Excitement High
In Final Stages
Of Ballot Count

COLLEGE SYMPHONY
TO OFFER CONCERT
HERE MARCH SIXTH

Euphonia Trina To Continue As Concert Master For Symphony

Gables To Replace Slavich As Leader Of Second Violin
Section

All concerned returned to offices That was the verdict given by the students in yesterday's election. The vote was heavier than last quarter and much more thoughtful.

The ballot for the office of Student Affairs and Forensic Manager was freely divided as the last of the three positions to be filled this quarter. The vote was higher than last quarter and much more thoughtful.

The ballot for the office of Student Affairs and Forensic Manager was
freely divided as the last of the three positions to be filled this quarter. The
vote was higher than last quarter and
much more thoughtful.

As part of the program of features scheduled for the students during the quarter and the opening season next year, Dr. Paul Farquhar, well known proponent of psychology at Stanford, spoke Monday evening in the lecture room of the science building.
His subject dealt with the relations between mind and body.

There is, he says, a conflict amongst the "belligerent" quality and the compulsion of music. Pieces that are intense in their feeling, but for a short time possess much melody and are readily grasped. So-called "good" music, on the other hand, usually possesses a greater variety in its expressive qualities and the ideas it transmits.

Certain of these compositions include features of both, replete with decay, often notes, killing softness.

The vote shows that the student body is satisfied with the performance of the incumbents, and they should fulfill the hopes of the people.

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the future hope of the world lies with the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a debate, with each side giving four minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Dr. Eileen Stackhouse, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present
were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of
the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present
were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of
the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present
were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of
the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present
were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of
the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Members of the College faculty present
were Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

The guests who were present included
Miss Kathryn Cosn, commerce instructor at Woodside High

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie,

Miss Maddox did a relaible piece and pointed out that many teachers in the department of English have recently been engaged in the preparation of

Linn and Covello In Clash With Stanford
Debaters On Radio

Presentation will develop arguments
in the debate "Resolved: That the
future hope of the world lies with
the woman."

Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of
the college, and Louise Perry,
representing the lower chamber.

The debate was in the form of a
debate, with each side giving four
minute constructive speeches.
Mr. Ralph Ellis, debate coach of San Jose State College, was the chairman. Stanford was
represented by Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Mr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Coffee Cup Chatter

By Corinne Kibler

INDIA—Long ago an old woman sat in the sand, draped in the traditional Hindu costume, with black hair interwoven with bits of woven gray strands, and a yellow, woven shawl. Before the wide-eyed child she had four dollars. She walked along the road of sun into mountain and valley, mountain and valley of India.

Breeze pictures flashed in a kaleidoscope way into the minds of the children as the old woman's voice drowned on jeweled elephants, palaces of jewels, majes, belligerent and richly clotted, on parade. Banners in the streets; and music. Her voice told of the struggle of India, of India's dome to break down the caste system, so much out for better things—for freedom!

Then her talk ended with the story of India, the colors. Before the stilled eyes of the two children the blind man's arm in the sand, made it rewrite like a prose. Slowly she read it, very slowly. Till it was upright. The band was removed, like the color, monotonously moving from side to side. Suddenly she noticed she was reading. She turned her deaf-man to whom she had been a reader. She would have gotten what it wanted.

A Modern India

Today, Ram Bhati, San Jose State College student, tells a tale of his native India. Different in ways from that of the old woman's. The tales still reign, and boys and girls will get what it wants, and slowly. The thousands of beautiful jewels that covered the palace lode and cut for centuries without discovery before the invasion of the British; it will have been replaced by imitation ones because the British said someone would steal them. They now live in the vaults of the British. The caste system is disappearing. In England, they recently paid recognition in the increasing power of India. The nobility rose to respect as Gandhi, a little man brown dressed in scanty attire, entered the Round Table conference. "India is very religious," says Ram Bhati, "and many of her traditions are still retained. The marriages are arranged by the parents, and children see the lettersed soon after birth. When the marriage ceremony occurs, the bride and groom often must be this their first time. They are seldom in love before marriage, but it is after the ceremony that they learn to love."

In many ways, however, India...
Women To Have Riding Course In Spring Quarter

The spring quarter will feature horse-back riding class in the Women's Physical Education Department. The period will probably be more definitely set for Monday evening from 7 to 9. One half unit of credit will be given for the same, and the fee is $6.00 for twelve one-hour lessons given at the Toyon Riding Club in Los Altos.

March 4th the Boost and Spear Club is sponsoring Horseback ride in Golden Gate Park. The plans are not yet quite definite, but the entire group will probably go to dinner afterwards the ride. Any student, man or girl who can ride is invited to go along, but he or she must sign up in the Women's Physical Education Office by Wednesday evening, February 27th.

Theology Group In Discussion Of "Oxford Move"

The Oxford movement was the topic of a lively discussion held at the round table conference of the Pre-Theology group held last Thursday in room 17 of the Home Making Building.

Led by Rev. Dubbs and Rev. Count, the group of twenty state college students discussed the arguments for and against the world-wide movement.

Now Thursday a study of the Sunday schools and their methods will be discussed by a few members, general discussion to follow.

The pre-theology group now has over 20 members, and any student who is interested in church work and Christian service are invited to join.

Dorothy Vierra To Direct College Verse Choir

Dorothy Vierra gave a short talk before the presentation, outlining the progress and development of the verse most enthusiastically. The choir performed Sunday, February 25, at the Santa Clara Federated Church. A large crowd received the performance, and the program and development of the verse choir under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Jenks was much noticed.

If you need to work, you can often get work in August and the fall quarter. It is cheap to substitute the summer session for a fall quarter in some instances. Look into this matter. You may carry nine units in the summer and sometimes extra courses to make requirements for credentials.

Chesterfield

- the cigarette that's Milder
- the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

We believe you'll enjoy Chesterfield and we ask you to try them.
Scribe Gives Carl Biddle and Bud Hubbard Places on Mythical All-Conference Team

Irwin, Dobbas, And Randall Make Up Remaining Positions On Imaginative Group Of F. W. C. Basketball Stars

By Al Rine

Holmenburg, Dowens, Liebrandt Pick For Second String F. W. C. Honors

By Gil Bishop

And now, your adoring readers of this purveyor of tidbits, the writer will attempt to go into a trite and do nothing impossible. Pick on All Far Western Conference basketball teams.

It is not probable that there were outstanding back-men this season and all of them are named. I refer to Backs of the Ariz. Irwins, Carl Biddle, California author, and the resurrection last year, and making a berth for himself as the Conference player of the year for the Westers. There is no reason for picking as one alternative as player as Carl Biddle off the team because he has been shifted to center. He is still the best defensive man in the Conference and will be a guard position to him right now.

A man of good fortune, a speed hunker on the floor, a mouth and tumbling player that always has the ball out of the air in scoring territory. But Hubbard of the Spartans gets the other position. The trouble with Bud this year was his desire to take advantage of openings for shots at the basket. When the fast basketball train dawdled away, it was a 60-50 chance that the ball would find its way through the hoop. Irwin, Dobbs, Biddle, and Hubbard Average height over six feet three inches.

All Far Western Conference Basketball Team

FIRST TEAM

Irwin (Chico) Dobbs (Oregon) Randall (Pacific) Carroll (Nevada) Hubbard (San Jose)

SECOND TEAM

Holmenburg (Chico) Dowens (San Jose) Randall (Pacific) Feck (Calif) Liebrandt (San Jose)

Hubbard, Biddle, and Carroll would slot into the first string for the All-Conference team because he has been shifted to center. Irwin, Dobbs, Biddle, and Hubbard Average height over six feet three inches. The balance of the first team would be composed this season without Irwin. He is a fine defensive player and his big size has been his big hands. These airmen are top teams.

The key men in the last year's team are the same players in the Conference selection, and find it necessary to move the center to the second string. There is too much of everyone and making the berth for himself as the Conference player of the year for the Westers. There is no reason for picking as one alternative as player as Carl Biddle off the team because he has been shifted to center. He is still the best defensive man in the Conference and will be a guard position to him right now.

A man of good fortune, a speed hunker on the floor, a mouth and tumbling player that always has the ball out of the air in scoring territory. But Hubbard of the Spartans gets the other position. The trouble with Bud this year was his desire to take advantage of openings for shots at the basket. When the fast basketball train dawdled away, it was a 60-50 chance that the ball would find its way through the hoop. Irwin, Dobbs, Biddle, and Hubbard Average height over six feet three inches. The balance of the first team would be composed this season without Irwin. He is a fine defensive player and his big size has been his big hands. These airmen are top teams.