

Photography Show Will Begin Today

Opening today in the Reserve Book room is an exhibit of photographs by George E. Stone, professor and professional in the photography field.

The display covers work done

Local Student Involved in Fatal Accident

A 75-year-old man was killed Sunday night on N. Fourth street when he was struck by a southbound jeep driven by Walter F. Whitmann, San Jose State college student, and then by a northbound car driven by Elmer F. Welch, of Roseville.

According to Whitmann, he first noticed the elderly man, Hulbert C. Willis, standing in the middle of Fourth street, north of Gish street. Although he swerved his jeep to avoid the elderly man, Whitmann said, Willis leaped back in order to avoid the Welch car, approaching from the opposite direction, and subsequently collided with the jeep. He was then knocked back into the path of the Welch car.

W. J. Hutchins Will Be Guest Of SJS Faculty

Dr. William J. Hutchins, former executive head of the Danforth foundation, will attend a luncheon in his honor at O'Brien's in the Montgomery hotel tomorrow, according to Miss Doris Lee Raymond, winner of a Danforth fellowship.

Also attending the 12 o'clock luncheon will be President and Mrs. T. W. MacQuarrie, Dr. Carl Rich, professor of education, and Mrs. Rich; Wilbur F. Luick, instructor in speech; Stanley C. Benz, dean of men; Miss Helen Dimmick, dean of women; the Rev. James Martin, director of Student Y; and Miss Raymond.

A senior adviser of the Danforth foundation, Dr. Hutchins will explain the new Danforth graduate fellowships in detail and observe Miss Raymond's program set up on campus.

Dr. Hutchins, retired president of Berea college in Ohio, is the father of Dr. Robert Hutchins, past chancellor of the University of Chicago, and an officer of the Ford Foundation for World Peace, Miss Raymond pointed out.

The campus Miniwanca group will meet Dr. Hutchins at an afternoon tea held at Miss Raymond's residence.

Faculty Fireside Meets Thursday

"Influence of Western Culture on Japan" will be discussed by Dee Portal, boxing coach, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at a Faculty Fireside, according to Nan Wilson, chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Portal will serve as host and hostess at their home at 242 S. Twelfth street.

Twenty students will be allowed to attend. Those wishing to visit the Portals are asked to sign the list posted at the Student Y on S. Seventh street, according to Miss Wilson.

The group will meet at the Y at 7 p.m., before going to the Portals' home.

Director to Speak

Dr. Vernon Ouellette, placement director, will speak on "What Employers Look for in Engineers" to the student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Room S210, according to Tom Mancebo, chairman.

by Mr. Stone during the past 25 years. Included are a number of experimental photographs and a series devoted to book illustrations upon which he now is working. These will supplement the third revised edition of his book, "Progressive Photography," which is to be published in the near future.

A graduate of the University of California in 1916, Mr. Stone began his photographic career during his student days.

His first project was a series of motion pictures of biological subjects for educational use. By graduation time, he had completed a four-reel film entitled "How Life Begins," which he exhibited at the Russell Sage foundation in 1916.

The biological movies attracted wide attention and were purchased by the American Museum of Natural History, the U.S. Public Health service and many universities throughout the nation.

A firm promoting color photography was particularly impressed by the work and commissioned Mr. Stone to apply their process to scientific photography. At his studio in Berkeley, he photographed growing plants, the growth of crystals, and made a number of films dealing with tropical birds and tide pool life at Monterey and Catalina.

World War I interrupted this work.

Mr. Stone was asked to tour Army camps with his film "How Life Begins." Commissioned in the Signal corps, he then was sent to France, where he photographed battle casualties and supervised Signal corps photography during the battle of Argonne.

After the war, he returned to his former position with the color photography firm and toured the country making color film. He also managed the company's laboratory in Hollywood, producing some of the first color sequences for the film industry.

Operating from his Carmel studio, Mr. Stone produced lantern slides and stereographs for educational use and founded a visual instruction service to provide visual aids to schools. He also made two trips to the Galapagos islands and toured the continent of Europe, filming architectural and art subjects.

Mr. Stone obtained an M.A. degree in Zoology when he returned to California and then joined the faculty of San Jose State college in 1934. During World War II, he served for 21 months as a photographic officer in the Army Air corps.

Early in October of this year, Mr. Stone was elected an associate in the Photographic Society of America.

The current exhibit of his work will run until Nov. 20. It is sponsored by the Fine Arts division of the college. Mr. Warren Faus, instructor in art, is publicity chairman.

'Othello' Closes Before Packed Theater Here

By JEANNINE SHORT

The cast of "Othello" took its final bow on the boards of the Little Theater Saturday night to the enthusiastic applause of playgoers who filled the theater to overflowing for the last performance of the Shakespearean tragedy.

Over 2400 tickets were sold during the eight-night run, according to latest figures from the Speech office. This is a record equalled only by the production in 1948 of "Medea."

Showing a polished and professional attitude that speaks highly of Dr. James H. Clancy's talent as director of the elaborate production, the students of drama brought an interpretation of the master poet's play, that was vivid and convincing.

The rich colorful costumes of Bernice Prisk were an eye-pleasing contrast with the stark columns and simple settings of scenic designer J. Wendell Johnson. The effective 15th century background of "Othello" was achieved cleverly by the use of three architectural pylons which were shifted with the 14 scenes to give the illusion of time and location changes.

An interesting sidelight of the production was that all of the props used in the play were either made on campus, contributed or acquired by members of the cast. The only financial output on rent was for the daggers and swords. The alarm used for the drinking scene was made from a junk yard brake drum, while the drapes were camouflage nets and the stirring cannon salvo was achieved with a rubber mallet and a hoop stretched with leather.

If "Othello" is an example of the quality of productions to be staged this year in the Little Theater, theater lovers may well look forward to an exciting season.

SJS Visited

Dr. Aubrey A. Douglass, associate superintendent of public instruction, and Mr. James B. Enochs, specialist in state college curricula, will inspect the campus all day today, according to Executive Dean James C. DeVoss.

Dr. Douglass and Mr. Enochs are conducting a study of curricula in state colleges, Dean DeVoss said. This is Mr. Enochs' first visit to San Jose State college, he added.

Summer Session Problems Viewed

Various problems of summer sessions were discussed by representatives from California state colleges in an all-day conference held in the conference room of the Women's gym yesterday, according to Dr. Raymond Mosher, chairman of the meeting.

Dr. Joel Burkman, assistant chief, division of state colleges and teacher training, state department of education, led discussion of the following summer session topics:

Compulsory student body fee;

income and expenditures; salary schedule, graduate study, enrollment predictions, extent to which summer session enrollments affect regular session attendance, interchange of teachers, meeting dates and length of sessions, service areas, responsibilities of work load of summer session deans, workshop procedure, support of sessions, and adequacy of present session report.

Deans of summer session present were: Leo Cain, San Francisco State college; Harold D. Roberts, Sacramento State college, and Dr. Mosher.

Others in attendance were: P. Victor Peterson, president, Long Beach State college; James B. Enochs, specialist in state college curriculum, state department of education; Ivan C. Milhous, dean of professional education, Humboldt State college; J. Russell Morris, coordinator of summer sessions, Chico State college; Hector H. Lee, dean of instruction, Chico State college; Irwin O. Addicott, professor of education, Fresno State college; Albert Graves, curriculum coordinator, Los Angeles State college; and Charles W. Lenden, associate professor of commerce, San Diego State college.

Finding Coed Finally Facile

Men, have you noticed that it's easier to get a date this quarter? The reason is that there is less competition.

There are exactly 1,222 men for every woman on campus, according to figures released by the Registrar's office. However, the lopsided ratio is gradually equalizing. Last autumn quota there were 1,326 men for every woman.

In the freshman class, the men actually are outnumbered, 1115 to 1181. All other classes find the men out-numbering the women. There are 716 sophomore men, 645 women. Junior men number 803, women 658. There are 756 senior women and 439 men. Of the 435 graduate students, only 116 are women.

Boiling Solvent Burns Student

Dick McCord, Economics student, was treated at O'Connor hospital Saturday for facial burns after a radiator he was repairing boiled over and threw hot cleaning solution on his face.

McCord, who works at a San Jose filling station during weekends, was in the process of boiling out an automobile radiator when the accident occurred. "Someone must have tightened the cap down," McCord said, "allowing pressure to build up inside."

When he checked the cap, he explained, the pressure was sufficient to send the hot, strong cleaning solution out of the radiator into his face.

McCord had recovered sufficiently so that he was able to attend classes yesterday.

Greek-Minded Coeds Invited To Sign List

Women students interested in joining a social sorority are invited to sign up in the Dean of Women's office Wednesday and Thursday of this week, according to Virginia Cox, publicity chairman of Panhellenic council.

The last of names obtained will aid sororities and deans in determining women students who wish to join sororities, Miss Cox said.

Sororities, under the direction of Panhellenic council, held open house Sunday to give women students an opportunity to become acquainted with sorority members and their houses.

Police Investigate Attack on SJS Coed

Chief of Detectives Bart Collins reported yesterday that the San Jose Police department is continuing its investigation of the alleged assault of a 25-year-old San Jose State college coed early Saturday morning at her room in a girls' boarding house.

The girl reported to police officers that she awoke about 3 a.m. because a man was choking her. He later forced her to yield to his advances, she said.

According to investigating officers, a side door to the boarding house had been left unlocked by accident when the landlady retired. Officers believe the unlocked door was used by the attacker to gain entry.

Miss Helen Dimmick, dean of women, and Mrs. Izetta Pritchard, assistant dean of women, also are investigating the case.

United Nations Offer New Korean Cease-Fire Proposal; Communists Will Make Reply Today

Panmunjom, Korea.—The United Nations made a sweeping new proposal yesterday that the Korean cease-fire line be based on the battleline at the time an armistice is signed rather than on the present front.

A U.N. spokesman said the Communists called the proposal "unfair, unjust and unreasonable" at a trace subcommittee meeting, but asked for time to study it further. They presumably will make their formal reply at a meeting today.

U.N. Session Opens

Paris.—The United States prepared yesterday to lead the Western democracies in a double-barreled "battle for peace" at the sixth U.N. general assembly which opens here today.

The Western big three foreign ministers were "in complete agreement" on an American-drafted "peace proposal" which may suggest U.N. collective security machinery be strengthened and at the same time steps be taken toward world disarmament.

The United States will reject any world disarmament proposals made at the United Nations General Assembly, unless Russia agrees to lift its Iron Curtain and permit U.N. inspection of its territory, well informed sources said last night.

AFL Election Called Off

New York.—The AFL International Longshoremen's association called off a scheduled back-to-work vote by wildcat striking stevedores yesterday in the face of a 150-man picket line.

Allies Use Big Guns

Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea.—Earthshaking Allied artillery bombardment smashed into Communist positions on the western front Sunday night after a bitter two-day battle west of Yonchon.

Ike and Truman Huddle

Washington.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower went into a private huddle with President Truman yesterday for a discussion of speeding up Western European rearmament.

Atom Bomb Explodes

Las Vegas, Nev.—The latest of America's new compact atom bombs exploded yesterday with the most brilliant flash of the current series of tests.

THRUST and PARRY

Human to Err?

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Mr. Winston Churchill looked more rotund than ever as he jerked his long black cigar out of his mouth and pointed his stubby finger at me and blurted, "I say, ole chap! We Tories were not defeated at the polls on Oct. 25. We went through blood, sweat and tears, but won by a majority of 17 seats in His Majesty's Parliament." He showed me the headline of Monday's Spartan Daily: "NO AMERICAN REACTION TO TORY DEFEAT." Obviously, the headline writer does not know the difference between a Tory and a Laborite! Anyway I don't like for Mr. Churchill to shake his big cigar at me. It might fly loose and hit me!

Shall I apologize for the Spartan Daily or will you retract the headline? Lloyd Brown did too good a job on the story to have it spoiled by a false headline.

Dr. George G. Bruntz.
(Ed. Note: Touche, Dr. Bruntz. The erring headline writer has been reprimanded.)

School clothes will be acceptable attire for the event, Miss Neubarth remarked. Refreshments will be served.

Educated Animals Take Part In Women's P.E. Activities

A generation of educated dogs and cats is being raised within the walls of the Women's Physical Education department.

Working her way through college as supervisor of the body mechanics classes is "Pepsi." "Her name is short for Pepsi-Cola, 'more bounce to the ounce,'" explains her friend, Mrs. Ethel Wright, physical education instructor.

"Pepsi," a seven and one-half pound, ten-inch toy shepherd, is a tyrant when it comes to body mechanics. Her opinions on the ability of the girls are highly vocal. She yaps excitedly as they twiddle their toes during a foot exercise.

This is because she "hopes to finish college in two years," explained Mrs. Wright. "She therefore is critical."

Miss Margaretta Fristoe's french poodle pal, "Clover," is an expert on hockey. "Clover" participates in the sport as an active spectator. Racing up and down the hockey field, she encourages both teams by rushing toward and then away from the ball.

An expert camper is "Chat," Miss Eleanor Coombe's canine companion. "Chat" expects to be graduated as a "camper cum laude." "So far, she has not taken any of the required courses in history or English, but her grades in camping read straight 'A,'" said Miss Coombe.

"Spike," a black and white kitten, is the latest addition to the department's physical education majors. At first, it looked as if "Spike" was going to have to drop out of the more active sports because of a sore leg, but now it has healed and "Spike" attends volleyball, tennis and badminton classes regularly.

Your Name Here?

Virginia Butler, Jean Fitzgerald, Thea Seese and Ray Odell are requested to report to the Veterans' office, Room 34, as soon as possible, according to Glen Guttormsen, college accounting officer.

Dr. Duncan Will Speak At San Diego Thursday

DR. CARL DUNCAN

Dr. Carl D. Duncan, head of the Natural Science department, announced yesterday that he will participate in a Science institute to be held Thursday and Friday in San Diego.

In Thursday's session, Dr. Duncan will speak on "Your Stake in Conservation," to representatives of the San Diego City schools. The next day, he will preside over a conference of city school teachers and administrators in which the observational and experimental aspects of conservation will be discussed.

A group of fifth and sixth grade students also will participate in Friday's conference. Following the session, Dr. Duncan will take them on a sample field trip to illustrate conservation education theories.

Stanford Harriers Face SJS

Several Indian tribes have been noted for their long distance running ability, and the tribe of Stanford redskins who will clash with Coach Don Bryant's SJS cross country team this afternoon at Spartan stadium may join this list.

Leading the Stanford pack will be two of the west coast's top two-milers, Bob Simon and Wilfred King. Simon was clocked at 9:19 minutes during a two-mile trot last spring. King, who ran for Glendale junior college during track season, is the current state J.C. two-mile champion. Among his victims last season was Spartan Joe Tyler, who was competing for Los Angeles City college at the time.

Tyler, Bob McMullen, Paul Jennings, Paul Bowen, Jerry Emerson, Larry Purley and Al Weber are expected to do the scoring for SJS. This will be the final home appearance of the Spartan cross country squad.

Seeded Players Vie in Tourney

Seeded players take a swing today in the annual fall quarter All-College Singles tennis tournament now in its second week of play at Spartan courts. Top seeded Butch Krikorian, 1950 winner, makes his debut against Phil Wilson, while second seeded Don Gale meets Dick Mason.

In other matches: Don Straub vs. Ken Lessler, Bob Phelps vs. Al Anderson, and Phil Latimer vs. Sam Cesare. All of today's matches are scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Yesterday afternoon's results: Fred Dekkert def. George Bill, 6-1, 3-6, 8-6; Bob Slover def. Bob Brady, 6-1, 6-1; and Jim Austin, def. Jake Parker, 6-0, 6-0.

Spartans Get Bye Saturday Before Battle with SC Broncs

By ROY HURLBURT

On the homestretch of a bruising ten-game schedule with three matches to go, San Jose State's Spartans get a welcome bye this Saturday before they run out their grid calendar at home against Santa Clara, COP and Marquette on successive weeks.

Coach Bob Bronzan gave his boys a day off yesterday and another today with drills resuming tomorrow for foe number eight, the Broncos on Saturday night, Nov. 17, in Spartan stadium.

National Wrestling Champ Visits SJS

Dr. M. A. Northrup, former national wrestling champion, will be on campus today to present the fine points of the Olympic rules of wrestling. The informal meeting, open to anyone interested in wrestling, will be held in the men's small gym at 4:30 p.m.

The 40-year-old doctor is considered one of America's greatest amateur wrestlers. Last year he represented the United States on a wrestling team which visited Turkey, and later was a member of the American athletic contingent in the Pan-American games in Argentina. He won first place honors for the U.S. in the 147-pound class in the Pan-American event.

Tomorrow, Dr. Northrup will put on an exhibition wrestling match with Frank Waxham, Spartan Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champion for the past three years. Waxham and Northrup have met before, with the former national champion winning on each occasion.

Stanford university and the Alameda Naval Air base wrestling teams have been invited to attend today's meeting on Olympic wrestling rules and regulations.

had to go full steam ahead in the closing minutes to win by a 28-12 margin Saturday afternoon on Hull Field. In dropping their Brown's talented crew, twice, 6-0 in the first quarter, and 12-6 midway through the third period. It took a concerted effort by the gobs to hold on to their 13-12 command which came after Jim Waddell's 94-yard kick-off runback.

As in losing battles to Stanford and Loyola, the Spartans were fourth straight game and sixth out of seven for the year. Bronzan's youngsters once again showed they could hold their own against more experienced competition.

The underdog locals shoved the sailors around handily for three quarters and led Tay going strong most of the way, but they just couldn't muster that decisive second half punch. Bronzan's team seems to have trouble keeping up a steady pace. If they had been able to carry over their drives against these three teams to that deciding last quarter the Spartan win-loss column might be less one-sided. At 1-6, the record represents the first time in 20 years a Golden Raider team has lost more than five games. But over that period no SJS team has faced such a tough schedule.

Gibby Mendonsa spurted into the Spartan rushing leadership with his 110 yards in 13 carries Saturday. He got off to his second long run of the season in the third quarter as he set up SJS's second score with a 72-yard ramble. The little senior scooted on a 50-yard play in the Loyola game. His 283 yards on 49 carries for a 5.8 average tops Fullback Frank Morris's 225 yards on 32 trips for a 7.3 yard per play average. Sinus trouble kept Morris out against Navy.

Bronzan also liked the double duty work of Seniors Archie Chagongjan and Tom Cuffe and the running of Bob Osborne, Al and Larry Matthews and Bob Sykes.

San Jose State Rifle Team Opens Season Tonight Against Dead-eye Padre Squad

San Jose State college's varsity rifle team will begin its competitive season tonight at Sunnyvale by taking on the tough Padre rifle team of San Jose.

The veteran Padre club is regarded as one of the best aggregations of shooters in California, according to Sgt. Richard Hoskings of the ROTC unit.

"I'm scared to death of these guys," Sgt. Hoskings declared. He explained that in the Pacific Coast National at Sharp this year, the Padre rifle team had placed second in shooting competition with iron sights, and third in the classification of any sight.

This will be the varsity rifle team's first shoulder-to-shoulder match. All previous competition has been limited to intra-squad matches. Leading Spartan shooters fired the following scores out of a possible 300 shots Thursday night: Jack Reichart, 282; Kaye Tomlin, 279; Walt Reinhardt, 271; Bill Devine, 268; and Guy Wright, 268.

Members of the Padre team are Pete Kuri, who was one of twenty men from the Pacific coast to qualify for the International Rifle team; Phil Normington, who placed second in the last Pacific Coast National; Bill Esperson, who placed fifth in the any-sight aggregate at the same event; Frank Dutra, Nevada state champion for 1949; and Bud Wickersham, who has been considered among the "top-notch" west coast shooters during the past 15 years, Sgt. Hoskings declared.

PORTRAIT of the Younger Generation

Why haven't we heard from today's youth?

IN TIME, this week, appears "The Younger Generation"... a major report on the nation's silent, cryptic youth. The following are excerpts:

Youth today is waiting for the hand of fate to fall on its shoulders, meanwhile working fairly hard and saying almost nothing. The most startling fact about the younger generation is its silence... It does not issue manifestos, make speeches or carry posters. It has been called the "Silent Generation."

But what does the silence mean? What, if anything, does it hide? Or are youth's elders merely hard of hearing?

But youth is taking its upsetting uncertainties with extraordinary calm. When the U. S. began to realize how deeply it had committed itself in Korea, youngsters of draft age had a bad case of jitters; but all reports agree that they have since settled down to studying or working for as long as they can. The majority seem to think that war with Russia is inevitable sooner or later, but they feel that they will survive it.

Hardly anyone wants to go into the Army; there is little enthusiasm for the military life, no enthusiasm for war. Youngsters do not talk like heroes; they admit freely that they will try to stay out of the draft as long as they can. But there is none of the systematized and sentimentalized antiwar feeling of the '20s. Pacifism has been almost nonexistent since World War II; so are Oxford Oaths.

But youth's ambitions have shrunk. Few youngsters today want to mine diamonds in South Africa, ranch in Paraguay, climb Mount Everest, find a cure for cancer, sail around the world, or build an industrial empire. Some would like to own a small independent business, but most want a good job with a big firm, and with it, a kind of suburban idyll.

The younger generation can still raise hell. The significant thing is not that it does, but how it goes about doing it. Most of today's youngsters never seem to lose their heads; even when they let themselves go, an alarm clock seems to be ticking away at the back of their minds; it goes off sooner or later, and sends them back to school, to work, or to war.

The younger generation seems to drink less. "There is nothing glorious or inglorious any more about getting steamed," says one college professor. Whether youth is more or less promiscuous than it used to be is a matter of disagreement.

Fact is that it is less showy about sex... As a whole, it is more sober and conservative, but in individual cases, e.g., the recent dope scandals, it makes Flaming Youth look like amateurs.

Educators across the U. S. complain that young people seem to have no militant beliefs. They do not speak out for anything. Professors who used to enjoy baiting students by outrageously praising child labor or damning Shelley now find that they cannot get a rise out of the docile note-takers in their classes.

But God (whoever or whatever they understand by that word) has once more become a factor in the younger generation's thoughts. The old argument of religion v. science is subsiding; a system which does not make room for both makes little sense to today's younger generation. It is no longer shockingly unfashionable to discuss God.

* * *

Young people do not feel cheated. And they do not blame anyone. Before this generation, "they" were always to blame. It was a standard prewar feeling that "they" had let them down. But this generation puts the blame on life as a whole, not on parents, politicians, cartels, etc.

* * *

Says a TIME correspondent in Boston: "You cannot say of them, 'Youth Will Be Served,' because the phrase suggests a voracious striking out from security, wealth and stability. The best you can say for this younger generation is, 'Youth Will Serve.'"
