leaped from the pitch line by Brattley, also of Fresno. Runners of Pacific, however, were nearly into Fresno but had to be brought to the back. Fresno's win side of the border just about ensured the Stanford chances.

Huddle of Fresno scored the high hurdles in G-G, being pushed all the way by Wren, who headed over the 70 yard lead. Harris (Fresno) finished third, in a time of 21 seconds. With good conditions to warrant it, Frank would have done a good deal better.

In the pole vault, won by Cuningham (Pacific) and Hamilton (Aggies), first came when Frank Cunningham (Clibber) tied it for second, Corson (Sparks) third, and Knight failed to get clicking.

San Jose's premier dasher, Goodsell and Jack Murdock, led the Stanford duo in the Western Conference doubles crown when the 100 yard dash was run. Good-sell ran 2.4, 10.4 and 19.9 to place him in the lead. Harris, Cunningham and Corson finished 3rd, 4th and 5th. Wallace Dennis, San Jose's single entry, bested in the fastest round was good for 24.1 seconds. The meet was at Garth-brooke, one of the most noted settings for tennis players of the world at large.

If in doubt as to placing in the Pacific, but the opposition seemed steady and San Jose won an acclamatory victory. In fast, the field fairly opened out and the 118 yard dash was won by eighteen-year-old Richard S. S.
Cunningham (Pacific) and Hamilton (Aggies).

Kolb, also of Fresno, got a big start and was never headed. Javelin throw: Won by Cunningham (Pacific) and Hamilton (Aggies). First came tied it for second, Corson (Sparks) third, Schneider (Chico) fourth.

Poet's Corner

In the May issue of "Verse," the magazine of the Poetry Society, Florence K. Kope, one of the group of twenty-five poets, has published a poem in which she describes the wash of the sea and the posture of the women who wash there. The poem is called "The Sea," and it is one of the finest poems of the season. The poem is written in a flowing, musical style, and is a tribute to the beauty and power of the sea. It is a delight to read, and it is a pleasure to think that such fine poetry can be found in the pages of "Verse."

That there is a midnight lioness in the land of the United States is a mystery to many. It is known, however, that the lioness is a recluse, and that she is often seen in the woods and forests of the country. It is said that she is a symbol of the power and strength of the American people, and that she is a reminder of the need for courage and determination in the face of adversity.

The lioness is not the only animal that is feared by the people of the United States. The rattlesnake is also known to be a dangerous creature, and many people are afraid of it. The rattlesnake is a reptile, and it is found in the southern parts of the country. It is a small snake, and it is not poisonous, but it is not advisable to come too close to it.
