CSU inundated by applicants despite expected budget shortfalls

Edmund Sanders, Ned Parker & Laura McClintock Tribune

CSU inundated by applicants despite expected budget shortfalls

The California State University system recently released figures showing a record number of applicants for Fall 2011 with the future of the state ready to transfer, but did not have the opportunity, due to the budget deficit.

The strategy of SJSU in dealing with budget mandates must be passed by June 15.

The periphery of the square took on the look of a city of zombies as stunned antigovernment demonstrators poured over the plaza with handbags, blood-smeared faces.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

“The periphery of the square took on the look of a city of zombies as stunned antigovernment demonstrators poured over the plaza with handbags, blood-smeared faces.”

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The periphery of the square took on the look of a city of zombies as stunned antigovernment demonstrators poured over the plaza with handbags, blood-smeared faces.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.

The center of the rock-throwing veldjies, one anti-Mubarak protester modestly occupied an overhanging cornice, just out of the front line, quieting each sputtering mouth with a two-by-four.
Wrote an animated screenplay? Ture the movement then computer graphics come together and produce animated films. Harris, a junior television, radio, film and theatre major, said the merger can illustrate program in the trial merger. September. According to an Academic Senate meeting last September. After the two programs were integrated, the dean decided to include animation and illustration program in the trial merger. Darlene Garcia, a junior television, radio, film and theatre major, said the merger can open opportunities for the departments to come together to produce animated films. “Actors, special sets, cameras and crew capture the movement then computer graphics actors come in and work their magic,” she said. “We may not have the facilities to actually do the animation, but what if a student wrote an animated screenplay?” Harris talked about many different aspects of combining with music thus creating the school of music and dance. “It’s more of an administrative change,” Harris said. “The animation and illustration programs fill a sense of need being felt as departments.” He said he trusts this merger will allow all of the participating programs improved work their magic, according to him. “It definetely slowed me down from finishing school,” he said. “I didn’t think (members) would be that important.” While the 2011 budget is unknown, Nelson said SJU will continue moving through the same process of enrollment it has been using. In February, incoming students will be informed of their admission status and admissions will be withdrawn. The amount of students depart- ments feel they can handle and the number of students applications for graduation go into deciding how many students will be admitted, she said. In deciding who is admitted, though, Nelson said that the crici- tions for SJU is clear. “We are always going to be committed to taking local stu- dents,” she said. Harris also said that financial limitations have forced CSU across the state to move away from its mission of providing an affordable education. “The original idea (of the CSU) is that everyone should have access to education, and it should be free,” she said.
The Packers feature the No. 2 defense in the league and might have the best front seven in football history, as witnessed in their victory over the Giants in the NFC Championship game. The defense is led by standout defensive coordinator Dom Capers and features two of the elite quarterbacks in the NFL. However, the Packers problems in the past, including the playoffs, have been a major factor in the “battle of the yellow Jumps.”

Although I wouldn’t be surprised if the Packers find a way to win, I just don’t think Rodgers has faced a defense quite as talented as Packers all season. The Packers should be able to shut down Green Bay’s offense.

The Steelers escaped with close Super Bowl XLV, but are a step slower and a year older in 2011. The Packers defense is led by legendary linebacker Clay Matthews, defensive end Julius Peppers, and a rotation of three excellent edge rushers. In addition, the Pittsburgh defense has improved significantly in recent years.

The Packers passing offense is ranked No. 6, while the Pittsburgh Steelers offense is ranked No. 2. The Packers passing offense is ranked No. 6, while the Pittsburgh offense is ranked No. 2. The Packers passing offense is ranked No. 6, while the Pittsburgh offense is ranked No. 2.

In 2010, the Packers were the No. 1 seed in the NFC playoffs and hosted the No. 6 seed, the New York Giants.

The Packers escaped with close Super Bowl XLV, but are a step slower and a year older in 2011. The Packers defense is led by legendary linebacker Clay Matthews, defensive end Julius Peppers, and a rotation of three excellent edge rushers. In addition, the Pittsburgh defense has improved significantly in recent years.

The Packers passing offense is ranked No. 6, while the Pittsburgh offense is ranked No. 2. The Packers passing offense is ranked No. 6, while the Pittsburgh offense is ranked No. 2.

In 2010, the Packers were the No. 1 seed in the NFC playoffs and hosted the No. 6 seed, the New York Giants.

November 15, 2011

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.

The Packers pass the ball to wide receiver James Jones, who is wide open deep downfield in the second quarter of the game against the Saints. Jones had 112 yards and a touchdown on the drive.
Yesterday kicked off a new start to the SJSU football team, as 23 new players signed the National Letter of Intent to join head coach Mike MacIntyre and the 2011 Spartan football program.

"Last year, it was mad-pushed — we did it in about three weeks," MacIntyre said. "This year we had a full year to do it. We knew a little bit more about our football team and some of the leaks we wanted to fill. We had a lot of things we put together. We feel like we have a lot more about our football team and some of the football program.

According to a team news release, 12 of the 23 players who signed are set for defensive positions, while the other 11 are projected to fill offensive slots.

"We've added some very good speed to our football team," MacIntyre said. "We went out and got some very talented young quarterbacks that we hope will come in and compete for us next fall." Joe Gray, a 6-foot-2-inch, 190-pound incoming freshman from Dosney High School, Los Angeles, is perceived to be the biggest asset to the team, as he is looking to step into the shoes of former quarterback Jordan La Sella, who left to compete for the starting job. "We'll go through spring practice and find out who the front runner is and then go from there," MacIntyre said. "He's ready to go when he gets here, then we'll give him a great shot."

He said Gray's experience and athleticism is what sparked the coaching staff's interest. "He's got an extremely quick release," he said. "He's seen the field really well. He has escape ability. He played in a very good league out there. The speed of the game, of course, will change some, but it won't be as big of a jump for him as some other quarterbacks coming out of high school."

Gray passed for 3,050 yards and 31 touchdowns, according to Lawrence Tan, SJSU's sports information director.

In addition to what Gray will potentially bring to the table, the Spartans signed Teren Losos and Max Miller, two players who will help fill the position of tight end.

"I felt like we needed to get some bigger tight ends to go along with Ryan Ottten," MacIntyre said. "Last year when he got hurt, that position kind of went out the window and I don't want that to happen.

MacIntyre said he will look to the upcoming months to see what challenges his team will face as the next step in spring practice, which will commence in early April.

"Usually the team has in the spring is the team that does the bulk of playing in the fall. Last year was a bit of an exception," he said, in reference to the unusual amount of injuries the team suffered in the 2010 season. "If you can have them all spring, have them all summer, they'll be a better football team in the fall."

Although SJSU faces changes to the WAC in the coming years — with big named schools such as Boise State leaving — MacIntyre said he believed focusing on recording wins against any competition.

"The obstacle to overcome, of course, is our record," he said. "That's thrown out there, they see it. They have to realize and believe with us in our future."
Children need natural training.

Much of the nation was held captive by the taxing issue at hand from the morning of Jan. 8, that a man had organized first of all an outside of an Arizona supermarket during an open meeting held in the parking lot for Rep. Gabrielle Giffords.

The suspect was accused of killing six people, including John Roll, the chief federal judge in Arizona.

Among the 14 injured is Giffords, who is recovering after suffering a gun shot to the face from point-blank range.

The man who was charged with committing these federal offenses was Jared Loughner, a 22-year-old from Tucson, Ariz.

Loughner pleaded not guilty to federal charges, one count of murder as a member of Congress, two counts of murdering an employee of the federal government and two counts of attempted murder of a federal employee, in a federal courthouse located in Phoenix, Ariz.

Charges for those people injured and killed who were not involved in the federal government are to follow at a later date.

Debate has risen over the fact that parents should be held criminally liable for their child's actions, including deaths.

A report released Tuesday by the University of Washington revealed that the videos may in fact slow children's vocabulary learning process.

The study, said babies who watched the videos scored an average of six to eight fewer words than babies who didn't.

In a report card released Tuesday, it was revealed that the videos are perfect for keeping kids busy, and amenities in SUVs, and one visit to the mall will surely, the movies are a distraction, which are ready to be devoured.

Portable DVD players have become standard during this time.

From an early age, value is placed on work-hard to achieve seemingly unreachable goals,

At the moment, society is not conducive to a child's readiness for school, and whether the child showed up to school that day.

Many news reports state that evidence found in Loughner's room included writings done by Loughner that contained the phrases "I planned sexual violence and not merely a mentally ill person.

He was able to plan his actions out days, possibly weeks, before he decided to carry out his objective."

"It is specifi cally designed to promote discovery and inspire new ways for parents and habitats to interact — such as clapping, pointing to objects and verbally interacting with their "ids," the company said in a recent statement.

From a parent's point of view, these advancements are perfect for keeping kids busy, and while it is a new way to keep "my child in an honor student" bumper stickers, how can one turn "Baby Einstein" down?

The days of wooden spoons, pots, action fi gures and ice from those days. From an early age, value is placed on work-hard to achieve seemingly unreachable goals.

The parents who care about their child's welfare, are the ones who are already involved in the classroom and at home.

Parents: Earning money runs the risk of putting less into our children, as it becomes the norm.

At the moment, society is not conducive to a child's readiness for school, and whether the child showed up to school that day.

Many news reports state that evidence found in Loughner's room included writings done by Loughner that contained the phrases "I planned sexual violence and not merely a mentally ill person.

He was able to plan his actions out days, possibly weeks, before he decided to carry out his objective."

"It is specifi cally designed to promote discovery and inspire new ways for parents and habitats to interact — such as clapping, pointing to objects and verbally interacting with their "ids," the company said in a recent statement.

From a parent's point of view, these advancements are perfect for keeping kids busy, and while it is a new way to keep "my child in an honor student" bumper stickers, how can one turn "Baby Einstein" down?

The days of wooden spoons, pots, action fi gures and ice from those days. From an early age, value is placed on work-hard to achieve seemingly unreachable goals.

The parents who care about their child's welfare, are the ones who are already involved in the classroom and at home.

Parents: Earning money runs the risk of putting less into our children, as it becomes the norm.

At the moment, society is not conducive to a child's readiness for school, and whether the child showed up to school that day.

Many news reports state that evidence found in Loughner's room included writings done by Loughner that contained the phrases "I planned sexual violence and not merely a mentally ill person.

He was able to plan his actions out days, possibly weeks, before he decided to carry out his objective."

"It is specifi cally designed to promote discovery and inspire new ways for parents and habitats to interact — such as clapping, pointing to objects and verbally interacting with their "ids," the company said in a recent statement.

From a parent's point of view, these advancements are perfect for keeping kids busy, and while it is a new way to keep "my child in an honor student" bumper stickers, how can one turn "Baby Einstein" down?

The days of wooden spoons, pots, action fi gures and ice from those days. From an early age, value is placed on work-hard to achieve seemingly unreachable goals.

The parents who care about their child's welfare, are the ones who are already involved in the classroom and at home.

Parents: Earning money runs the risk of putting less into our children, as it becomes the norm.
The film "Blue Valentine" showcases heartbreaking standout performances
Edgy film depicts tumultuous relationship

Leo Postoivoit
Staff Writer

"It's one of the most discouraging movies as well as one of the ones I've seen in a long time."

Frankie is the anchor of their relationship and seems to be the only reason why they don't split. Ultimately, the last straw seems to break when their dog goes missing and Frankie becomes upset. Dean attempts to fix this situation, but finds the dog has been hit by a car. Frankie spends a few days at Cindy's parents' house, and Dean tries to resolve the building tension with Cindy by spending a night in the "Futureland" room at a local sex motel. "Blue Valentine" feels clunky and raw, but the many mixed signals leave the viewer with several ideas of what happen. Most suggest that the couple splits and ends, but I believe that because of Frankie, who is a key reason why they married, they will ultimately resolve these differences and try to be the best parents possible. Through several interesting perspectives, the film describes how relationships often grow cold and how the flaws will creep in and eat at the existence of our lives. It makes any heart worry about growing old. Choosing between the other desires or something beautiful or living in something unpleasant is not easy. You always hurt the ones you love, the ones you shouldn't hurt at all. Gosling sings in a song that he wrote in the movie. Shifting back and forth between sweet and tragic themes, the film is technically brilliant and balanced. Scared by Brooklyn-based folk rock band Grizzly Bear, it feels as if you're watching a romantic catastrophe play upon a celluloid stage of New York.

According to an interview with Salon.com, Gosling and Williams gained 15 pounds each for the parent scenes of the film, making them both age from their 20s to their 30s. It feels as if they gained not only weight but also burdens of life as they aged. The absence of Cindy's self destruction and Dean's insistence bring great wear to any viewer. "Blue Valentine" is easily the best performance of Gosling's career, who genuinly fulfills the role of father to his kids. Through a deep-seated series of misunderstandings, the love of Dean and Cindy erodes. It's one of the most discouraging movies as well as one of the ones I've seen in a long time. However, it's probably not the movie of choice for Valentine's Day evening, especially if you're going through difficulties in your relationship. "Blue Valentine" originally received an NC-17 rating by the MPAA because of a scene depicting consensual sex. It was downgraded after an appeal to an R rating. "Blue Valentine" is in limited release playing at the CineArts theater at Santana Row, Camera 7 in Campbell, Aquarius in Palo Alto and AMC in Saratoga.