

Piano Ensemble to Be Artists Today In Little Theater

Marjorie Johns and Kathryn Greene To Appear In First Recital

Frank Triena, Violinist, And Maurine Cornell, Cellist, Also To Appear

Presenting the first event of its kind in the history of the college, Miss Kathryn Greene and Miss Marjorie Johns will appear in a piano ensemble concert tonight in the Little Theater at 8:15 o'clock.

Though there have been other ensemble concerts in San Jose, this will mark their introduction to the college made audiences and much enthusiasm is expected.

Miss Greene and Miss Johns have been doing piano ensemble work together for several years and have made several public appearances both here and in San Francisco. They took part in the radio program recently broadcast over K.F.R.C. on the Sherman Clay Co. Discovery Hour. They were also members of the group who were presented by M. Jan Kalas of the college faculty in concert at the Mission Theater last winter.

Miss Greene and Miss Johns are both advanced piano pupils of Mrs. Augusta Brekelbaum, piano instructor of the college music department. Mrs. Brekelbaum has directed their work since the team was first formed and has organized a very enjoyable program.

The pianists will be assisted by Mr. Frank Triena, violinist, who is very popular with college and radio audiences, and Miss Cornell, college cellist of note. Both Mr. Triena and Miss Cornell have appeared in concert and in connection with various programs over a period of years on the campus. Mr. Triena has been concert master of the Symphony Orchestra and soloist with the same group. Miss Cornell is a member of the cello section.

Tonight's program is as follows:

Social Dancing Club Answers Desire For Student Dance Skill

Answering the popular demand for a Dancing Club, Mrs. Sarah Wilson of the Women's Physical Education Staff is sponsoring the newly formed Social Dancing Club which held its first meeting last Monday night, November 6. About fifty students attended the meeting and elected the following officers: Hulme Kinkade, president; Ray Robinson, secretary-treasurer; and Betty Hooker, W.A.A. representative. A list of laws were also drawn up and membership has been limited to those students who have taken the Social Dancing course.

Meetings will be held every Monday evening from eight to ten o'clock, and a charge of five cents will be made to cover the cost of the music. The purpose of this new organization is to give students a chance to attain grace and ease in dancing. Anyone interested in joining this club who has taken the course in Social Dancing should see Mrs. Sarah Wilson, sponsor of the group.

Caldwell Host Dance To Climax Spartan Jubilee

Local Chapter Planning Many Projects For Year

The local chapter of the International Relations Club, Iota Rho Chi, held its first meeting of the quarter at the home of Mr. H. Caldwell, president of the organization. Plans for the future activities were discussed in detail. Particular emphasis was put on the importance of the Community Chest drive which is under way at the present time. The local chapter is looking forward to other worth while projects and activities this year.

Foremost on the chapter's program for the immediate future was the preparation of the delegation which will attend the Northern California and Nevada annual conference which is to be held at Stanford University.

A drive for new members was started at this meeting, which was topped off by refreshments served by Mr. Caldwell.

Dr. Holliday Speaks Before Montezuma On Amusing Errors

"Why the Pedagogue Laughs" is the title of the speech given by Dr. Carl Holliday at the Montezuma School for Boys, Sunday evening, November 12 at seven o'clock.

In his speech he told of some of the amusing errors that teachers find on examination papers.

When asked how to keep milk from souring, one bright young gentleman answered that it should be kept in the cow.

And did you know that zones are belts running around the earth giving off heat as they run?

When the question what a mountain range was appeared, the answer was: "A mountain range is a large cook stove."

Dr. Holliday gave this speech here in this college, where it proved to be so popular that he was asked to repeat it at the University of San Francisco, and at the Montezuma School for Boys.

Autumn Homecoming Theme of Hop Saturday Night

One of the most important functions being planned for the entertainment of San Jose State alumni this Saturday, November 18, is the student body dance to be given from 9 to 12 in the evening. Planned expressly in honor of the many alumni who will return to their alma mater as guests of the Spartan Jubilee celebration that day, the dance will be an outstanding climax to the day's festivities.

Presented as the third student body dance of the quarter, this gay event promises to eclipse all previous evening dances, with the spirit of friendliness and informality inspired by homecoming prevailing.

Preparations for the event are being conducted by Ambrose Nichols, chairman of student affairs, who announces that Holstede's excellent nine piece orchestra has been obtained to provide the music for the dance, and that gold and white decorations in the sports motive will add to the spirit of the autumn homecoming. A capable committee composed of Warren Torrey, Tom Gifford, Lionel Tilson, Paul Becker, Jim Dunlap, Lulu Murdock, Franklin Russell, Bruce Allen, Carolyn Haig, and Muriel Hood, is assisting Nichols with arrangements.

In conformity with the recently announced regulation regarding student body dances, there will be no charge; however, both student body and identification cards will be required for all students attending. Special alumni cards will admit former graduates of the college, while the customary twenty-five cent charge will be made for outside guests.

NOTICE RIFLEMEN

There will be a meeting Friday at 12:30 of all those interested in forming a small-bore-rifle club here at State. At the present time, challenges have been received from other colleges in the state. The club will be formed independent of the Gunner Class and will have the purpose in mind of answering these challenges.

ALUMNI AND PARENTS OF STUDENTS WILL BE FETED AT HOMECOMING

Special Rates For Fresno-San Jose Game for Spartan Jubilee Day

In response to a long recognized need for an autumn homecoming on the San Jose State campus, the Spartan Council and the college alumni have planned such an event for Saturday, November 18, to be called the "Spartan Jubilee". Inaugurated principally for the purpose of entertaining the alumni during the football season, the Jubilee is not intended as a substitute for the regular June Homecoming, but will be an annual event from now on.

All organizations have been requested to notify their alumni that November 18 is Fall Homecoming day, when fathers and mothers, as well as alumni, will be guests of the college at a round of breakfasts, and luncheons, and the Fresno game in the afternoon. It is hoped that all the old "grads", present students of the college, and all their mothers and dads will get together, visit, eat, sing, howl, and have a grand old time.

Special concessions and admittance charges have been made for the benefit of the guests of the day, in an effort to attract as many visitors as possible for the gay events being planned. A big student body dance in the evening will climax the day's festivities, special alumni cards being the only requirement for admittance of "grads", while identification, and student body cards will admit students free of charge.

Now that our football team has climbed to such heights, the desirability of the Spartan Jubilee celebration is apparent. Its purpose is to give everyone a grand time, with the spirit of friendship and informality prevailing.

DEBATE TEAM MEETS SANTA CLARA SQUAD TOMORROW EVENING

Lindsey Chairman; Audience To Vote "Shift Opinion"

Defending circumstantial evidence as sufficient means by which to condemn a man to be hanged, the San Jose State Varsity debate squad will meet the Santa Clara men in a verbal clash in the Little Theatre tomorrow night at eight-thirty. District attorney A. P. Lindsey is to be chairman of the evening.

Coming exactly one month before the scheduled hanging of David A. Lamson, the debate is expected to create much interest among local people. Attorney Lindsey was the prosecutor in the recent murder trial and it was mainly through his hard work that the jury condemned the brilliant Stanford University press executive.

Circumstantial evidence is always a subject of controversy. There are many incidents in the records of law where innocent men have been condemned on circumstantial evidence. However, there are many instances of guilty men going free on the strength of "eye witnesses."

Frank Hamilton, Edwin Olmstead and LeRoy Morgan are the three State men to appear in the debate. Ralph Eckert is the coach who has been coaching the Varsity talkers.

Appointments For La Torre Pictures May Start at Once

In an effort to complete as much work as possible on the La Torre this quarter, editor Ray Rhodes announces that picture appointments for the 1934 year book will begin immediately. The Peter Pavley studio on the third floor of the Porter building at Second and Santa Clara streets in San Jose has been selected for picture work.

Varying according to groups, the cost of photographs has been stated as follows: cap and gown pictures, fifty cents; individual pictures for organizations, fifty cents for one, and twenty-five cents for each additional copy; sorority and fraternity, twenty-five cents; and $1.00 for eight pictures required of all seniors.

These fees should be paid at the Pavley studio when the pictures are taken. The immediate response of all organizations and individuals will be appreciated.

ELECTION IS TO BE HELD

Verse Speaking Choir to Offer New Numbers at Assembly This Morning

Do you want the present school colors changed?

If you do, be on hand at eleven o'clock today to fight for your blue. Come to the Morris Daily Auditorium at seven as the eleven o'clock bell rings and be prepared to give your viewpoint on the subject.

You don't want the colors changed?

Then be on hand at eleven to defend the gold and white of Sparta for the Frank Covello called a special assembly of all the Associated Students of San Jose State College for eleven o'clock in the main auditorium during which time a ballot election will be held to determine whether the present school colors will be changed or not.

opposers have worked up many reasons for changing those colors to stronger ones of some other hue.

The Spartan Senate, honor debate society of the campus, started the ball rolling with a discussion in the quad last Tuesday at noon. It seems that for several weeks rumors have been floating around to the effect that no one knew what the colors of the school were, and that these colors should be changed. Spartan Senate, under the leadership of Charley Pinkham and Wilbur Hogeveil, called the meeting to crystallize student opinion.

At the assembly this morning, a ballot will be passed with these statements on it: "I prefer to standardize gold and white", and "I prefer the following colors". Each student will be asked to check which he wants done.

Although student speakers have been asked to give their opinions at the meeting, any person who has anything to say will be permitted to say it during the meeting.

This is not a new issue. Back in 1924, there was quite a campaign launched to change the colors at that time. However, the measure was defeated and gold and white remained as the official color of the school.

Whatever your belief, come out to the assembly this morning to vote for or against the suggested change. Be on hand promptly, and don't hesitate to voice your opinions. Remember—eleven o'clock is the time, Morris Daily auditorium is the place.

"Dizzyvill" Invites Student Attendance

For only ten cents a remarkable production will be opened to any San Jose State College student. Just come to the Art wing on November 27, and attend the Dizzy-Vill Art Bazaar.

A continuous marionette show and vaudeville entertainment and a dance with a good orchestra from 7 to 10 p.m. will be some of the attractions for the admission charge. Fantastic Disney cartoon decorations will change the Art studios into gala and festive sites. Attractive girls in costume will preside at the booths as salesgirls.

Because of the college policy of no pay dances the admission charge is being made to defray the expense of a dance orchestra.

SPARTAN SPASMS

By MURDOCK & BISHOP

The most difficult thing about Saturday's game as far as we're concerned was finding out just who blocked those kicks which produced the third touchdown.

Although we had our glasses glued on the plays, there were so many Spartans in on Coombs that we were unable to determine just which ones did the blocking.

Consequently, we invaded the dressing room after the contest and did some questioning. At first all we got was fervent denials. One would almost think it was a disgrace to block a kick.

Finally, however, we cornered "Sarge" Corbella, who, with circumstantial evidence against him, was forced to break down and admit that he was the guilty party who stopped the first boot.

In regards to the second one we did not meet with so much success. The consensus of opinion seemed to point towards Jerry Whitaker. This gentleman had already left, however, and we could not reach him for confirmation.

The second named in this column still stoutly maintains that Bart Collins performed the duties on one of the boots, but the stellar Spartan guard firmly denies that he had anything to do with the situation.

Such modest boys, my!

When Bert Watson made that 26 yard run that led to the second Spart touchdown, "Dee" Shehtanian turned in one of the prettiest pieces of blocking of the day, taking out Coombs of the Aggies in a very decisive fashion.

The officials inspired "boos" from the crowd on several occasions Saturday. We are not commenting one way or the other on the decisions which they did make, but we feel that they should be brought to task for a violation of the rules which they missed entirely.

Harry Hardiman, Spartan tackle, was down the field on a punt ahead of the ends and everybody else on the San Jose team. In fact, he was so far ahead of his team-mates as to be very conspicuous. And it was while he was in this easily detectable position that he was quite obviously clipped from behind by an Aggie player. Apparently, every one in the stadium but the officials witnessed this act with the resulting lack of action on their part.

Johnny Hines not only punted sensationally as to distance and placement Saturday, but he came out with a spectacular bit of "reverse English" work.

Standing on the Aggie thirty yard line he lifted a neat little spiral into the ozone which lit on the four yard line and, instead of bounding over the goal, stopped almost dead allowing the Spartan ends to down it at that point.

Living up to all predictions, the Spartans threw passes and more passes Saturday. They tossed the spheroid some 26 times during the contest, completing six for a total gain of 130 yards.

Just as in the Santa Barbara game, all of the incomplete passes were not due to alertness on the part of the Aggie defense. On numerous occasions, Spartan receivers had the ball in their hands but dropped it. With a little luck, the locals are going to set a record for completed passes sometime in the very near future.

We said that the Aggie line was strong from tackle to tackle and we stand by our position. The majority of San Jose's gains from scrimmage

PASSES GIVE DEGROOT'S CHARGES CONFERENCE TRIUMPH OVER AGGIES

By Steve Murdock

Before an enthusiastic Armistice Day crowd of over 5,000 people, Coach Dud DeGroot's San Jose State Spartans last Saturday garnered a clean-cut 20-0 win over 'Crip' Toomey's California Aggies in a Far Western Conference contest held in the local stadium.

The Spartans scored in the first and second quarters via the air route and then tallied again early in the third period as the result of an alert defense which blocked two Aggie kicks in succession.

MARGIN OF VICTORY WIDE

The score does not indicate San Jose's margin of superiority. Coach DeGroot's charges spent the greater part of the game in Aggie territory, and the Farmers from Davis were never able to penetrate beyond San Jose's 30 yard line on any occasion.

The Spartans lost little time in scoring their first touchdown, sending seven points up on the scoreboard before the contest was four minutes old. They would have tallied sooner than this had it not been for a troublesome penalty.

San Jose kicked off, and, after two plays, DeMartini punted from his own 23 yard line. Freddie Bennett took the ball on his own 40 yard line and returned it 60 yards to a touchdown, but some eagle-eyed official detected clipping from the rear on the part of a San Jose man and the Spartans had a penalty instead of a touchdown.

FIRST SCORE

Apparently enraged by the turn of events, the locals proceeded to ring up a bone-fide score with no further delay. Hines tossed a neat 25 yard pass to MacLachlan on the Aggie 43 to start the ball rolling. Bennett, Hines, and MacLachlan picked up a first down on the Mustang 31. MacLachlan lost two, and then the boys pulled a new DeGroot "nifty" out of the bag whereby one end drops back making the tackle eligible for a pass.

Dario "Si" Simoni, San Jose's All-Conference man in his position, raced into the clear to take a nice throw from Johnny Hines and continue on for a touchdown. The pass and run were good for 31 yards. Simoni completed the job by kicking the goal, and the Spartans were off to a flying start.

AGGIE THREAT

Early in the second quarter, the Aggies made their greatest advance into San Jose territory. A 23 yard pass from Radamacher to Wineman put the ball on the Spartan 37.

Brumbaugh and Coombs made four and then Coombs threw to Sparks for two more. Then on fourth down this Coombs attempted a dropkick. His effort was a tremendous one, but it fell short by several feet.

After playing in Aggie territory almost constantly, San Jose finally scored another touchdown just before the half as the result of a 70 yard march.

Coombs kicked to Watson who returned the ball to his own 33 yard line. Hines made one, and then "Red" Wool raced 20 yards around end to give the DeGrootmen a first down on (Continued on Page Three)

Last Saturday's football game was preceded by one of the most colorful spectacles ever staged in San Jose. No less than thirteen varied units paraded across the turf of the new Spartan Stadium in the grand review which culminated one of the most ambitious local Armistice day celebrations ever attempted.

Led by San Jose's own band the various units filed into the Stadium shortly before game time, their uniforms and banners forming a colorful array against the green of the turf and the blue of the sky.

The four companies of the second battalion of the 159th infantry of the California National Guard and the fifth fleet division of the United States Naval Reserves headed the line behind the College band. Then came the Blue Eagle band of the local Memory Post of the American Legion followed by the colors and color guards of the Military and Naval units as well as the prize winning troop of the local Boy Scouts.

Then came seven bands and drum corps, each with its own distinctive style and uniform.

This group was composed of the San Jose High School Band, the famous Red Devils Drum Corps, the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School Band, the Women's Legion Auxiliary Drum Corps, the Roosevelt Junior High School Band, the Major Zane Post band of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the colorful Kiltie band of the San Jose Post of the Canadian Legion.

The pre-game ceremonies were climaxed by the playing of the National Anthem by the State College band with amassed colors standing at attention.

Between halves, the prize-winning Boy Scout drill troop was presented with a cup awarded to the troop most proficient in marching.

With the timely death of the 18th Amendment, we can now settle down to reap the benefits. In the first place liquor racketeering will be greatly cut down, and crime will be somewhat curbed.

President Grau San Martin's refusal to apologize to the United States for the recent insult to the flag may mean that relations between the two countries will be severed.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING IS MARKED BY DEBATES TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Executive Board was called to order by the president, Frank Covello, at 7:30 p.m. in the Times Office on November 7.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Dario Simoni gave a report on the Community Chest drive. It was suggested that all those who do not belong to an organization should give their contribution to Mrs. Stevenson in Dr. MacQuarrie's office.

Howard Burns was asked to stop negotiations concerning a theater rally. He was asked to see what provisions could be made for a special train to the football game in Chico.

Betty Morris gave a report on a Y.W.C.A. meeting which had discussed delegates to the Pacific Relations Conference which is to be held at Prescott's Inn this year.

Miss Anne Aalfs reported that the college locker facilities are inadequate since the training building is being torn down. Since there is no more space for lockers on the campus, and there are approximately 500 commuters, Miss Aalfs suggested the installation of a check-room service to accommodate commuters.

In regard to last meeting's discussion of limited student body dances, President Covello turned the chairmanship of his committee over to Ambrose Nichols.

Thomas Needham presented the following amendment, to be voted by the the American Embassy. We wonder what the Secretary of State will do regarding the Cuban matter. Perhaps Grau San Martin will realize the seriousness of the situation, and will offer to make amends after all.

Once again San Francisco welcomes the U. S. Fleet. The Men-O-War arrived Wednesday, led by the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, the flag ship. Once again the "City by the Golden Gate" will open its portals to the "Blue Jackets."

The first stage in the Russian recognition conference was passed recently when Commissar of Foreign Affairs Maxim Litvinoff was presented to President Roosevelt. After a short chat, Litvinoff returned to the house of Boris Skvirsky, where he is a guest.

Amendments

Article I

Section 1: Article II, Section 3, part 2 of the Constitution shall be amended by striking out "3. Representative of Forensics."

Section 2: The election of the Representative of Forensics shall occur at the time of the regular Associated Students election of officers for the Spring Quarter.

Section 3: No person shall be eligible for the office of Representative of Forensics unless he is an active debater in this college.

The amendment was discussed at length, but no decision was made.

It was moved and seconded that the amendment be amended by striking out the words "three quarters" and substituting the words "one quarter" in regard to the length of office. The motion was carried.

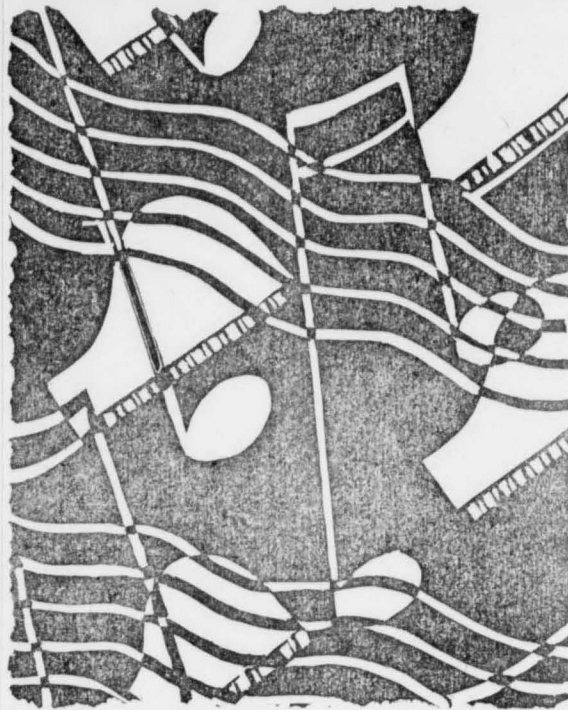

It was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn. The motion was lost.

The amendment was discussed again, there being some question as to what would constitute an "active debater". It was suggested that Mr. Needham submit a definite definition at the next meeting.

It was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn, and the motion was carried.

Just Among Ourselves

Would you really like to know the truth about the owl? The Mercury reporter needed a story badly. "Has there been anything mysterious about that old building? Do you suppose anyone has ever lived on that attic?"

"No, I don't think so. No, it's just an old building that has outlived its usefulness and must come down." (I'd been fussing with lost library books and some low schedules that afternoon and was in no mood for sentiment.)

We found nothing, not even a bat, although I had seen many of them at other times. But the scribe was not satisfied and kept looking. Finally he whispered, "What do you suppose that is," pointing to a spot on the rafters about 30 feet above our heads. I looked and wondered myself. It made me think of a much loved rag doll. May have been white once, but now showed streaks of dark.

Next Saturday comes Fresno. That will be one start-to-finish battle. Both are good teams this year, and if I'm not mistaken the coaches were classmates. I'm expecting President Thomas, and I rather think good crowd of students will come over. We're calling for a Grand Rally of all the friends of San Jose State that day.

men insisted there had been none, that if anyone had seen anything which looked like an owl it was just a bat. There are so many bats these days.

So that's the gospel truth. I am sorry you were so worried about it.

You will be interested to know that the Chest total was just under $2850. We tried for $3,000, but the total budget was found impossible of attainment, and the authorities changed our objective to $2700. We made that amount, all right. May I thank all of you for your help. It was a grand effort in a hard year.

I would like to say a special word about Pinkham and Simoni. Those men are workers, good managers. They were a great help and an inspiration. Each one represented the college in another activity this past week, one in an intercollegiate debate, and the other, well you know the old right tackle position.

Correction Is Made By General Elementary Club. It was erroneously stated in the Friday, November 10, issue of the Times that the kindergarten-primary club held a dinner at the Fior d'Italia.

This clemency of which they make a merit arises oftentimes from vanity, sometimes from idleness, oftentimes from fear, and most always from all three combined.

NOTEBOOK NOTES

By Rudolph Engfer

Mencken quits "The American Mercury."

To some this was a surprise, but his friends and those close to the magazine field knew he would step out soon. One reason was offered by the publishers for his withdrawal, but there are several others which undoubtedly caused him to make this decision.

When "Wall Street Laid an Egg," as Sime Silverman so succinctly reported, Mencken's power began to slip. Before that memorable date, his influence was felt throughout the country.

No magazine brought out in the last thirty years dealt such devastating blows to the petty individuals and their blatant causes as the magazine with the green cover. Its editorial policy was precise and did not vary from it at any time, but the editor mellowed in the latter part of his reign.

The citizenry of these United States can thank him for waging a successful battle against puritanism, prohibition, provincialism, and babbliness in this country. Many a young author deserves his present place in the field of literature to Mencken, who was always ready to help a struggling author that had something to say.

and good material, and his generosity made him many friends both in this country and in Europe. His passing from the magazine field is regretted by many.

It was a wise move on his part because his work was done, his audience wanted a change from his biting editorial policy which had done its job, and he was running out of material.

When asked what books he intended to write he replied, "As soon as I am clear of my editorial work, I shall tackle a sort of companion volume to the 'Treatise on the Gods,' probably under the title of 'Treatise on Right and Wrong'."

One who is familiar with Mencken's philosophy and his favorite philosopher might well expect such a volume. Nietzsche has always been considered by Mencken a model to follow. Nietzsche wrote a similar work under the title of 'A Genealogy of Morals.' It might be worth while to compare the two when Mencken has his published.

It is said that the forthcoming fight for the World's Heavyweight Championship will be held for men only. That's right—Carnera will fight Baer!

If Pearl Buck's "Good Earth" is a passion with the reader, he might find the picture of the model she used for the character of Wang Lung in the September, 1928 issue of "Asia."

Who told you to kiss a brick?

Editor of the Times: Dear Sir:

I wish to be allowed to reply to the points brought out by Miss Renne and Mr. Carico in their letters to the Times. Evidently there has been a misunderstanding of my article, or else I failed to make myself clear enough.

In the first place Mr. Carico said that my comparison of the army and navy to the local police force was incorrect in that it does not serve to protect society as a whole but an individual nation.

As for the idea of drastic disarmament, I am not opposed to it if it could be proven that all who disarmed would stick to it, and not forget the agreement when it was seen to be to their advantage to make war on a nation.

In answer to the point of seizure of the armed forces in Italy and Germany. I presume that the activities of Hitler and Mussolini are what is being referred to. It will be remembered that Mussolini built up an army of Italian youths—the Black Shirts, and did not use the regular army in his famous "march" on Rome.

And now to answer Miss Rene's letter. She states that national military or naval organizations can not be compared to police forces of cities or even nations, as the latter are not organized with any possibilities of competition with other police forces.

As regards the invasion point, Miss Renne brought up the Canadian border as an argument. This cannot really be counted, as a great many Canadians are of American stock, since many Americans settled in North Western Canada, thus making blood ties between the two countries while Japan, on the other hand is an alien nation.

There is no praise we have not lavished on Prudence; and yet she cannot assure to us the most trifling event. The love of justice is simply in the majority of men the fear of suffering injustice.
