EXCURSION TO U.S.F. PLANNED

BUSSES WILL TRANSPORT ROOTERS TO GAME FOR $1

Tickets On Sale By Controller

Arrangements were completed last week for Spartan rooters to attend the San Jose State college-University of San Francisco football game at reduced transportation rates, announced Don True, head of the rally committee, Friday.

Round-trip bus fare has been set at $1 for transportation to San Francisco and back. Busses will leave San Jose from the front of the Student Union at 6 p.m. arriving at Seal stadium at 7:30. The kick-off is at 8 o'clock. Busses will start on the return trip 20 minutes after the close of the game.

Tickets are on sale beginning today in the Controller's office and the sale will continue until Friday, but True suggested purchasing them as soon as possible since busses will be ordered according to the number of tickets sold.

"We are counting on at least 400 students going," True said. "Students who have been on such trips before know that there is fun for all every minute, and the new students can't afford to miss it."

Trains could not be scheduled without an extra expense for street car fare to the stadium, the rally committee head said.

SENIORS BALLOT IN RUN-OFF ELECTION TODAY

Seniors will vote in the run-off election of class officers today at 12:15 in room 112, according to Acting President Bob Payne.

Expecting a close race in all four offices, Payne urges all Seniors to come and vote in this election. Votes will first be cast for president, which still has three candidates running. The two that remain will then be included in the general ballot along with the other offices in order to avoid waste of time, stated Payne.

Vance Perry, Sid Webb, and Gay Van Perre are still in the race for president. Jus Lundquist and Leroy Hill vie for vice-president; Mary Lou Hoffman and Signa Shaw are seeking the secretary-treasurer position, while Frank Kallam and Leo O'Grady fight it out for sergeant-at-arms.

Bonfire Rally

'CITIZEN CLEAN-UP WEEK' PROPOSED BY JUNIORS

Stadium Scene Of Meeting

Proposal for a San Jose "Citizen Clean-up Week" prior to the College of Pacific football game, November 8, will be put before the City council this week by the rally committee and the junior class bonfire committee, according to Mert Crockett, junior president.

Tentative plans call for students to collect bonfire material from the townspeople and transport it to Spartan stadium, where the fire will take place, Crockett said.

COURSE FEES DUE TODAY; DEADLINE OCTOBER 25

Harry Brakebill of the business office, Room 2, announces that course fees for the autumn quarter are due and payable in that office today. The fees, which may range from fifty cents in some courses to five dollars in the more expensive science courses, must be paid by October 25. After that date a late fee of one dollar must be paid.

Registration will be canceled if students neglect to pay their fees by November 1. If registration is canceled, a fee of three dollars will be charged for reinstatement.

La Torre Photo Appointments Continue Today

Appointments for La Torre photographs continue to be made daily from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. at the La Torre desk in the Publications office.

The following students have appointments at Bushnell's studio today: Carol Dykmans, Gloria Gherini, Pat Lynn, Billie Wasson, Marjorie Easton, Audrey Brinkworth, Christine Helps, Mary Louise Hannon.

Patricia Siglin, June Rose Hill, Alice Jean Graham, Patty Vogelmann, Jo Butler, Willis Watson, Verna Coonradt, Jerry Cowell, Marie Jacobson.

Mildred Cline, Jane Desmond, Helen Booth, Barbara Ferry, Janet Schultzberg, Elinor Peaslee, Elizabeth McCrea, Eleanor Schnerr, Elise Stafford, and Claire Laws.

STUDENT TEACHERS TOLD TO FINISH PRELIMINARY WORK

Students doing teachers' training should finish all of their preliminary work as soon as possible, so that they may make appointments for their interviews, the Personnel office urged Friday.

It is important that the students fulfill their preliminary work, so that at the end of the quarter there will not be a rush.

The junior class voted last week to have the freshmen build the fire and the sophomores act as guards. The juniors are to have the privilege of lighting the fire, announces Don True, head of the rally committee.

WORK TOGETHER

Two committees composed of junior men and women students will work in conjunction with the regular rally committee on plans for the affair, True said.

Jim Moore is chairman of the men's group and is assisted by George Ford, Tom Griffin, Her-shal Kern and Usher Tucker. Phyllis Gaines will head the women's committee, with Ruth Wool, Marion Fisher, June Gross and Christine Mansfield as co-workers.

State Equalization Board Member Speaks Today

George R. Reilly, member of the State Board of Equalization for the first district, will speak today at 1 o'clock in room 24, announces Dr. Earl Campbell of the Social Science department.

Subject of Mr. Reilly's talk will be "The Duties and Responsibilities of the State Board of Equalization."

The State Board of Equalization is one of the most important administrative agencies in the state government, according to Dr. Campbell. This organization has in its charge the administration and collection of state taxes and supervisory control over local agencies.

All students and faculty who wish to attend are welcome, the Social Science faculty member emphasizes.

Alpha Eta Rho Elects Officers

Officers of Alpha Eta Rho, international aviation fraternity, will be elected at a meeting at the Hillview Golf course tonight, according to Frank Petersen, adviser of the group. Nominations were made at a meeting this week at Hotel D'Anza.

Library

Work On Building Centered Around Reinforcements

Rough construction on the second story of the new library building is reaching its maximum, announces Gus Houweling, foreman.

The foreman announces, however, that work on the roof will not begin for about two weeks. At present work is centered around reinforcing steel in the walls and columns.

Received yesterday were twenty 2 by 12-inch pipe which will go into the plumbing for the building, Mr. Houweling said.

A.W.A. PLANS ANNUAL SPRING CONVENTION

Returning from a conference at Modesto, Jerrie Jurras, president of Associated Women's Activities, announces that final plans have been made for the annual AWA convention to be held here next spring.

Miss Dimmick, dean of women; Mrs. Rae Wirtz, of the Commerce department, and Mary Ellen Ward, chairman of the convention, attended the conference with Miss Jurras.

Suggestions and new ideas were presented concerning the schedule of events, which will last from Friday afternoon, April 18, until the following Sunday morning.

Pre-Legal Club Plans Meeting Today, Room 14

Election of officers and general organization plans will be the main business of the Pre-Legal club's meeting at 12:30 today in room 14, according to Owen M. Broyles, faculty adviser.

Junior Class

COUNCIL FORMED TO PLAN ALL GROUP ACTIVITIES

A junior council, composed of one representative from each of the 14 departments in the college who will work on all class activities during the year was appointed last week by President Mert Crockett.

Wilber Scott was named journalism representative; Jim Moore, men's physical education; Art Tindall, education; John Groves, English; Ernie Ralph, industrial arts; Bob Nagel, police; Edwin James, natural science.

Christine Mansfield, speech; Helen Mathews, home economics; Lois Ellithorpe, art; Ruth Wool, commerce; Lois Silver, music; Ann McLaughlin, social science, and Betty Jarris, women's physical education. The council will start immediately on plans for the junior-senior mixer which has been scheduled for Thursday, according to Crockett.

The affair will serve as a pre-game mixer before the USF football game October 18. It will last from 7:30 to 10 o'clock in the Men's gym and will be stag.

Selection of an orchestra will be announced later, Crockett said.

K. COOK, BUD NYGREN LEAD SAN JOSE DRIVE

San Diegans Field Tough Combination

By BENNIE FRIZZI

San Jose's "Flying Spartans" successful in dropping previously undefeated San Diego State Friday night by a score of 10 to 0, go back to work this week for probably their toughest game of the year against University of San Francisco's Dons.

San Jose, showing a complete reversal of form in comparison to their dismal opening night appearance here nearly a month ago, really showed the 7,000 students and downtown fans something.

NYGREN AND COOK

Bud Nygren, one of the slickest backs to ever pack the mail for San Jose, and Kenny Cook, who played the game of his life, led the Spartan attack on the Aztecs.

Nygren became San Jose's high scorer for the season by registering his fourth touchdown of the season early in the second period, out-running the entire right side of the Aztec team on a 9-yard dash to pay dirt.

Cook added the extra point with a perfect place-kick, Costello holding.

Cook, who was in on almost every tackle while in the game, put the clincher on San Jose's victory with three minutes remaining in the third quarter by hoisting a beauty of a field goal with the ball resting on the 21-yard line. Costello again did the holding.

FIELD GOAL

Cook's kick actually carried better than 38 yards, as he did the kicking from the 28-yard line.

San Jose holed the Aztecs deep in their own territory after an early exchange of punts in the first period.

Discover Hidden Talents . . .

In spite of the limited facilities the project offers, the Art Workshop, designed to give students a chance to express their talents under the guidance and direction of skilled art students, is a sound, practical idea from every viewpoint.

Students who have little time for regular art courses in which to begin or develop an art hobby have an opportunity to employ Art department laboratory equipment and to utilize whatever general instruction the supervisory art majors may offer to greater advantage than off-campus facilities are able to give.

Although regular hours have been arranged for the larger groups, special periods may be allowed for those whose other classes are in conflict with these hours. There is no credit offered for this extra-curricular activity, but in view of the opportunity it offers to discover latent talents, the few hours taken without academic recompense are hours well spent.

The classes, as they have so far been arranged, include supervision in sculpture, painting and flower arrangement, and added special sessions may allow for a greater latitude of choice. There is no question of "support by the entire student body." This project is offered by the Art department for the benefit of any interested students and is not dependent upon school opinion for its existence.

A Gift We Should Demand . . .

If present plans materialize, San Jose State college will be the recipient of several much-needed furnishings from the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Should the California Commission of the Fair see fit to give this institution a number of its articles, including lounge chairs, bookcases, davenports, floodlights, park benches, etc., a favored few would not receive all the benefits, but the entire student body would profit. Since these gifts are to be made to state institutions, San Jose State college should be high on the commission's list.

Much of the patronage of the Fair was from San Jose and vicinity. Many of the articles which are to be disposed are needed by this school. In time, some of them will have to be purchased and the expenses will come out of the taxpayers' pockets. Of course, San Jose State would never be able to have some of the articles if they were not donated.

It would be beneficial to members of the student body and residents of the community to show a little enthusiasm for this move. It will be a long time before San Jose State will get another such opportunity.

If this institution should receive a share of the articles, Adolph W. Otterstein, Music department head, should get sincere thanks from the entire student body. His alertness and desire to better the condition of this college should receive credit. And if we don't receive the gifts, we still owe him a debt of gratitude for the interest he has shown in our welfare.

—Tallent.

Nothing Sacred

REGARDLESS of the opinion of the student body in general, the question of electing a campus queen is not something to be swept lightly under the rug. For a democratic country, the United States boasts a staggering proportion of queens and in the light of these totals our own problem takes on a different shade of importance.

I doubt if any section of the country has fostered more queen titles than the southern tobacco belt. Every third queen picture that the news bureaus file away is that of a curvy lassie in a sarong of mild, oak-tempered, $30-dollars-a-flat burley. That puts the weed on a political basis and forbids our mentioning it further.

Now that the wineries, particularly those of California, have taken over Europe's billion-dollar industry, there naturally follow the tell-tale streaks of publicity evidenced in the grape queens. Dressed in dimples and an enormous bunch of slip-skin American root vine-ripened grapes (whole-sale by the truck) these beautiful maidens entice temperance leagues to blind fury.

Seriously, State's worries are justified. Original contests are hard to think of and never very appealing to the majority of the students. If they don't offend the organizations, then they aren't very pleasing to the participants. There isn't much that appeals to the students about the election of a king, and a queen must watch her popularity step in selecting a consort. The suggestion that each organization propose a queen is fine—except that, just as in an organization where everyone wants to be president, there will be just as many votes as each organization can commandeer—and no more!

The possibility that one group will give up its queen in favor of the brother clan is not very logical. The selection of a ruler for any celebration must be regulated and must include every member of the student body—and, above all, it must be spontaneous. That is where we have fallen down badly. Our elections are too much out of the hands of the students.

All Thrust and Parry contributions must be signed by the writer. Only initials will be printed if desired, but the article will be accessible to anyone wishing to see it.

European War A World Revolution

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Answering Vic Gorin's letter in Thursday's Thrust and Parry (which I assume is an answer to me), I will state:

1. That Britain or the United States has no intention of forcing democracy upon the rest of the world, but

2. The Fascist Triplice has every intention of forcing its will upon rest of the world.

3 To see this world struggle as simply a struggle for markets and raw materials is to miss the whole point. Granted the stupidity of Britain, the United States, and every other country in making it impossible for Germany and Japan to live, nevertheless, the aim of the Triple Alliance is nothing less than the total annihilation, not only of the British Empire, but the whole of Western Civilization. And that includes the United States. Those who do not see, or refuse to see, that the aim of Fascism is a complete world revolution have missed the meaning of Fascism entirely.

SPARTANS RING UP FOURTH WIN, POINT FOR DONS

Diego 40, hoisted a high boot which Cozens took on his own 3-yard line. Wenberg dropped him with a driving tackle on the 5.
San Diego reversed the order and put San Jose in their town territory a moment later after intercepting a fumbled pass, Costello to Allen, on their own 39.
Cozens quick-kicked over Costello's head into the end zone and San Jose started to move from its 20. Nygren broke loose for the first time with a 24-yard run down the sidelines to ring up the initial Spartan first down.

The attack bogged down, however, and it wasn't until Cozens got off a bad 13-yard kick almost straight up into the air, that San Jose received the first real break of the game, taking the ball on the Aztec 33.
Costello hit for 5, Nygren for 3, and Tornell made it a first down for San Jose on the 22. Tornell made 7 on a driving spinner over the center of the line, with Costello going to the 10 for another first down.

SPARTAN SCORE

After Tornell made only 1 on another spinner, Nygren went over on a wide double reverse standing up behind some beautiful Spartan blocking.

Kita, chunky Oriental star for San Diego, sparked an Aztec drive on the ensuing kick-off which bogged down on the San Jose 30. Kita featured the drive with a 25-yard quarterback sneak through San Jose's left side. Kita was almost off for the whole distance.

San Jose came surging back in the closing moments of the first half on a drive which carried to the Aztec 4-yard line, and would have scored if time permitted.

The ever-present Nygren started the lightning-like drive with a 35-yard return of a pass interception to the Aztec 40, packing a San Diego tackler on his back the last 10 yards. John Allen led a quickly formed blocking brigade to make the run possible.

On the next play Fred Lindsey threw a long pass intended for George Terry which fell harmless to the ground, but officials ruled pass interference and San Jose had the ball on the Aztec 21.

With one more play remaining in the half, Nygren went on a wide double reverse again, this time falling 4 yards short of pay territory. John Allen again put on a beautiful block to clear the way.

HUBBELL PLUNGES

Dick Hubbell, in for Tornell at fullback, put San Jose on the scoring path midway in the third period with a fierce 11-yard plunge to first down after Nygren and Howard Costello took up Hubbell's lead and carried to the HUBBELL Aztec 21 where Cook booted his field goal. Nygren featured the drive with runs of 18 and 15 yards.

Behind 10 to 0, San Diego came back on the kick-off, Cozens returning from his 10 to midfield. Costello, the last man between Cozens and the San Jose line, brought to do to get on that team?" (This when the air hostesses were introduced) . . . Personal gripe: Why can't ALL the rooters stick around for the singing of "Hail, Spartans, Hail" . . . there's no more beautiful hymn at any college . . . despite the few draw-backs, Friday night's closing was okay . . . Query of the night: "Where are those new uniforms for the band?" . . . still, you have to give the band a hand for some swell stunts . . . also to Taylor, True and company for the half-time match stunt, even though some one forgot to douse the glimmers the first time.

Although San Jose rolled up some 252 yards to San Diego's 66, the Aztecs weren't completely out of the ball game. Three times they came near to scoring, twice on long runs which almost went the whole way, with Kita and Cozens lugging the pigskin.

All in all it was a rugged, tough ball game, and quite undeserving of a crack made by one of the San Jose co-eds:

"Gee, this is a lousy game. Can't San Jose make more than 10 points?"

Captain Kenny Cook played the ball game of ball games and matched the offensive brilliance of Bud Nygren, with his defensive play. Kenny was in on almost every play, making tackles by himself, helping others drag down Aztec ball carriers, blocking a punt, kicking a field goal, and inspiring his mates on to win.

While dishing out credit, give a little to that San Jose starting forward wall. Allen, Hamill, Cook, Buckingham, Stanger, Hansen, and Wenberg did a thorough job. Wenberg was terrific down under punts. Buckingham, along with Rishwain, was right behind Cook defensively, and Stanger certainly took some of the sting out of Jim Wilson's loss.

Much of Bud Nygren's success as a ball packer appears to lie in his fight and determination to surge forward. Enemy tacklers can hang on to him, but they can't be sure that he'll stop. He's liable to pack them another 10 yards. He did it once Friday night. And can he spot his opportunities after breaking into the secondary. Bud averaged 6.3 yards in 11 carries.

One of the bright spots of Friday's game was Duck Hubbell. "Huba-Huba" really showed the fans some fierce driving while he was in there, in addition to getting off a couple of beautiful punts.

At the game: Little Janie May Reed really stops 'em with her baton-twirling and all-around cuteness . . . State students should be as proud of her as they are of anything else around Washington Square . . . Some guy up in the rooting section: "Whadda ya have

FROSH POLOISTS MEET JEWISH CENTER TONIGHT IN LEAGUE ENCOUNTER

San Jose's Freshman water polo team travels to San Francisco tonight to play the San Francisco Jewish Community Center in the Center pool at 7:30 for its second league game.

Although the local poloists were defeated last Thursday by a strong Olympic club B team, a win tonight will still keep them in the thick of the Bay City Water Polo league race.

Although weak on goal shooting, Coach Charlie Walker's men are improving. With Parker Snow, Marty Taylor and Don Thompson continuing to show speed at the forward positions, and Al Corcoran, speedy center back, displaying excellent ball handling, the Walkermen should give the Jewish center poloists a battle.

Reserve strength of the frosh has shown well in the last games, according to Coach Walker, with Victor Hugo and Joe Hunter proving capable forward men.

Herb Hussey, frosh goalie, is improving with each game and San Jose opponents are finding it difficult to score past him.

Showing a decided improvement over their previous play of two weeks ago, Coach Walker's Varsity water polo team is busily brushing up on their offensive and defensive drills in an effort to be at their peak when they take on the "So-So" Stanford septet Wednesday afternoon at Encina Pool on the Farm.

Against the Olympic club the Walkermen flashed a smooth working offensive featuring Bill Iliff and Gene Shirokoff. With the work of the backs improving steadily, Spartan followers may look for a much closer game than the one between the two teams last week when the locals played the Indians for third-place medals in the Jr. P. A. A. tournament, losing an 8-4 decision.

Captain Dean Foster Leon, "Chirp" Sparrow and Claude Horan worked together better and set up many of the scoring plays for Iliff and Shirokoff in the winged "O" tilt.

Last Friday night Shirokoff made three goals for the third straight game, making him the team's strongest offensive threat to date.

The third forward position has developed into a battle between Jack Windsor and Charley Whitaker, with the latter showing flashes of aggressiveness at times not altogether displeasing to Coach Walker.

Non-Art Majors

The Art workshop, a new idea in the art department, has been designed particularly for non-art majors who would like to do a little extra-curricula work in the arts for their own personal pleasure and education.

These are non-credit activities and are supervised by art majors in informal instruction. All materials used up in the progress of the work must be furnished by the student. The art department will furnish the room and most of the tools.

While regular hours have been set aside for the work, anyone finding them in conflict with his regular school work may arrange to work at other times by contacting Louis La Barbera, art department assistant in the Seminar room of the art wing.

The following are the regular class periods: Crafts, including leather work, block prints, textile designs, and batiks, will meet from 11 a. m. to 12 noon and 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Sculpture, painting in oil and water color, graphic arts in lithographing and etching, flower arrangement will meet from 3 p. to 5 p. m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The lecture was illustrated with photographs of the farm and children.

The club decided to give Miss Lisher all possible cooperation in making the experiment a success.

Plans for a field trip to San Francisco on Friday were also discussed at the meeting. The group will visit tenement houses and remain there for dinner.

Tau Delta Phi, men's honorary scholastic fraternity, will hold a smoker for prospective pledges Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Hotel De Anza, according to Darrel Pilgrim, committee head.

Pilgrim urges all members of the fraternity to make it a point to attend the smoker, an important activity in the selection of new members which will be concluded this quarter with informal and formal initiations.

Plans for the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of Tau Delta Phi were discussed at the group's dinner meeting Thursday night in the Tower.

Present planning calls for a dinner dance for all active and alumni Tau Delta members, which will take place in the Winter quarter. Frank Martella heads the committee.

One of the big events of the Spring quarter will be the twenty-fifth reunion of the fraternity, expected to attract alumni members from throughout the country.

Organizations
Asked To Attend
Meeting In Center

Frances McFadden, hostess of the newly organized Student Center, asks that all campus organizations send representatives to a meeting at the Center Thursday noon.

Although a number of delegates were present at the meeting last Thursday, not enough were there to decide definitely the policies of the group. It is most important that everyone who can possibly do so, be there.

Thursday it was decided that nine members will be selected from among the representatives to form a council which will govern the activities and business of the Center.

The council will be made up of one student of the Inter-fraternity council, one from Inter-society, one man and one woman as representative of the honor society, two from the department of natural and social sciences and three members to be chosen at random from the remaining students.

Pat Ironside
Awarded Fellowship

Patricia Ironside, 1940 graduate active in dramatics, has been awarded a teaching fellowship at University of Minnesota, according to Hugh Gillis, Speech department head.

While at San Jose State college Miss Ironside appeared in such productions as "Trouble in My Prayer," "Once in a Lifetime," "Heartbreak House," and "Elizabeth the Queen," in which she played the title role.

"Miss Ironside's Queen Elizabeth was the best characterization that I have ever seen in an amateur production," Mr. Gillis says. "In fact, her acting ability was constantly stronger than any novice actor with whom I have worked in recent years."

Miss Ironside was president of the San Jose Players, campus dramatic group, a member of Theatre, dramatics honor society, and a Radio Speaking Society member.

Miss Ironside graduated from San Jose high in 1936, where she was outstanding in dramatic activities, and was a member of the Mask and Scroll dramatics honor society of the high school.
