BAND UNIFORMS HERE

SPECIAL OUTFITS FOR DIRECTOR, DRUM MAJORS

One hundred new gold and white band uniforms, three drum major outfits, one director's uniform, and one majorette outfit arrived at the college Friday afternoon.

COMPLETELY DRESSED
"We are very happy to have the uniforms," commented Music department Head Adolph Otterstein. "At least the band will be completely dressed in the college colors for the first time in San Jose State history."

Fancy addition to the band will be feathers in the drum majors' caps, and "Director" written across the chapeau of Band Director Thomas Eagan. The drum majors' uniforms are elaborately trimmed with gold braid.

Janie May Reed, high-stepping baton twirling majorette, has a special white satin outfit and a shako cap.

ORGANIZED IN 1930
The marching band was first organized in 1930. At that time it was composed of about 15 members who were willing to play for Stanford or Santa Clara universities if the occasion allowed them to travel for an out-of-town game. Around 1931, the blue and white uniforms, which are being replaced, were voted as the standard uniform. At the present time, the band has an organization of 140 members.

Plans for the Freshman-Sophomore mixer will be discussed at the meeting of the Freshman Steering committee to be held in room 24 at 7:30 tomorrow evening. A report on the Rules and Orders committee will be given by Larence Vlau and Betty Irwin.

Regular meetings of the Steering committee will be held on Tuesdays at 7 o'clock. Dorothy Anne Shaw, secretary, wishes to call the attention of the freshman class to the fact that these meetings are not for members of the committee alone but for all freshmen. Class members are asked to watch the bulletin boards and to attend meetings.

Dividing honors for the best column of the week, Harry Graham's "Nothing Sacred" and Pony Swenson's "Putting 2 and 2 Together", both printed on October 24, were granted awards by Nu Iota Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, at their Friday meeting.

The first two women to win awards in the 1940 series of competitions were Mary Jane Kirby for her story on the release of the examination schedule, and Irene Melton, for the feature on Dean Pitman's initiation into the student council.

Honors for the best front page makeup went to Frank Bonanno for the issue of Friday, October 25, for the best sport page layout to Ben Frizzi for the October 18 issue, and for the best editorial of the week to Vance Perry, associate editor, for his contribution on the bonfire rally.

Frances Robinson, violinist and Maurine Thompson, contralto, will give a joint recital Wednesday evening, November 6, at 8:15 in the Little Theater of the college. The recital is open to the public.

Miss Thompson will be accompanied by Jean Long, who is organist at the Congregational church and has had many years as an accompanist here and elsewhere.

Miss Robinson will be accompanied by a newcomer in faculty circles, Mr. Joseph Running, who was assistant director of the famous St. Olaf Choir, won a piano scholarship under Olga Samaroff at Philadelphia Conservatory 1939-40. He also accompanied auditioning singers for NBC in New York in 1939-40.

Dean Pitman Wins Approval Of Tau Delt

You can't say the Dean isn't willing to pitch in and do his share.

Not after his conduct at the regular noon luncheon meeting Friday of Tau Delta Phi of which Dean Pitman is an honorary faculty member.

After a hearty meal of spaghetti Grand Magistrate Al Lindner asked for volunteers to wash the dishes.

"How about me?" piped up the Dean.

It was so ordered.

ART STUDENTS EXHIBIT WORKS IN NEW YORK

Herbert H. Sanders, art instructor, and four art students of this college, have various works exhibited in the Ninth Annual National Ceramics exhibition, at the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts at Syracuse, New York.

"It is an honor to have anything displayed in this exhibition, as judges select only a portion of work submitted," Louis La Barbara, art assistant, states.

Sanders has two cylindrical vases, and three bowls in the show. The four students and their objects of art are as follows: Gail Hayes Cousins is showing a yellow-brown glazed bowl; Ruth Griffiths, a Cambodian dancer; Averill E. Hay, a figurine called Blue Beard; and Claude Horan, a flower bowl of persimmon glaze.

NYGREN'S 80-YARD RUN SPARKS SAN JOSE WIN OVER GAUCHOS

By CON LACY

SANTA BARBARA, October 25—Sparked by stocky right half-back Bud Nygren, San Jose State's Flying Spartans completely overwhelmed the Santa Barbara State college Gauchos 33 to 6 on La Playa field here tonight.

Nygren averaged 16 yards a crack at the Gaucho forward wall

TRYOUTS FOR YULE PLAY HELD TODAY AT 4 P.M.

Tryouts for Coffee and Cowan's "Family Portrait" twenty-seventh annual Christmas production of the college, will be held today in the Morris Dailey auditorium from 4 to 6 o'clock, Hugh Gillis, Speech department head, announces.

Date for this year's free show has been changed from December 5 and 6 to Thursday and Friday, November 28 and 29, two weeks earlier, because of the introduction of the new two-hour final system, Mr. Gillis points out.

Books of the play, based on a study of the family of Christ, are on reserve in the library. No experience is necessary in order to try out for the drama, according to the Speech department head, and new students will be welcome.

Several small parts are available for those who do not wish to undertake large drama roles because of lack of time for rehearsals.

A contemporary play, "Family Portrait", written in modern language, is a presentation of the family of Christ with the Saviour never appearing on the stage, but the leading character in the cast nevertheless.

The production, to be given in the Morris Dailey auditorium, will be free to the public, with reserved sections held for holders of season books.

Alumni Schedule Party Wednesday In Student Union

San Jose State college alumni will hold their first social "get-together" of the year Tuesday night at 8 in the Student Union.

Sponsored by the Santa Clara County chapter, the affair is open to all alumni.

Program for the evening, under the chairmanship of Ronald Linn, will include two short humorous selections from Speech department of the college; introduction of Wayne Lenz, alumni association head; showing of football pictures and games.

Ed Haworth of the Appointment office will extend a welcome to the alumni group.

Committee members arranging the party are Ray Farris and Martha Grubb, refreshments; Ed Wetterstrom, general arrangements; Mrs. Eugene Jung, program; Evelyn Rudine, decorations; Helen Boynton, games.

in six tries, accounting for 108 of the Spartan's 278 yards gained by rushing, personally scoring two touchdowns and lacking only one yard of scoring another.

LONG RUN
Biggest thrill of the evening was an 80-yard scoring sprint by Nygren late in the second period. Taking the ball on his own 20, Bud sidestepped down the field through the entire Gaucho squad, shaking off three would-be tacklers on the way.

First Spartan score came on a 20-yard dash by Nygren after six minutes in the first quarter. Capitalizing on a Santa Barbara fumble, Guard Jim Wilson recovered for San Jose on the Gaucho 21. Tornell was held for one yard and the next play Nygren romped around his own left end to score standing-up. Nygren was seemingly stopped for a 10-yard loss, but shook off two Santa Barbara.

DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

Just Among Ourselves

I DOUBT if we are thinking clearly when we suggest that an outsider, a professional noise mixer, write a college song for us. College days are days for our own adventuring, days that should give someone on our own campus a chance to sprout wings. And if a college song is to reflect college personality, certainly no outsider, no commercial tom-tom pounder can produce it.

I have been conscious for a long time that we did not have enough college songs. We should have a college song book, but so far we haven't very much to put into one. I was embarrassed recently when an orchestra in San Francisco called me up to see if we could supply them with a copy of our college hymn. All we had was a mimeographed sheet.

We write good poetry, good stories, good essays, good plays. Perhaps we have not paid enough attention to our songs and our marches. We have one of the largest music departments on the Coast. I am sure we have the ability, all we need is the interest, the drive for more and better songs, more and better marches for San Jose State. (Our alumni often ask, too, if we have any new college songs.)

And that brings up an allied matter. I don't think we should hire outside entertainers of any kind for our college affairs. Time was when we thought we had to have movie people, radio performers, actors and what not, come to our campus to put on our shows. We stopped that but every little while the idea filters back again.

We must do our own entertaining. We must give our own students their opportunity. If we want to hear or see professional entertainers, let us go where the professionals are, and pay for hearing them, but let us not bring them to our campus. Our own students need the experience.

Also I think we should never hire outside bands for our college dances. I don't think we should have non-student players in any of our orchestras. We have plenty of good musicians right on our campus, and certainly they can well use the money.

Perhaps we have several student orchestras here. How would it be to have an audition each quarter to determine the official college orchestra? That would bring out some good stuff, I should think. That would eliminate a difficulty we have now in deciding what orchestra to use. It might bring out some real music. (It might even give the girls a chance.)

Through the Perry-ScopeFrosh Disgruntled Over Bonfire Set-Up

FROM the grapevine telegraph comes word that the frosh are a little disgruntled because they have been left out of the plans for the biggest football rally Spartantowne has seen in the last decade.

This dissatisfaction is a spirit which should be looked at tolerantly by the rest of the student body and everything should be done to foster the interest which the freshmen are evidently showing in college affairs.

GOOD REASONS

However, there are some good reasons for the decision of the administration in denying the first year students the doubtful privilege of helping in the preparations for the fire.

At first, you remember, Rally committee plans called for the freshmen to build the fire pile, but it was one of stipulations of the administrations when it gave permission for the event that members of the first class be restricted in their participation.

FROSH UNFAMILIAR WITH COLLEGE

The administration feels that students who are new at San Jose State have not yet entirely acclimated themselves to their new environment. Methods of study are different from high school, and during the first quarter outside activities should not be indulged in too fully.

It is also felt that freshmen are not yet familiar enough with col-

First Production Success; Newcomer Gives Brilliant Performance

By MARY JANE KIRBY

Introducing a number of promising new stars, San Jose Players' Shakespearean opener, "Much Ado About Nothing", Thursday, Friday and Saturday night in the Little Theater, served to assure local theater-goers of a brilliant season.

Our nomination for "find of the year" goes to Major West whose almost uncanny timing and brilliant comedy sense contributed much to the movement of the appropriately named play.

BIT OF NONSENSE

Success of this frothy bit of nonsense, concerning the love-life of two individuals whose particular antipathies are each other, depends largely upon their characterization.

Replete with villainy, a second love story, and some low comedy skulduggery, the various plots and situations are familiar to any movie-goer who stays for the second feature, but the zest with which Major West and Ellen Wylie, also new, hated and loved, fought and made up, and tossed off repartee, thoroughly redeemed construction weaknesses.

Miss Wylie, in struggling to keep the show moving outdid herself and passed everyone else up with her rapid line delivery, but she completely captured the spirit of Beatrice, witty young man hater.

SURPRISE

Surprise last minute cast change was Director James Clancy as Leonardo, kindly old man and father of Hero. His presence on the stage had a steadying effect on his actors and he turned in his usual fine performance.

Clarence Cassell, well-known at San Jose State for his many major roles, did well as Claudio, a part that offered little chance for originality or individual interpretation, as did Ravano, in the part of Don Pedro, and Howard Melton as Leonardo's brother.

WEAK PART

Only really weak part in the whole show was the second act low comedy scene, which dragged. It was partly redeemed, however, by the performance of Frank Thompson, self-important constable, and caricature of the "hand of the law". He was also excellent in the last scene, when the play's happy ending is indirectly brought about because of his enraged vanity.

John Soares, another newcomer, was convincing as the black garbed villain of the piece.

Barbara Lee Bellah, as Hero, Claudio's beloved, was not very convincing, but her role suffered from anemia, as did so many others.

DESIGNING GOOD

Despite the production difficulties of the Little Theater, J. Wendell Johnson, genius of stage designing, turned in another masterpiece in sets. They were built under the direction of Johnson's assistant, Peter Mingrone.

Also to be complimented is the all-woman stage crew, the first in the history of the Drama department, who, from our side of the stage, appeared to do an excellent job.

legitimate activities to handle the mammoth bonfire task. It is a big job to organize and carry through the collection of the truckloads of material needed for the fire.

So, while the freshmen may feel that they are being left out, they should see that purely from a matter of efficient organization it is the best way. It is up to the leaders of the freshman class to make the members of their group feel that their support is needed at the rally and that they will come into their share of the work next year.

Two Men On A Horse-16th Century Version

"... and two men ride of a horse, one must ride behind!" thus pompous Constable Dogberry (Frank Thompson) informs poor Verges (Leonard Green) just who is master, in this scene from "Much Ado About Nothing," presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights by the San Jose Players. The First Watch (John Shepherd) gawks intelligently at the "verbatle" between his master and the headborough.

FROSH FAIL TO BREAK JINX; SAN MATEO TAKES CLOSE GRID GAME, 13-6

JAYCEE TEAM PUSHES OVER SCORE IN LAST MINUTE OF PLAY

San Jose State's freshman football team could not break the jinx that has hung over the Spartan yearlings for the past six years, and dropped a thrilling ball game to the highly favored San Mateo junior college eleven 13-6 Saturday at San Mateo.

Playing without the services of their first string fullback, George Morasci, the Spartan frosh kept the strong jaycee eleven busy for 59 and one-half minutes, before allowing fullback Benham to toss a 40-yard touchdown pass to quarterback Corbin.

The first half saw the Spartans backed to their goal line three times by the running of Taggart, who proved a thorn in the San Jose defense. Hardesty kept the Spartans out of serious trouble with his long distance kicking all the first half.

Late in the second quarter the Spartans started a drive of their own, with Bob (Flash) Gordon carrying the ball. Starting on their own 27-yard line when Ray Baughman intercepted a San Mateo pass, Gordon went for 20 on an off tackle play. Hardesty passed to Tiny Duarte for three more, and Gordon broke loose for 15 on the same off tackle play.

The belated rally fell short when Head intercepted Hardesty's pass over the goal line. The half ended with San Mateo having possession of the ball on the San Jose seven.

Not to be denied a chance to show their wares, San Mateo with Taggart running the ends, drove the ball within the San Jose 20-yard line on seven plays, before being stopped by a fast-charging frosh line. Bill Johnson and Hans Weidenhofer played themselves out, stopping play after play over the center of the line.

With four minutes left in the third quarter, San Mateo blocked Hardesty's punt. In four plays Taggart went over standing up, on a statue of liberty play that fooled the entire Spartan team. Don Thompson blocked the conversion.

FROSH SCORE

In the fourth quarter, trailing 6 to 0 the Spartan offense came to life. Hardesty passed to Vic Robinson for 10. George Klinger hit off tackle for 22 yards down to the San Mateo 34. Hardesty lost two over center, and Klinger went off tackle for 4. With third down and 13 to go, Hardesty passed 23 yards to Robinson who caught the ball on the 2-yard line and went over carrying two men on his back. Harold Sontag failed to make the conversion, and the score stood at 6-6.

Satisfied that they had won a morale victory the Spartan frosh decided to play for time. San Mateo recovered a Spartan fumble with one minute remaining in the game, and on five plays went over. Head tossed a short pass to Corbin, who ran 35 yards with three interferers in front of him. Taggart converted to end the scoring for the day.

PASS LEADS TO GAUCHO SCORE

GAUCHOS THREATEN

Late in the first quarter the Flying Spartans started another drive down the field, only to lose the ball on the Gauchos 16. Displaying plenty of fire, Santa Barbara's "pony" backfield, averaging less than 160 pounds per man, came back with a blazing aerial attack in the second quarter to seriously threaten.

With "Mad Mose" Neely throwing and More and Connelly receiving, the Gauchos passed their way down to San Jose's 31, where they lost the ball when they resorted to four cracks at the Spartan line.

HUBBELL SCORES

Five plays later, the Golden Bombers scored again, after respective runs of 35, and 18 yards by little Aubrey Minter, and Nygren. "Huba-Huba" Dick Hubbell, Hawaiian fullback, who sparked the win over USF last week, powered his way over from the two-yard line for the Spartan score. Cook missed the conversation.

With the Gauchos in the hole after the kick-off, Reid of Santa Barbara let fly a booming punt that traveled 78 yards in the air, and good for a net gain of 68 yards. The kick went completely over the Spartan safety man's head, and San Jose took over on their own twelve.

Hubbell and Nygren cracked the line up to the 20, and on the third play Nygren broke loose for his 80-yard scoring gallop. Cook kicked the extra point, to make the score 20 to 0 at the half.

THIRD PERIOD SCORELESS

Both teams were held scoreless in the third quarter, but the Gauchos scored once in the fourth, while the Spartans bombers were tallying an additional 13 points.

The third period saw a mixed team of San Jose reserves pound from the Spartan 45 to the Gauchos 3, where the big green and white line held in a desperate goal-line stand.

Late in the same period, Santa Barbara started its touchdown march, capitalizing on two San Jose fumbles, and an official's ruling of pass interference, to score.

John Woffington, substitute, who played a bang-up game for the Spartans in the second half, fumbled on the San Jose 23-yard line. A pass from halfback Saenz of the Gauchos was intercepted by tackle Ray Belnapp who ran it back to the Spartan 41, only to fumble.

GAUCHOS SCORE

Gauchos Saenz rifled two successive passes to End Larry Pickens down to the San Jose 11-yard line. Saenz passed again, and the officials ruled a complete forward pass on the San Jose three, when an over-anxious Spartan tackled Pickens before he caught the ball.

Halfback Neely carried the ball over after two cracks at the line.

Kotta, Fahn, Tindall Make Goals For San Jose Eleven

CAPTAIN FRED ALBRIGHT STARS FOR MACMEN

By OTTO TALLENT

On toward the Northern California Intercollegiate conference championship roll the San Jose State college soccer team as it dumped University of San Francisco, 4 to 0, on the soccer field near Spartan stadium Saturday morning.

San Jose's smooth passing was too much for the Dons. Coach

Hovey McDonald's men never let up and were fighting for the ball at all times. It was the third win in as many starts for the Spartans.

Midway in the first quarter Ernest Figone, right half, centered the ball and Gus Kotta boomed it through the uprights with his head from several yards in a sensational play.

NICE PASSING

Displaying a brilliant passing attack, the Macmen scored on a play that started at midfield with Capt. Freddie Albright, Kotta and Art Tindall passing it toward pay dirt. Ray Fahn, inside left, booted it under the cross bar. This type of teamwork on the part of the Spartans was prevalent throughout the contest.

Art Tindall, center forward, scored twice in quick succession in the third period. Harvey White who replaced Kotta at inside right, set up the first tally. Mert Crockett, left wing, boomed it from near the sidelines and Tindall hit it through with his head for the final count.

Capt. Albright, center half, and Kotta were the standouts on the Spartan squad. Both played all over the field. Kotta really placed the ball, and Albright was taking the ball away from opponents all during the game. Albright is a strong candidate for an all-conference berth.

SMOOTH WORKERS

Ed Turner, left half, and Fahn played the game for all they were worth. Strong on defense as well on offense, both were continually fighting for the ball. Both are smooth-working players.

It was just too bad for anyone who got in the way of Phil Nell, left full. He was always driving in when the ball came his way if anyone had the misfortune to be in his path it was hard luck.

Coach McDonald will not have to worry about fullbacks for a couple of years as he has two of the best in the conference in Nell and Roy Diedericksen, who was all-conference last year. Both are sophomores. Diedericksen is a steady worker and never has an off-day. He knows his job and really takes care of it.

Tindall, who tallied two of the goals, has plenty of speed and he used it to good advantage against the Dons. He also showed plenty of spunk by giving the goalie a bad time by rushing in down in the danger zone.

SPEEDSTERS

John Peebles, right wing, and Figone are also speedsters and kept the opponents on their toes. Crockett is a rugged player and can take the ball for a nice ride when he gets near it. He put up a good fight trying to take the ball away from the Dons.

Tony Nasimento played a staunch game at goalie and never let the ball slip past him. He was also good at getting the ball out of dangerous territory. He can throw the ball almost as far as the average goalie can kick it.

Frank Arnerich, who hasn't seen any action since he was injured in the initial game against San Francisco State, replaced Nell at left full in the final quarter. Frank Martella and Bill Gurnea saw action for a short time for the Spartans.

KUHL'S NATZI MATMEN PROMISE TO CLEAN UP IN NOVICE TOURNAMENT

Karl Kuhl, coach of the "Nazi" team entered in the annual all-college novice wrestling tournament, is irate at reports printed rating his squad as underdogs for Friday's event.

Kuhl takes exception to the story listing Davy Hines and Con Lacy's "Boxers" as favorites.

"Why those 'Boxers' are a bunch of bums," sneered Kuhl. "One of my 'Nazis' can lick a whole team of punchy fighters."

STRONG LINE-UP

As evidence Kuhl boasts a starting line-up, with at least one Nazi in every division. Complete roster follows: 115 pounds, Dave Cohen; 125 pounds, Ed Rothwell; 135, Deane Barnett; 145, Dave Kawamoto; 155, J. T. Johanson; 165, Otto Kuhl; 175, J. Klicher; and heavyweight, Marke Guerra and Jesse Smith.

Spectators will have no difficulty distinguishing Kuhl's "Nazis" the night of the matches. Flashy white jerseys have been contributed by the "German-American bund", with black swastikas on the front.

DRILL HARD

Kuhl has been drilling his squad behind locked doors to keep his secret hold, the German Jawbreaker, from being discovered by rival coaches.

Alarmed by the strength of Kuhl's squad, co-coaches Hines and Lacy have withdrawn their "Boxers" to DeWitt Portal's Mount Hamilton ranch for extensive conditioning exercises.

"Those 'Nazis' won't have a chance," boasted Hines, "after a week of woodchopping and mountain climbing."

FOUR SHIFTS GUARD BONFIRE TWO NIGHTS PRIOR TO C.O.P. RALLY

Bonfire rally guards will be put on four-hour shifts two nights previous to the lighting of the fire November 7, rally officials announce.

Members of the three upper classes and Spartan Knights, men's honorary service fraternity, will aid in the construction and guarding of the project which will be prior to the College of Pacific football game in Spartan stadium.

"It is important that we have guards for the fire because rooters from the competing college will probably attempt to light the structure Tuesday or Wednesday in the early hours of the morning," Rally Chairman Don True explained.

Volunteers are asked to sign their names and college year on the special bulletins outside the Publications office, in the Quad, or the supply store in the Co-op. Students signing up will be contacted later by the Rally committee and informed when they will serve guard duty. Transportation will be provided for volunteers who have no means of getting to the stadium.

Social Dancing Classes Hold Mid-term Tomorrow

Social dancing classes will hold their quarterly mid-term dance tomorrow night in the Men's gymnasium.

For the first time since the classes were introduced in the college an orchestra will play. Byron Snow and his 11 piece orchestra have donated their services for the affair.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson, PE instructor, is adviser of the group.

FROSH LOSE TO SAN MATEO, 13-6

The gun ended the game with Hardesty passing the ball to Jack McKume on the San Mateo 45.

SPARTANS LOOK GOOD

The entire Spartan team played good ball. Hardesty's kicking and passing kept the opponents on their toes all morning. Robinson and Thompson at ends and Del Colclough at tackle looked good. For the jaycee team Lyle Taggart kept the frosh busy chasing him all over the lot.

U. S. HOLDS MOST OF GOLD SUPPLY

The United States now holds over 75 per cent of the world's gold supply. This is an increase of 15 per cent since the first of the year.

"Now that our war industries are beginning to produce in quantity for the British Army, the United States will begin to get a good share of the five billion British war hoard," says Owen M. Broyles of the Social Science department.

"One thing is certain," Broyles emphasized, "this gold is a lot more available underground at Fort Knox, Kentucky, than it is underground in its original state. We have it where we want it."

"We might get rid of this gold in the same way in which we have taken it in. Our supply of gold could be traded back to other countries in exchange for commodities or loaned to the nations of Europe and South America for rehabilitation work after the war in an effort to reestablish an international gold standard."

"At the present time the more pressing problems of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness are causing us more concern than the acquisition of the world's gold supply."

PITIFUL

It is pitiful to watch a frog open the fateful envelope and take out his first blue notes. His face gets tense as he counts them— one—two—three—gee, I thought I was doing all right in there.

After he recovers from an acute case of cold feet, he runs up to the Registrar's office.

This is where Dr. Jay Elder, the freshmen adviser, comes in. Enthusiastically Dr. Elder behooves each and every freshman to talk to him before doing anything drastic. True, blue cards are no laughing matter, but in nine out of ten cases there is a remediable cause which he is only too anxious to help discover.

The line to his adviser's office, next to the Registrar's office, may be long, but Dr. Elder assures us that it will be worth the wait. A little preparation is needed for this visit, namely a conference with oneself. Every freshman should ask himself the following questions:

1. Why did I receive this (those) blue cards?
2. Is my program too heavy?
3. Am I trying to do too much by working all or part of my way through school?
4. Am I indulging in too many extra-curricular activities?
5. Too much social life (including being in love)?
6. Or is it that I just don't understand this course?

STILL TIME

Among these questions, one is sure to hit upon some reason for his recent downfall. By talking to Dr. Elder and taking his advice, many disheartened first year students will resolve to make up their deficiencies and mend their ways in the time that is left of the quarter, and for most freshmen there is still time, asserts Dr. Elder.

"If the freshmen will cooperate with me and make an effort to talk their problems over with me I will be more than glad to help them. We don't want to see them flunk out unless they are absolutely hopeless and I don't think many of them will admit to that," states Dr. Elder.

FIX BLUES

So come one, come all, you freshmen to Dr. Elder's office and let him help you fix up your 'blues'.
