Spartan Trackers Have ‘Fighting’ Chance for Far Western Conference Title in Meet This Saturday

Taylor and Saliva Should Be in Good Shape By Saturday

San Jose State’s streak for a season of unbroken rivalries against San Francisco State, will continue this Saturday when the Spartans and the Gators meet in what promises to be a thrilling battle at Mission Bay. The Spartans have won a total of 13 times and held the upper hand in most of the recent meetings, and it is now up to the Gators to break the streak and take the lead at San Francisco State.

The most exciting part of this game is the fact that both teams are in excellent shape. Taylor and Saliva are in good form and are expected to lead their respective teams to victory. Further details on the game will be available on Friday.
