

Last Day To Buy Tickets

Sale of season tickets for the San Jose Players' seven productions of the year ends this afternoon, Mr. Hugh W. Gillis announces.

Plays to be produced are: "Twelfth Night", by William Shakespeare, "Our Town", by Thornton Wilder, "One in a Lifetime", by Kaufman and Hart, "Kind Lady", by Chodorov, Pirandello's "Henry IV", and a modern comedy to be selected.

"Twelfth Night", production of which is well under way, will be performed November 2-3. Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize play, "Our Town", has been selected as an extra play and will be produced November 16-17. Those who purchase season tickets will be mailed passes for the latter.

All reserved season tickets not paid for this morning will be placed on sale, Mr. Gillis said.

Good Fellowship Important Item At Police Dinner

Good fellowship and food are the main items on the program for the annual Police club get-together dinner at the Italian Hotel, 175 San Augustine street, tonight.

Elmer W. Moore, newly-elected president of the organization, announces that all members of the Police School are invited to attend the dinner.

All police students planning to attend the get-together should sign up in Room S206. The dinner will cost fifty cents.

La Torre Photos

Individual pictures for La Torre, student yearbook, will be made at Bushnell's Studio, 34 North First street, beginning October 9, Edith Mauzy, associate editor of La Torre, announces.

Appointments for pictures may be made at the La Torre desk in the Publications office. The deadline for making these appointments is October 21.

All organizations should check their boxes in the Co-op for La Torre notices, states Bill Laffoon, editor.

First Student Field Trip Set For Tomorrow

First of a series of field trips for nature study students will be held tomorrow. Three separate trips will be made every week-end, each student being required to take one each of the three types of trips.

Students under Prof. Karl S. Hazeltine will tour the vicinity of Los Gatos and Almaden studying trees. Weeds and marsh grasses will be surveyed under Miss Emily Smith's group on a trip out the Alviso Road.

Mr. John H. Applegarth's students will hike around the vicinity of Los Gatos observing the brush on the chaparral covered slopes.

State Meets Nevada Wolves Tomorrow Night At 8:00

'SNAPPY STORY'

Tsk! Tsk!

Explaining the type of book students must bring on field trips, Dr. Karl Hazeltine held up a popular pulp magazine before his 11 o'clock Nature Study class yesterday.

"I borrowed this from Miss Smith," he stated. Miss Emily Smith is an instructor in the Science department. Then Dr. Hazeltine went on to say, "I could have brought her copy of 'Snappy Stories', but I didn't want to give her away."

Wow!

By PONY SWENSON

Sitting high on the pedestal of success with four straight wins, the San Jose State football warriors will attempt to "hold tight" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock when the invading University of Nevada Wolves attempt to claw the locals into an upset in Spartan Stadium.

The Wolfpack faces the Warner-DeGroot powerhouse on the scrawny end of lopsided odds, and if it were possible to use comparative scores as a measuring stick, tomorrow night's battle could well be labeled a "slaughter", with the Spartans wielding the axe.

Earlier this season Nevada proved one touchdown better than San Francisco

State, who in turn won over San Mateo Junior college by the same margin. Mathematically this ranks the Wolves as being but two touchdowns better than a Jay-see team that the Spartans could whip, going in reverse gear.

However, this is a season of upsets, and the boys from Reno are coming here with one idea in mind—to beat the Spartans. Since their paradoxical 9-7 beating handed them by Arizona State of Flagstaff in a game which saw them roll up 287 yards to the winners' 84, Nevada's new coach, Jim Aiken, has served an ultimatum on his team. And you know what it is.

SMALL NEVADA SQUAD

Coach Aiken will bring to town a squad scarcely bigger than the entire personnel of the Punkin Center Police department, but that isn't bothering the Nevadans. The Wolves apparently have shunned Reno's night spots, because most of the starting lineup plans to see the full 60 minutes of hard football.

Chances that the Spartans may have a "let-down" this week are not very probable. The San Joseans had theirs last Friday when they coasted through the California Ramblers 27-0. Dud DeGroot's squad has knocked too many opponents silly without coming up with a bad case of "cockiness" for their next start.

HEAVY WOLF LINE

New Club Tentatively Called 'Campus Flyers'

"Campus Flyers" has been accepted as a tentative name for the newly-organized flying club, according to a notice posted yesterday by the Aviation department.

Unless a vote to be taken of the membership of the new club results in a more fitting name, the organization will continue to operate under this name.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

At the same time, Bob Work, organizer of the club, explained that suggestions for a different name were not restricted to the membership, but that any student might submit one or more names with the possibility of some sort of prize being offered by the club.

Membership to the club was closed Monday at an even twenty, and future applicants will be considered only when an opening presents itself through the graduation or resignation of a member.

PLANE DELIVERED OCTOBER 20

The club airplane, a Taylor Cub "50", will be delivered on or about October 20, Work declared, and instruction will begin as soon after that as possible. The ship, purchased at a cost of $1400, will be flown from Lockhart, Pennsylvania by member of the Twenty Flying club, the first group of its kind to organize on the campus.

Radio Speaking Club Open To Members

LEGAL GROUP MEETS OCT. 9

Members of the San Jose State college Pre-legal club will meet Monday, October 9, at 12:30 in Room 25, according to Mr. Owen M. Broyles, adviser.

The group will consider proceedings of the last annual meeting of the State Bar Association, studying especially the suggestions made by the committee for pre-legal education and their views as to proper training for pre-legal students.

PEN AWARDED BEST LINEMAN

At last the unsung heroes of the gridiron, the hard-working, bottom-of-the-heap linemen are to receive reward for their efforts.

Starting with Saturday night's Nevada game, Delos "Ace" Bagby, Spartan swimmer and campus representative for a major fountain pen company, announces that a "pen of the week" award will be given to the outstanding lineman on the Spartan football team.

With nine vacancies left open by graduate and transfer students, the Radio Speaking society will take in any new members who want experience in radio speaking, acting, and writing, according to Archie Brown, newly-elected president of that group.

A membership limit of twenty-five is expected to be reached soon, Brown stated.

Applicants should apply for try-outs not later than Tuesday noon, October 10, it was pointed out. A slip of paper with the following information on it should be handed in to Room 64 of the Speech wing by anyone interested in joining the club:

Name, address, phone.

Year in college.

Free time for rehearsals and performances.

Previous dramatic and radio experience, if any.

Phase of radio interested in.

Students qualifying for admission to the society will be announced in the Spartan Daily on Wednesday, October 11, Brown declared.

Spartans Trek To Stockton

A special excursion train has once again been chartered to move at least 1000 Staters to the scene of the San Jose State-College of Pacific traditional game in Stockton on October 20, according to Happy LaBee, rally chairman.

Tickets for the excursion, selling for $1.65 round trip, previously sold for $1.80. The Spartan Special is scheduled to leave San Jose at 2:30 and is expected to start on the return trip shortly after midnight, LaBee announced.

NOISE PARADE

On arriving in Stockton following a reception at the station, San Jose State college students will stage a noise parade on their way to the Hotel Clark, general meeting place for Sparta's rooters. From there members of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce will furnish transportation to Baxter Stadium where the game will take place.

According to plans outlined by the Rally committee, megaphones will be distributed to students wearing rooter's caps on the train.

For those wearing caps a special section will be reserved in the rooters' section. Arrangements have been made with Pacific officials asking that a section of seats be reserved for local rooters.

DANCING CAR

As in previous years, a strip car for dancing will be included in the special train, with a radio and phonograph supplying the music, LaBee said.

Tennis Tourney Participants Meet Today

All students planning to participate in the Mixed Doubles Tennis Tourney sponsored by the W.A.A. will have a chance to meet their partners today at a meeting in the Women's gym at 12:10.

According to Miss Marjorie Lucas, Tennis club adviser, there are 64 entries, which will comprise 32 doubles teams, and she urges them all to attend the meeting today.

The first round must be played off by Thursday, October 12 and scores should be reported to Ethel Hambey, Ernie Rideout, or Miss Lucas.

The Tennis club elected as president Amy Amizich, and W.A.A. representative, Jean Hooker.

Ten Police Students In Dads' Footsteps

"Chips right off the old block" are ten students enrolled in the local Police School.

Not satisfied with being sons of policemen, ten husky police rookies are following right in their fathers' footsteps and training for law enforcement work at the local nationally-known school headed by William A. Wiltberger.

POLICE FATHERS

Heading the list is Ray Belnap, sophomore, whose father is an investigator for the Los Angeles division of the National Auto Theft Bureau. Gale Bergey, sophomore, is the son of a Huntington Beach policeman while Richard Hubbell, varsity football star, is the son of a retired policeman.

Alfred Johnson, sophomore, hails from Lassen county, where his father holds the position of sheriff. John Lindquist, senior, is not only the son of a police chief, but he is also a former desk sergeant of the Wichita, Kansas police force. Voris Newstetter, sophomore, and Leo Singer, freshman, boast detective fathers. Newstetter's father was a captain of detectives in the Van Nuys station of the Hollywood department, while Singer's parent is a plainclothesman with the Hammand, Indiana force.

MORE POLICEMEN

Son of a San Quentin Prison guard, Edward Pitts is a first year police student. Rex Pursell, junior and varsity football player, comes from Visalia where his father is a deputy sheriff.

DAY EDITOR, This Issue... ELEANOR RANEY

AS I SEE IT

By Eugene Harvie

In looking over "Mein Kampf", Hitler's literary effort, which might be sub-titled, "Prelude to World War II", I ran across this statement, wherein lies the kernel of Hitler's success in dominating Europe: "One can only succeed in winning the soul of a people if, apart from a positive fighting of one's own for one's own aims, one also destroys at the same time the supporter of the contrary."

Hitler, knowing the psychology of the crowd, has made himself into a god in the eyes of the German people. He has given them what the Versailles treaty had taken away; he has raised Germany from an insignificant nation in the middle of Europe to one that now dominates one-third of the continent and threatens to control it all. Reports have come from Germany of plots to overthrow the Nazi government by force, by the Germans themselves. This seems to be highly fantastic and only wishful thinking on the part of the "Stop Hitler Bloc", for what German would want to overthrow the one thing that has brought him what he has wanted for so many years?

Then too, Hitler has said he would be willing to abdicate in favor of Goering, his right hand man, if the allies would stop fighting. The offer on the face of it seems to be quite a noble gesture. But on the contrary, it is a move that would give him an even greater hold on the German people. In abdicating, he would then become a self-made martyr in the eyes of the Germans, adding more esteem to himself. From his back seat he could still control the man at the government's head.

With the people solidly behind him, I believe Hitler has several fruitful years of land-grabbing ahead of him.

Grayson's Clothes Line

By JERRY STICKLES

With the winning of another football game Friday night and the formation of the "Rah-Rah" club, by "alma mater minded" frosh, anything is likely to happen nowadays... look what happened at the University of California last Saturday. College of Pacific trounced U.C. 6-0, and we pick Cal over Stanford and San Jose State over C.O.P. ... if we're right then San Jose has a better team than U.C. or Stanford this year... Our selection may be wrong but we couldn't be any further off than FRANK BONANNO and CARLTON PEREGOY in their "Grid Choices of the Week". EVELYN LEE, stunning State brunette, has deserted the local lads for a Santa Clara B.F. Remember when MILTON PYLE was the lucky man...

"FLASH" ZIMMERMAN didn't have a good time at the DTO party Friday night because DINA "TRUCK" OTIS spent the weekend in Los Angeles... Do you have trouble with that famous American custom of your slip showing?... Buy one of Grayson's 89-cent guaranteed "Dated Slips". They are seamproof and are made of French Duro-crepe to insure 6 months' wear... flattera-cut, perfect fitting top, and for that perfect length, adjust the strap and snip the bottom... remember it is fashionable to have your slip short enough, but if it shows, you know your dress is too short.

Take a black and white wool plaid upper with military cut front and dolman sleeves, add a black wool gored skirt, and a dash of red velvet at the neckline, a military belt at the waist and you have a "Flamboyant- Plaid and Plain", exclusive at Grayson's, $6.99.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

We have been to all the home games and watched with pride our 116-piece band. All the while listening to the praise of this worthy organization, we are wondering if they don't deserve a little more consideration for their fine playing and marching.

If we want good advertisement, why not get band uniforms that are more colorful and up to date. In other words, the band's playing and marching is fine, but the uniforms look like the "Spirit of 79".

Three Spartlets Out Of Cub Tilt With Injuries

Anderson, Soulds, Miller Are Hurt

After stressing offensive tactics throughout the week, Tiny Hart-rant switched to defensive work in last night's practice session in an effort to prepare his freshman grid squad for the smart running attack employed by the Santa Rosa Cubs. The two teams meet tonight on the up-state field.

With injuries to his key men forcing a switch in the starting lineup, Tiny yesterday stated that the backfield combination would be Al Alviso at fullback, Al Rocchi and Russ Hofvendahl at halves, and Paul Tognetti at full. Originally planning to start Ed Soulds and Sammy Miller in the halfback spots, the head mentor was forced to change his intentions when the pair received injuries in practice this week.

Also reported out with injuries is Andy Anderson, dependable wingman, who will be replaced by Dick Souza, 175 pound flanker, in the starting lineup.

This will mean that the opening eleven will be Souza and Neilson at ends, Wilmot and McConnell at tackles, Putman and Ramsey at guards, and big Frank Stewart at center.

A squad of twenty-five performers has been slated to carry the brunt of the San Jose grid burden and are to leave the gym at 2:00 today.

of Lilliputian stock; the Wolfpack line averages 194 pounds from stem to stern. Tackle Joe Kievet is the heaviest, weighing 216, while Riley Lee, the center, is the lightest, weighing 175. Robinett, 181, and Garamendi, 197, give Nevada two prominent bulwarks at guards. Two 190-pound ends, Clayton and Smithwick, have the necessary weight and speed to do a lot of damage to Warner reverses. Del Stewart, 198 pound tackle, may prove a tough hombre for the locals to go through.

If halfback Johnny Polish has recovered from an early season injury, he will be Nevada's offensive hope to rout the Spartans. Other Wolf threats are 188-pound Skippy Vinson, pile-driving full-back, Pat Eaton, hard blocking quarterback, and Frankie Belosoe, halfback. Jackrabbit Mitch Cobeaga will be Polish's relief man.

KICKERS ELECT VETERAN FULL TO CAPTAINCY

"Ham" Hodgson, three-year veteran on the Spartan soccer team, was elected last night to fill the post of captaincy left vacant by the ineligibility of Ed Crotser, who was elected last year. The new captain will lead his mates into the first conference battle of the year tomorrow in San Francisco when the squad faces a strong veteran USF team. The game is scheduled for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Don Field.

According to Coach McDonald, the team facing USF tomorrow will be even stronger than last year's squad which ended up in the number two spot in the conference race. Most of last year's men return to the lineup with a few new additions which will make the veterans work hard to earn their starting posts.

Two of the new additions are junior college transfers who have been under plenty of fire and are by no means "green peas" in the soccer game. Ray Fahn is one of the newcomers and he joins brother Jimmie in the starting front line. He was practically the whole team at L.A.J.C. last year and earned all-conference honors in the Southern school.

The other junior college transfer who will be seeing a lot of action is Bill Dwyer from San Mateo. Another boy who comes to the Spartan fold with plenty of experience and who, according to "Mac", may prove to be one of the outstanding men on the team. It has not yet been decided who shall start in his position, center half, but McDonald indicated he would probably get the nod over O'Conner.

Vets compose most of the rest of the roster and the starting lineup will be selected from the following men:

Center Forward—Ray Fahn.
Right Inside—Kotta, Gurnea, or Masdeo.
Right Wing—Albright.
Center Half—Dwyer or O'Conner.
Right Half—Figone or Rhodes.
Right Full—Anderson or Diedrickson.
Goalie—Hill.

Stanford Takes Water Polo Tilt 6 To 2

Stanford took San Jose's varsity water pool team by a score of 6 to 2 in a tame, closely refereed game at Stanford yesterday afternoon.

San Jose was off form and made a poor showing in the first game of the season. The score at half-time was 4 to 1.

Future Opponents Eyed Closely

Future grid opponents of San Jose State have another busy session on tap this week-end with two of the games bringing together very important foes of the Spartans.

Games which will most interest the followers of Sparta are the Pacific-Loyola game in Los Angeles and the Fresno-Santa Barbara game in the Gaucho bull ring. These teams are all future opponents of State and are all considered to have strong squads.

Other future opponents playing this week are San Diego, playing Occidental, Willamette, playing Portland, and Drake University playing Grinnell College.

Redlands is resting this week in preparation for their game with Pomona next week.

Frosh Poloists In Rematch

Already holding a 14 to 2 victory over Coach Sam Della Maggiore's San Jose high school water poloists, Charlie Walker's frosh septet will attempt to make it two straight over their prep rivals this afternoon at 4:30 in the Spartan pool.

Undecided on his starting lineup because of the erratic performances of several of his players in practice sessions, the genial Washington Square mentor will hold off his selection until game time today.

Just a week ago today, Gene Shirokoff, flashy center forward, paced the Spartlet poloists to the opening victory of the year over the weak San Jose preps. Setting as their goal the 27 to 2 victory that the 1938 frosh squad ran up against the high school, the frosh will attempt to overshadow their first local performance.

The probable starting lineup will be chosen from the following squad members: Shirokoff, Morse, Porter, Litten, Wathen, Armstrong, Morrissey, and Frelief.

Varsity basketball practice begins Monday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. —Bill Hubbard.

All San Jose State college students are invited to "take a chance" and attend the combined YW-YM Columbus Day party to be given Wednesday evening, October 11.

The party, to be held in Room 1 of the Home Economics building, will last from 7:30 to 10 o'clock, and admission is free. A special invitation is extended freshmen and transfer students to attend the affair.

Parking Shows Improvement

The Spartan Daily is not publishing names of students for parking violations because of the dislike of any one student, nor is it publishing names merely to take up space. The parking still has far to go before it can be called good; however, on the whole, an improvement is noticeable.

Parking on San Carlos street, between Fourth and Seventh streets, is a DISGRACE TO SAN JOSE STATE. Let's get off the dime and improve it. Here are today's offenders:

REVISED NEUTRALITY ACT WOULD HIT U.S. SHIPPING, DR. POYTRESS DECLARES

American shipping interests will undoubtedly be hit very hard if the proposed revision of the neutrality act goes into effect, in the opinion of Dr. William Poytress, head of the San Jose State Social Science department.

Much of the rapidly developing opposition in the house of representatives is being built up by shippers, he indicated. Although under the revision, shipping interests to other parts of the world than Europe may be carried on, there exists the possibility that the trade treaty with Japan will not be renewed in February; consequently, American shippers are exceedingly worried, Dr. Poytress points out.

Government subsidization has been carried on in the past through the awarding of mail contracts and the more outright support of the Jones Act which makes the proposed blow to shipping embodied in the neutrality revision even more interesting, he explained.

Dr. Poytress expressed doubt that the credit provision of the revision would be carried through, believing that it was thrown in merely for bargaining purposes.

Students Motor To Sequoia Park

Motoring to Sequoia National park this week-end, 20 members of Dr. Gayle B. Pickwell's class in reptiles and mammals will undertake a study of various animals in their habitats.

Leaving San Jose Friday morning the student biologists will spend the first evening photographing nocturnal mammals. The following day the group will travel on to Giant Forest and take pictures of bears, squirrels, chipmunks, and other diurnal animals.

Before returning Sunday, the class will stop at Three Rivers outside the park and collect specimens of reptiles.
