June 2018

SRJ 100K Download Milestone

Mary C. Schutten
California State University - San Jose, mary.schutten@sjsu.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.sjsu.edu/slissrj

Part of the Archival Science Commons, Cataloging and Metadata Commons, Collection Development and Management Commons, Information Literacy Commons, Scholarly Communication Commons, and the Scholarly Publishing Commons

On behalf of the College of Applied Sciences and Arts, I want to extend my congratulations to the entire staff of the Student Research Journal in the School of Information for reaching the milestone of 100,000 downloads of their high quality, student governed open source journal. These downloads span 189 countries, which dovetails with the college's commitment to global education experiences. Thank you for this good work. The journal is a significant accomplishment and, with over 80 graduate student papers published, the journal has given voice to the many exceptional students in our programs.

The Association of American Colleges and Universities, AACU, lists on their website various teaching and learning strategies that have been tested and shown to be beneficial for students from a variety of backgrounds. These practices are labeled as high impact educational practices or HIPS (https://www.aacu.org/leap/hips). Among the listed practices, a reader would find student research, writing intensive courses, collaborative projects, culminating projects, and global learning. The Student Research Journal in the School of Information uses all of these practices which benefits students, university, and the global community. Congratulations to the entire journal editorial staff, Dr. Anthony Bernier, advisor, and to Editor in Chief Holley Cornetto. Your scholarly efforts are a "best practice", they are HIP, and a key contributor to the success of students at SJSU.