Mobsters 'Shoot' One, 'Kidnap' One While 300 Terrified Frosh Witness

Flaunt Freshmen At Class Meeting

Six top-coated mobsters, armed to the teeth, "kidnapped" one man and "shot" another as over 300 terrified freshmen looked on helplessly. The gory scene took place in the Morris Dailey auditorium yesterday at 11:30 a.m.

Kidnapped was Milton C. Lanyon, art instructor and freshman class adviser. The dead man, who got up and walked away after the gangsters had gone, was unidentified.

Killers Shoot Man

The mad-dog killer-kidnappers rushed into the auditorium as Lanyon was addressing the freshmen about class organization. Without so much as a "pardon me, sir, for the interruption", the gunmen shot the unidentified man and wrested the microphone from Lanyon.

One mobster, apparently the ring-leader, then read an arrogant challenge to the freshmen as Lanyon struggled fiercely with three other villains.

Due to a thick Brooklyn accent, much of the challenge was unintelligible, but this much was clear: "Us guys challenges youse guys to show up fer a football game and dance at de Frosh-Soph Mixer in de Women's gym Oct. 16 at 7 o'clock in de evenin'." With a sneer the desperado added, "If yuz guys doz show, we'll clobber yuz!"

Sprays Freshmen

At this point one gangster whipped a fly spray from a violin case and squirted the defenseless freshmen with an unknown chemical. Several freshmen reported scorched nostrils.

After the spraying atrocity, Lanyon was carried from the stage by four gangsters. The red-haired Lanyon put up a good, though losing fight.

The kidnappers, who were accompanied by four slinky molls, escaped with Lanyon in a high-powered automobile (a green Willys) which was waiting just outside the auditorium.

A Spartan Daily reporter with underworld connections reported that gangland rumors say the kidnappers were hirelings of the sophomore class. A crudely lettered note left at the scene of the crime read as follows: "We'll let Lanyon go whenever we feels like it. On the other hand, we may just knock him off."

Request Release

Art department officials requested that Lanyon be released by Wednesday as he has a 7:30 class.

James Jacobs, sophomore class adviser, who spoke at the freshman meeting a few minutes before the kidnapping, is suspected of complicity in the plot.

The preceding fracas was staged to promote the Frosh-Soph Mixer to be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 16 in the Women's gym.

Movie Is on Tap

"Pioneers Again", a motion picture illustrating the condition of migratory labor in Santa Clara county, will be shown in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 1:20 p.m. tomorrow, according to Mr. Claude N. Settles, associate professor of sociology.

Nine Must Report

The Graduate Manager's office requests the following nine students to report to that office.

John Ballinger, Harold L. Fairchild, Dick Garman, Norman R. Herschman, Valere Kransky, Michiko Tanabe, Wayne Montgomery, rible, war weapon out of winter!"

Yankees Submerge Giants, 13-1; Koslo, Raschi to Pitch Today

New York—Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said today that right-hander Vic Raschi will be his starting pitcher in the sixth game of the world series today at Yankee stadium. Lefty Dave Koslo probably will be Raschi's pitching opponent.

The Yanks, with the aid of a bases-full home run by Rookie Gil McDougald, routed the New York Giants 13 to 1 yesterday to take a three to two game lead in the world series.

Patches of morning fog! Oh joy, the first sign of winter. I sent a telegram 'round the world to see what was keeping the hoary-headed breather of wind, snow and sleet and I got a reply written in Russian and signed with a red X. It went this way:

"Comrade;

"Your letter was brought to the attention of our secret police, and finding no code hidden in your words we are answering to show our wish for friendly relations with you. As everyone knows, the Russians invented winter and so we are keeping it in Siberia as a punishment for traitors. However, we are sending you a few patches of morning fog just to show our wish for peace.

The Chinese, believed to be part of the 68th army corps, battled soldiers of the U.S. 2nd Division's 38th regiment who were fighting for the fourth straight day to win control of the steep slopes of Kim Il Sung ridge, northwest of Yanggu.

No Gas Rationing

Los Angeles—Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman says he does not believe gasoline rationing will be necessary in the near future unless the steel shortage curtails oil drilling.

San Jose's Meanest Man

San Jose—Six women members of the choir of the First Methodist church left their wraps in the church basement while they were singing at services Sunday night.

A thief entered the basement and rifled their purses. The women estimated their losses at $75.

Federal Checks To Be Sent Soon

Latest information on the arrival of government subsistence checks will come as a relief to veterans who were informed that their checks would be delayed three months, according to Mr. Glen Guttormsen of the Veterans office.

"The bulk of the checks will be issued in October and November, but some veterans will receive their checks as late as December 1," he said.

Mr. Guttormsen pointed out that veterans entering college and those already enrolled will be equally affected by a delay in their subsistence.

Discuss Dance Arrangements For Friday

An after-game dance, sponsored by the senior class, will be held in the Women's gym from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday evening following the USF game, according to Cliff Majersik, assistant chairman of the dance committee.

This announcement of the first after-game dance of the quarter was made at the senior class meeting held Monday.

During the meeting, Nancy Lee, Women's representative-at-large on the Student Council, resigned her post as senior class vice-president. According to Majersik, the office will be left vacant until the next regular class elections.

Appointed to the dance committee were Claire Chamberlain, chairman; Betty Hoenshell, decoration chairman; Caroline Riordan, in charge of refreshments; Alice Hayes, patron committee chairman; Marion Huttman, poster chairman; and Marianne Hollis, in charge of arrangements.

Senior class officers are Beth Calvin, president; Virginia Ashley, secretary; and Deloris Peterson, treasurer.

SJSC Professor

Will Help Present Teacher Workshop

Dr. George G. Bruntz, associate professor of political science, will present a workshop on "Teaching international understanding in elementary schools" at the County Teachers institute, Thursday at 4 p.m. at the Luther Burbank school, Dr. Bruntz announced yesterday.

The basis of the workshop is a paper entitled, "Teaching World Understanding and the United Nations in the Elementary School", which a committee of county teachers, headed by Dr. Bruntz, compiled as a unit of study for the first to eighth grades.

Assisting Dr. Bruntz in the presentation of the workshop will be Mrs. Faye Schoonover, Lexington elementary school; Mrs. Susan Campbell and Mrs. Mamie McDonald, Los Gatos Union elementary school.

These three teachers also served on the committee which worked out the course of study paper, Dr. Bruntz said.

Advise Seniors To Sign Soon

Seniors may now sign up for their yearbook photographs at the library arch, according to Jane Scott, LaTorre co-editor. Charge for the photographs is $1.50 plus tax.

The pictures will be taken during a three week period starting Oct. 15. Two people will be photographed every fifteen minutes between 9 a.m.-1 p.m. and 2-4:30 p.m.

Men students must wear white shirts and ties for the appointment, Miss Scott said.

Frosh Orientation Holds 2nd Session

The second class meeting of the freshman orientation course will be held tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium, according to Dean of Men Stanley C. Benz.

The theme for tomorrow's class is athletics. Glenn Hartranft, head of the Men's Physical Education department, will address the freshmen on "Spartan Records and Traditions."

Bentel to Be Held For Mag's Conduct

A new lease on life was granted to Lyke, San Jose State college's humor magazine, yesterday as President T. W. MacQuarrie and his council considered its controversial nature, according to Dean of Students Joe West, member of the council.

Yesterday's approval of future Lyke publications was given by the administrative council on a provision that the magazine abide by a code of principles previously drawn up by the Lyke Recommendation board under the guidance of Dr. Dwight Bentel, Journalism department head.

It was understood by the council, added Dean West, that the matter of conformance to the new code by the responsibility of the Journalism department head under whose guidance the magazine would be published.

No comment concerning the new code was made by Dr. Bentel other than to indicate that information on the conduct of the magazine's operation will be announced later.

Two Students Go to UC for Debate Series

Two speech students will say "no" next Tuesday, Oct. 16, to the National Intercollegiate Debate question for 1951-52, "Should the federal government adopt a permanent program of wage and price control?" They are Bill Johnson and Jerry Kettman, Mr. Wilbur F. Luick, director of forensics, announced yesterday.

The program, to be held at the University of California, is the first of the Round Robin Debate series, Mr. Luick said. Similar events are scheduled for every two weeks during fall quarter. Next program in the series will be held on the local campus, with the City College of San Francisco.

Faculty, Students Will Meet Monday

The first "faculty fireside" will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Dean and Mrs. Stanley Benz, 1775 Guadalupe street, according to Jim Martin, executive secretary of the Student Y.

Fifteen students will be allowed to attend. Spartans are reminded to sign up in advance at the Student Y on Seventh street. Faculty and students will meet at the "Y" before proceeding to Dean Benz's residence.

An informal discussion, on a topic to be announced later, will offer students an opportunity to become acquainted with their instructors in an informal manner.

Ducat Deadline

Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock will be the deadline for students and faculty members to obtain their tickets for the USF-SJSC home football game, the Graduate Manager's office announced yesterday.

No tickets will be given at the gate to ASB cardholders. Ducats must be picked up at the Graduate Manager's office.

History vs. Hero Worship

Most frequent among complaints from college history professors is the problem of re-educating students who have been raised on grammar school hero worship. According to our editorial mail, we find that some educators in high places also find it easy to slip into a rut of eloquent verbiage on today's "heroes" with little real concern for a need of illustrative facts and examples.

The case in point is an article by Henry Steele Commager, professor of history at Columbia university, as it appeared in Look magazine this summer. The piece, titled, "A Few Kind Words for Harry Truman", was then picked up by Senator McFarland of Arizona and read into the Congressional record. Its five pages of text were printed by the U. S. Government Printing office at Washington and circulated about the country.

With all due respect for President Truman and his accomplishments, it would be well if such accomplishments were pointed out specifically if we are to be moved deeply by them. Such general statements as . . . "This administration has been one of almost uninterrupted and unparalleled success" have no greater meaning to persons wishing to be informed than does the poem, "The Village Blacksmith".

This brings to mind the numerous occasions of low grades given on examinations to students who fail to cite enough supporting points while writing a comprehensive type test.

It would seem sad to admit that those very persons charged with teaching us the modern need for an analytical attitude would turn about and ignore completely this need for the sake of political puffery.

Censures Censor

Dear Editor:

Every once in a while since I have been going to this so-called institution of higher learning, pursuing intellectual will-o'-the-wisps, a particularly distasteful edict or expostulation by the powers that be annoys me, and I spout off. Again I find, for my conscience's sake, I must mount the beam and tilt with windmills. I protest the recent censorship board that has been set up to control the publication of the Lyke.

I will not even mention the repugnancy of censorship to a person who puts some value on reasonable freedom of the press. However, I, for one, dislike being relegated to the status of an incompetent juvenile. Having read Chaucer, I feel I am mature enough to have read the latest edition of the "Lyke" without moral impairment.

My solution would be that the student body as a whole should vote on whether we should have a controlling board or not. I must admit that I have some curiosity as to how badly the measure would be beaten.

I vote no!

George W. Emerson, ASB 3976.

Dr. Bruntz Opens IRC Membership

Dr. George Bruntz, International Relations club adviser, said yesterday that his club is open to all students interested in international affairs.

"The IRC is not only open to international relations majors, as many people think. We urge all students to join our club, the dues of which are 50 cents a quarter. Freshmen are especially invited, as we wish to build for future years," Dr. Bruntz said.

The IRC will hold its first meeting Oct. 23, without the services of any of its officers. All executives of the club did not return to the campus this term.

Election of officers will be the first action taken by the IRC. A discussion of the Iranian problem will follow. It is hoped that San Jose State college students from Iran will speak, Dr. Bruntz pointed out.

Major projects planned by the IRC are the Northern California regional conference the first week in February and the annual model U.N. meeting in April. Two conferences are to be held at Asilomar, one in December and one in April.

Jim Moore, an SJSC student, is president of the region.

The IRC will hold its meetings on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Publishes Article

The article, "International Understanding Can Be Taught", which recently was written by Dr. George G. Bruntz, associate professor of history and political science, has been accepted by the "Journal of Education". It will appear in a forth-coming issue of that publication, according to the Social Science department.

Spartan Hopes Shaken; Aplanalp May Be Out

SPORTSCRIPTS
by DICK RUTHERFORD

Jim Ryan, USF backfield coach, who scouted the Spartans in their 32 to 6 victory over Fresno, had nothing but praise and "fear" for Coach Bob Bronzan's Golden Raiders.

"There is definite improvement. Lynn Aplanalp's sharp passing and signal calling were impressive, especially in the first half. We did not have a chance to see him in the first game (Lynn was sidelined with an injury). He called a good game and his receivers, Frank Morris, Bob Osborne and Gibby Mendonsa, did a whale of a job on the receiving end. Aplanalp seemed to find the weaknesses in Fresno's pass defense and concentrated his attack at those points. We definitely will respect him in Friday's encounter. He appears one of the boys we will have to stop beside a host of others."

"We know Mendonsa from past experience and consider him one of the best halfbacks on the Pacific Coast. Those two boys, Morris and Osborne, also were impressive. That Morris can certainly run once he gets in the open."

Dons Respect SJS

"The USF coaching staff never takes San Jose lightly. In fact, we expect only trouble and have the greatest respect for them."

Ryan went on to comment that this second game between the two colleges will be quite an experiment. "It's a matter of pointing the team up for this second meeting," he related. "Football is a funny game and anything is liable to happen."

Witnessing the Spartans' first half passing show at Fresno, reminded one of the aerial circuses you frequently read about in the rarified atmosphere of the Southwest conference. Lynn Aplanalp filled the air with tosses much in the style of SMU's famed aerial act of the past few years. Lynn fired nine strikes in 11 attempts in the first 30 minutes for 138 yards which is somewhat of a turnabout from the strictly running brand of ball employed against Stanford the previous week. The 1951 Spartans of Coach Bob Bronzan are putting on crowd pleasers even if their record is a lone triumph in three outings.

Aerial Circus Coming

In the way of aerial shows, a real three-ring event is in store when ringmaster Don Klostermann and his flying Loyola Lions move into Spartan stadium a week from Friday. Klostermann, with his "air antics," broke his own National Collegiate pass completion mark last week against the U. of Florida. He hit 31 out of 63 attempts, eclipsing his performance of 26 for 50 against College of Pacific last season.

Gloom hit the otherwise optimistic camp of Coach Bob Bronzan's Spartans yesterday with the shocking news that Quarterback Lynn Aplanalp has an infected eye which may keep him out of Friday night's return match with USF in Spartan stadium.

Bronzan, already shaken by six other injuries to key men, got the sad news yesterday afternoon and his jaw dropped more than the proverbial foot upon hearing it. Aplanalp's eye is ulcerated resulting from an allergy and the spunky hero of the Fresno State game prays his optic will be okay before Friday. Bronzan will keep him from practice for two days and possibly more, hoping by that time, the eye will be mended.

Meanwhile, Sophomore Larry Rice and Junior Jerry Hamilton are preparing to handle QB duties in the event Aplanalp won't be able to start.

Aplanalp joins Vern Valler-camp, Sal Cardinalli, Dick Bondelie, Dempsey Farrier, and George Porter on the doubtful starter list. Bruce Halladay definitely is out, while Valler-camp and Bondelie, two necessary firststringers, are nursing badly-banged knees.

Up in the city by the Golden Gate, Coach Joe Kuharich is pouring the pointers to his unbeaten Hilltoppers. The Dons made it three in a row Sunday with a 26-0 blank job over the pro-studded Camp Pendleton Marines.

Kuharich's fair-haired boy, QB Ed Brown, figures to be fully recovered from a back injury which kept him on the bench against the gyrenes. Brown pitched four touchdowns in the 39-2 win over the Spartans and Kuharich, no doubt, has him warming up in the bullpen this time for another air assault.

Ollie Matson jaunted for two touchdowns versus the Marines with 15 carries and 130 yards all told. He's ready for the Golden Raiders.

'Mural Football' Deadline Extended

Friday at 2 p.m. is the deadline for entering teams in the intramural touch football league, Bill Perry, intramural director, announced yesterday. Complete rosters must be handed in at this time. Paul Jennings will serve as intramural football manager, Perry stated.

San Jose's 32 to 6 win over Fresno broke a precedent in the 19 year history of the rivalry. It marked the fourth straight triumph for the Spartans who previously won decisions in 1948-49 and '50.

SJSC Instructor Takes Up Painting Merely As Hobby

By BARBARA RILEY

Miss Joyce Bolton, child development instructor, is much like the children she cares for in that she does things for the joy of doing them.

Since 1937, when she started painting, Miss Bolton has done more than 200 pictures as a hobby. "You always have something that challenges you in painting," Miss Bolton remarked. "And you get very critical of your own work. I've destroyed many pictures," she revealed.

Several of Miss Bolton's paintings hang in the cafeteria and tea room of the Home Economics building.

In her classwork Miss Bolton stresses the importance of letting the child do what he wants to do. "Adults," she said, "always try to read meaning into things. To a child, meaning isn't important, just doing it is enough."

At the side of the playroom for the children is a stairway climbing up the wall. "Grown-ups who come in the room want to know why the stairs don't lead anywhere," Miss Bolton remarked. "The children climb them just for the joy of climbing them."

"When a child paints," she continued, "we don't ask him what it is because we don't want him to think he has to paint something. Adults who look at the picture think they see objects in it, but the child may not have anything particular in mind."

Miss Bolton was born in England. "One of the wonderful things about this country is that everyone has an opportunity to study," Miss Bolton said. She has taken summer classes in painting at Mills college in Oakland with additional study here.

Her sister is a professional painter.

Driverless Truck Snubs Car Horns

Construction workers were at work cementing over a portion of the excavation that runs down the center of E. San Carlos street between S. Sixth and S. Seventh streets yesterday when a line of cars began to form alongside their work.

At the head of the line was a truck, next was a long, low, black 1951 sedan, followed by several cars of various vintages and colors. Finally, when the lead vehicle failed to make any progress, horns began to blast.

Wearily one of the workers laid down his tools, stepped across the ditch and walked up to the long, low, black 1951 car. He explained that the truck was parked, that there was no driver to hear the horns, and that it would be best if the line of cars pull out and pass on.

The driver of the long, low, black car with drooping "fishtails" complied, silently.

Interest Is Growing

Frosh Enrollment Increases In Engineering Department

Freshman enrollment in the Engineering department this quarter indicates that interest in engineering occupations is increasing, Dr. Ralph J. Smith, department head, said yesterday.

Dr. Smith blames the belief that there was a surplus of engineers, and the low birth rate of the early 1930s for the recent low number of students enrolled in engineering courses. Because of these two factors, he said, national college enrollments were down during the last few years.

The demand for engineers in industry would be great even if there were no defense program, Dr. Smith said. The lack of engineers in the field has attracted national attention, he added.

Although encouraging, the large registration of freshmen did have its "headaches". The Chemistry department, in anticipation of a small enrollment because of the trend of the last few years, had predicted that an allowance for 40 new students in engineering chemistry would be sufficient, Dr. Smith explained.

As a result of his contacts with the high schools and industry, Dr. Smith said he suggested that the

Announce New Parking Lots Ready for Students and Faculty

Four parking lots, fronting on Eighth street between San Carlos and San Fernando streets, now are available for student and faculty parking, according to Ed Ord, past service chairman of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

The 200-car-capacity lots are located on the northwest corner of Eighth and San Carlos streets, the southeast corner of Eighth and San Antonio streets, the northwest corner of Eighth and San Antonio streets and on Eighth street near the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

"Students and faculty park at their own risk," Ord emphasized. "Neither the college or the fraternity assumes any responsibility for vehicles parked in this area."

Signs identifying the lots will be posted on the state-owned land in the near future, Ord said.

The fraternity requested that students cooperate in not blocking driveways or parking aisles.

An expenditure of $500, which was used to level the four lots and pave two of them, was derived from Alpha Phi Omega book exchange profits.

According to Ord, additional book exchange profits for this quarter will be used to purchase paving materials for the remaining two lots.

Reservations Due Friday for Camp

Reservations for the Campbell Student Y conference, Oct. 19-21, must be in by this Friday or a late fee will be charged, according to David Cone of the camp planning committee.

"What my faith means to the way I live," will be the camp's theme.

Representatives of more than a dozen colleges and universities from Fresno to the Oregon border will attend the session. Last year over 100 students took part in the fall YMCA-YWCA conference.

A $2 fee must accompany the reservations, Cone said. The total cost for camp will be $6. The session will begin with dinner Oct. 19 at 6 p.m. and end with lunch at noon on the 21st.

Stone to Lecture At I.A. Frat Meet

A talk entitled "Photography and Education" will be given by George E. Stone, professor of photography, to members of Epsilon Pi Tau, national I.A. honor fraternity, at its meeting Thursday, Oct. 11 at 7 p.m. in Room S3, according to Bennie Low, president.

Initiation plans and the possibility of a paper drive will be discussed prior to the talk.
