STUDENTS MEET TO HONOR TEAM IN MORRIS DAILEY AUDITORIUM

San Jose State's bombshell of enthusiasm will burst in the Morris Dailey auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock when rooters meet to yell their heads off at the first pre-game pep session honoring the "Flying Spartans".

WINKELMAN ON PROGRAM

On the program for the evening will be Captain Kenny Cook, Coach Ben Winkelman, Dee Portal and Dean of Men Paul Pitman.

Presented for the first time before the student body will be two new yells introduced by Head Yell Leader Tommy Taylor and his assistants, Bill Harris and Paul Arata.

BASKIN M.C.

Len Baskin of Revelries fame will be M.C. of the program. Gene Goudron and his orchestra will provide the swing music with Jack Stewart at the vocals. The marching band will be on hand to add to the evening's entertainment. Har-

Six Former Police Students Receive Various Positions

Six former Police School students have received positions on various police departments in the state, announces Miss Ila Minter, Police School secretary.

Livingstone Hay, two-year technical graduate, is now working as patrolman on the Carmel force. John Van Epps, two-year graduate, is also working in Carmel as a police radio technician.

Voris Newstetter and Francis Anderson, both two-year technical graduates, and Wilbur Fitzsimmons, who attended school here one quarter, have been appointed to the Los Angeles Police department.

Now an assistant game warden in the State Fish and Game division is Creighton Markle, a technical graduate, states the secretary.

DEAN DIMMICK ADDRESSES CLUB

Miss Helen Dimmick will address the Freshman "W" club on "Etiquette" tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Student Center, according to Margaret Walker, club reporter.

The "W" club was organized by the College YWCA and all freshman women are welcome to attend.

Officers as elected at the last meeting are Mary Jo Wharton, president; Harriet Helps, vice-president; Peggy Ross, secretary; Marjorie Wade, treasurer; and Margaret Walker, reporter.

BAND AGREES TO LIMIT UNIT TO 100 PIECES

By VANCE PERRY

The band will be definitely limited to 100 members next year, according to two of the band council who discussed the controversy with the student council at a meeting last night in the Student Union.

Frank Holt and Mel Buffo, band representatives, admitted the agreement claimed by last year's student council and its adviser limiting the marching group, but said that, due to the loss of measure-to head a three-member committee to work with three faculty members to be appointed by President T. W. MacQuarrie to choose the director of the Spartan Revelries.

In view of this fact, any recommendations the council may make are to be deferred until after the appearance of the band in its two-tone combination.

CARDS ADOPTED

A permanent photograph-attached identification card was adopted, to be used with a temporary card which will be issued each quarter. Both cards will be encased in a celluloid folder. Bill Van Vleck and Stan Murdock are to continue their work on the project. No estimation of the date of release of the cards was made.

Van Vleck was also appointed

MAY PUBLISH SONG

A move was put under way to publish the college fight song and hymn in a collection which is used by many nationally known orchestras. Petitions are also to be circulated asking Fred Waring to write a new song for the college.

Sainte Claire hotel was designated by the council as the site of the Organization dinner November 6.

DEBATE TEAM BEGINS WORK ON TWO TOPICS

Members of the debate team have started to work on two topics which will be used for inter-collegiate debates and discussions during the year. These topics will be used as debate subjects this year in colleges throughout the United States, according to Woodrow Semerau, debate manager.

The National Collegiate Debate topic will be: "Resolved, that the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent alliance or union for defense against foreign aggression."

The National Forensic League question will be: "Resolved, that the power of the Federal Government should be diminished."

Sororities Issue Greater Number Of Bids This Year

At Dean Dimmick's office last week 154 women students called for their sorority pledge bids, records show. In the bid box a total of 238 bids, some rushes receiving as many as two or three bids, of which they were to take their preference. Eight of those receiving preference cards chose not to pledge any sorority and six women neglected to call for their bids.

The number pledged to each group was considerably higher than that of last year with Allenian bidding 18; Geta Gamma Chi, 22; Delta Beta Sigma, 19; Phi Kappa Pi, 18; Sappho, 18; Ero Sophian, 27; Kappa Kappa Sigma, 23; and Zeta Chi, 9.

When The Cat's Away, Zoology Lab Takes Over

In the dark of the moon . . .

Not romance, nor black magic, for students of Dr. Gayle Pickwell's class in Zoology 116, but surreptitious nocturnal trips to rat, mouse, raccoon, skunk, and other traps designed to catch small mammals.

The course requires each student to trap no less than five "small mammals". Then he must skin them and mount them.

Note: The first specimen, a house rat, was caught in a gopher trap, supposedly set in a gopher hole!

Appointments for individual photos for La Torre will continue daily from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the La Torre desk in the Publications office.

Appointments made for today for pictures which will be taken at Bushnell's studio on North First street are as follows:

Yvonne Bonneau, Mabel Barnhart, Mary Virginia Gaspar, Geraldine Balthazar, Harvard Peters, Mary Falcone, Evelyn Eitzert, Inez Stanley, Betty Jones, Jane Reed, Dorothy Vierra, Bernice Janssen, Wilma Arjo, Sally Anne Nicholson, Ann Ford, Eleanor Kelsy, Eunice Stebbins, Betty Bushey, and Eleanor Joy.

Friday, October 11, is definitely the last day for students to drop courses, announced the Registrar's office yesterday afternoon.

Dance Planned After Grid Game Friday

Honoring the members of both the San Diego and San Jose grid teams, a football dance will follow the game here Friday night. Dancing will be in the Men's gym from 10 p.m. to 12:30. Dan Bessemer's orchestra will play.

The crowded conditions at the Registration dance a few weeks ago made dancing almost impossible. Now dates must be secured before-hand," Curry stated.

Free punch will be served during the evening.

"Much Ado About Nothing" SETS SHOW SIMPLIFIED REALISM, SAYS JOHNSON

By IRENE MELTON

"A kind of simplified realism." This is how Wendell Johnson, instructor in play production in the Speech department, describes the sets he designed for "Much Ado About Nothing", San Jose Players' production to be given in the Little Theater October 24, 25, and 26.

FORM REDUCED

"Architectural form is reduced to its simplest outline and unnecessary detail eliminated," Mr. Johnson points out in describing the design.

There are two reasons for use of this principle, according to Mr. Johnson.

"In the first place, a Shakespearean play is formal and an extravagant setting would be distracting," he declares. "Second, the physical limitations of the Little Theater make it more practical to employ a setting of this kind."

MODEL STAGE

Combinations of scenes are worked out on a model stage, on which forms may be arranged and rearranged at will, according to the set designer. This same device was used by Mr. Johnson in a play, "The Women", presented at the Palo Alto Community theater this summer.

The model stage may be employed in designing sets for the Christmas play, "Family Portrait", to be given in the Morris Dailey auditorium, according to Mr. Johnson.

Meetings Set For 11:22; Juniors Plan For Prom

With morning classes shortened in order to make room for a fifth period, the first general class assemblies of the quarter has been called for 11:22 today.

The schedule of classes will run the same as before but each morning class will be cut short 12 minutes to insure ample time for the holding of the class meetings.

SCHEDULE

Classes will run as follows:

First period—8:00-8:48.

Second period—8:56-9:36

Third period—9:46-10:24

Fourth period—10:34-11:22

Fifth period—11:22-12:00

This being the first official meeting of the year for many of the classes, the respective class officers urge all students to attend the meetings.

SENIORS

The seniors, with Bob Payne presiding, will meet in the Little Theater to elect officers and make plans for the coming year.

Plans for the Junior prom, top social function of the winter quarter, will be made by the juniors, who meet in room S112. The election of a council and "Sneak Week" preparations will be discussed. President Mert Crockett will preside.

Second year students will meet in the Men's gym. Election of class officers will be the main order of business, with plans for the Sophomore (Continued on Page 4)

Techniques Of Water Color, Crayons Shown

Showing different techniques of water color and crayon work, with dogs as the subject, an exhibit by Will Rannells, faculty member in the department of fine arts at Ohio State university, is on display in the Art wing.

Rannells is a famous illustrator of children's books, and has done work on covers of Collier's magazine, according to Louis La Barbera, Art department assistant.

"Rannells specializes in dog drawings, but he does equally good work in other subjects," La Barbera said.

This exhibit will be on display until Tuesday, October 15, then another two-week's exhibit of water colors, by Theodore Polos of San Francisco will take its place.

JOY SIEVERS NEW C.S.T.A. PRESIDENT

Joy Sievers was recently elected president of the San Jose State college chapter of the California Student Teachers Association.

Miss Sievers and James Brown, member-at-large of the local group, were chosen as delegates to attend the forthcoming bay section meeting to be held at the Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco on October 19.

Cooperation To Insure Success

The selection of our annual school Community Chest chairman has become just another routine appointment as far as the majority of students on our campus are concerned.

The committee headed by Dr. Jay C. Elder, dean of the lower division, appoints some ambitious young man, who usually doesn't quite know what he is getting himself into, and asks him to run the Chest drive on the campus. The appointment of a chairman fails to attract the attention of many students, which makes the job all the more difficult.

If the students don't have enough interest in the student who will lead the drive, they fail to become enthusiastic over the drive itself. Past chairmen have vainly sought the cooperation of campus groups in order to insure the drive being a huge success. Lack of cooperation from many of the on-campus organizations has made the work of the Community Chest chairman a job to be dreaded instead of one to be sought after.

If all campus groups that function as part of San Jose State college contribute their small share by donating their services, or money, when asked for by the chairman, the quota will be filled in a short time.

Whoever the committee appoints, and we know from past experience that their choice will be a wise one, the college students should get behind him 100 per cent to make the drive a success.

No campus organization should refuse to donate something to a cause such as this. Cooperation by all groups will insure the drive filling its quota this year.

BILL RODRICK

Generally Speaking

SOcial Science head Dr. William Poytress seems to leave this country no alternative in the present crisis but to fight—that is, if we wish to preserve "the American way of life."

There seems to be little doubt of this country's desire to preserve its own democracy, or "way of life." The British Empire, embattled bulwark of non-American democracies, shall survive, but how far we shall go in contributing to the survival of England? Here is the doubt.

If Dr. Poytress is right, the survival of a democratic America, depends on the survival of Great Britain. That leaves us with a question American's have side-stepped to date—whether or not we shall organize the entire defensive system of this country against the axis powers or continue with the methods—"short of war"—into which category falls the destroyer trade and the sale of arms and airplanes to the British.

If we interrupt the present day events correctly with parallel events of World War I as a guide, our entrance into the conflict is a matter of time.

We are not arming now nor training men to use these arms for defense, although that may be the surface reason. We are arming for eventual participation in a war, and, if by some miracle we don't get to Europe, we expect one in this continent or in the Far East. Since Dr. Poytress is the reason for this column, we might recall his prediction, of about two years ago, that time would see us fighting Hitler in South America. Under the political surfaces, that fight seems to have started already.

IN planning a celebration of the importance of Spardi Gras it is by no means too early to begin work now. To carry on a tradition which began over a decade ago, next spring's carnival should be made the best to date.

It is with this thought in mind that this column urges that the Student Council begin to lay the foundation immediately.

One of the first problems for the Council to clear up is the method of electing the king or queen—whichever it is to be—to rule the festivities. In the past it has been the custom to choose a king, but last spring, since this is leap year, it was decided to elect a queen and let her choose her consort. It will be up to the Council, or the Spardi Gras chairman, to decide whether or not we go back to the original custom.

COMPETITION BETWEEN GROUPS

An important factor in making an undertaking of this kind a success is the competition between or-organizations on the campus. Stimulation of this rivalry would add much to the event and should be fostered to the greatest extent.

This rivalry could find a spirited outlet in backing candidates for queen, preparing organization floats for a parade, as well as in operating booths in the Quad during the afternoon.

HOW ABOUT A PARADE?

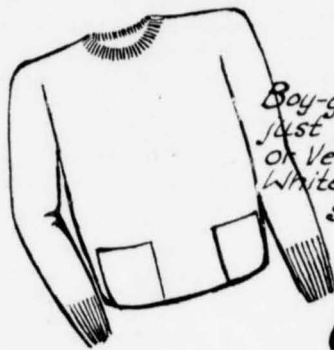

We feel, too, that the downtown people as well as the students would get a whale of a kick out of seeing these floats and the hundreds of fantastic costumes which appear on Spardi Gras day. In the old days there used to be a parade around the San Carlos turf, but that is a memory which Dr. Poytress and Mr. Newby tell about.

We see no valid reasons why we shouldn't be allowed on the San Jose streets with our carnival crowd. San Jose has a contagion of parades every so often and we could put on one that would out-class most. Under the proper generalship it could be the liveliest and most interesting the town has seen in a long time and simultaneously raise the Spardi Gras spirit to its top height.

SPORT SLANTS

BY BENNIE FRIZZI

San Jose State college's fighting Latka's took a decided thumping over the past week, George losing to Toby Vigil and Billy being edged out by "Shorty" Hogue of San Diego.

George and Billy, considered championship material in the lightweight and middleweight ranks, respectively, still aren't definitely out of the picture.

George bounces right back on October 23 up Frisco way against the N.B.A. champ, Sammy Angott, in a non-title bout. If Georgie takes the measure of Angott, he will shoot back into the picture very prominently.

Billy was expected to give Fred Apostoli, the former 160-pound champ, a test some weeks back, but the bout fell through.

George's defeat to Vigil came as a surprise to many, but it was no surprise to the fellow nearest him—his trainer. He figured Georgie's two-month lay-off would make him rusty and easy pickings for a hard-hitting Vigil.

You can get a better-conditioned Latka will enter the ring against Angott, and probably give the champ a boxing lesson, which will place Mr. Latka right back on top of the world despite his loss to Vigil.

Cincinnati won the series, but we doff our skimmer to Louis "Bobo" Newsom, the pitching star of the Tigers. Any fellow who can pitch three swell ball games in a world series, despite losing his dad right in the thick of the fight, deserves a big pat on the back.

Not forgetting Paul Derringer, who came back to win a couple of games for the Reds after being shelled from the mound in the first two innings of the series and on top of that shelled dizzy by the Yanks last year. And above all, don't forget a fighting Redleg ball team which came back to take the final two games and the championship.

While on the topic of baseball, San Jose figures to field their strongest ball team in history in 1941. With Tony Nasimento back for another year, and Pete 'Khaki' Filice, one of the brighter pitching stars of San Jose, in a varsity uniform, the Spartans should have a terrific pitching staff. Backing up these two will be Ray Cressio, "Turk" Kasparovitch, Jack Raine, a transfer from Salinas Jaycee, and other hurlers and transfers who figure to get a starting nod.

In the outfield, at least four men of equal ability will be battling for each of the three spots. Catchers look plentiful and good.

Ed Dunn, regular of the 1939 varsity, will be back making his bid for a berth on Walt McPherson's outfit.

Reds Win Final Game, 2-1; Take Baseball Title

The Cincinnati Reds were crowned champions of the baseball world yesterday when they won the seventh and deciding game of the 1940 World Series, 2 to 1, from the Detroit Tigers.

Cincinnati, with Paul Derringer pitching, scored two runs in the seventh to put the game on ice. Buck Newson, who had already won two world series games for the Tigers, was the losing pitcher.

The hero of the series, if one could be picked, was 40 year old Jimmy Wilson, who caught five Reds' games, replacing the injured Ernie Lombardi.

MENTOR PLEASED WITH PLAYING OF FROSH TEAM IN VARSITY SCRIMMAGE

After a tough hour scrimmage against the varsity Monday night, Coach Fred Hamlow called off bodily contact for the rest of the week for his freshman gridders, satisfied that they are ready for the Modesto junior college eleven Thursday night.

NEW OFFENSE

The youthful mentor drilled his frosh team on a new defense yesterday to stop the Modesto power down the middle and their wide open passing attack.

Making a few more changes in his starting line-up, Coach Hamlow still seeks his strongest 11 men which will click as a unit.

SIGNAL CALLING

Vernon Cartwright, a quarterback, has been moved to tackle for the Modesto game. Hamlow indicated yesterday that his backfield would take over the signal calling assignments from now on. Not pleased with the selection of plays used by his quarterbacks in the first two games of the year, George Klinger, Tony Duarte, and Forrest Michaelis will call the plays when they are in the game for the frosh.

Hans Weidenhofer and Bill Johnson, regular guards, again moved up to the starting eleven as a result of last week's playing against Santa Rosa.

Walkermen Set For Hard Tilt With Winged O

With two days of hard practice under their belts, Coach Charley Walker's varsity water polo septet is on edge and set to do battle with the Olympic club water-splashers tomorrow night at 9:00 in the Spartan pool.

Needless to say, the Spartans are anxious to score a win over the Olympians and go out after the Bay Cities water polo league crown they relinquished in 1939, and which title they held successfully in 1937 and 1938.

BRIGHT SPOT

One of the bright lights of the intense scrimmages has been the work of Goalie Egan Hoffman, who Walker thinks will develop into an outstanding player before long. Hoffman makes up for his lack of size and inexperience at the game by showing plenty of scrap and determination.

Unconfirmed reports from the Olympic club indicate that Dick Savage, former Spartan goalie, will hold down that position for the Winged-O tomorrow night against his former teammates.

Savage was slated to hold down the "hot-spot" for the Walkermen this year, but decided to remain out of school and compete for the San Francisco club.

Intramural Ping-Pong Starts

Next on the intra-mural sports calendar is the ping pong tournament, which will start within the next two weeks, according to Tony Nasimento, who is supervising intra-mural play.

Deadline for sign-up of entrants is October 16, with Nasimento urging all students who plan to participate in the tournament to signify so on the bulletin board in the Men's gymnasium, preferably by Friday.

No definite site has been chosen for the tournament as yet, and entrants are urged to keep in touch with the bulletin board for further developments.

FROSH POLOISTS PLAY PALO ALTO IN RETURN GAME

San Jose's undefeated frosh water polo team travels to Palo Alto this afternoon for a return game with the strong Palo Alto high school team. Last week the frosh were held by Palo Alto to a 4-3 win and Coach Charley Walker's boys are out to do better this afternoon.

With Dave Garcia definitely out of the line-up with an injured back and Al Corcoran, who has a trick knee, unable to play the full game the Spartlets face a crucial test.

With two nights of strenuous practice, the forwards are improving their shots, according to Coach Walker, and are looking better. With Marty Taylor, fast sprinting center forward, and forwards Parker Snow and Don Thomsen leading the team with good ball handling, they should show improvement over last week, Walker believes.

Mongoosees Lead Underdogs In Touch Football

Konoshima's Mongoosees took the upper hand in the intra-mural touch football league yesterday, holding a 6 to 0 halftime lead over Mitchell's Underdogs.

At present, the Mongoosees and Underdogs are tied for first place with one win apiece, as against no losses.

In the other game of the four-team league, Teresi's Miracles are holding a 12 to 0 lead over Raglin's Badgers at half time. Both the Miracles and Badgers are in the cellar, each with one loss and no wins.

SPARTANS IN NIGHT DRILL FOR AZTECS

SOUTHERNERS READY TO GIVE SAN JOSE BATTLE

San Jose's varsity gridmen went through an intensive nocturnal drill under the lights of Spartan stadium last night, readying themselves for a reportedly strong San Diego State college Aztec team on Friday night, under the same arcs.

The San Diego game will mark the first home appearance of the Spartans since their opening night loss to Texas, followed by a successful intersectional schedule which found them victorious over three foes.

Last night's drill stressed fundamentals, something the opening night Spartan eleven sorely lacked. Since that losing tilt, the team has shown decided improvement with each game.

Friday night the Spartan coaching staff figures to field a smoother hard-charging San Jose eleven, which has run up a total of 74 points against their last three opponents, at the same time keeping their final white stripe from being crossed by enemy ball carriers.

AZTECS STRONG

Reports filtering in from the southland state that the Aztecs are a much more powerful combination than the one which dropped a 42 to 0 game to San Jose last year.

San Jose has been doing a little high-scoring of their own in their opening two games of the season, pouring it on Pomona, 33 to 3, and Occidental, 20 to 0.

The ball-carrying spot looks especially impressive for the Aztecs, with four men, Bill Mathie, Bob Cozens, George Gilliland, and Bill Irvin, all lettermen, ready to match San Jose's Minter, Costello and Woffington.

At fullback, the Aztecs figure they have a hard-driving back to match San Jose's Deward Tornell, in Eddie Priesler. Priesler has been packing the mail for an average of about 6.5 per carry thus far in the season.

In fact, San Diego figures to match the Spartans right down the line, being three-deep in several key spots.

PASSING GAME

That San Jose will try to pass the Spartan's silly, appears likely. Their tailbacks are reported to be plenty handy at throwing the pigskin, and in the Nettles twins, the Aztecs combine have a couple of sticky-fingered receivers.

Something which hurt the Spartans in their opener, won't have a chance to repeat, if San Jose performances in the last game are any indication. That's the rain problem.

If Jup Pluvius lets loose again Friday night, the Spartans figure to be ready to handle a wet ball. They proved they could do it at Willamette, and during practice in the rain Monday afternoon.

STUDENT CO-OPERATIVES SPONSOR ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE TOMORROW NIGHT

San Jose State College's five student co-operatives will join in sponsoring their annual fall quarter "open house" tomorrow night from 7:30 until 9:30, inviting the student body and the general public to make a tour of each of the men's and women's co-ops, according to Arnold Mehlhaff, business manager of Eckert hall.

Since the beginning of the movement in 1937 when the Mary George house was founded, four other cooperatives have been added to the college housing program—two for women and two for men.

"The cooperatives have made rapid strides ever since their inception, and we are especially anxious to have the students and public see the progress we have made," states Mehlhaff.

Cooperatives that will be open for inspection are: Grace Hall, 65 S. Ninth street; Mary George house, 146 S. Tenth street; Mary Post house, 438 S. Ninth street; Eckert hall, 343 E. Reed street; and Spartan hall, 45 E. Julian street.

AQUABELLE ENROLLS AS P. E. MAJOR

By WENDELL HAMMON

Right from the swimming pool of Billy Rose's Aquacade at the San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition comes Betty Dunbar, attractive freshman physical education major.

The Spartan Aquabelle admits that she was at the Fairmont hotel swimming pool in San Francisco when she first received the idea of entering the tryouts for the Aquacade.

"After being accepted, I had three weeks of daily practice before the show began," she says.

According to Miss Dunbar, practice consisted of every type of swimming imaginable, including under water swimming, swimming in formation, and just plain everyday swimming.

In the show when it opened at the Exposition June 29, Miss Dunbar remained with the group until it closed September 29. The comely freshman swam with 35 other women and 20 men, the Aquabelles and Aquabeaux of Billy Rose's gigantic water spectacle.

Most of the swimmers were from the San Francisco bay area, according to Miss Dunbar, who adds that some, however, were from Southern California and other parts of the state.

ENGLAND'S CHAMBERLAIN MAN OF LIMITED ABILITY, VISION, SAYS POYTRESS

Branding Chamberlain as a man of "limited ability and knowledge with no great vision," Dr. Poytress, head of the Social Science department, outlined Great Britain's diplomatic course in the two or three years before the war yesterday in a lecture at the Behind the News class.

"It was one of the most unfortunate things in British history that a man of Chamberlain's limited knowledge and ability should be thrust into office at such a critical time," he said.

Poytress claimed, with other observers, that if Britain and France had stepped in with a show of force when Hitler marched into Austria they could have cut off the menace.

ENGLAND AFRAID

England's fear of Russia was named by the college political seer as one of the main reasons for her refusal to stop Hitler. Much of England's diplomacy was aimed at directing Germany's expansion to the East, where it was hoped that she would eventually clash with Russia over the Balkans and the Near East.

England, according to Dr. Poytress, was never primarily interested in keeping Germany down because she realized the value of German trade. There was also a feeling of kinship between the two countries because of the relationship between the royal families.

Dr. Poytress is of the opinion that Hitler didn't intend to challenge Great Britain—that he meant to go the other way. "He probably meant that, if we believe Mein Kampf—and I believe we must."

France was tied to England's foreign policy and could not move alone, according to the Political Science head. She tried to protect herself to the extent of "holding her nose," and grabbing an alliance with Russia.

PLAYED INTO HANDS

In trying to build a bulwark with Germany against Russian bolshevism, Chamberlain played directly into Hitler's hands. He hoped that England might stand by and benevolently help the victims after a Russo-German war.

Spartan Senate will hold a meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. Address 361 South 7.
