Women Represent San Jose State in Debate Monday

DISCUSSION IS BEST AT SAN JOSE STATE IN YEARS

The women of San Jose State entered in verbal combat Monday evening, November 7th, with the women of College of Pacific concerning the political candidates and platforms in the imminent election.

The ladies performed very creditably and seemed to know their subjects very thoroughly in view of the fact that political campaigns have always been of little interest to the "more reticent" sex.

The symposium comprised three ladies from this school and three from College of Pacific, discussing each a different platform and candidate, thus eliminating any possibilities of a hair-pulling contest over the potentialities of the "Great Engineer" or somebody.

The debate was well attended and judging by the interest shown by local people and students, debuting bids fair to become quite an extensive art in this vicinity.

The young ladies participating were: Katherine Hodges, supporting the Socialist platform; Laura Wolfe, the Democratic platform; and Rita Greco for President Hoover, representing San Jose State.

Representing College of Pacific were: Miriam Gealey, supporting Norman Thomas; Jeanette Manning, supporting the Republican platform; and Virginia Ames, supporting Roosevelt.

Will the person who took a check from a purse in the Women's gymnasium Friday, November 4, kindly mail or deliver same to Dean Helen Dimmick.

DR. MACQUARRIE SPEAKS AT GLOBE TROTTERS TODAY AT NOON

Today noon in room one of the Home-Making building, Dr. MacQuarrie will speak to the Globe Trotters on "Europe." This past summer Dr. MacQuarrie spent a very delightful time motoring through portions of the continent and England. Today the speaker will give the students an interesting glimpse of that trip.

Globe Trotters, one of the most interesting organizations on the campus, was started over four years ago under the sponsorship of the Y. W. C. A.

Every one is invited to attend these noon meetings and so as not to famish, are invited to bring their lunches, or trays are obtainable just across the hall in the school cafeteria.

Student Directory Is Published for Co-op

The new Student and Faculty Directory has just come off the press and can be obtained by calling for them in the Co-op.

The object of the directory is to have a ready access to all student's names and addresses. The faculty also have their names and addresses in the directory, this is for the convenience of the poor student who, in case of emergency, must call a "Prof."

Although great care was taken in the printing of this valuable little book, several mistakes have been made. Some of these errors were made through the fault of the student, and some have been made in other ways, but it is agreed that as long as they have been made there should be some correction.

The Times will take this job upon itself and will endeavor to right the wrong names and add (Continued on Page Three)

Bill Cowan Will Be State Postmaster

There has just been another change of postmasters at San Jose State, hereafter when you don't get your mail, or it is delayed, or something—see Bill Cowan about it, as he is taking over the position from Bill Towner who has just resigned on account of lack of time. From now on all mail staying in the box more than five days will be sent back to the sender, and all students are asked to co-operate with Bill Cowan by coming for their mail as often as possible.

Last week all letters over five days old were sent back to the senders; so if your expected letter is not in your box it has probably been sent back, and if you want the next one, get it promptly.

"The Florist Shop" To Be Presented Before Freshmen

"The Florist Shop," a one-act play by Winifred Kawkrige, will be presented for the freshman class on Thursday, November 9th, at eleven o'clock, in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

The play is under the direction of Mr. L. Mendenhall, one-act coach for the Speech Arts department. Mr. Mendenhall will be remembered for his fine direction on last year's Christmas play, and also on the summer school's Night of One-Acts.

The cast consists of Miss Potts, who will take the part of Maud; Carl Palmer, who will portray the part of Henry; Wallace Murray, who will enact the role of Mr. Slovsky, owner of the florist shop. Miss Boland will take the part of Miss Wells; while Jole Carter will be her fiancée in the part of Mr. Jackson.

Rehearsals have not been in process long enough to insure a brilliant, polished, production, but both the cast and the director are now trying to make up for lost time, so that they are now spending long hours on rehearsals.

MOVIES OF HIKE WILL BE SHOWN THIS EVENING

At 7:15 tonight there will be held in the Little Theatre, free pictures of mountain climbing. This affair is under the auspices of the Hiking Club, and is open to anyone interested in the great out-of-door.

Mr. Wood's description of these pictures promises to be very interesting and educational. Bring your friends.

"SMILIN' THRU" TRYOUTS WILL BE HELD TODAY IN AUDITORIUM

Tryouts for the Christmas play, "Smilin' Through," will be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium this afternoon from four to six.

The plot of the play concerns the hate an old man holds for one who had ruined his life by killing his fiancée at the moment of their marriage, and the bearing it has on the love between the son of this man and his own ward, the daughter of his fiancée's sister.

The play is typically of the Christmas type, dealing in greater part with the years of the war. There are several good character parts as well as the leads.

Tryout sheets may be found in Miss Jenks' or Mr. Gillis' office.

Four Prizes Given in Marching Song Contest

Four prizes instead of one were awarded in the Music department's song contest, due to the excellent quality of the thirteen entries. First prize of $10 in gold was given to Carl Welz; second award of $5 in gold went to Dominic Limi, and the third prize, a Webster's Collegiate Dictionary donated by the Co-op, was given to Helen Camgiamila. A special award of $5 in gold was granted to Margaret Davenport.

The judges for the contest, Mr. Miller, Mr. Matthews, and Mr. Osterstein, all of the Music department, said that the words and music of the winning songs showed considerable talent.

The student body will be given a chance to hear the new songs in the near future. Mr. Matthews is arranging them for quartet and piano, and Mr. Miller is arranging the pieces for marching. They will probably be played and the prizes presented at orientation or assembly.

Purpose of Week Is To Draw Notice To Vital Problems

SCHOOLS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY JOIN IN CELEBRATION

With the election occupying the minds of almost everyone throughout the country, and campus, we have hardly had time to realize that this is our week, Education Week!

The purpose of setting this week apart is to direct attention to this vital national interest. Because of the prolonged depression, there is a general feeling that the heavy burden of school taxes must be reduced. Boards of education realize that the most rigid economy must be practiced; teachers recognize the fact that they must also bear their share in the sacrifice of the people; schools throughout the country cheerfully consent.

Yet, in spite of this drastic cut there is no danger that education will suffer any serious injury. The intelligent public knows however that the money spent for education has not been wasted and that our school system has paid large returns. They know moreover, that our high standard of living as compared with other nations, and the efficiency we have developed in industry and invention are due, in large part to the educational opportunities every American child has.

Schools, more than any other institution, breaks down class barriers and preserve the principles of democracy our fathers fought to establish.

Money spent on schools pay large returns!

October Issue of English Magazine Last To Be Published This Quarter

The October number of El Portal, edited by Mr. Hicks of the English department, will be the last issue to appear this fall quarter under the new rule inaugurated by the aforesaid department to the effect that only two issues will appear quarterly hereafter.

A newcomer among contributors is Frances Ayres. Her two poems are "Youth" and "This Is My World." To say that these are the best that have appeared in El Portal this year is hardly the sufficient praise that these poems deserve. Miss Ayres very evidently has ability. Also deserving of mention for a poem in this issue is Albert Johannsen, the full power of whose maturity and depth in this medium of expression is apparent in this example.

Charles Bradford contributes "The Devil's Searchlight," which follows in the footsteps of most of the modern death ray stories that are so much in evidence in a certain type of publication. The conversation appears to have been gleaned literally from the late avalanche of gangster movies though, no doubt, not in conscious plagiarism. What there is of (Continued on Page 2)

Y.W.C.A. Runs Series of Articles Concerning Work of College Group

Do you attend Y. W. C. A. functions or meetings? We shall conclude that you have done so. Have you ever stopped to analyze the reason for your attendance? The opening paragraph of the new "interest sheet," lately introduced by the Y. W. C. A. may help you decide on your purpose.

"Why do you come to the Y. W. C. A.?" Perhaps you desire to meet more people or to make more friends. Possibly a friend asked you to serve on a committee. Perhaps you just didn't know what it was all about, but you liked the girls who seemed to; so you thought you would just some and see. You may have a notion on the other hand, of something you want the most satisfaction you can find in college, and you feel that the Y. W. C. A. may be a means of finding more."

The Y. W. C. A. sponsors many constructive campus activities that are important, essential and interesting to the college women. If you have looked over one of the "interest sheets," you no doubt have discovered that its purpose to discover the active areas of the college women's

Special Communication To the Times Editor

This is not a protest against school administration, nor is it a protest against opposition to drinking at student dances. But it most emphatically is a protest against the searching of student cars parked near the campus. Just because a party of students happen to be laughing, not boisterously, but joyously, as the noble guardians of campus law pass by, is that a valid reason to wait until the students have been admitted to the dance and then proceed to search the car? We don't think so, even if all they did find was gasoline, and not too much of that.

And the next time, would you mind shutting the door behind you, if search you must?
Protestingly,

State College Students See Faculty in Fear

At ten fifty-eight last Thursday morning, the severest earthquake shock State has experienced for five years, occurred. No damage was done, but students in the Old Training Building, the Library, and the Science Wing, where the vibrations were greater, got almost too much of thrill.

Blase Times reporters paid no attention to the quake at first, thinking that it was merely the exuberance of the girls in the A. W. S. room next door. Several cracks in the library were widened and dust fell from the ceiling. Library officials stated that in case of a severe earthquake, the students in the room would be safer if they sought refuge under the strong study tables, rather than try to get out of the building.

When questioned about the scientific details of the quake, Dr. Buss, State instructor, said that it was along the San Andreas fault which is the same one that caused the quake of 1906. He indicated that it would be felt more in Santa Clara valley due to the shifting, sandy condition of the foundation soil here. He estimated

College Class Helps Unfortunate of the City Schools

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT CLASS GIVES LUNCHES TO NEEDY PUPILS

Members of Elizabeth McFadden's Growth and Development Class and the class in Principles of Health and Education are collaborating with Miss Irene Cameron and Miss Budlong of the city school system in carrying out their new health program at city schools which was made possible by the teachers of the city.

With centers established at various schools throughout the city a noon meal is being served to youngsters who are either undernourished or who are financially unable to provide for a noon day meal.

The students from State College helping with this project are doing the work without credit, and for the mere joy of helping youngsters find a little health. These students are established at "central points" and there supervise the diets and rest hours of the children.

The project is being supervised by students and instructors skilled in the subject of nutrition, and who are able to diffuse in their work a real sympathy for these little youngsters.

Three centers now under way are those established at Roosevelt Junior High, Wilson Junior High, and Jefferson. The operation of other central schools throughout the city will start in the near future, and this promises to be one of the biggest and most helpful projects ever carried out in this city.

Iota Sigma Phi Aids in Game Broadcasts

Well, again the Iota Sigma Phi appears in the limelight. This time it not only attracts our attention, but also compels it.

The broadcasting booth and the great white canvas which you have seen at Spartan Field are good indications of what those boys who do the big things in a big way, can really do. Under the influential guidance of Dr. Sotzin, such an undertaking was bound to be a success. These fellows surely possess those qualities which a real school spirit should include, because all that they need is a good president, such as Howard Gillespie, and a guiding hand, such as that which is possessed by Dr. Sotzin, in order to do BIG things.

I sometime wonder, if, after all, we do tend to disregard the paying of our due respect to such fine organizations as this is.

Senior Co-operation Is Praised by Pres. of the Student Body

President Krytzer complimented the senior class on cooperation at the football games.

Leon Warmke announced the rally that was held for the Nevada game which was played Saturday, November 5.

The program for intramural sports which is between the classes, was explained by Coach Walker. Tennis matches are now being played off.

Ronald Linn announced the debate meeting Monday at eight o'clock. This team was made up entirely of State women.

All students were invited to attend forum meetings. Miss Innes announced the Alumni Association is publishing a paper and she asked for seniors to aid in folding these publications. The December class is to interview Miss Gray Friday.

The Senior class gave $28.56 to the Community Chest.

Committees have been chosen and are now making plans for Junior-Senior day.

The Spartan Glee Club, in charge of Jerry Erwin, sang two numbers. This is the first appearance of the glee club this quarter.

Dr. MacQuarrie spoke to the Seniors. This year $140,000 have been raised for the Community Chest.

He told of his trip to Europe. Dr. MacQuarrie went with his brother. They took a car to Europe. There were few travelers this summer. Those in his party were bashful about eating snails until the president showed them how. He enjoyed England very much. They reached Paris on quite an interesting time, as it was Bastille day. The French are very much armed and want to be very secure. Transportation possibilities in Germany are much better than those in France as Germany has been doing fine things with the money she can't spend on an army. The student in Germany are very scholarly. There is more evidence of liquor in Scotland than anywhere else. War is really a foolish thing, was his conclusion.

Freshman Group Have Musical Program on Thursday

GUBSER HEADS FROSH IN REGULAR FRESHMEN MEETING

Under the direction of Adolph Otterstein, the freshman class was entertained yesterday at orientation with one of the most complete programs yet presented at a freshman class meeting.

After a brief talk by Dr. Goddard, who asked students to endeavor to attain a higher standard in academic achievement, President Gubser turned the meeting over to Dan Feeley, vice president of the class, who introduced Mr. Otterstein, head of the music department.

Mr. Otterstein announced each number on the musical program following, giving a short descriptive talk before each. Jean Stirling played a piano solo, and then accompanied her sister, Jessie Stirling, who played several selections on the violin.

Lyman Bergtold, freshman music major, who is making a reputation for himself with his excellent baritone voice, sang two numbers.

The string quartette, composed of Carl Welz, first violin; Helen Johansen, second violin; Hazel Kirk, viola; and Wilma Williamson, cello, played the well-known G minor of Mozart.

The program was concluded with two numbers by the Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Jerry Erwin, and as a grand finale it that is Mr. Bradford's own brand, does not convince.

Characteristic descriptions are offered in "Home Sweet Home" by Marian Pash, "Bargain Hunting," by Geraldine Stackpole and "Bruce," by Austin Roberts, the latter by far outstanding in the group.

Bernard Gallagher briefly discusses "Fear." Edwin Lightfoot relates an interesting fight between a road-runner and a rattlesnake. "A Shaft of Sunlight" among the most commendable compositions in this month's issue is by Jean Sewell Smith, remembered as responsible for certain edifying editorials on pessimism appearing in last quarter's Times.

Anonymous taps several compositions. After reading "Back Stage," "I Remember," and "Being a Model," one is impressed at the discretion of the unknown author in not signing their names to these articles.

A fourth anonymous article, "To Be or Not To Be," does not contribute anything original to this much-discussed subject. One might add that the subject matter is true of any college but San Jose State.

Also contributing to this issue are: Ursula MacHenry, Kennard Chandler, Evelyn Gillespie, Margaret Roberts, M. Durham, Carl Carrington, Edwin Lightner, William Wilkes, and James Billwiler.

The whole class rose and joined in singing "Hail, Spartans, Hail."

As was stated before, there will be especially prepared lessons for men, but any women wishing to come may do so. The lessons will follow along the menus that were prepared and given out two weeks ago. Any men or women wishing to sign up for this class are urged to do so with Mr. Goddard, Dean of Men, as soon as possible. The class roll will be held open for one week.

"Y" Retreat Is Held at Saratoga on Saturday

Farewell Cottage on the Blaney Estate in Saratoga, was the scene of a "Y" Retreat, when twelve girls made it their temporary habit for Saturday night, November 5th. At seven o'clock Saturday evening the affair started off with a delicious supper. This was followed with a serious discussion on life in general, which took place around a huge fireplace while they munched apples, nuts, and ginger snaps.

A midnight pajama was a feature participated in by some of the girls later in the evening. Sunday morning, after breakfast, an outdoor worship was held, which was exceedingly impressive. Later a discussion was led by Ruth Townsend on "The Campus Is Yours for the Asking."

A delicious luncheon was followed by "free time" and then a "roundup" conducted by Miss Alf which discussed committees, furnishing a delightful ending to a delightful excursion.

Miss Doris Robinson, secretary of the Appointment Office, has been absent the past week because of the death of her father.

Tie-Up With Nevada U. Give State Gridders Chance To Win Title

IF UNABLE TO WIN, A TIE IN CONFERENCE IS CERTAIN

| Team | Won | Lost | Tied | Pts. |
|-------------|-----|------|------|------|
| San Jose | 2 | 0 | 2 | 6 |
| Pacific | 2 | 1 | 0 | 4 |
| Nevada | 1 | 0 | 1 | 3 |
| Cal. Aggies | 1 | 3 | 0 | 2 |
| Chico | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 |
| Fresno | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1 |

By playing a scoreless tie with the University of Nevada the San Jose Spartans increased their total points to six and have assured themselves of a tie and a possible win in the Far Western Conference. Chico knocked the railbirds off the fence when they handed the Cal Aggies a set-back; by doing such the Chico boys stepped out of the cellar, leaving Fresno State the only outfit without a Conference win.

Spartans Play Tie Game

The San Jose-Nevada game ended with neither team having put the ball into the end zone. A number of "ifs" followed the encounter. Nevada supporters step to the front and claim that if there hadn't been a fumble on the six-yard line the great line plunging fulback, Carroll, would have put the ball over for a score. San Jose backers retaliate by claiming that if the half had lasted one minute longer the Spartans would have put the ball into paying territory. When the half ended State had the ball on the five-yard line, the result of a thirty-five yard pass, Wool to Francis. The half ended before the teams could line up. The Spartans have another "if" to add. If San Jose hadn't been the victims of holding, and clipping from the rear penalties in the last quarter and had been given a chance to play offensively instead of defensively with their backs to the wall, the outcome of the game might have been different. The game is over now and has gone into the record books as a scoreless tie. At any rate, San Jose still remains one of the undefeated teams on the coast.

Chico Defeats Cal Aggies

Taking to the air in its uncertain fashion, Chico State were able to hand Crip Toomey's Cal Aggies their third Conference defeat by a score of 16 to 6.

Chico's pair of touchdowns were made by the way of long passes, Jenks to Skelly. In the third quarter a field goal by Jellison garnered three extra points for the Staters.

The fourth quarter found the Aggies putting over their only score when Frazier, Aggie end, crossed the final marker on two long runs.

Spartan Spasms

By Murdock and Bishop

Some of the regulars who took pretty much of a pounding in the Nevada game were excused from Monday and Tuesday practice sessions and are reporting today for the first time this week.

For the benefit of those who should be so inclined, the Marin game is to be held on Friday at Marin (Kentfield in Marin County). The contest is planned for one o'clock, so start early.

A good many of the promising gridders who have been unable to get much playing in this season, due mainly to their inexperience, ought to get a chance to strut their stuff against Marin.

With the exception of the San Francisco State game (figures not obtainable) State's opponents have attempted 49 passes and completed but 8, which is a very creditable defensive record for any college anywhere.

The platinum dishpan for this week's outstanding boner goes to the sports writer of the Modesto "Collegian," who contributed the following in his account of the Modesto-Marin game.

"... Allen recovered a fumble by the Marin safety man on the eighty-yard line."

The two scoreless ties on the Spartan record are reminiscent of the 1930 season, when the team collected three of the pesky things.

Who is this "Sonora Kate" or "Sentimental Sue" we've been hearing about for so long this season. It seems as though she never misses a game or a chance to root for the football team. What's more, nobody can figure out who the lucky griddler is. Come on, boys, who's the guilty one?

Mae's basketball team have been forced to use the "Women's Old Gym" this week due to repairs

zar. Wilson's afternoon performance, which included bullet passes accurately placed, long spiraling punts, beautiful tackles, and excellent ball-packing, won for him a great round of applause when he was taken from the game Saturday. By his well-placed and bullet-like passes Saturday afternoon, Wilson has gained recognition as the Pacific Coast's greatest passer. It will be remembered that Wilson was passing against the team that has in its folds the great passer, Sobrero.

Fresno Unable To Win

Pushing the Arizona State footballers all over the field for four quarters, but not being able to score, was the sad fate of Fresno Saturday. The game ended in a scoreless tie. Fresno went wild in the center of the field, but when they were inside the 15-yard line they were stopped cold by the Arizonans. The Bulldogs made 11 first downs to 8 by Arizona.

Can the Marin Stop This?

Peterson, fullback, who will fill Wool's shoes at the start of the Marin game, has been out since the Chico tilt and faces his big chance Friday.

Faculty Is Not Taking Full Advantage of Plunge

Are all the faculty voting the prohibition ticket? If they are all as dry as they appear when Faculty Swim Night comes around every Wednesday at 7:30, we'd never have any hopes of getting good beer back again. Of course, there are exceptions. The Staffebachs, Georges, Walkers, and McDonalds are setting fine examples, but really they can't take care of that whole pool-full of water every night.

and refinishing of the floor of the Men's gymnasium. After this week, slipping, sliding, and falling on one's car will have to be blamed on something else beside the slippery floor.

A nice big hand should be given to Dr. Peterson for his work on the stop watch during the football games at Spartan Field this year.

But, seriously, every Wednesday evening is Faculty Swim Night at the college pool. It's really very exclusive; only members of the faculty and their wives and husbands are invited and no admission is charged. The only requirement is a heart and feet O. K. card. Last quarter's heart cards may be used, but new foot cards must be obtained from the Health department.

GALLOPING GAELS, PACIFIC, AND STANFORD TAKE IT ON THE LAM

By Theron Fox

Imagine their embarrassment! After traveling all the way across the United States and being installed the 3 to 1 favorites, the Galloping Gaels from Moraga, were taken into camp at the short end of a 14-0 score by the Fordham eleven.

Although the teams played under a fair sky, rain that fell a couple of days previous had left the field in the Polo grounds like a sea of mud. The wet field did not lend itself to the Notre Dame offense, while it gave the Rams an excellent opportunity to work their power plays.

Southern California continued its drive on the Pacific Coast by taking down California to a tune of 27 to 7. The Trojans were not able to completely bar their goal line, however, and the Bears now have the distinction of being the only team to score against the Southerners this year.

Stanford took it on the nose from Washington by a 18-13 score. It was the third straight defeat for the Cards, which makes the first time in the 40 years that Warner has coached football that a Warner-coached team has been defeated in three straight.

Pacific failed to make much of an impression on Santa Clara, losing by a 27-0 score. The argument now is: Does Pacific play Nevada? Some schedules say they do and some, they don't.

The Intramural Speedball League Will Soon Be Formed

Immediately after the tennis tournament is under way, an intramural speedball league will be organized. Each class is expected to be well represented by one or more teams.

At present the activity classes are playing speedball, and Coach Charles Walker suggests that all those lacking speedball experience, but desiring to play in the league, watch an activity class become familiar with the game.
