Co-ed Faction Joins In Battle; Junior Victory Hopes Perish Suddenly

Horning First To Bathe; Seniors Finally Win

Yesterday at the Seacliff Salient the Junior Class culminated a week's stringent warfare by filling the gaps in their ranks with bare women and creating a desperate force of fighting Juniors in ever-increasing numbers.

After long and careful preparation and a display of masterful strategy the Senior contingent arrived at Seacliff in the early morning hours, two hundred strong. Aided by their women, the Juniors emerged from the trenches armed with tops and determined to fight to the death. The battle was to be a display of masterful warfare by an equal force of fighting Juniors and Seniors, and the overnight imprisonment of DeFraga and Melchior by the Juniors, and the overnight imprisonment of Breggarth, Vamps, and Williams by the Seniors.

At eleven o'clock Wednesday morning a group of Juniors invaded the sanctuary of Harlow-Hanlon's bathroom and snatched him from his bath. Hanlon was left tied at the Lions' Den near Alum Rock, but managed to escape.

At five o'clock Thursday morning a group of "Senior huskies," carrying Bred Applegarth to the icy waters of the Pacific. "Heck," said Applegarth, "you can't kick a woman in the face even when she's giving you a bath!"

La Torre Student Body Dance To Be Tonight

Tonight in the Men's gymnasium, the La Torre dance will take place. La Torre sales were scheduled to cease promptly at 6:00 p.m. Friday, but because of the dance, sales will be held open until 12:00 that night, salesmen being on the floor at all times to receive your last minute orders.

Carl Palmer and Kay Lindsay are supervisors of the dance, which will be the last in the last section of La Torre. The orchestra will play before a background of evening blue, using two hundred and fifty Senior men and women left for Seacliff in automobiles.

Juniors watched the school trucks off through Wednesday night, with plans to capture the Senior food. At eight-thirty knowing that the Seniors had left, they relinquished guard duty to the hands of higher powers, and at nine o'clock the Dodge (Continued on Page Four)
"Today or Never" might easily be the sign on the La Torre office door today, for sales of the 1931-32 annual close tonight.

As an annual the San Jose State College La Torre in the past has been recognized nationally and as a source of memories is treasured by all students.

This edition is to be no exception. For the last year Howard Nelson, with the aid of the Art department, has worked tirelessly to put out a publication that is worthy of the students it represents.

From a glance at the handsome, Howard is to be congratulated for his work and success.

If one doesn't happen to have the $1.50 necessary for the down payment for the La Torre, the editor has made it possible for any student to reserve a La Torre by paying in the due upon which he will be able to pay the money.

This privilege extended in this time of "depression" to insure a copy for every member of the student body is to be commended.

Today or Never

A Spartan Tradition

Reaching a degree of organization that has been unrivaled for the last few years in the Senior and Junior classes, yesterday staged a Sneak Day that probably insures the continuation of one of the college's most successful traditions.

This rally has drawn forth the best efforts of both classes in doing service for the school they represent and their classes.

Dramatics, literary work, athletics, in fact all of the activities of the school have prospered in this friendly spirit, and within a few weeks a new Junior-Senior battle will be forthcoming with another class entering the contest.

Some may criticize Sneak Day as a waste of time, but without it energy and accumulation of bruises, this is unjustifiable.

It may not be valued in dollars and cents, but is an indefinite addition to the memories of college life—a fact that places it on a par with the traditions of other colleges.

If all the students attending San Jose State were to line up at the same time it would be registration day.

J. F. The Moving Finger

Thurman Frick again goes after the girls in his annual. This time he was arrested in Golden Gate Park for selling Socialistic literature.

A wise judge threw the case out of court for "lack of evidence." When I made up my mind that Thurman Frick was a cub reporter on the Times staff and had written a column or two on the current communications that came in over the inter-F. G. F.

He attacked capitalism, high school principals who wouldn't let the girls attend classes in pajamas, and everyone who was ultra right-wing. One of his letters, which of course, was never printed, advised teachers too many notices of a shirt.

He was only funny. And yet he did good work in starting people into inspecting the beliefs they had been holding. He hated shoes and plaid windows, and cheap morals, and used circum-

Lack of evidence here would have been barred at the stage and posthumously declared a legal murder. He might even get out on a just term.

Irene Dunn has given the choice lead in Edna Ferber's, "So Big." In this she will have a role similar to the one in "Cimarron," in that she will portray various stages of a woman's life. Colleen Flanagan, another one of her best pictures in the pre-sound days, is the most appealing of the three. She is beautiful, and not only a person who has final this lead but who has the courage to do things. These remarks are brutal, to say the least, for things have to be done and the one who does them deserve the credit.

Be more broad-minded. Not everybody who has efforts he should be congratulated. Therefore, if people are not satisfied with things as they are— it is up to them to remedy them.

If more students on the campus would work for the college instead of selfishly getting their own way every time they would be one of the most delightful places on earth, but so few do the work—the rest idly gaze on and criticise.

Germany Sends Collegians Back To Their Farms

"Back to the land" seems to be the cry of young men in German universities, who, in normal times, would have become college professors. The field of academic professions being a crowded one, Berlin and Leipzig universities have organized "Academic Self-Aid" societies to help place graduates in ordinary jobs. Failing this, they are urging the young men to go back to the soil.

As a further means of providing for them Berlin university is permitting the government to donate farms in sparsely populated districts for this out-of-job graduates to work.

As conditions in Germany are now, one out of every three in the agricultural profession will have to take it upon themselves to get out of a job at the end of five years.

Women Aid Seniors

The baseball intra-mural league will wind up the athletic events for San Jose State for the year. This should be backed up by the men of the institution to the utmost extent of last year's experience. The Phy. Ed. Majors will soon post a list of the rules and regulations governing the league and will be published in the Times. Umpires will be appointed by them and final decisions will reign supreme.

The track season of the year was successful this year in more ways than one. After Coach Blish's cohorts suffered losses through various channels, they came through with a strong second in the 50 yard freestyle. Of course Fresno's strength was not to be denied, but the Spartans were a continued force. Style has next year to look for.Reagan, Bennett, Wood, Avenius, Pace, Silva, and Robinson, are all men that have been counted. For a while it was always the new-comers that aided materially. And also, Coach Blish must use his men better, which is something towards producing winning track teams.

Meule's swimming team triumphed over State in her first attempt at producing an aquatic reputation. Darper and Higashi were the only first place men, but this duty was done in the future. Higashi in winning the diving event caused considerable surprise to Coach Walker; but upsets happen every day in the best of competition.

A girl in the stomach, not even a Senior one.

So the women saved the day! With a fierce cry, ropes trailing behind them they charged the group of sweating Warlocks. And so, while two Seniors sat on every floor head the women calmly tied up Junior feet and, as the Juniors say, "Hey, you can't kick us around anymore!"
