball games always dish up a full four bits with the spectators, this year will promise to present bitterly fought contests. After starting out with a startling pre-season record with victories over Oregon and the Olympic Club, the Wildcats fell by the wayside and have not tasted the fruits of victory in their last ten games. As San Jose won two games via the forfeit route at Fresno, and Chico does not play the Bulldogs, Coach Acker's red shirts must drop the Spartans in both contests to tie the locals in fifth place.

Chico Stars

Starting at forward for the visitors will be Ernest Lambrecht, in his first year of college basketball, who is proving to be a sensation of the court. He is a former ace high school player, and has been the most consistent scorer for the Wildcats all season. Closely following Lambrecht is Ernie Barber, former all-California Coast Conference forward. He has been off form during the present season, but may come through to cause the Spartans plenty of trouble.

Red Irwin is a hard playing center, who made the second all-Conference team last season. Frost and Jenks, Chico guards, are both veterans of three years and will cause local forwards a lot of trouble under the bucket.

The Chico squad has no captain, choosing to name a new man to lead them in each contest. Adeock, a former San Jose man, is a guard on the visiting squad.

The first game will start at 8 p. m. Friday night, and there will be no preliminary.

Baseballers Meet San Mateo Jaysee Nine at Spartan Field Today

State's baseball nine will meet the San Mateo J. C. team here today in what promises to be a close and hard-fought tussle. Little is known of the San Mateo aggregation except that they defeated San Mateo High by a larger score than did the Spartans, and that their pitcher, Davies, has a three-hit-game to his credit thus far this season. We'll venture to predict that he cannot hold the State team to three hits.

Coach Bill Hubbard will probably start Carol DeSelle, his most reliable chucker, on the mound, with the younger half of the De teams that had lost chances for a championship, it might be advisable to run next year's intra-mural basketball off on an elimination basis, doing away with the more favorable type of Round Robin now used. In other words, instead of playing all teams in the league, as is now done in the elimination idea, as soon as a team loses one game they are absolutely out. This shouldn't appeal to most of the fellows, so let's get out and support the team in the last few remaining games and show Coach Walker such a procedure will not be necessary.

The committee is scheduled to meet this week to discuss the coming intra-mural swim meet. The events, date of meet, and deadline for entering the meet will all be decided, and then I can tell you more about it.

Activities classes have been working out in the little gym in preparation for the intra-mural gymnastic meet that will be featured as soon as the swimming meet is over.

Last Thursday the Faculty did surprisingly well when they held the league leading Frosh B team to a 4-2 lead at half time. Unfortunately the Faculty couldn't hold the margin down and lost by a score of 21-8.

Let's give the Faculty the benefit of the doubt and say they might win the next two games. They're due for a win anyway.

The big game between the Frosh B's and the Junior A's will be played tomorrow night. It's going to be plenty good and will just about decide on who will be undisputed leaders of the Spartan league.

The College of Pacific Tigers quintet sneaked into a tie with the University of Nevada's Wolfpack as a result of stifling Cal Aggies championship hopes by scores of 44 to 16 and 30 to 26.

With the Aggies evidently off form at Stockton, Pacific handed them the worst defeat of the season. The return game at Sacramento was a thriller, with the Mustangs out in front at half time, 16 to 12. Ten points in the last half by Odale, Bengal center, turned the tide to a 30-26 victory.

With the Conference thrown into a turmoil as a result of Fresno's Secrist and Rambo being declared ineligible, all games won by Fresno this season are subsequently forfeited. This includes one victory over Nevada and the California Aggies and two over San Jose. This gives Pacific a sure tie for first place, as they meet the "ineligible" team this week-end, while Nevada has a chance to drop one at Davis.

San Jose, although losing at Fresno, 44 to 40 and 47 to 31, respectively, automatically has two wins charged up to send her skyrocketing from the cellar to fourth place.

FRESNO RESENTS CONFERENCE ACTION

IS "THE LAST STRAW" AVERS SCRIBE

The mail vote of the Far Western Conference members which declared Chuck Secrist and Gil Rambo, Fresno State cage stars, ineligible on the eve of the San Jose games, and which demanded forfeiture of the Bulldog victories over Nevada and the California Aggies seems to have aroused a storm of indignation at the valley school. In an editorial entitled "The Last Straw" and signed J. S. L., an explanation for the conduct which discredits Fresno State "in the eyes of sports followers throughout California at

Girls' Sports

Every quarter, after you have been given about a week or so to properly worry over the blue cards you received, a Swim-a-nic is held in the pool, perhaps for the purpose of drowning all the worries and cares of the poor victims. You can forget all the cruelties of the professors as you swim around, and make a lot of fine resolutions about showing them just how good you can be by the end of the quarter.

Then forgetting there are such worrisome things as chemical equations or a depression you're off in a splash of water. There are loads of new games you will revel in; so remember, girls, save the date, Tuesday, February 28, from 5:10 to 6:30.

There will be one-half hour of demonstration on modern life-saving methods, followed by women life guards swimming races, and diving by students in intermediate and advanced classes. The remainder of the time will be spent in games and relays in which everyone can take part. Anyone who has had a course in swimming is invited to put suits on and watch the first part of the program, after which she can take part in the games and relays. Members of the faculty are cordially invited.

One of the features will be a demonstration of the crawl stroke by five members who have had only four weeks experience.

After the swimming, the girls will go to a special fifty-cent dinner at Hotel Italia. Since it is the largest room and the girls generally have appetites befitting it, the working men's room has been reserved.

In conference-like style the girls will return to attend the concert series. Last quarter we had 89 girls taking part, and 57 at the dinner, and we are anticipating a still larger crowd this year. Are you coming? Of course!!

Interclass games start next week—are you ready?

Well, well, well! We hear Mrs. Dudley De Groot is the champion ball-killer in the volleyball games of the faculty women and wives recreation hour Monday mornings. More power to you, Mrs. De Groot.

Now for a little dope on this Secrist-Rambo situation. In the first place the matter is not definitely closed. The present motion, which classes the players as ineligible and demands forfeiture of all games in which they play, was decided by a mail vote, and is only temporary. More definite action will be taken at the close of the present basketball schedule. Fresno will have a chance to present her case in full. Another vote will then be taken, and the case will definitely be settled one way or the other.

The basis of the whole situation involves the interpretation of the Conference Constitution. This constitution provides the members with the right to regulate intercollegiate competition between the members of the Conference. Fresno interprets this to apply only to competition between Conference schools and not to games played between a Conference school and some Non-Conference institution. The other Conference schools take the opposite viewpoint. They claim, for instance, that when Secrist played against Whittier last year, while still ineligible through the transfer, he automatically sacrificed another year of competition.

Rambo's case is slightly different, involving the matter of units passed and carried regarding which there is a slight ambiguity in the constitution.

Last week we mentioned in this column that a game between the San Jose and Fresno State Frosh cagers would be a very fine match. The same idea seems to have pervaded Fresno. For in Friday's edition of the Fresno State "Collegian", Sports Editor Elwood Ennis remarks that Bulldog authorities are attempting to schedule such a game. The Fresno plans (he states) to bring the local babes to Fresno for the preliminary contest to the Pacific-Fresno tilt this week-end. However, in view of the fact that Coach Blesher's charges have been disbanded more than a week, it does not look as if the negotiations will come to much.

And now we hear it's "Shredders" Leibbrandt. Well, well, well—these strong, husky fellows will break into print. And—also see by the Fresno Collegian that "Hank" is being mentioned for All-Conference honors in the Raisin City. Nice work, Hank—we could use a couple of All-Conference men.

to look upon such series of events as coincidence is to insult the powers of observation."

Pointing to the "ceaseless haranguing" among Conference members and the "fifteen months of intermittent fieldhouse flights, locker room insults, hiring and firing of coaches, and the hurrying of 'ringer charges', he expressed his doubts as to the existence of such things as "interpretable rules, codes of ethics, and honor among athletes."
