State Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert Tonight

Alph Otterstein Directs Annual Program at Morris Dailey

This evening the San Jose State symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Adolph Otterstein, will present the annual concert free of charge to the public of San Jose. The featured solo of the exceedingly varied program, will be Miss Jean Stirring, prominent senior student, member of Tau Mu Delta, variety music organization. She will render two movements of the Saint-Saens piano concert program to be presented by the 100-piece symphony orchestra, promises to be just as good as it will be interesting. The following are a few hints as to the quality of the presentation. The program promises to be a beautiful one will be the "Third Symphony" of Brahms. One of the most interpretative pieces of the program will be the symphonic movement of "Money Musk" by Sowerby. The stately spirit of the Handel "Overture" is tempered by the fiery bombast of the "Overture of Tchaikowsky." In all the program promises to be the most varied that has ever been attempted by the symphony orchestra in a long time. Don't fail to attend if you are at all interested in music of the highest class. The admission is free. The place is the Morris Dailey auditorium. The concert will begin promptly at 8:00 p. m., which means that if you wish a choice seat, be there at 7:00 o'clock.

The credit should be given to the two assistant conductors, Tom Miller and Mr. Raymond Miller, who have been spending many hours in ironing out the inevitable difficulties of the musical program. Miss Doris Kinne should be in for her share of appreciation, inasmuch as she has worked hard in her capacity as concert master, in assisting in the arrangements of the program.

Debate tryouts for the California-Stanford-State symposium will take place this afternoon from four to five in the Little Theatre. Anyone may participate, and five minute speeches on some form of technical theory based on communistic principles will be acceptable.

Artisans Club Formed By Men of Art Dept.

Starting with eleven charter members, the Artisans, a new Art department club for boys, has been organized. The group will have two purposes: to bring the members together in closer friendship, and to sponsor exhibits of local and foreign artists. The club was started by Wilfred Gehls, Bob Liston, Edmund Langhart, and Frank Vassalo. So far it has held two meetings and appointed temporary officers of Cy Woods as president, and Dick Wells as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Mendelowitz will act as faculty adviser. At present the Artisans is open to boys who are members of the Art department.

Marionette Show Given in Dailey Auditorium

A clever marionette show was given last Wednesday afternoon in the Morris Dailey auditorium by Miss Myriam Toles.

A novel performance of "Jack and the Bean Stalk" was preceded by an amusing little prologue of Mother Goose characters. An original way of showing the contrast between the giants and the little human-like characters in "Jack and the Beanstalk" was instigated by Miss Toles, for the giant's part was performed by a human actor.

Roamin' Greeks Name New Officers at Last Meeting

Helen Stafford and Elizabeth Fee entertained the Roamin' Greeks at a "bank holiday" party last Thursday, March 2nd. During this meeting election of officers was held. Prominent College Actors To Be Seen Here in Turner Comedy

"Lilies of the Field," the immensely popular comedy by John Hastings Turner is to be given as another of the Speech Arts departments donation to the school next Thursday and Friday evenings. It has been the policy of the department during the last few years, or rather, the San Jose Players to give the community one play a year, namely, the Xmas play, for charity. This play is one which has such a popular appeal that it has been decided that it also shall be open to everyone. In view of this, the play is to be done in the Morris Dailey auditorium so that the entire student body and community may have the privilege of seeing the production.

Since the production is to be free you can well afford to come and bring your friends, and enjoy an evening of mirth as the guests of the Speech Arts department.

The technical personnel itself consists of some of the leading acrobatic talent in school, which means that in addition to the acting being of the best yet, the settings and minor details will be the best that can be secured for such a production.

The leading role will be taken by Jimmie Fitzgerald. Jim has appeared in numerous productions throughout his three years of dramatic experience at State, and was admirably cast in his role in the comedy, "Lilies of the Field."

The supporting cast is no less sensational than the leading roles. They are Pauline Eubanks, Eva Beryl Tree, Dick Glyer, Margery Collis, Katherine Epps, Victor O'Neill, Mabel Ralston, Frank Hamilton, Edith Boasso, and Grace Lepetich. We'll see you there.

Seniors Elect Officers at Thursday Meet

Business of unusual importance will be taken up at the meeting of the Senior class orientation on Thursday morning. Because of the urgent business to be taken up, all Seniors are urged to make an effort to be present at this meeting of the group.

Officers for the next quarter will be elected, so members are expected to consider likely candidates for the various positions.

Just Among Ourselves

Spent three days last week in Sacramento attending legislative committee meetings and hearings. The capitol city is hair trigger, rumors, hints, suspicions, suggestions, meaningful glances. Irritation is in the air and in the voices. The older, experienced men try to laugh it off, missing nothing. The new men are anxious, doubting.

Of particular interest to the Language department is Thursday's one day showing of "Der Tanzhauer" (The Dancing Soldier). This production is done entirely in German, and not only offers a chance to find out really how much German you do know, but gives an insight, interesting to the Speech Arts department, on German methods of production and directing.

KIDNAP ORGY FEATURES "PHANTOM CARGO"

NOVEL MAKES BLOOD CURDLING PROGRESS By Louis Stales, Owen Ulph, and Frances Ayres.

While all this hullabaloo has been going on at Ogle Manor, the authors have completely forgotten about Pauline whom they left swooning in the arms of Fletcher Ames. A thousand pardons, Pauline, but while you have been fainting, the stolen ruby turned up in the hands of Count Ivanoff Nury—how he got it is, and always will be, unknown. At present, Ivanoff, disguised as dear old Pete Plunk, Pauline's foster-father, Sappho, the jaguar who conceals the ruby in a hollow tooth, and Eustace Pilbeam, the low comedian with a high voice and a broad accent, are on their way to Sir Edward's to switch birth certificates so that Olga will be proven Featherstonechough's real child and sole claimant to his millions, while Pauline will be left out in the cold and an easy prey for the lecherous Count.

CHAPTER SIX The Trail of Blood

Sir Edward Dillingthorpe's mansion was the scene of bustle and activity the morning after the ruby had been stolen. Three Scotland Yard detectives in bowler hats were sniffing the purple rose the mysterious thief had left and examining carefully every square inch of the house. Sir Edward was in the library studying important letters and papers of the late Featherstonechough, Pauline and Fletcher were necking in the drawing room, and Yarvis, the mysterious butler, was sneaking from room to room, peering through keyholes.

"Now that we have found each other," cooed Pauline to her beloved, "the woes and hardships of this world can never separate us." She sighed and cuddled her fair curls on his size 34 chest which was inadequately covered with a red and white checkered vest.

"Our love is like the sweetly-scented dew that falls upon the muck heap of life," Fletcher was moved by his emotions that he had to relax his strong hold and violently blow his nose. "Our love is like"—he began again, only to be interrupted by Yarvis, who had noiselessly slithered into the room.

"There is a person to see Miss Plunk," the butler announced with raised eyebrows and a disagreeable tone. "He is a Mr. Peter Plunk and is accompanied by a police dog."

"Papa Pete! Oh, Papa Pete!" cried Pauline in happy excitement. "Bring him in at once, Yarvis." She turned to Fletcher. "Oh, I am so glad that my father can meet you. But how did he get here? I don't understand."

"It's a surprise for you all," drawled a deep voice behind her, as a cowboy, clad in a picturesque wild west outfit, strode into the room.

PICKWELL LECTURE WILL FEATURE G. E. M. CLUB MEETING PROGRAM

Group Plans Elimination of Evening Dinner

In the interest of a better meeting the General Elementary Club has decided to eliminate the dinner from its Wednesday evening meeting. All education majors interested in the proposition will be given. Dr. Pickwell will speak on "The Nature Study in the Public School." He will also show pictures. Those who have heard him speak will need no urging to come to this meeting, those who do not come will probably lament afterward, "Why didn't you tell me?" We are telling you now.

Education majors should know each other. One of the prime purposes of this organization is to bring every one to become acquainted with a few more students who have common interests. The time: Wednesday, March 8, 7:30 p. m. The place: Room One, Home-Making Building. Admission: Free.

Turner Entertains At Delightful Affair

Turner entertained nine girls at her home last Wednesday evening. A cosmopolitan motif was displayed in the menu of thirteen courses. Each course represented a country of Europe and Asia. The table decorations were cosmopolitan in their rendering also, being very colorful and gay. The international conference was the inspiration for the unusual though very charming hostess and delights in bringing her guests something out of the ordinary.

Guests present Wednesday evening included Miss Mae Nelson, Leah Broff, Miss Edith Arso, Miss Susan Tollman, Miss Edithina Le Grande, Miss Elda Hamilton, Miss Charlotte Howard and Miss Helen Pearce.

As they were leaving the room the disguised Count whistled softly four times and from under the sofa glided a lithe, dark shape. It was Sappho in the form of a friendly police dog.

"How pretty!" cried Pauline patting the animal's head. "A playmate for you, my dear," replied the Count, and laughed at the insulted expression in the outraged jaguar's eyes. But Sappho was well trained and trotted obediently out with Pauline.

Left alone, Fletcher peered from the window and saw with trepidation his beloved get into a splendid purple limousine alongside of her queer father and that still queerer dog. "There's a horse nut, somewhere," he said to himself. "I must ask the advice of Sir Edward."

Fletcher knocked politely at the library door. There was no answer, so he tried again—and again. Finally, deciding that Sir Edward was dozing, as so often

Report Recommends Cut In U. C. Expenditures

Drastic reductions in salaries and retrenchments in the administrative expenditures of the University of California were recommended in a report issued by the Senate fact-finding committee. The committee did not recommend specific salary cuts, but advocated the scale of reductions applied to other State employees should be assumed in the university. Little does Fletcher realize that poor Pauline has been kidnapped along with everyone else. Does E. That red, ominous fluid was everywhere—evidently the library had been the scene of a terrific struggle. Filled with apprehensions for the safety of his employe, Fletcher searched it and the rest of the house thoroughly. He called on the aid of the three Scotland Yard detectives who had been sleeping in a guest room ring all the excitement. "Like the ruby, he has been stolen," cried Fletcher dramatically to the detectives, who were half asleep and not very much impressed. "The kidnapper has left a trail of blood behind him

State Nine Tangles With Bears Today

Coach Bill Hubbard Hopes To Win from Golden Bear Team

San Jose Is Well Fortified With Hurlers; Infield Looks Strong

In the feature game of State's schedule, today will find Coach Bill Hubbard's horsehide caressers stacking up against the Golden Bears of California. After the decided improvement shown in Saturday's encounters, the hope for a Spartan victory has been considerably brightened. Hubbard now has three first class hurlers to shoot at the Bears. Dario Simoni, he of the head of hair, showed that he was in form Saturday by blanking the Alameda team for the six innings of the game he pitched. Carol DeSelle has had a good rest and should be ready for the fray today. DeSelle is one of the coolest and most dependable of the chucking corps. An unexpected acquisition to the pitching staff is Howard Blethen, a southpaw, who coasted through the first game Saturday morning without turning on the steam, and subduing the San Mateo Hi bunch without any trouble.

Erwin DeSelle, who has been out of the game with a spiked hand, will be in shape today to relieve Harry Hardiman behind the bat if necessary. Hardiman has been playing good ball and has been a valuable part of the team behind the bat. The infield, with Al Lindner on first, either Red Hague or Rog Thurber on second, Sammy Filice on third, and Ed Carlson at the short patch, will start the game. These boys were clicking Saturday, and if they keep up the work there will be few balls hit through the infield today.

The outfield will probably consist of the three B's, Blacow, Blethen and Bishop, although Pura and Tykol are ready to crash in at a moment's notice. The redhead in left has been hitting the ball consistently, and can be used as a relief in the box if necessary. "Lefty" Blethen in center is the surest outfielder of the three, and the most consistent hitter. He may also mount the hill in an emergency. Gil Bishop will probably start in the other spot. He leads Lindner in homers by one lone clout, both getting four-base hits Saturday.

The game will be played on the new Edwards diamond, and will start at 3 o'clock.

BARBARIANS DEFEATED BY AMERICAN LEGION TEAM; FINAL SCORE 6-0

San Jose's American Legion Ruby team won their first contest Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Barbarian Club of San Francisco, 6-0. The game was played at Reed Field. The score doesn't indicate in any way the difference in the two teams.

The San Jose team should have scored any number of touchdowns but they threw their chances to the winds on numerous occasions. The entire game was played around the Barbarian goal line, but the San Jose boys weren't fast enough with their passes to put the ball in the pay-off zone. An official who was duty struck to a marked degree, ruled two San Jose scores out.

Toby McLachlan scored for San Jose late in the first period. Just previous to this Jack Wool was off to a score, but slipped when pivoting. Jack turned in a good defensive game, and got away for some nice runs. He sticks to his American football just a little too much; it seems that he doesn't get the idea of passing.

Shorty Sandholt, one of the most outstanding players on the field, scored the local team's other touchdown midway in the second period, unassisted.

Dave Barr played a good game, although he was a little slow in getting his passes off. The Barbarians must have heard of his prowess as a Rugby player as they had him well covered all afternoon.

The referee, name not known, was forced to retire from the game during the second period, when one of the 215 pound Barbarians accidentally hit him, leaving him slightly "punchy." Dud DeGroot replaced the official.

SPARTAN MERME TAKE BAD DUCKING FROM SAN FRANCISCO "Y"; SCORE 58-26

San Jose merme were handed a bitter pill by the Y. M. C. A. of San Francisco in a swim meet held last Saturday afternoon at the Y pool. The score was: Y. M. C. A. 58, States 26.

Although classified by the Y boys the Spartans put up some nice race, or close seconds, and captured first and second in the diving. Holt showed up nicely on the beach and had little trouble establishing his supremacy, while Meef executed some pretty dives to put out Dorras for second place.

Wagner put up a nice race in the 200 yard dash, but was just nosed out in the finish, and took a third.

State Baseball Team Downs Three Opponents In Week-End Contests

Coach Bill Hubbard's baseballers showed a reversal to form Saturday when they trounced three teams in a row. San Mateo Hi fell first under the Spartan onslaught and "Left" Blethen's hooks. The final score was 12-2. Al Lindner got hot in one of McCoy's slant in the third inning for a round-trip wazoo into left.

The first game of the afternoon resulted in a walk-away over the Alameda Yellowjackets. The final score was 9-0, with the Spartans knocking the southpaw ace, Helmsstein, out of the box. Gil Bishop hit a homer in the fifth with Filice or Simoni turned in a victory in his first start of the season.

The third game found most of the late regulars warming the benches, but after a bad first two innings, Horstman held the Irvington Reds helpless, and the score at the end of the ninth was 4-1 tied up, 4-4. Came the tenth and victory for Hubbard's charges, when Lindner squeezed Filice in with the winning score. Moore pitched the final stanza and got credit for the win.

Filice and Bishop got four hits in eight trips to the plate, while Carlson got four in nine tries. Lindner hit six for fourteen and Beratta three in seven times.

Swimming the 440 for the first time in competition, Ed Plat did well to take a second place, while his team-mate, Holt, followed him in for third.

Hauser was doing well in the 200 yard breast, but he set too fast a pace and tied himself up near the finish to take a second place.

The Y boys proved plenty good and set some very fast times. In fact they have a good chance to beat California in their coming meet.

San Jose will meet Menlo J. C. here next Saturday morning, and as the competition will be more evenly divided so as to make it an interesting meet.

San Jose Frosh Defeat Combined High School Squads by 74-63 Score

Expected strength in the field events gave the Spartan Frosh track and field team their first victory of the season, defeating the combined strength of three Alameda County High Schools; McClymonds (Oakland), Hayward and Livermore, by a 74-63 score Saturday morning at Reed Field.

The early lead which the High School teams annexed by way of the track events was soon nullified when the yearlings copped 39 out of a possible 55 points in the field events.

Raymond was high scorer in the field events, tossing the shot 47 ft. 7 1/4 in., and throwing the discus 122 ft. 1 in., for two first places. Marshall and Biddle took second and fourth positions in the shot, and Biddle copped second in discus, while Marshall took third.

In the pole vault, Watson, Davis and Bauguess tied for first place, all vaulting 11 ft. 6 in. These threemans are good vaulters, and it is expected that either or all of them will be doing around 12 feet before many more meets roll around.

Bert Watson and Bauguess won first and third places in the broad jump. Watson showed well in this event, considering the fact that it was the first meet of the season. He won with a jump of 20 feet 10 inches.

Anson Hayes, hurdler, led the point-getters on the cinder path, tying with Raymond for individual honors, with 10 points. Hayes took both highs and lows without much trouble. His time for the highs was 16.2, and he took the lows in 27.2.

Clipped from the San Francisco State sheet: "Some attribute the poor showing of S. F. State to the fine twirling of Thurber, San Jose's ace moundman." Rog Thurber, looking at this, shakes his head and moans—"Just because I hit like a pitcher they don't have to think I am one." True, Rogers, too true.

The Goat certainly got his daily razz Saturday. Coming up to the bat with two men on and one out, Harry forced a man out at third. Thinking there were three out, he nonchalantly strolled off of the initial sack and went over to don his catching togs. Hague followed him and got a hit, and when Hardiman looked up, there was Hague perched on second. He immediately made a dash for first, the dash being to no avail, for when second was touched, he was automatically forced out. Just a tough break, Goat, just a tough break.

And when an Irvington man broke Lindner's bat—was he gripped! Al's remarks have been censored, or we would print them.

Three ex-Spartans, all members of the 1931 championship team, garnered points for U. S. F. in their meet with Stanford Saturday. Charlie Smith, whose feats here as a freshman have taken on the aspects of immortal history, took a second place in the low hurdles behind Cam Herbert, whose time of 23.5 is sensational for this time of year. Ed Schmidt took third in the discus behind those famous Olympians, LaBorde and Gray. In the high jump, Bill Alley had an off day and could get no better than a third, being unable to clear six feet.

Every member of the Yale basketball team is a waiter in the various dining halls on the Eli campus.

Don Harder, ex-Spartan captain, who is helping coach the Hayward High track team, has apparently used his experience to advantage. A lad named Hanley, who performed in Don's favorite events, the sprints, here last Saturday showed great possibilities. Another Hayward boy named Smith, who ran the half mile, also looked like he had plenty on the ball.
