L.A. TORELLI, STAFF.
One of the major causes of the high debt is the private or business nature of the country's economic system. This is a serious problem, as it affects the general welfare and the well-being of the country.

Great cities like Chicago, New York, and Los Angeles have huge debts. The total debts in the country are estimated at various amounts, ranging from billions of dollars to trillions of dollars. The creditor class is a major factor in this situation. The credit system is controlled by a few large banks, and the interest rates charged by these banks are very high.

The outlook, therefore, for the economy is not promising. The federal government has a low credit rating, and the creditors are demanding higher interest rates. The situation is becoming more and more serious, and it is necessary to take immediate action to prevent the country from going bankrupt.
