

Fall Registration Hits 6702 Mark

Decrease of 800 In Vet Enrollment

Enrollment figures for the fall quarter have reached 6702, only 339 less than the registration for the first quarter of the 1950-51 college year, according to Miss Viola Palmer, admissions officer.

Miss Palmer explained that this total does not include the 355 limited students who are taking less than seven units of college work.

The number of students attending the junior college, which is operated as a part of San Jose State college, has dropped from 1137 to 768, Miss Palmer revealed. Veterans enrolled in both SJS college and the junior college total 1157, approximately 800 less than in 1950.

As a result of the unexpected upswing in registration the college has been authorized to employ six additional instructors to ease the burden on the current faculty, she said. As a result of a pre-registration enrollment figure of 6200, 502 less than the present figure, the faculty had been reduced to 400 persons.

Figures as to the number of men and women students are not available as yet, the admissions officer said. Because of the detailed work involved in compiling these figures, Miss Eileen Wilson of the Registrar's office has not yet had time to determine a more detailed breakdown of the enrollment statistics, Miss Palmer explained.

T. W. MacQuarrie To Address Frosh Class Tomorrow

Dean of Men Stanley C. Benz announced yesterday that the first meeting of the freshman orientation class this quarter will be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Approximately 750 freshman students are expected to attend the initial session in which President of the College, Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, will deliver an opening address. Miss Viola Palmer, admissions officer, will speak to the students on "The Mechanics of San Jose State College".

The originally scheduled first meeting of the once-a-week course was cancelled Thursday because remodeling of the auditorium had not been completed.

Engineers Add Two Courses To Curriculum

Two engineering extension courses, statistical quality control and a review of engineering fundamentals, are now available to interested students, Dr. Ralph J. Smith, Engineering department head, announced yesterday.

The course on statistical quality control, which is being instituted at the request of several local defense industries, is designed to acquaint employees of private industry with "statistical techniques in the control of quality of manufactured products," Dr. Smith said. The course, scheduled tomorrow night from 7:30 to 9:30, will be presented every Thursday evening for the next 15 weeks. The class will be instructed at 200 S. First street by Lawrence F. Bell, registered professional engineer and assistant professor of Industrial Engineering at Stanford university.

The review of engineering fundamentals, instructed by Dr. Smith, is designed as a refresher course for students planning to take the State Board examination for registration as Engineer-in-training, he said. A bill recently was passed by the California Legislature, Dr. Smith explained, making it possible for graduates of all state college Engineering departments to participate in the examination. Prior to passage of this bill, Dr. Smith declared, only the graduates of four engineering schools in California, or those who had fulfilled certain experience requirements could apply.

The first meeting of Dr. Smith's new class will be held next Monday evening at 7 o'clock at 200 S. Seventh street, the Engineering department head said.

Blonde vs. Buck

Denver, Colo. (UP)—A stately blonde nursed a painfully bruised thigh today—the aftermath of a hand-to-hand battle with a wild-eyed, 200-pound buck deer.

Miss Maxine Bloomquist of Englewood, Colo., said the belligerent buck attacked her—from the rear—while she was fishing in a stream near Estes Park, Colo., Sunday afternoon.

Report Now

Miss Edith Graves of the Veterans office has requested that Lewis Hunter, Lewis Hoffman, Carl Hodges and Kenneth Hunt report to Room 34 immediately.

Newman Dance Set For Thursday Nite

An Open House record dance is set for tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in Newman hall, according to Enid Cardena, chairman. All San Jose State college students are invited.

It will be a stag dance and dress will be sport. This is a quarterly affair so that students may find new friends and become acquainted with Newman club activities.

Helping Miss Cardena with arrangements are Barbara Graul and Barbara Grant.

The Weather

Yesterday morning when I got up it was all but snowing. The wind was blowing, the air full of frost and dark clouds hung menacingly over the fraternity house across the street. Aha! said I. It will be cold today and maybe even rain in the afternoon. So I donned my racoon skin sweater and rushed to my desk to write a chilly weather report. Hardly had I sent in my report when the sun crept up to my window and spit in my eye. I began to writhe in my racoon. Today, hardened and cautious by my bitter experience with the double-crossing sun, I predict it will be cold until the sun comes out. Plan on changing clothes during your lunch hour.

Profs Attend School Confab At Sacramento

Dr. Henry T. Jensen, professor of education, will leave Saturday for Sacramento to attend a meeting of the Bay Section of the California School Supervisor's association. Dr. Jensen is Bay Section vice-president.

Other members of the Education department who will attend the October 7-10 meetings are Associate Professors of Education Miss Frances Gulland, Miss Bethel Fry, Dr. Lillian E. Billington, Mrs. Grace Rowe and Assistant Professor of Education Miss Mabel G. Crumby.

Discuss Chapel Bid

The Memorial Chapel committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the office of Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president, Mr. E. S. Thompson, Chapel committee chairman, announced yesterday.

The low bid of $38,900 received from Oscar W. Meyer, San Jose contractor, will be discussed, said Mr. Thompson, as well as further action regarding the construction of the chapel.

Spartans Travel to Cal For Roundtable Parley

Sam Datri, Bill Fitzhugh, Bill Johnson and Bob Mackie will take the opinions of San Jose State college to the University of California at Berkeley tomorrow when the Bay Area Roundtable discusses the question, "How can we as a nation improve our ethical and moral conduct?"

The delegates were announced yesterday by Mr. Wilbur F. Luick, instructor in speech and director of forensics. Alternate representative is Jan King.

The Northern California Forensic Association Intercollegiate discussion question for 1951-52 will be opened at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Club rooms on the Cal campus. Theme of the forum will be a definition of "ethical and moral conduct" and its origins, Mr. Luick said.

Also included will be exposition of the contemporary standard of values and deviation from them.

Second in the series of Roundtables, scheduled for Nov. 1 at Stanford, will be devoted to ways and means of improving the ethical and moral conduct. Finishing touches will be applied at the final meet on Dec. 6.

'Y' Will Hold Party Tonight

Rain or shine, the Student Y barbecue will be held tonight, Bob Fossgreen, chairman, said yesterday. Games will start at 5:30 o'clock, with the dinner an hour later. If showers should dampen the festivities, the "Y" party will transfer to the Women's gym, Fossgreen explained.

Transportation to the John Crumfey home, Park and University avenues, will be furnished. Cars will leave the Student Y on Seventh street at 5:30.

Home Ec. Faculty To Honor Teacher

A home economics faculty party for Mrs. Ouida Mallett will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Henry Wendt on Penitencia Creek road.

A buffet dinner will be held outside at 6 p.m., "if the weather permits," according to Dr. Margaret C. Jones, head of the Home Economics department.

Mrs. Mallett is new to the home economics staff, thus the faculty is getting together to give her a party, Dr. Jones reported. "Everybody has something to do," she said. "My job is to put the butter on the bread."

Forty-seven people are expected to attend.

Students Use File

The program card file which contains the names, addresses and programs of all registered students at San Jose State college now is open to the student body, according to Dean of Women Helen Dimmick. The file is located in the Dean of Women's office and will be available for consultation from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"White Supremacy" in California?

"Race prejudice" is an ugly label that is generally associated with the "white supremacy" doctrine prevalent in the South. California, among the self-styled progressive states, is one of the loudest in protesting that all persons are equal, regardless of race or creed. It is time we looked to the condition of our own house before we assume a holier-than-thou attitude.

Carried in the columns of the San Jose Mercury Monday was a letter from a San Jose State college student which points up a condition completely incompatible with the wholesome relationship which should exist between the student body and the community.

We are reprinting the letter with no further editorial comment. Ray Paulat has stated his case perfectly in the column which follows.

Editor: I am a junior student at San Jose State college, married and an American citizen by birth of Filipino descent.

Because my finances while going to college are limited, I am forced to look for part-time employment after school, as are many other students in the college. Today (Sept. 24) I went to the office in charge of finding jobs for students. They gave me a card of introduction to a certain drugstore in town.

Several hours later I went out to see about this job. There was a lady waiting on customers, and I asked her if the manager was in, at the same time showing her the card of introduction the school had given me. She said for me to wait there where I was for a few minutes and then stepped behind a glass wall where a man, obviously the manager, was busy working. She had a few words with him, and a few seconds later returned, telling me that the manager had decided to look for a girl to work full time. I politely thanked her and left.

About an hour later, I phoned the drug store. The manager came to the phone. I asked him whether the position for a part-time worker was still open, telling him that I was from State but not yet revealing that I was the same person who had been in previously. He told me over the phone something about having a girl already or about to have one, but that he was still considering hiring a part-time student. He asked me to drop out later that evening to have an interview. It was then that I revealed to him that I was the same person who had been out one hour previously, but who had failed to get an interview, in spite of the fact that he was only several feet away from me, behind a glass partition. He admitted seeing me, and then began mumbling in his beard trying to concoct some kind of plausible excuse for his girl telling me a deliberate lie about he, the manager, changing his mind about hiring a part-time worker, and the fact that he didn't care to interview me personally to see if I had the qualifications, in spite of the fact that I was sent out by the school. One look through the glass wall was enough for him to decide whether or not I was suited for the position.

It wasn't so much the fact that I didn't get the job that kind of makes me boil. It was the apparent manner in which it was performed that makes me term this as un-American. To my way of thinking this is just as grave a misdeed as a Hollywood star confessing before the House un-American Committee that he was a former Communist, because both defeat the very acts and purposes for which hundreds and thousands of our American boys are perishing on the battle fields in Korea today.

This little incident by no means clouds my mind or my way of thinking in regard to the American way of living, for I still believe that this is the best land on earth and will continue to be as long as the majority of us strive to keep it as such, and, in addition, improve on its weak spots. I would like to consider the man who did me wrong as belonging to a minority of believers who think such as he.

Public School Administrators To Meet Today

Dr Johnson, Dr. Sweeney To Speak At Convention

California school administrators will attend a three-day convention in San Jose, commencing today, as Santa Clara county plays host to the California Association of School Administrators, according to Dr. Harry T. Jensen, professor of education.

Meetings will be held in the San Jose Civic auditorium and will be attended by Dr. William G. Sweeney, professor of education and Dr. Jensen. Both will speak on predetermined topics.

DR. WILLIAM G. SWEENEY
... To Speak at State Meet

Dr. Sweeney will speak Friday on the "Framework for Public Education—Secondary." Dr. Jensen will discuss the subject of "Professional Standards in Administration" with "Reactions to the New Requirements proposed for Administrative Credentials" as his special topic.

Other prominent local administrators who will participate in discussion panels are Earle P. Crandall, superintendent of San Jose city schools; O. S. Hubbard, county superintendent; and Russel Timpany, assistant county superintendent.

Also scheduled to speak are Thomas P. Ryan, superintendent, East Side Union high school district; Laurance J. Hill, superintendent, Campbell Union high school; Chase Stevens, business manager, San Jose Unified; George M. Downing, assistant superintendent, San Jose Unified; and Levi Gilbert, general supervisor, San Jose Unified.

New Member Joins Journalism Staff

Mr. Carleton J. Smyth, assistant professor of journalism, is the newest addition to the Journalism department, according to Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the department.

Mr. Smyth takes over the duties vacated by Mr. Charles V. Kappen, who was recalled to active duty with the U.S. Army during the summer.

A graduate of the Columbia university school of journalism, Mr. Smyth previously has taught journalism at Duquesne university, Kent State university, and the University of Illinois.

In the U.S. Marine Corps from 1942 to 1945, Mr. Smyth served in this country, in Panama and in the Pacific area.

Aside from his duties as advisor to the Spartan Daily staff, Mr. Smyth teaches two courses: News Editing and History of the Free Press.

Art Organization Displays Products

First annual exhibit of Thirty and One Artists began yesterday at Poor Richards gallery in San Mateo, according to Dr. Marques E. Reitzel, head of the Art department. Dr. Reitzel participated in selecting paintings for the exhibit.

Judging was held at the gallery Sept. 26. Kenneth Washburn, club president; Alexander Nepote of Oakland and Miss Donna Davis of San Mateo were other judges.

The exhibit will run through Wednesday, Oct. 12.

Auditorium Work to Be Completed Tomorrow

"If it is entirely possible the remodeling work on the Morris Dailey auditorium will be completed tomorrow or Friday," Byron Bollinger, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said yesterday.

Ceiling Not Finished
He said that the stage work in the auditorium has been causing the delay in the final completion of the job. Work on the ceiling over the stage is not yet finished, and the curtains still need to be hung, he added. The floor of the auditorium stage is being sanded and refinished today, he said.

Main purpose for the remodeling of the auditorium is to meet the safety requirements of the State Fire Marshal, who made an inspection of the campus in 1946.

Mr. Bollinger said the Fire Marshal recommended that a closed ceiling be constructed over the stage to eliminate any possible danger of fire. This has been done, with a sprinkling system built into the ceiling as a further safety improvement, he stated.

Gum Paneling
According to the superintendent, gum paneling, like that on the auditorium's walls has been placed along the front of the stage.

In the past, the auditorium has lacked facilities for changing scenes and backdrops but now, he said, equipment has been installed that can be used in presenting large productions.

Mr. Bollinger said only a few classes have been holding sessions in the auditorium since the start of the quarter. The noise of the work has caused the dismissal of a number of classes, he said.

A rally for the Fresno football game also was postponed because of the face-lifting.

The superintendent said the cost of the summer long remodeling job, which has extended two weeks into this quarter, is approximately $12,000.

The first wearer of a formal top hat landed in a London jail for "inciting a riot" because, when a crowd gathered to heckle him, a woman fainted and a boy broke his arm.

When a person lives, breathes, and practically dies for something, it is generally conceded that that individual will succeed in whatever endeavor he attempts. That literally is the case with Ken Venturi—the newly crowned California amateur golf king. The 20-year-old junior lives, breathes and dies for the links game. In winning the state title Ken achieved the highest niche a golfer can attain outside the national amateur championship. The California tourneys the largest state held golf meet in the nation and yearly attracts the country's outstanding linksmen.

As Ken summed up his triumph in modest fashion, "I knew if I got the breaks I would win and I think I got most of the breaks." In golf self-confidence is the greatest attribute and Ken has plenty to spare. As he related, he felt that confidence when he stepped to the first tee in last Sunday's 36-hole finals against Dr. Frank Taylor, of Ontario, Calif. "I believed I could win and just relaxed," Ken confided. "When I won the first two holes I felt I had it." The youngster did have it, as he proceeded to go out and break a record that had withstood 20 long years of competition with a brilliant four under par 68 over one of the nation's toughest golf courses—Monterey's nationally famous par-72 Pebble Beach layout. That record gave Ken an insurmountable six up lead that he protected the 30 holes the match lasted.

For the time being, or until another tournament pops up, Venturi will continue his studies toward an AB in physical education at Washington Square. He realizes that an education comes first, although, he is far from ever giving up his first love. He plans to finish his college education and then turn to a career in professional golf.

Ken knows the hardships of a life of riding the professional golf circuit but he is confident he can make the grade. His reputation followed him eastward when he went three rounds in the 1951 National amateur chase. "I had two offers as assistant golf professional," he hinted. "One from Florida. But that is still too far ahead to consider. I want to build a reputation and prove to myself that I can play championship golf before I will consider a golf career," Ken added.

It appears right now that San Jose's golf protege can hold his own in any competition with his "V" for victory complex.

SUDDEN THOUGHTS:

Sportswriters can spray adjectives hither and yon, the fewer the better.

But irrespective of number, the selection should be the key factor. And objectivity should be the decider, not partisanship.

A student sprout from the Stanford Daily used the word "putrid" to describe the Spartan loss to USF. The implication was to belittle Bronzan's platoons and minimize Washington Square potential.

Well, the Golden Raiders repaid the compliment Saturday on the field. Nothing more need be said.

All except a warning to that Stanford hotshot to start digging for a soothing choice of words to depict Stanford's showing this Saturday. Coach Chuck Taylor's team was hardly a ball of fire against us, even though folks say they let up and used second stringers.

Bronzan used his bench, too.

Coach Calls Frosh For J.V. Squad

Any freshman wishing to play on the SJSC junior varsity football team will be given a full tryout with the Sparta-babe squad, Jim Whelehan, J.V. coach, stated yesterday.

"Many fellows are of the opinion that membership on the squad is limited to those men who received personal invitations," Whelehan commented. "Such is not the case. The squad will be bolstered by several men down from the varsity, but by and large the J.V. team will be composed of new men."

Candidates are asked to report to the Men's gym office or to the varsity field house at Spartan stadium.

The Reds travel to Ann Arbor this Saturday to battle Michigan. Sure hope the Wolverine sports writers are tolerant in the use of adjectives.

DAPPER DAN:

This writer, hoping for a lone-wolf prediction, casually suggested to Publicist Danny Hill last week that Stanford would be in the Rose Bowl come January.

Hill nodded in agreement, adding, however, "they'll go . . . if they can GET TICKETS."

COACH JOE:

Alumni Director Joe Juliano is also Coach Joe Juliano. The husky guy with spectacles directs the San Jose Wieland Brewers in the semipro, Northern California Athletic conference.

Juliano, a great guard in his day as a Spartan, is no Paul Brown, but he knows the game well enough to keep his eleven in the running for the league title.

With some 25 former Golden Raider gridders in the line-up, the Brewers blasted Castlemont A.C. of Oakland Sunday, 31-14. Previously they shut out Santa Cruz, 34-0, and dropped a see-saw 34-27 thriller to the powerful San Francisco Broncos.

Fresno Rough, Coach Warns As Game Nears

By ROY HURLBERT

Warning his platoons not to carry a cocky attitude to Fresno Saturday, Coach Bob Bronzan is readying his Golden Raiders for a "good, rough ball club".

Bronzan and Line Coach Bill Perry scouted the Bulldogs in their 33-14 walk over Pepperdine last week. Talk from here to the valley is that the Raisin City eleven is one of the strongest since before the war.

The Spartan coaches agreed that Fresno State has the goods to make for a close contest under the arcs in Ratcliffe stadium.

Bulldogs Unbeaten

Head Coach Duke Jacobs commands a big and fast Bulldog eleven. They work off the split-T with three reliable men in the key QB post. Their pass patterns could be dangerous, although they didn't show much overhead against Pepperdine, according to Bronzan.

Fresno State hasn't had a true test to date, for they won in romps over the Cal Aggies and the Waves. Bronzan knows they are capable of an open-up effort Saturday.

Meanwhile, the stress still sticks on shifts in the Spartan camp. Bronzan's 11 most aggressive men policy continues and players who work the hardest will start.

Amaral Out

Bob Amaral joins Bruce Halladay and Chuck Mancine on the injury list. Amaral wrenched his knee on the first play of the Stanford game and tentatively is out for two weeks. Halladay's knee is much better and the valuable guard could be ready for USF.

Pleased with the team come-through against Stanford, Bronzan had special compliments for his sophomore tackles, Jack Adams and Bob Fox. This pair will stay on the job, so long as they continue the kind of work they did against the Indians. The same goes for the other starters, defense and offense.

USF Tickets Ready

Tickets are available now for the USF-San Jose State college game Friday, Oct. 12, the Graduate Manager's office announced yesterday.

Students with ASB cards are admitted free. Non-card holders may purchase ducats for $2.40.

Sign Tomorrow If You Want to Join Fraternity

Want to join a fraternity? All men students interested in becoming members of social fraternities are urged by the Inter-Fraternity council to sign-up tomorrow afternoon from 12:15 to 12:45 o'clock in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium.

The registration will be held directly following Freshman Orientation. Male students interested should attend, according to Gerry Doyle, IFC president. The list of names obtained will be submitted for consideration to each fraternity on campus, he said.

"We think the sign-up system gives newcomers to San Jose State college, especially those not acquainted with members of fraternities, an opportunity to be considered for fraternity membership," Doyle said.

The major event on the IFC agenda this quarter is the Western Regional Inter-Fraternity council conference, an annual event which will be held this year on Washington Square. The conference tentatively is scheduled for the second week in November, Doyle said. SJSC was selected as the site for the conference during the 1950 WRIFC meeting held at the University of Arizona.

Examinations To Be Held For Specialists

Specialists in eight fields will be picked for California's mental hospital system, in examinations announced yesterday by the State Personnel board. Two therapists also will be chosen for the state's school program for children suffering from cerebral palsy.

Home economics instructors, psychiatric residents, senior psychiatric residents, physical therapists, hospital administrative assistants and personnel officers, psychiatric nursing educational directors, and an assistant superintendent of nursing services are being sought for state hospital staffs.

Positions open in the schools are those of physical and occupational therapists for physically handicapped children.

Final filing dates for most of the examinations range from Oct. 13 to Oct. 30. In a few classes, applications are accepted at all times.

California residence requirements have been waived for most classes of trained psychiatric workers.

SJS Librarian Attends Meet

Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian, announced Monday that she will attend the annual convention of the California Librarians' association to be held in San Francisco today through Saturday, Oct. 3-6.

Members of the college library staff tentatively slated to attend the Friday and Saturday reference section meetings are Miss Helen Bullock, Miss Maude Coleman, Miss Emily Olson, Miss Dora Smith, Miss Jeannette Vander Ploeg and Mrs. Grace London.

Following Saturday's section meeting, they will be guests at a luncheon honoring Miss Mabel Gillis, retired California state librarian.

Ex-Spartan Works On Export Truck

Daniel J. Matas, a former San Jose State college student, recently graduated from the American Institute for Foreign Trade at Phoenix, Ariz., according to Lowell Pratt, college public relations director. He now is employed in the export department of the General Paint company of San Francisco.

Honor Club Meets

A meeting to discuss and propose the future plans of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honor society, will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in his home, according to Dr. William D. Moeller, associate professor of modern languages and adviser to the organization.

Three Added To Education Department

New faculty members in the Education department are Miss Frances Gulland, Miss Bethel Fry and Mr. G. W. Ford, all of whom are associate professors of education, according to Dr. William G. Sweeney, head of the department.

Miss Gulland was formerly a principal and county school system supervisor in Arizona. Most of her experience in California has been connected with nursery and kindergarten education.

Recently she served as a school system supervisor of San Mateo county.

She attended Arizona State college and Stanford university.

New Secretaries In Science Office

Donnan, Hamann, Smith, and Jones.

No these are not the names of the members of a law firm or big corporation. It's a list of secretaries newly added to the office force of the Division of Natural Science, according to Dr. Carl D. Duncan, chairman.

Their full names are Mrs. Marcia Donnan, Mrs. Rita Hamann, Mrs. Marion Smith, and Miss Virginia Jones.

Dr. Duncan said former secretaries Miss Barbara Curtis and Miss Marion Bell are now employed by the Air Force in Wiesbaden, Germany. Mrs. Jo Ann Russell recently resigned in favor of home-making.

Five Graduates Work for State

Five San Jose State college graduates are now employed as full-time vector control workers for the California Public Health service, according to Dr. Carl D. Duncan, Division of Natural Science chairman. They are John Walker, Ernest Myers, Sherman Thomas, Edgar Smith, and Thomas Laurel.

A vector is a carrier and transmitter of disease-causing micro-organisms.

Students who worked at similar jobs during the summer are Gerald Lant, Norman Lewis, and John Stafford.

In a letter to Dr. Duncan, Richard F. Peters, chief of the State Bureau of Vector Control, praised San Jose State college as a training school for such workers.

New Officers Take Over Junior Council Position

Vacancies in two posts were filled and plans for a future after-game dance were discussed at the Abrahams' resignation of the presidency, following his selection as junior representative to the Student Council, necessitated the unexpected election.

The Women's gym was named as the tentative site for a dance to be held Nov. 17, following the San Jose State college-Santa Clara football game. Temporary committees for the affair were designated.

Following the conclusion of regular business, everyone present at the meeting informally introduced himself.

"Judging from the student turnout at our first meeting, and the enthusiasm they displayed, we should have a very successful year," remarked Gerri Herzog, junior class vice president and publicity chairman.

JIM PORTER . . . Replaces Seymour Abrahams

Junior Class council's first meeting of the year, held Monday afternoon in Room 24.

Jim Porter, former vice president, succeeded to the presidency, replacing Seymour Abrahams. Gerri Herzog was chosen vice president.

The number of federal prisoners in the United States reached a peak of almost 26,000 in 1932 but declined by 10,000 immediately after the repeal of prohibition.

When the unarmed American brig Independence, becalmed off Sumatra in 1840, was attacked at night by Malay pirates, the captain remembered his cargo of Chinese fireworks, says the National Geographic Society. The attackers were repulsed by a fiery barrage of Roman candles, rockets, firecrackers, and pinwheels.
