Sixteen Candidates Win Approval ASB Council OK's Dads' Day Game

Sixteen appointments to student committee positions were made at yesterday afternoon's student council meeting in the Student Union building at 3:30 o'clock.

Appointments made were: Spartan Shop board, Nancy Emshoff, Bill Sevrins, and Chuck Wing; College Life committee, Jeanne Nieri;

Student Activities board, Jim Porter, Constance Carlson, and Patty Braun; Fairness committee, Marion Autman, Bob Pettengill and Semore Abrams; Student Equipment Custodian, Keith Kerwin; Freshman Camp committee, Margaret Murphy; Revelries board, John Fuller, and Lorraine Leonetti; junior court justice, Lucky Rogers; and chief justice, Bob King.

Approval was given at the meeting for Jean Kerwin and Chuck Wing to head the Campus Chest drive.

The Dads' Day designation of the football game this Friday between SJS and Loyola was given unanimous council approval. Ed Mosher, Rally committee chairman, announced that section "U" on the San Jose State college side of the stadium may be used by students who have ASB cards and buy tickets for their parents.

In his Rally committee report, Mosher also said that plans for a rally Thursday evening were being formulated. Plans so far will call for the San Jose State rooters to meet the Loyola football team when they disembark from their plane at the San Jose Municipal airport.

The group will then proceed in a caravan back to the SJS campus where a rally will be conducted on the Student Union steps or in the inner quad. Plans also are being made for a talent rally for the USF game patterned after the San Jose-Santa Clara game rally.

Action on a request for San Jose State college to participate in an Inter-Collegiate Charity show were tabled until next Tuesday's meeting. Underwriting of the plan submitted to the Student Council would cost the Associated Student Body six to eight hundred dollars.

Dates for the Campus Chest drive were submitted to the council by the Campus Chest committee. The council approved the dates Oct. 30 to Nov. 3 for the drive.

SJS Band to Play Gershwin Music

A musical revue featuring the music of George Gershwin will be put on by the San Jose State college marching band on Dad's night, during the half-time period of the Spartan-Loyola football Friday night, according to Robert Olson, director of bands.

"Liza", "Strike Up the Band", and "It's Wonderful" will make up the medley to be played, Mr. Olson reported.

AWS Meets Today To Discuss Plans

The Associated Women Students will have their first regular meeting today at 4:30 p.m. in Room 24, Miss Nancy Emshoff, AWS publicity chairman, announced.

Plans for future events will be discussed by the group, and Miss Emshoff urges all old and new members to attend and share in the planning.

96 Per Cent Give Religious Preference

Figures released on the Fall quarter religious preference cards show that 6836 students of a total enrollment of 7111 at SJS filled out the cards. This constitutes 96 per cent of the student body.

Of the 6836 cards filled out, figures show 63 listed as non-Christian, 5674 as Christian, and 50 as Jewish. A total of 1149 expressed no religious preference.

Protestants were the most numerous with a total of 4008, while Catholics were second with a total of 1666. Of the 96 per cent of the student body who filled out the forms, 79.9 showed a religious preference of some sort.

Music Dept. Needs Men for Oratorio

An emergency call for men has been sent out by the Music department.

The Choral ensemble, which will present in December a portion of Bach's Christmas Oratorio, has plenty of women singers, but men singers are needed badly, according to Mr. Gus C. Lease, director of the choral ensemble.

All men who can carry a tune and are interested in singing should report to the Morris Dailey auditorium at 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, Mr. Lease said.

The Oratorio was composed in 1734, and the text is drawn from the Nativity portions of St. Matthew and St. Luke.

Meeting Today By 4 p.m. Friday

This quarter's first meeting of the Entomology club, oldest departmental club on campus, is scheduled for 11:30 today in Room S213 of the Natural Science building according to an announcement by Dr. Carl Duncan, adviser to the group.

Two movies, "Life in a Drop of Water" and "Life of the Harvester Ant" will be shown. Business discussion will include the planning of the club's activities for this quarter.

Group Discusses Chest Drive

Ways in which the Campus Chest drive will reach its quota will be discussed this afternoon when committee members confer with President T. W. MacQuarrie.

A $2500 quota has been set for the only fund-raising drive of the quarter. A new innovation at SJS, the drive is designed to replace all campaigns with one big solicitation each quarter.

SJS Students Add 3000 Names to List

Approximately 3000 of San Jose State college's citizens added their signatures to the Crusade For Freedom Scrolls which were dispersed about this campus last week, according to Lowell C. Pratt, director of public relations for SJS.

Alex J. Hart, Jr., directed the campaign in San Jose and extended the Crusade for Freedom to the college campus when President T. W. MacQuarrie asked instructors to acquaint their classes with the facts behind the campaign and to provide an opportunity for all students to sign the scrolls.

Exactly $16.50 in small change was collected in milk cartons to aid the sponsors of "Radio Free Europe" in telling the American story primarily to the subjugated peoples of Europe.

Pratt said that "because of the pressure of other campus activities and the impending Community Chest campaign, no special effort was made to raise money for the objectives of the Crusade for Freedom."

Pick Up Tickets By 4 p.m. Friday

Students who have not secured their tickets for the SJS-Loyola game Friday night must pick them up before 4 p.m. Friday. Tickets are free to all ASB card holders.

Late-comers will not be able to get tickets with ASB cards at the stadium gate before game time Friday night, the Graduate Manager's office warns.

Tickets are on sale now to the general public at $2.40 and are available at downtown agencies and the Graduate Manager's office.

announces that $1800 will be turned over to the local Community Chest campaign and the remaining $700 will be divided between the March of Dimes and the Cancer fund. "All proceeds over the $2500 mark will be divided among the three agencies," says Madsen.

Writer Names Spartans Among Major FB Powers

By HAL WOOD, United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11—(UP)—The schools won't get together themselves, so today the United Press takes the liberty of announcing a new independent football conference for major non-affiliated West Coast football teams.

There are seven clubs in the circuit: University of San Francisco,

Nevada, St. Mary's, Loyola, College of Pacific, San Jose State and Santa Clara.

Dibble Urges Payment of Senior Fees

Senior fees are payable now in the Graduate Manager's office. Treasurer Oliver Dibble announced at the Senior class meeting late Monday afternoon. The fees are $9 and pay for diploma, alumni dues, and all Senior week activities, he said.

After some discussion no agreement was reached as to the payment of Senior week activities fees by December and March graduates. Senior week is held only in June, Dibble explained.

Dibble reported $346.11 in the class treasury with $74 in the Senior fees deposit.

Three Senior class members reported that definite plans for Frosh counseling by the upper classmen will be made as soon as the newly formed Frosh class council is set up. Advice will be channeled through the council, they reported.

Pat Goulder, Bob Madsen and Ron LaMar were seniors attending freshman meetings last week.

A suggestion was made from the floor that a Junior-Senior mixer be held similar to the party held at Alum Rock park last year. No definite action was taken.

ASB Constitution May Face Change

A knotty problem in procedure arose at the Student Court meeting yesterday in the Student Union when an examination of the ASB constitution revealed an amendment providing that elections of sophomore justices be held in the latter part of fall quarter.

The amendment, originally made to facilitate the retention of experienced court personnel each quarter, can be changed only by approval at a general election. Proposal for the inclusion of the matter on the next ballot was made to the Student Council session following the court meeting.

Other business included the following:

The approval of a proposed recommendation to the council that the Homecoming Queen contest officials count their own ballots in the forthcoming queen election.

The discussion of applications for the posts of chief justice and junior male justice. Bob Smith held the latter position until his recent return to the Marine Corps.

A recommendation that Herb Lister, prosecuting attorney, be invited to meetings of the court and be given the status of ex-officio member of the procedure committee in order that he become familiar with operation of the court.

Officially, they are as free as the birds; don't have to abide by any schedule rules; they still can follow the dictatorship of the Pacific Coast Conference; and they can all honestly deny membership in the new "conference".

But the fact remains that down through the years these schools have been scheduling each other regularly on the football fields and basketball floors.

This year every club in the circuit plays at least five other teams in the loop. St. Mary's, Loyola and Santa Clara meet each of the other six members; the other four schools each play five loop teams. Last year all the teams played at least four games and the conference co-championship would have gone to College of Pacific and Santa Clara, each with records of four wins, no defeats.

Queen Petitions Must Be in Oct. 12

Tomorrow is the deadline for turning in petitions for homecoming queen candidates. Publicity Chairman Jeanne Thomas announced yesterday.

The queen contest is but one of an array of activities which 1950 Alumni Homecoming will feature. Other activities already included in the program are: a downtown parade, house decoration contest, bonfire rally, homecoming football game, a post-game dance, and open house for campus groups.

Miss Thomas said that any girl with clear scholastic standing and backed by a campus organization is eligible as a candidate for homecoming queen. She must however, have a petition signed by 50 students, and turn it in to the Homecoming box in the Information office by tomorrow afternoon.

According to Queen Contest Chairman Bob Baron, the candidates will be allowed no expenses, but the homecoming committee will have pictures taken of any qualified candidate at the expense of the ASB.

A formal announcement of candidates will be made Oct. 18, and the queen will be elected by the general student body on Oct. 20 at the time ASB class officers are elected.

The winner will reign during the downtown parade and other Homecoming activities, Baron said.

TX Dinner Tonight

A rushing dinner will be held tonight in the newly-decorated Theta Xi house at 596 S. 10th street, according to Art Adams, publicity chairman. Movies and color slides from Europe and the Eastern U.S. will be shown.

The Weather

Today, if you've already decided to cut or are through in the morning, would be well-spent prone on a neighboring spa, as the temperature will roam well into the 80's. The problem, of course, will be deciding texts to leave behind. Also if you're contemplating a nocturnal smorgasbord, you had best include in your lunch basket a cuddly chubby co-ed as during the dog-watch the atmosphere will cool to around 48.

Dads' Night Features Game of the Week

The game of the week on the Pacific Coast.

That's what Bay Area sportswriters are calling the Spartan Daily's Dad's Night football game between the Spartans and the Loyola Lions.

It's the kind of a game that any student and his or her parent would enjoy to the limit. The two teams are ranked as the two top Pacific Coast independents at this time. The winner will be number one. The teams boast the two top quarterbacks on the Pacific Coast in Gene Menges and Don Klosterman (Gary Kerkorian not excepted). The fullback duel between "Boom-Boom" Beck and Lion George Musacco should be remembered whenever those who see the game reminisce.

The game, as great as it should be, is only the culmination of the Father-Son (and Daughter) get-together all day Friday.

We would like to see every student whether he be a member of any organization or an independent invites his parent to be his and the college's guest on that day.

For one day in the year Mom and Dad can experience the spirit and excitement of college life that is taken perhaps for granted by the students.

They can see the classrooms and recreation areas and living quarters of their sons and daughters. The Rally committee under the chairmanship of Ed Mosher have arranged several card stunts built around the theme of "Hi Dad". Parents will feel right at home.

Besides it will be a great game!

Cure for Student Nomination Flaws

San Jose State college students are using an archaic method for nominating the Associated Student Body officers. And there doesn't seem to be much reason for it unless the effort needed to improve the method is too great to make.

High schools find the old system of oral nomination of their buddies fine. "Honest John" gets himself nominated ASB president simply by accumulating more buddies around him at the nominations assembly. One husky-voiced individual does the "I nominate Honest John" and he's in.

But at a State college it seems there could be some more mature, fair, logical system. Even junior colleges in California have progressed to the petition procedure.

This is what the Spartans should institute on Washington Square:

1. Let the students nominate themselves with approval of at least 50 other students.
2. A petition obtained from the Student Body office by the student wishing to run for any ASB office. The petition should be signed by 50 ASB card holders since an ASB card is needed for voting. Numbers are checked.
3. The petitions must be turned in to the Registrar in plenty of time to have grades checked and eligibility validated.
4. An assembly is then held either on the day of voting or the day the Spartan Daily runs stories and pictures on the candidates.

One of the most important features of any election is associating name with face and the qualifications of the persons running. A nominations assembly to accomplish this for the "greenies" would be of far more value than a mere caucus for shouting "I want to see this fine, upright student nominated to Spartan Dog Catcher." And thus he is elected, regardless if he is flunking his domestic science class.

Larger Men's Gym Facilities Needed

With all the innovations and expansion at San Jose State college, why not a little elbow room for those unfortunates enrolled in men's P.E. classes? Drying and dressing space, to say the least, is at a premium.

Although there apparently are enough lockers to go around, they are so jammed into the congested quarters as to make it nearly impossible for the owners of three neighboring lockers to dress, and often forcing them to leave the gym building half dry.

Are these major college facilities?

Duncan Retaliates On Picture

Dear Thrust and Parry:

For a time it appeared that the Daily's promise to become a better paper was to be kept and then—THAT PICTURE appeared again—in the Oct. 5 issue to illustrate an oath of some kind. Ignoring my wife's feelings (she says it doesn't do me justice and threatens divorce) that picture is the "unkindest cut of all." To keep using it is bad journalism.

A student greets me with, "Hey, Doc, how can you justify this mug on the front page again? I've been seeing that shot of you since I came here a freshman four years ago."

Another chimes in with: "Yeah! It's like digging up a shot of McKinley to spark a Community Chest drive."

Dr. McCallum asked me: "Are you trying to masquerade as a heavyweight wrestler in the hopes of getting a spot on TV? It's no use. Those guys would crumple you like a piece of scrap paper."

When your reporter came by the science department for news, he was pounced upon by three secretaries who threatened mayhem if he didn't do something about it.

My secretaries (delightful creatures!) think I am good looking. They shouldn't be disillusioned.

If the Daily is in such financial straits that it can't afford a new (and better) cut, surely some loyal student group might be prevailed upon to campaign for the needed money. I'd even contribute to the fund myself!

Carl D. Duncan.

See — Saw

By EVAN STEPHEN

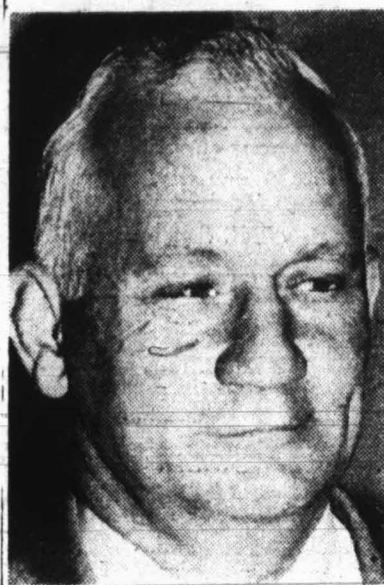

With the arrival of Veep Alben Barkley in California for his coming tour of the state, reporters at the airport had a feeling that something or someone was missing from the entourage. After a meticulous search and a barrage of questions the scribes found the answer. Unlike another prominent Democrat in this state, Barkley will evidently undertake his "stumping" sans the aid of female relatives.

Two-legged French "bulls" recently expressed a feeling towards red similar to the emotions exhibited by the male bovine species. Bordeaux gendarmes mistook the red Morocco flag for a Communist banner and patriotically bombarded the visiting sultan with a "charge of the light brigade". The Moroccan welcoming committee replied in kind with a hail of stones, sticks and curses. No hits, no runs, one error.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has an affinity for getting his name in Pravda. This time the official Russian "house organ" has charged that the jurist was sent to Iran to contact some 3,000,000 Iranian tribesmen for possible United States aid in setting up partisan guerrillas. As usual, Pravda is all wet. With the congressional indecision on Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood, any fool knows that Douglas contacted the Iranians in an attempt to get them to become our 49th state.

The conference between MacArthur and Truman this weekend should portend big things in the UN speech the President is scheduled to deliver to that august body Oct. 24. It's always nice to know what the head of the family is planning, especially on an excursion into a new land.

British Prime Minister Clement Attlee has managed to have the English general election set after the nationalization of the steel industry in spring. Consensus in Picadilly is that the P.M. is hoping the English minds will be too preoccupied with flowers in May to worry about flaws in the steel program.

Caught with Their Prunes Down?

Dear Thrust and Parry:

With due respect for the excellent job the Daily is doing in reporting campus news and events, we would like to take exception to a long-suffering practice in the sports columns of the Daily.

Now we all admire the prune as being a major contributor to the well-being of this valley, we also understand it is a pretty fair tonic for old-men's complaints, but it is difficult for us to go along with the sports department, copy desk et al in referring to Washington Square citizens as "prune pickers" and to this general area as the "prune belt".

We are sure (in fact damned positive) we resent being placed in such a questionable place of honor. Prunes indeed!

A prune is a dried-up, unattractive former plum, relegated to the task of providing ease and succor for cantankerous old men and toddling babes-in-arms. We doubt seriously whether our football team appreciates this undeserving tag. They have far outstripped us in their efforts to elevate this institution to a place of respect in athletic circles, it would not be asking too much if the Daily reporters attempted the same in their journalistic efforts. Grow up lads!

Prunes, indeed!!!!

Respectfully (?)

Daily in Reply To Dr. Duncan

Open letter to Dr. Carl Duncan:

In answer to your justified objection of your picture, gratuitously reprinted above for the benefit of unknowing readers, the Daily hereby proffers an explanation.

You, Dr. Duncan, obviously are not enamored of this (?) likeness (?), and the Daily concurs, but our defense is impregnable.

Admitting the picture does not mirror your handsome features, we refuse to accept the blame for any marital disagreements which it may engender.

But, Dr. Duncan, your last point is a poignant one. The Daily, tottering and shaking under its present financial pressure like a tango dancer's bustle in a Brazilian hurricane, has consistently been hit by budget cuts, slashes in the budget, budget clips and a general pilfering of our meager financial stockpile. (For the benefit of affected readers, there is a yellow collection box in front of B-93.) Reports have reached us that our news editor has been seen selling pencils at Fourth and San Fernando in a pathetic fund-raising attempt.

Your contribution will be appreciated!

But lo and behold, Dr. Duncan, look heartily at the above piece of art, for you are seeing it for the last time. Note the new picture on page 6.

Sincerely,

The Spartan Daily.

Noise Parade?

Saturday night after the game with the Broncos, I was talking to two students who were graduated last year. One of them remarked "how much the crowd had changed".

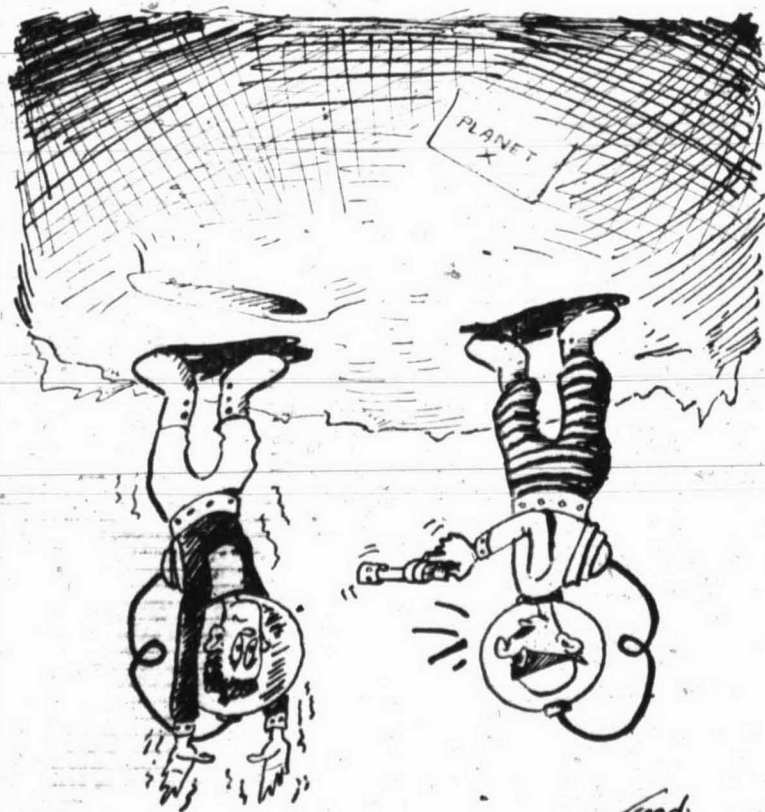

Said he, "I just can't figure it out—we tried to start a 'noise' parade tonight, but all we could round up were four cars. We drove out to Santa Clara, and by the time we got there, our parade was only THREE cars."

That started me wondering. Why don't we have such a parade? Is it against the law? Is it because too few students are aware of the tradition? If there is a city ordinance against it, how about asking police permission, and perhaps getting a police escort?

If there isn't such a law and unless the Student Council or the faculty frown on it, how about the Rally committee appointing a lead car for the next game, so that when we win, all of Santa Clara valley will know it!

Theta Chi, SAE, DU Hold Post Game Joint Party

Banding together Friday night at Napredak hall will be members and guests of three fraternities, Theta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Upsilon, according to Jerry Nelson, co-chairman of the affair. Working with Nelson will be Steve Everett of SAE and Dick Chappell of Theta Chi. More than 300 persons are expected to attend.

This is the first such occasion to be held this season and it is expected to be one of the finer parties of this college year, Ray Jones, president of Delta Upsilon, commented yesterday.

"The fraternities are hoping to establish a coherent relationship with each other and we feel, as do Theta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, that by having a party of this nature we can help bring about more group spirit," said Jones.

The affair will follow the Loyola-San Jose State grid game at Spartan stadium.

Theta Chi and Delta Upsilon held a joint play-day at Pogonip in Santa Cruz last spring when members and guests as well as the cast from the Revelries production of "Low Button Shoes" were invited. This function was termed so successful, Jones said, that the fraternities hoped to be able to combine their efforts in the near future. Friday night's affair is the culmination of co-operation and enthusiasm on the part of the three organizations, Jones explained.

Heading the Theta Chi group is Vern Bergstrom. Bill Rogers is president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Spartan Pair Are Married

Recent additions to the ever-growing list of married San Jose State college students are Joseph H. Ganser and the former Joyce Wartena. The newlyweds are at home at 275 1/2 S. 23rd street.

The new Mrs. Ganser is a teacher training major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Wartena of San Jose. The benedict is a meteorology student on campus and is affiliated with Delta Mu Phi. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Ganser, also of San Jose.

The couple repeated their nuptial vows in a flower bedecked setting at the Calvary Methodist church. The former Miss Wartena wore a traditional entrain gown of white satin. A seed pearl crown secured her full length veil. Her bouquet was composed of stock and gladioli surrounding an orchid.

Gwen Wartena, the bride's sister, performed the role of honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Carol Wartena, and Marianne Ganser. Little Marilyn Wartena attended her sister as flower girl.

Waiting at the altar with his brother was Paul Ganser. Orrin Finch and Neal Barnard Jr. seated the wedding guests.

Dale La Mar Weds Miss Orva J. True

Orva Jean True and Dale Emerson La Mar, June graduates of San Jose State college, repeated nuptial vows in a recent ceremony at Calvary Methodist church. The newlyweds are now at home at 130 S. 21st street.

The new Mrs. La Mar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. True of San Jose. While attending SJS she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Gamma Pi Epsilon mathematics club.

The benedict's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor La Mar of San Jose. His fraternal affiliations were Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, and Delta Sigma Phi. The former Miss True's wedding gown was fashioned of white chantilly lace and satin. She carried a white prayer book marked with orchids and streamers of stephanotis.

Preceding her to the altar were Mrs. Betty Claire Craig, the matron of honor, and Mildred Ann Brown, Patricia Hanaford, and Shirley Walters, bridesmaids. They wore gowns of satin and lace also ranging in hue from champagne to chocolate brown. Standing with the benedict as best man was his brother, Ronald La Mar.

Following their reception which was held in the church social hall the couple journeyed to the bay area for their honeymoon.

Delta Sigs Launch Fall Social Whirl

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity leaped into full scale operation this quarter by giving a "Kick-off" dance for members and guests. This was only one of the many things which the DSPs are doing to launch their social program, according to Vic Holshevnikoff, publicity chairman.

Recently 30 guests were greeted and entertained by members at the chapter house on 10th street. Movies of the 1948 Stanford-San Jose State football game were shown, songs were sung and refreshments were served.

Holshevnikoff stated that Uncle Sam's bugle call has caused the fraternity's roster to decrease somewhat in size, but the group has hopes of building up the membership throughout the year.

The Delta Sigs recently became known as the "green glow" on 10th street after acquiring a neon sign with their Greek letters on it.

William Peck will Speak Nuptials With Mary Brandt

A March wedding date was set recently by Spartan couple Mary Lynn Brandt and William L. Peck. Miss Brandt will be remembered as queen of Spardi Gras in 1949 prior to receiving her A.A. the same year. Her campus affiliation is Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is now employed as a secretary with the Henry J. Kaiser company in Oakland. The bride-elect's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brandt of San Leandro. The prospective benedict is a senior engineering major at San Jose State college. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Peck of San Leandro. Peck is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

DZs Meet with Phi Sigma Kappas

Delta Zeta began this fall's activities with a joint meeting with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

The meeting was held at the Delta Zeta house at 64 S. Tenth street. Social chairman Thea Lou Pellegrini was in charge of arrangements.

Diana Kaulbach is Delta Zeta president. Coy Staggs is Phi Sigma Kappa president.

Pi KA Entertains with Pre-Game Buffet Supper

Guests and members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity were entertained at a buffet dinner held at the Pi KA house Friday before the San Jose State-San Diego State football game.

Garmac's Amadio, the fraternity's recently acquired "pup", greeted guests at the front door. The dog was presented to the fraternity this summer. He is seven months old, weighs approximately 95 pounds, and is still growing.

Among the guests at the buffet dinner were Dr. Garf Wilson, Pi KA regional director and professor at the University of California at Berkeley, and members of Pi KA from the chapters at the University of California and San Diego State college.

The new television set, situated in the living room, kept the guests and members entertained until game time.

Following the game a party was held in the "Green Room" in the Pi KA basement. Dr. Boris Gregory, fraternity adviser, and Harry Beck, chapter president, acted as hosts.

Simons-Perry Plan December Wedding

If Uncle Sam is cooperative, Spartan co-ed Bonnie Perry will become the bride of Edward Simons first class storekeeper with the U.S. Navy, this December. The benedict-elect plans to return to San Jose from his Mediterranean station early this winter. Miss Perry is a senior at San Jose State college.

Daughter, Gayle, Born To Charles J. Whites

Mr. and Mrs. Charles John White are the parents of a 6 lb. 10 1/2 oz. girl born at O'Connors' hospital, San Jose, on Sept. 8.

The infant was named Gayle Susan. White is a sophomore engineering major attending San Jose State college, and lives on Daves avenue in Los Gatos.

Dean Predicts Increase In Female Congressmen

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(UP)—More of today's girls will grow up to be senators, Mrs. Millicent O. McIntosh, dean of Barnard college, believes, but we won't have any lady presidents.

"Only because other women wouldn't vote for her," Mrs. McIntosh answered when asked to explain why a woman wouldn't run the country.

"Women themselves are extremely conservative about other women. They still prefer men doctors or lawyers or bosses," she said, sitting at her desk in the high-ceilinged dean's office.

With the seriousness of the world situation, and with another trip to the polls due next month, Mrs. McIntosh thinks it's high time women did a little political stock taking.

The college plans a conference next month, titled "Conference on Women in Public Life—an Appraisal of Their Accomplishments and an Analysis of Their Frustrations."

"Women have had the vote for 30 years, but very few have been elected to office," Mrs. McIntosh said. She definitely does not believe any woman should be elected to anything if she isn't qualified.

"But we'll have more time in the next few years than men. We'll be at home while they're in uniform. It's our job to conserve and promote the spiritual and human values of democracy," she continued. "It is kind of foolish to arm ourselves against Russia if we neglect the values of our own form of government while we're at it."

Mrs. McIntosh is a friendly, unassuming woman who prefers to be called "Mrs." instead of "Dean." She and her husband, Dr. Rustin McIntosh, have five children. In her opinion, women don't need to lose any of their feminine rights if they start assuming a more aggressive role, politically speaking.

"I never find that because I have a position equal to my husband's he is any less polite or considerate," she said. "Men realize that the days of the strong male and puppet female are over."

College Group Meets Oct. 14 For Barbecue

One-pound steaks are promised to members of the Engineering Society, when the group meets Saturday, Oct. 14, at Alum Rock park for their annual fall barbecue.

William Sarbo, club president, said today that members attending Saturday's event will be sure to get the big steaks, as well as all the trimmings. In addition, he promised an afternoon of fun and relaxation from school work. Sarbo warned prospective members that they must join the society before Wednesday if they plan to attend the barbecue.

Festivities are slated to begin at 12 noon on Saturday, with football and softball games being played until 4 p.m., when the food will be served. Indications at Friday night's smoker showed that a large turnout is expected to enjoy the food and fun at Alum Rock.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale now in the Engineer's office, Room 13A. Signup deadline is scheduled for Wednesday, and no tickets will be sold after 5 p.m. on that day.

Engineering Group Holds 1st Smoker

More than 60 students and faculty members attended the Engineering Society's first smoker of the year, held at 7:30 Friday evening in the Student Union.

Guest speaker was Larry Hemphill of the local General Electric plant.

Hemphill spoke on product engineering, and demonstrated to the group the necessity on the part of the engineer to satisfy the buying public. He illustrated his talk with various charts showing what advantages may be built into an electric motor. Then, he called upon the students and faculty to "design" the motor using the most advantages for the type of product desired.

Movies on football and astronomy were presented following the speaker.

During the business meeting preceding the featured speaker of the evening, plans were announced for the annual Engineers Fall Barbecue to be held at Alum Rock park on October 14. The festivities will begin at 12 noon and dinner will be served at 4 p.m.

Signup for the Saturday barbecue will be in Room 13A, until Wednesday.

Mexican Youth Hitches Ride on Tail of Airliner

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10—(UP)—A Mexican farm boy hitched a ride on a Lamsa airliner in central Mexico today and made commercial aviation history.

Nineteen-year-old Cliforio Reyes Guerrero just took hold of the tail of the plane as it prepared for take-off from Torreon and hung on.

He managed to keep his big hands and feet off the movable tail surfaces and veteran pilot Jorge Guzman didn't notice anything wrong until the plane had taken off, climbed to 12,000 feet and was levelling off for the 450-mile flight into Mexico City.

Then, airline spokesmen reported, Guzman found the ship "excessively tail heavy" and returned to Torreon.

The 19-year-old farmer still was standing on the right horizontal stabilizer of the plane, hanging on with all his might to the leading edge of the rudder. His clothes were "all but torn off" and he was half-frozen by the wild midnight ride.

Officially the plane took off at 11:13 (CST) last night and returned to Torreon at 12:14 a.m. (CST) this morning but airline officials said it was in the air "only" 53 minutes.

Safely jailed to recuperate, Reyes Guerrero confessed that "I always wanted to ride an airplane."

Males Needed at SJS, Tarantulas, That Is,

By RAY HASSE

There is a shortage of males at San Jose State college—male tarantulas, that is, according to Dr. Carl Duncan, head of the Natural Science department. A seven-man hunt, organized from Dr. James W. Tilden's class in entomology, was staged Monday afternoon in an effort to obtain some of the long-legged creatures for future class study.

The afternoon's expedition resulted in 15 tarantulas—all of them females. The male, explained Dr. Duncan, is a great wanderer and is, therefore, harder to catch than the female who remains in or about the den.

These hairy arachnids are good objects for study since they maintain a fairly normal pattern of habits during periods of captivity. "But they must have mates," says Dr. Duncan in a general appeal to anyone interested in catching and bringing a live specimen to the entomology laboratory.

The tarantulas captured Monday afternoon were all taken from a two-acre portion of field located in the Edanvale area south of San Jose. The number taken as a result of one afternoon's search, says Dr. Tilden, indicates that these creatures are quite common to this general area—more common than most people realize.

The hunters simply located the holes or dens by the characteristic silk linings and then poured water into them until a spider appeared at the surface. A thin-bladed knife was then inserted into the ground a short distance behind the spider thus blocking the hole as a means of retreat. With the creature forced to remain above ground, the matter of herding it into a container was achieved by merely nudging it with the lid.

Most of the fear that exists at present for these spiders, according to Dr. Duncan, is based on an erroneous belief that violent nervous reactions are induced by the bite. This theory is purely a matter of hearsay and is entirely unfounded.

Dr. Atkinson Places Grads In Top Spots

By AL LONG

"We haven't had any trouble in placing graduates from our department in good positions," Dr. Earl W. Atkinson, head of the Commerce department, stated in an interview recently.

Dr. Atkinson said his office has been receiving a big demand for secretaries and he hopes to fill this demand soon because "there are 185 students enrolled in first year shorthand."

The Commerce department is divided into different branches. They are accounting, secretarial, selling, merchandising, real estate, and insurance. Dr. Atkinson said many of the students enrolled in the department are planning to become commerce teachers.

"We definitely have not had any trouble in placing commercial teachers in excellent positions with salaries ranging from $3000 to $4000," he said.

There are 3600 students enrolled in Commerce department classes. Dr. Atkinson said there are 525 taking first year accounting.

"Approximately one out of every six students enrolled at San Jose State college is a commerce major," he said. He estimated half of them are majoring in business administration.

Milburn D. Wright, instructor in the Commerce department, said graduates hold jobs with such diversified businesses as chambers of commerce, breweries, airlines, U. S. Rubber, Graybar Electric, Food Machinery, and, of course, retail stores.

Dr. Atkinson said there are 20 full time instructors in the Commerce department.

Local Lass Lives Successful Story

By ED ROPER

If somewhere betwixt these halloved bulkheads there lurks, cringes, cowers or even boasts an aspiring radio writer, let him or she, or even them, give heed. We have a success story of the local girl makes good variety.

Once upon a time there was born a Holloway, name of Jean, who grew up went to various schools and did the sort of things that the Board of Admissions likes people to do before they can sign up anyone for this institution. So they let her in. So now we have the local angle. Back in 1935, that is.

For some obscure reason Jean enrolled in a radio script class, which legend has it, was a prerequisite of something she really wanted to do. Jean protested, as she was to do on occasion before she left SJS. But you know it didn't do any good.

Writes Scripts

So she began writing scripts. Like one about Katie Howard, you English majors remember Kate as the forty-seventh of Hank VIII's wives. Strangely enough this script had a big part in it for Jean, who had ideas about being an actress. She also wrote a script which one of her friends submitted to the Harper Award board; it won first prize and later was sold to some commercial outfit for all sorts of loot.

Jean soon appreciated her own terrific talents and began flooding local stations with her scripts. Deciding that Noo Yawk was a greener field she left SJS in the fall of 1939 and arrived in that economy size mad-house at the mature age of seventeen.

Our gal didn't have much luck until one of her old school chums sent the Katie Howard script to Ted Collins, then producing the Kate Smith show. They wanted to buy, they did, and also signed Jean to write the Kate Smith shows for the next five years.

Last year she was writing the Railroad Hour, the Hallmark Playhouse, Prudential Family Hour of Stars, Mr. President, Dr. Kildare and other seasonal shows.

Kinda terrific for a twenty-five year old alumna.

Surrealist Artist Attempts Drama

By ROBERT E. JACKSON

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, Oct. 10—(UP)—Surrealist Painter Pablo Picasso's play "Desire Caught By The Tail" was panned by the critics today as "tripe, with onions."

An onion was one of its characters, together with two bow-wows and a novelist named "Big Foot" who loves a negress known only as "The Tart."

The girl, played by 19-year-old honey-skinned negress Louise Toumanov, danced a picasso-designed Charleston wearing only three roses. At the last minute, however, she added modest modifications to her costume.

Five casts resigned before the surrealist fantasy finally opened. The actors' agent had said, "play in that play and you'll need a new agent."

The story, a mad mixture of passion, misery, discomfort, anguish and hunger, is set in "Big Foot's" studio. Eight transparent legs alternately flashed red while floating through the air, and skeletons jumped out of saucepans.

Nobody in the private audience of 110 persons in the Watergate theater knew what the whole thing was about, and neither did the cast. But it was evident that everyone in the play was always cold and hungry.

Picasso said no curtain was to fall between the acts, so two tall muscular youths dressed in swimming trunks ran across the stage waving orange and yellow transparent netting.

When the legs flashed red, the cast groaned, "Oh, chilblains!"

The main prop was a big black box in the center of the stage which served as bed, coffin and bath. Two female characters, one fat and one thin, bathed in it together. The thin one represented anxiety.

Goddard Returns to San Jose After Two Years' Study in Paris

By CARL FERNANDES

Dr. Wesley Goddard, assistant professor of modern languages, returned to San Jose State college this quarter to resume his teaching duties, after spending two years in France studying at the University of Paris.

He received his doctorate of the University of Paris in French literature this Spring. Dr. Goddard wrote his thesis on Marcel Schwob, "a man no one has ever heard of." "The subject was chosen out of desperation," stated Dr. Goddard.

In the Fall of 1948 Dr. Goddard went on leave from San Jose State and left for France with his wife, Shirley. They lived almost the entire time in Paris.

After taking his examination in June, Dr. and Mrs. Goddard bought a Citroen, a French automobile, and toured France, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany. The Goddards also had occasion to visit England, while in Europe.

Of all the countries visited, Dr. Goddard states that he was impressed with France most of all. "I would like to live both there and here at the same time if it was possible," says Dr. Goddard.

Dr. Goddard made a kodachrome record of his travels for the college and has about 1000 slides, primarily of France.

Plans To Stay in SJ

Asked of any future plans, Dr. Goddard replied, "Having spent all of my money it looks as if I'll stay put for awhile." However, according to Dr. Goddard, "A few days ago I found 750 francs (two American dollars) in my 'other' pair of pants."

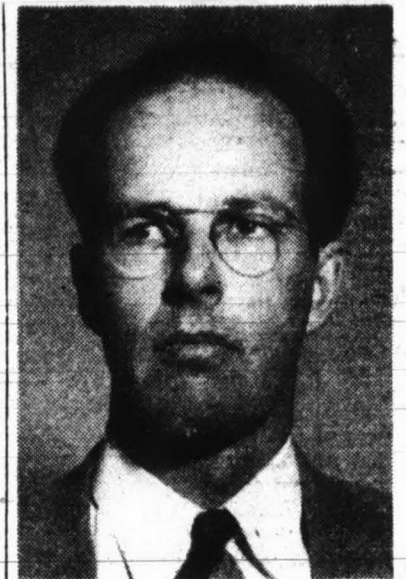

When the Goddards first arrived in Paris in 1948, it was in sad condition, not having fully recovered from the effects of World War II. Shortages and rationing were still in evidence and made it difficult for the women to manage their homes.

Now Paris has fully recovered. The city itself was not physically damaged by the war, except for the factories on the outskirts, which were bombed.

French Indifferent To Korea

The French people are relatively unconcerned about the war in Korea. "Some of the people we met consider the Korean affair merely a colonial war of the United States and as such, nothing to worry the rest of the world," stated Dr. Goddard.

Dr. Goddard received his A.B. at Swarthmore college, Pa., and his master's degree at the University of California. He began teaching at San Jose State col-

Frosh Prepare for USF

The Washington Square frosh football team will get its "baptism of fire" Saturday afternoon when the squad tangles with a rough USF yearling eleven in San Francisco.

Weaker in the line than last year, but a little stronger in the backfield, the Spartan Babes' ability to win might well depend on how long their first string can hold out.

Only about half as many men turned out for the frosh team this year as did last year. Of the 70 who did turn out, only about 50 now remain. First string quarterback Jerry Ruse has been called for active duty with the Marines, but will be available for the season opener against USF.

Coach Tom Cureton will have to find a replacement for Ruse, and for Bill Kwartz and Chuck Allen, who have already dropped from the team due to service obligations.

Good Prospects

On the other side of the ledger, some outstanding prospects are still available for duty with the junior edition of the Golden Raiders. Big things are expected of Chuck Marcine, Pennsylvania transfer, Don Cederlind and Jim Jerner from Turlock high, and Manuel Rocha of San Jose.

Coach Cureton scouted the USF frosh-Treasure Island football game recently and reports that the Spartans' Bay area opponents are capable of fielding a very rugged team.

The frosh mentor said the Don freshman team showed lots of depth in the line in beating the Islanders 39-6. They put in three strings of linemen, all of which appeared to Coach Cureton to be of about equal strength.

The USF team has also developed a fine passing attack. Their aerial offensive was clicking on both long and short passes, Cureton said.

San Jose's frosh team will meet five opponents in addition to their clash with USF.

Former Villanova Coach Maps Loyola Victories

By 'ROD' RODRIGUES

Bay area sports writers have picked the coming Friday night encounter between the San Jose State Spartans and the Loyola Lions as the game of the week on the west coast.

The game brings together two of the most powerful independent teams west of the Rockies. The Lions boast a strong and fast team that has won its two first games by astronomical scores. Loyola dumped Pepperdine, 50-14, and St. Mary's, 48-0.

The Southland gridders are contenders for the title of Coast Independent champions.

Coached by Jordan Olivar, former Villanova coach, the Lions are well-versed in the Eastern ranks. Evans rates a shadow behind Brito.

The Loyola line will have more depth than last year, and will be one of the biggest in Lion history. The first two lines scale in the vicinity of over 200 lbs.

Olivar is a keen student of the game of football, much similar to our own Bob Bronzan. Oliver mixes solid fundamentals with the latest innovations of the game. His team operates from the conventional T or from variations along the style of the spread formation.

Spartans Won Last

Friday's meeting will be the third between the two colleges, the last being in 1940. San Jose State defeated the Lions, 10-0, in 1939 and 27-12 in 1940.

In the Lions, the Spartans will be facing one of their toughest foes that have been scheduled.

The West coast Independent championship may well hinge on the outcome of this game, so both teams have plenty at stake.

The Spartans have to really get down to business in prepping for this one.

Coach Bronzan scouted the Loyolans when they played St. Mary's, and there's no doubt that he knows what the Raiders are up against, and is acting accordingly.

Shaw Talks 49er Changes

NEW YORK (UP) — Coach Buck Shaw hinted today that his four-times defeated San Francisco 49ers were due for a big shake-up when they return home Friday after playing the New York Yanks here Thursday night.

"I'm just waiting to see the pictures of our game against the Detroit Lions Sunday," Shaw said. "If they show what I suspect they are going to show—that some of our veterans let down and didn't do their best—then some changes will be made when we get back home."

More UP Football League

The schools are geographically situated for economical association in sports. Nevada and Loyola are at the opposite ends of the circuit, but they are only about 500 miles apart. The other five teams all are within 100 miles of each other in the San Francisco bay region.

Each club is well situated for a home field with the possible exception of Nevada. USF, St. Mary's and Santa Clara use 60,000-seat Kezar stadium in San Francisco; San Jose State has an 18,000-seat stadium; COP will have in two weeks a brand new 35,000-seat stadium; Loyola has 18,000-seat Gilmore stadium.

Mythical Title

The main advantage of the league is to give the boys at least a mythical title to play for. It also will give them some recognition in the battle for bowl bids.

Last season, for instance, a title of co-champion of a conference most certainly would have helped Eddie LeBaron and the great COP team get a major bowl bid.

As a rule, the general power in this conference would shape up just a shade below the Big Ten, PCC and Southwestern conferences. Last year, for instance, Santa Clara defeated Kentucky, the Southeastern conference king, in the Orange bowl.

The over-all power generally, probably would compare well with that in the Big Seven (Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri), Skyline Six (Wyoming, Utah, Denver, etc.).

Southern (Wake Forest, Duke, North Carolina) and Missouri Valley (Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa, Detroit).

Here are the first independent conference standings:

	W	L	T	Pct.	PF	PA
USF	1	0	0	1.000	66	6
Loyola	1	0	0	1.000	48	0
COP	1	0	0	1.000	41	0
SJSC	1	0	0	1.000	14	10
Nevada	0	1	0	.000	6	66
S. Clara	0	1	0	.000	10	14
St. Mary's	0	2	0	.000	0	89

This week's schedule:

Loyola at San Jose State (Friday night).

COP at Nevada (Saturday).

USF vs. St. Mary's at San Francisco (Sunday).

Santa Clara at Stanford (Saturday), non-conference.

HE HAS COURAGE

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Former heavyweight champion James J. (Gene) Tunney says Ezzard Charles is a courageous fighter but not a great champion.

He told reporters he attended the recent Joe Louis-Charles heavyweight bout and was impressed by Charles' courage.

Warren Routh, 240-pound Loyola tackle, lets out with a roar and some posed muscle work for the photographers as he lifts teammates Skip Giancanelli and Rene Monroy. Loyola, tabbed as one of the top independents on the coast this year, will meet the Spartans Friday night. The game has been tabbed the top contest on the coast by many pigskin pickers.

Pick Up Letters!

All campus organizations, including religious, living, and social groups, are asked to pick up letters which have been mailed to them by the La Torre editors regarding the reserving of space for the group's pictures in the 1951 yearbook.

La Torre editors, Miss Iris Elwood and Ted Breeden have set Nov. 8 as deadline for returning the letter form to their office. Any group failing to return this form by the deadline will not be photographed by the yearbook photographer, and consequently will not appear in the 1951 La Torre, the editors said.

June Grad Gets Hospital Position

Norma Johnson, San Jose State college graduate of June, 1950, has been appointed assistant occupational therapist in Children's hospital of San Francisco, according to information received by the SJS occupational therapy department.

Miss Johnson recently finished nine months' clinical training at

Sotzin in Michigan

Dr. Heber Sotzin, head of the Industrial Arts department, flew to Dearborn, Mich., Thursday night to attend a meeting in connection with the annual Industrial Arts Awards Competition for 1951. Mr. Daniel C. Lopez, instructor in the department, announced yesterday.

The competition, sponsored by the Ford Motor company, is held annually for students of industrial arts who submit projects to be judged in several categories. Scene of the competition is the Museum of Sciences and Industries in Chicago.

California took three sweepstakes prizes this year in the fields of plastics, printing and drafting. Dr. Sotzin was a judge in the pattern making division last summer.

How to sabotage America's Oil Industry

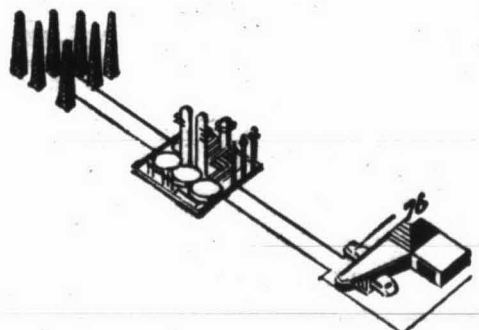

1. Every day the people of the United States use up 6 million barrels of petroleum.* In order to refine that petroleum into useful products the American oil companies have built 375 refineries at a cost of 4½ thousand million dollars. Union Oil's four refineries, for example, represent a total investment of $96 million.

*Each barrel contains 42 gallons.

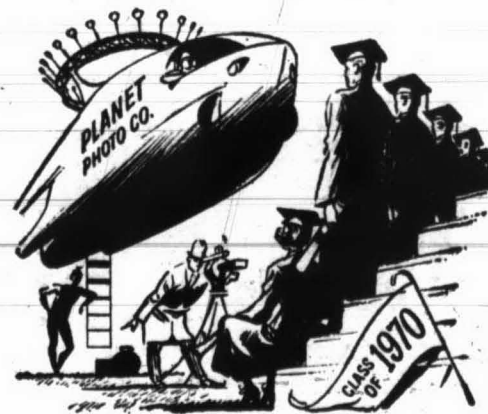

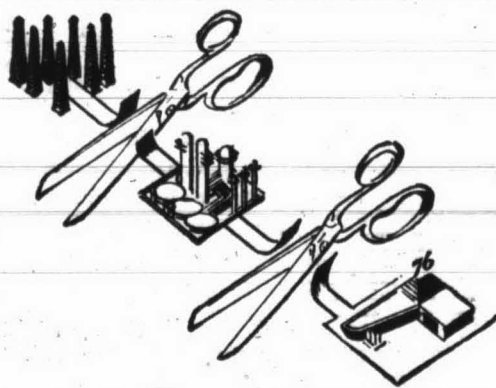

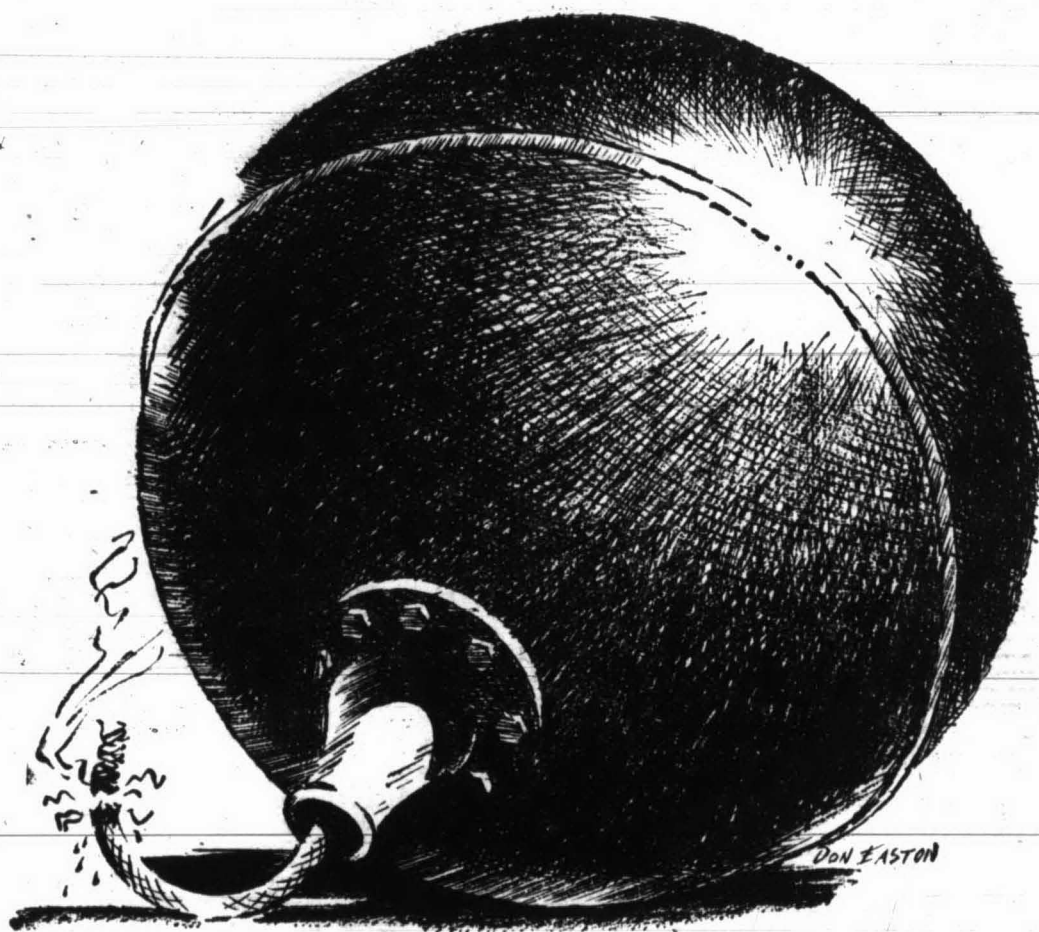

2. Obviously, no company in its right mind is going to lay out 25 or 30 or 100 million dollars for a refinery unless that company has an assured supply of crude oil to keep the refinery operating. Neither can it do so unless it has some marketing setup through which it can sell the refinery's finished products to the public.

3. Consequently, the oil industry has tended to develop along the lines of "integrated" companies—companies that produce, refine and market oil under one organization. Union Oil is one of those "integrated" companies. And there are 104 more in the U.S.—all competing vigorously with each other.

4. In addition to these "integrated" companies, there are some 34,000 others, large and small, which specialize in only one or two phases of the oil business. The existence of "integrated" companies is of vital importance to these specializing companies. For it enables them to find markets for their products and services, and/or products for their marketing operations.

5. Recently, the Department of Justice has indicated its desire to break up the "integrated" oil companies because they are "too big." The Department would like to force all companies to confine their activities to one or two phases of the business. In view of this, we'd like to ask two questions: First, if a company is not permitted by law to market its own products, who is going to risk his capital in the costly refinery improvements America will need for the better products of tomorrow?

6. Second, if a company can't contract for a sure supply of crude, who is going to risk his capital in the additional refineries we will need for the increased population of the future? If this is the opening wedge or a campaign to nationalize the oil industry, we can understand the Department's actions. If not, it is one of the surest ways we can think of to sabotage America's oil progress.
