

Navy Announces New Opportunity To Enlist In V-7

SJS Graduates Urged To Enroll

A new opportunity for seniors and graduate students to enroll in the Navy's V-7 program is announced from the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in San Francisco.

Seniors who will be able to complete their graduate requirements in the near future are encouraged to enlist for "Midshipman" training if they will be available on or before January 1, 1943.

Information sent to Dean James C. DeVoss explains that "Married or unmarried graduate students who have completed the mathematics requirement or will do so prior to January 1, 1943, and high seniors who have completed the mathematics requirement or will do so and graduate prior to January 1, 1943, are desired. This provides an excellent opportunity for young men who meet the qualifications and are desirous of serving their country as an officer in the Naval Reserve to complete the academic work they are currently taking and then be called immediately to active duty."

The Office of Naval Officer Procurement also announced that there is no truth to rumors that the V-1 and V-7 programs are to be discontinued, and that junior colleges are to be dropped from the accredited list. There is no foundation for either of these rumors, reports Captain C. L. Arnold of the San Francisco office.

SPARTAN DAILY HAS NEW MAST

This morning's edition of the Spartan Daily is the first to carry a new mast head, replacing one which has been in use since the fall of 1938.

Milton Lanyon, art instructor, designed and lettered the new mast for the Spartan Daily.

In addition to a difference in the actual lettering, the new mast uses the school tower for a bit of background in place of the formerly-used Spartan's helmet.

Parents To Hear Lt. Dixon Today In Auditorium

Lt. J. C. Dixon of the Army Air Corps will speak at 2 p.m. this afternoon in the Morris Dailey auditorium to the parents of all men interested in enlisting in the Air Corps Technicians.

Dixon and his staff of examiners are staying over today to give mental and vocational tests to applicants for this branch of the Air Corps.

"So many fellows have brought their parents over to see us in the Student Union building that we have decided to answer all questions and explain the Air Corps Technicians to all the parents of the applicants at once," states Lt. Dixon.

OVER 100 MEN

More than 100 men have enlisted in the Technicians to date and the examining board is expecting more enlistments today. The physical exam is given at 444 Mar. (Continued on page 4)

SEVENTH ANNUAL HAYLOFT HOP GIVEN BY APO SATURDAY NIGHT

An evening of dancing, entertainment, and fun amid the rural surroundings of hay, cider, and a rustic barn lies in store for those planning to attend the seventh annual "Hayloft Hop" to be presented by the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity Saturday night at the Swiss-American barn.

JEANS AND CALICO

Jeans and calico will prevail at the hop, and the decorations of hay, straw, and corn will add to the barn dance theme. Maestro Al Maas and his "Corn Huskers" will provide music for the dance. Maas promises a few "corny" novelty numbers for intermission entertainment, but also pointed out that the rest of the numbers will be the latest hit parade pieces.

10-MINUTE DRIVE

The Swiss-American barn is located on Canoas road and is only a ten-minute drive from the college, according to General Chairman Doug Curry.

The best way to get to the barn is to follow South First street until you come to the Hawaiian Gardens sign. Follow the directions given to reach the "Garden," then continue out Almaden road one mile exactly to Canoas road.

Bids for the dance may be purchased from any APO member or pledge for $1.10. Today and tomorrow the salesmen are to be dressed in jeans and plaid shirts, according to Promotion Chairman Tom Marshall.

NUMBER OF SALES TO DETERMINE SIZE OF '43 LA TORRE

"Many students have asked me how big the La Torre will be. All I can say now is that it will be pretty puny by indications of advance subscription sales," states Jerry Becker, business manager of the yearbook.

"It is up to you, students. The La Torre is your book and the success of the 1943 edition is entirely in your hands," comments Becker.

This week has been designated as "Buy Your La Torre Week". A sales booth has been set up in the quad. In addition, student salesmen are carrying on an intensive on-campus campaign. Advance subscriptions of the annual are selling for the special price of $3.00. Monday the price will go up.

Becker also stresses that all organizations must sign up for picture space in the yearbook by October 31. Space is selling for $7.50 a half page, $15 for a full page, and $25 for a double page spread. "It is not necessary for organizations to put cash on the line for this space immediately, but it is imperative that organizations signify their intentions of reserving space in the yearbook," says Becker.

The business staff announces that only one-fifth of the student body has bought yearbooks. He emphasizes that in order to have a book the size of last year's annual, it will be necessary to sell at least 1000 more advance subscriptions.

FILL OUT CARDS

Rex Gardiner, chairman of the College Transportation committee, said yesterday that it was imperative that every student fill out one of the questionnaires in connection with the "swap-a-ride" plan.

A booth will be set up in the quad today and students may obtain and turn in the questionnaires there any time tomorrow. All students are asked to co-operate in this survey and they may check on their precinct by looking at the maps posted at different points around the campus.

Debate Managers Chosen Tomorrow

Election of varsity and assistant debate managers will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 in room 155.

"All those who have taken part in debate or forensic activities last year and anyone interested in debate should come to outline future plans," states Miss Lucie Lawson, instructor.

Lucille Meek, Bert Holland Named Co-Chairmen Of Soph-Frosh Mixer

Lucille Meek and Bert Holland are the new co-chairmen of the freshman - sophomore mixer, Al Gross, sophomore class president, announced in the first soph council meeting yesterday.

The newly appointed co-chairmen announced that there will be a meeting for all interested in serving on the general activities committee in the north end of the Student Union today at 12:30.

One mixer is held each quarter with points awarded for the frosh-soph brawl, games, and attendance at the dance held that evening. Gross announced that the "jeans fight", banned after last year's fracas, will again be a feature of the mixer. "However, this year," Gross added, "the brawl will be supervised, and will have a definite time limit."

Gross also announced that plans are being laid to hold a soph class get-together some time before the mixer. The next meeting of the council will be held Wednesday, October 28. All interested in becoming council members are urged to attend.

Dr. E. Campbell Will Speak To War Aims Class

Political organization for war will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Earl Campbell before the War Aims class in room 24 at 11 o'clock today.

Discussing the third phase of American organization for the present conflict, Dr. Campbell will deal specifically with the political aspect and problems of such a program.

As was pointed out by Dr. William Poytress Tuesday, the political aspects of this war are among the most important—military and economic factors being merely means to an end.

Barbecue Deluxe Planned For Inter-Fraternity

Probably the classiest inter-fraternity barbecue in the history of this quarterly affair will be staged next Thursday, October 29, at the Swiss-American Hall on Almaden road.

This party is for members of all the on-campus social fraternities, and is one of the ways in which members of the various groups get to know each other better.

Whereas most of the barbecues of the past have been more or less unplanned, this one is different. Games are to be played from 4 p.m. until dinner, and then, following the feast, a miniature variety show will be presented.

All Male Cast Announced For Orson Welles Production Oct. 30

An all male cast of 10 has been announced by Wendell Johnson, KSJS director, for the radio presentation of Orson Welles' famed version of "War of the Worlds" which will be given October 30 in the Little Theater at 8 p.m.

The cast, which was selected from the members of the KSJS radio speaking society, includes Leon Fletcher as the first announcer, Jack Miller as Pierson, John Sayers as the second announcer, Loren Nicholson as the third announcer. Tom Taylor will take the part of Phillips; George Muse, the policeman; Milton Britzke, Wilmoth; Ed Kincaid, Smith; Bert Holland, the captain, and Duane Heath, the secretary.

Nicholson will also take the parts of McDonald and the fourth operator; Muse will speak again as the Observer and Operator 2; Britzke will also be the Gunner and Operator 1; Kincaid will handle the parts of the Officer and Operator 3; Holland will also enact the stranger; and Heath is to take the two other parts of the commander and Operator 5.

Following the radio play, Dr. William Poytress will give a talk on the psychological effect this "man from Mars" episode had on its listeners.

Mr. Johnson is directing the play, which had its first rehearsal yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Sayers To Speak For SJS Sunday

John Sayers, senior speech major, will represent San Jose State college at an Intercollegiate Forum next Sunday at 4 on KFRC.

"Should colleges abandon their academic program for war work?" will be the topic to be discussed by students from San Jose, Stanford, St. Mary's and Mills college.

SENIOR COUNCIL MEETS TODAY IN STUDENT UNION

The senior class officers have chosen 17 students for the Senior Council, according to Doug Curry, class president.

The new council will meet today at 3 p.m. in the Student Union, Curry announces.

Members of the council are: Larry Moore, Joe Talbot, Fred Joyce, Jo Cribari, Ruth Bishop, Keith Hitchcock, John Howe, Don Haas, Roger Frelie, Bill Smith.

Bill Bristol, Charles McCumby, Bill Kidwell, Francis Stoffels, Gene Long, Dave Hines and Marge Behrman.

BAND NEEDS CARS

"The band is desperately in need of transportation," says Band Director Thomas E. Eagan. "Any student who is going to drive to San Francisco Sunday to see the game and wants to take passengers from the band will be paid at the rate of five dollars for five persons," he announced.

Those who believe there is a possibility for them to help the band should notify Mr. Eagan today.

Movie Shown In Library Today

"Meat and Romance," a 40-minute motion picture, will be shown in Library room 210 this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Library staff will present this educational and entertaining story of meat, according to Miss Helen Bullock, Education Reference room librarian.

The picture will show hints of interest to all students in regard to buying, cooking, carving and serving meat. The nutritional value of meat, as well as other foods, will be shown.

"The movie should prove of interest to all men, as well as women," Miss Bullock said.

The picture was produced for the National Live Stock and Meat Board with the collaboration of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, and is professionally produced.

Included in the cast are Evelyn Knapp, Carole Hughes, Allyn Ladd, Stanley Gordon and Frederick Burton.

There is an exhibit of complimentary charts on the same subject in the Education Reference room, Miss Bullock announced.

The picture has been shown to appreciative audiences in San Francisco department stores, Miss Bullock added.

KNICK'S KNACKS

By LOREN NICHOLSON

TALENT FOR DEFENSE:

Word comes from the student council that Betty Henley has been appointed chairman of service men's social affairs for the year. Action is already under way to enlist GOOD talent.

Under her authority comes a series of variety shows to be presented to the service men in various camps in this region. With her appointment, she was handed a list of last year's talent by Rex Gardiner, last year's chairman. This list is open for revisions and additions. Suggest that you contact Betty immediately if you can act, sing, play instrumental solos, direct, emcee, handle technical work, write script, or any other type of stage work. This is no small-time thing. Its results were quite effective last year. I am taking names for tryouts in the Publications office immediately. Don't think your talent is small-time stuff. It's needed to put the required "stuff" in AMERICAN FIGHTING MEN.

E. R. C. MEN'S CONSOLATION

Word comes from quite an authoritative source that pressure may be eased on us if the bill passes for the induction of men in their teens. There is nothing final on this, however, but this is a hope, and well worth crossing fingers for.

This possibility, as all the others, is only a possibility. It has good logic, in that they will no doubt make quite a haul out of the teen class.

ACTION IN THE JUNIOR CLASS

The council is working fast, and it's great to see student government hitting it hard. The new officers of the class, Earl Poytress, president; Dick Fry, vice-president; Jewell Abbott, secretary; and Glenn McMenomy, student council representative, have selected Betty Jane Toland and Arilee Hansen to complete the executive council. Understand that the executive group is now considering juniors to make up the ten-man (or woman) general council.

If your ambitions are inclined politically, or if you are interested in being involved in the activities of the class this quarter, suggest you contact one of those six people I have named.

Will Virginia Lee Jackson and Dorothy Jeanne Clarke please call for their checks in the Dean of Women's office as soon as possible?—Dr. Gregory.

JOB SHOP

A service station attendant is needed to work from 5 to 9 Monday through Saturday night and from 10 to 2 and 4 to 9 on Sunday. One week-night a week may be taken off.

Someone may work in a bakery from 5 to 8 every morning with pay to be arranged.

Delivery service at 50 cents an hour is an afternoon position that may interest students here.

An ambulance attendant to work for room and 75 cents a call is in demand at a local hospital.

General handiwork in an auto supply store will net a man student 50 cents an hour.

Will the person who picked up a brown purse in the girls' dressing room please leave it at the Information office. It would be appreciated if all the articles also were returned, including the money.

—Alice Harker.

LOST: A lady's Waltham wrist watch on the campus. If found, please leave it at the Information office. Reward.—F. Veall.

CAMPUS COMMENT

By DEAN THOMPSON

—Blue cards are just around the corner. It will be interesting to note the number of students that get the blue "certificates" this year.

Most of the students are taking the heaviest possible loads so as to finish school as soon as they can or at least get as far as they can before the war envelops them.

This would lead to the assumption that more students would get blue cards because they are taking heavier programs, and having more school work to do in the same time, etc.

But there is another angle to consider. Each student taking an increased load is out to do his darndest to get a good grade in the courses so as to make a good showing for the various reserve programs. Maybe that will equal the added units.

Then another angle is the switch from so-called cultural subjects to math and science courses; the change from music and art majors to subjects they never dreamed they would have to take. factor has to be considered in comparing the proportion of cards issued this quarter with those of last year.

All in all, I'll wager that proportion of blue cards will be about the same. Perhaps my faith in human nature has got the best of me, but I think that the majority of students are putting forth their best efforts in this emergency.

—Speaking of music majors, an episode that happened during registration this quarter.

Two freshmen walked into Music building displaying derided looks to the girls helping with registration data.

Questioning the two, one asked, 'Are you both music majors?'

One of the first-year men answered, 'Well, yes. We're taking math and physics because the reserve says we have to take ANY music courses we take.'

FOX POP

By KENNY FOX

Everyone, I'm sure, who has ever laid finger on a typewriter, from James Thurber to Henry McLeMure, has written of his difficulties in changing his typewriter ribbon. In fact, any day I expect to read where Dorothy Mac has had trouble with hers.

I suppose that if the menace had been at hand at the time, both Bill Shakespeare and Solomon would have dwelt at length, in their respective works, on "Trouble With a Typewriter" or "Why Ribbons Aren't Changed Until Threadbare." Though neither of them, as far as I know, ever wrote on the technical difficulties of the quill pen or papyrus.

Professionally speaking I can claim no achievement to equal that of Solomon, the Bard, Thurber or McLeMure, but technically speaking I herewith claim that I've had more trouble with my typewriter ribbons than the four of 'em combined had with their typewriters, pens, slates or tulle grass.

It's been awful!

Where Thurber and McLeMure got their fingers inked, their ties spotted and some good story material, I got real trouble. No kiddin', I nearly hanged myself once.

It was with one of those nice silk jobs with two colors—red and black. It wound itself around my neck and shoulders and then got caught in the machine carriage. It kept winding all right as I spun the little handle, but it also kept pulling tighter and tighter around my neck. But I was so desperate I wouldn't have stopped winding the wheel until it was too late except that a passing relative took an axe to both the ribbon and my neck.

I could go into endless detail explaining Technical Typewriter Troubles, but since the professionals have more than adequately covered that particular field it seems rather superfluous.

But one other generalized story should be offered. It was worse than the ribbon-around-the-neck experience in that I actually was a casualty. After nearly two hours of heated battle with the ribbon and my machine, I became hysterical, rose from the desk in a frenzy and started to dash away from my machine. The ribbon curled lazily out, ensnared my foot and threw me flat on my face.

And there, in print, is the true story of why my nose takes such a round-about way in getting from my forehead to a point below my eyes. Take a look if you don't believe me.

SCRIBE INTERVIEWS 'FOOTBALL HERO' IN CAST OF 'MALE ANIMAL' AS PLAY REHEARSAL GOES ON

By LOREN NICHOLSON

Pressed through a crowd of autograph hounds, newspaper men, policemen, and howling dogs toward the dressing room was whirling Joe Ferguson, the greatest all-time all-American halfback in the history of football.

Mob-spirit literally shoved me through a knot-hole in the cast iron door, and sent me skidding on my skull into the private shower room of the great mid-western football saint.

Feeling my pettiness in the presence of such greatness, I asked for an interview, and Whirling Joe Ferguson began modestly talking his head off.

Managed to squeeze in one question as he grasped for a breath of air. "Mr. Ferguson, tell me about the toughest time you ever had on a football field."

"Wal, the toughest play ah ever was in, was with Carnegie Tech. We was playin' in Pittsburgh, and it was gettin' mighty dark. The score was 0-0 and thar was one minute to play. Suddenly ah reached out and felt the ball. Ah shoved it under my arm and run like blazes for 68 yards to make a touchdown. When ah reached the goal, ah discovered ah was carrying a helmet with a head in it."

As I watched his brawny shoulders relax across his beer-belly, I heard him say that his summer training consisted of pulling tractors with his teeth, uprooting trees

"SCRAPPY" SQUATRITO

Many people are wondering why George Foote is going like the proverbial house afire this year, and last year wore a spot on the bench. The answer lies in the fact that last year Foote was an untried sophomore, and a "midget" at that. Also Aubrey Minter played practically the entire game every time he was in there, and when he went out, Stu Carter took over.

Then came the USF game. Minter was injured in the first half, and Carter's knees gave out. Trailing 20 to 0, Ben Winkelman then threw in everything he had in an attempt to win the contest. Foote was impressive with his speed and ability to find his holes, and Winkelman let him see a lot of action in the final game of the season against the Moffett Field Flyers.

He continued his outstanding performance, and then Mr. Winkelman found himself in a fix. The Hawaii trip was coming up and he hadn't made up his mind whether to take Carter or Foote.

Carter was in the Health Cottage at the time with an injured knee. Finally Winkelman got an idea. Taking Co-captains Bob Hamill and Ed Wenberg, Foote and me (then senior manager) he headed for the Health Cottage. Winkelman took a book and opened it, hiding the number of the page. He then asked Carter and Foote to guess the number of the page he was holding.

It was a big moment for both boys, and Foote was the lucky winner by a margin of two numbers.

State students have to pay a government tax of 15 cents for Sunday's game, for which they'll get tickets at the Controller's office—well, they'll get tickets if they have arrived from the University of San Francisco. They were supposed to be in last Monday, but up until yesterday nobody knew anything about them.

Unless the band gets five more sedans to transport it to the city Sunday, it might have to do its marching at home. Ray Vidler, head drum-major, informed us that a total of eleven cars are needed. They have six lined up now. Incidentally we're willing to share expenses with someone who can give us a lift. We can be reached in the Pub office any time between 1 and 4 o'clock.

We got another story from our girls' sports reporter, Maxine Sipes, yesterday. This time she said it was a feature on the coming archery tournament. Here it is:

San Carlos turf, on Wednesday and Thursday noons, is not a safe place to be in. The reason? Many would-be William Tells are practicing for the archery contest on Sunday, November 1.

If you are nursing a suppressed desire to shoot with a bow and arrow, why don't you come to the recreational archery class and get some first-hand instruction? Or if you ever were adept at this sport and are a little out of practice, attend some of the Wednesday and Thursday noon gatherings and practice—the group isn't limited to beginners.

A turkey is the grand prize at the November 1 handicaps. Non-competition archery will be featured in the morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. The contest is in the afternoon, and the person receiving the highest score will have a pre-Thanksgiving feast in the form of a large gobble. Both men and women are invited.

Intra-Mural Lead Hinges On Outcome Of Tilts This Noon

With the league's lead hinging on the outcome of today's game, the Spartan intramural noon football league will continue the third game in the current round-robin series today at 12:15 on the San Carlos turf.

Main attraction of the day is the second half of the game between the undefeated and untied Akamian team and the undefeated but one-tied Sheets squad. The Sheets eight came off the field at the end of the first half with a 6 to 0 lead over the league leaders. The lone tally came as a result of a recovered fumble behind the Akamian goal.

The other contest billed as the battle of the doormats, pits the win-hungry teams of Jack Gottschang and Bill Toasperm against each other. A win for either will give the victor their first win of the series. Toasperm holds a 6 to 0 half-time lead over his opponent by virtue of a quarterback sneak a la Bill Perry on Tuesday.

Today's games are scheduled to begin at 12:15.

UNDERSTUDY MEETS MASTER IN SPARTAN U.S.F. SOCCER TILT SET FOR SATURDAY

It will be coach versus pupil when Roy Diederichsen's soccer men take the field against the University of San Francisco at Spartan stadium Saturday.

Diederichsen played his first game of soccer under Don Coach Frank Zanazzi while a student at Marina junior high school in the bay city. Zanazzi still teaches at the junior high but spends much of his time acting as mentor for the boys from the "Hacienda".

Always a master at the art of deception, Roy fears that Zanazzi may have some tricks up his sleeve for the gold and white men Saturday.

Diederichsen will not be unprepared, however, as he is driving his charges through tough scrimmages nightly on the San Carlos turf. Working on the theory that hard work is a cure for all ills, Roy is not lightening his workouts as game time approaches as is the custom.

Last night the shin-kickers worked on their offense for over two hours—attempting to iron out some passing difficulties.

Showing up well last night in practice was Al Swerenger, first-year man at the inside left spot. Al passed well on offense and played a rugged defensive game as well.

"Oggie" Avila has Diederichsen's vote for the most rugged man on the squad — Avila has shown up very well on defense this week and may earn a starting berth by Saturday.

Only casualty in last night's workout was a badly bruised shin suffered by Jack Breslin, first-year wingman. Breslin was a comer, and Coach Diederichsen was counting on him to bolster the reserve strength of the locals.

There'll be an important meeting of the executive council of the rally committee at 12:15 today in the Student Union. Imperative that all members show up as the by-laws have to be drawn up.

—Hugh Manley.

There'll be a meeting of the junior class executive council at 12:15 today in room 24.—Earl Poytress.

HH55, First Aid, will meet in the Women's gym today instead of in room 133 as scheduled.

SPARTAN WATERPOLO TEAM TANGLES WITH STANFORD INDIANS TODAY

It will be an underdog State waterpolo team that will travel to Palo Alto today to meet Stanford's Indians in the latter's pool.

Two of the reasons for the Spartans being on the long end of the odds are Maurice Richardson and Warren Kliest, two of Coach Claude Horan's hopes and joys, who will see no action this year because of—ahem—scholastic deficiencies.

Yesterday in this paper it was reported that Dick Anderson had also been declared ineligible, but since that time it has been discovered that the whole thing was a big mistake.

It seems that some of Dick's credits got mislaid this summer, and as a result the Registrar's office records showed him to be deficient.

But everything's all cleared up now, so, while he probably won't draw a starting assignment — he will get plenty of opportunity to help his mates ruin the Redskins today.

"We might have been able to give Stanford an unpleasant surprise if we hadn't lost Richardson and Kliest. They were both very good," Coach Horan said.

There is very little known about Stanford's team, except that it knocked over the Navy Pre-Flight team from St. Mary's last Saturday. That victory would seem to indicate that they are not weaklings, and to substantiate that assumption, reports have been drifting in that the Indians are a pretty rugged crew.

But the mentor still thinks that his team has an outside chance of upsetting the Indians. He undoubtedly has a very potent starting seven.

Marty Taylor, playing his last game for San Jose, will be at the sprint position and will be acting captain for the contest. With two years' experience—one as a frosh and the other on the varsity squad —Taylor is one of the outstanding men on the Spartan septet.

Very fast, a constant scoring threat, and a great team man, Taylor's ability accounts for probably the biggest part of the basis for his coach's optimism.

The rest of the forward wall of the mermen doesn't lag far behind Marty. Doug Bacon, a veteran, and Ed Rudloff, a sensational freshman, both are capable of giving the opposition quite a bit of trouble.

Then there are Dan Jackson, Roger "Frenchy" Frelter, Everett Olson, and Danny Meehan—these four men constituting the rest of the starters. All of them have experience except Olson, who is a newcomer.

Folk Dancing

The Folk Dance Federation of California held a folk festival recently on the San Carlos turf. Many countries were represented in the colorful costumes of the dancers. About 1775 people participated in the dancing and in learning new material to take back to their home groups. There were representatives at the festival from all sections of California.

ket street, San Francisco, and is the easiest physical given by the Air Corps, according to Dixon. After today, mental and vocational tests will be given at the San Francisco office, also.

The Air Corps Technicians is made up of ground crew specialists. Men with mechanical aptitude can easily qualify. After basic army training plus specialized schooling, the enlistee may apply for Officers' Training school. If a commission is not forthcoming, a top non-commission rating is at least assured the enlistee.

CHOICE GIVEN MEN

Men enlisting in this branch of the service are given their choice of training field from the three available bases: Bakersfield, Stockton, and Sacramento.

Lt. Dixon stresses the fact that taking the mental, vocational, and physical exams does not bind the applicant to enlisting in the Technicians. "You are not in the Army Air Corps Technicians until you raise your right hand and take the oath," says Dixon.

There will be a meeting of the California Student Teachers on Thursday, October 22, at 5 p.m., in room 155. The main topic of discussion will be on war problems affecting future teachers, and there will be election of officers following the discussion.

NEWMAN CLUB TO HOLD FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

The Newman club of San Jose State college is holding its first meeting of the fall quarter tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Barbara Healy, secretary of the club, reports.

All Catholic students are welcome. This meeting is important, so everyone interested in becoming a member this quarter is urged to come.

There will be "off the record" dancing after the meeting, and there is always bowling, pool and pingpong.

Eggs Are Subject Of H. E. Exhibit

"Eggs in Nutrition" is the title of the exhibit now on display in the cases outside room 1 of the Home Economics building. The exhibit was arranged by Evelyn Hiatt, a member of Dr. Jones' Methods class, and deals with a comparison of fresh and powdered eggs, the food value of eggs, and suggested ways of using them in the diet.

NYA PROGRAM IS STILL OPEN FOR WOMEN STUDENTS

Dean Helen Dimmick announced today that there are still a number of vacancies in the women's NYA program. Of interest to some who might be contemplating signing up will be Dean Dimmick's words, "The rate of pay has been slightly advanced in order to keep pace with the rate elsewhere."

Students on probation are not eligible for NYA work. However, if you are in good standing and need the work, sign now. The new month starts Saturday morning and you should put in your application as soon as possible.

Library To Show SJS War Effort

Demonstrating San Jose State college's role in the war effort, the Library staff has planned a series of displays illustrating each department's contribution, according to Neva Le Blond, assistant librarian.

Although all material for the display has not as yet been turned in, at present there are contributions from the College Red Cross, Office of Civilian Defense, Home Economics and Industrial Arts departments.

Garments knitted by the Red Cross as well as the materials which the girls use in their work can be viewed in one of the show cases on the main floor of the library building.

Pamphlets acquainting students with the seriousness of chemical warfare and handbooks concerning blackouts, air raid warnings, rescue squads, messengers, and repair crews are lodged in another case.

There is also a series of charts prepared by the Home Economics department showing the minimum amount of vitamins, calories, proteins and other substances necessary to everyday life.

Feeling that every student should have some knowledge of welding, the Industrial Arts department has diagrammed the steps in the construction of a soldering iron.

Will all those people who signed as prospective ushers for the auditorium this year please meet upstairs in the music building today at 12:10 p.m.?

The permanent list will be announced at that time.

NYA month closes today for women's program. Your time-cards must be in by 10 a.m. Friday.

Joint Recruiting Traveling Board To Visit SJS In Assembly October

A joint traveling board of Army, Air Corps, Navy, and Marine recruiting officers will visit the campus next Wednesday, October 28, according to Dean of Men Paul Pitman.

An assembly will be held at 9 a.m. in the Morris Dailey auditorium for all men students. Women interested in the Waves will meet in the Little Theater.

WILL ANSWER QUESTIONS

Men already enlisted in one of the Reserves will sit together in the center section of the auditorium. Members of the joint traveling board will answer questions of men regarding the respective reserves. "Men already in the reserves as well as those planning to join will no doubt have many questions," states Dean Pitman.

At 10 a.m. reservists will be allowed to return to classes, but other men will stay to hear additional information on enlistment in one of the reserves. On Thursday the representatives of each of the reserve programs will be in four separate locations on the campus to answer more specific questions that students may have regarding their program.

This visit of the traveling board is the first of two. On November 12, 13 and 14 the board will be back on the campus to enlist men in the various reserve programs.

OBTAIN PAPERS

Dean Pitman urges all men who are planning to join the reserve when the board comes to the campus take the first step in procuring their papers.

ing the necessary papers for enlistment. "This means obtaining from Joe H. West, registrar, statement saying that you are rolled in San Jose State college with accredited standing. If you have done this, drop into office and look over the information I have available on the reserve program and check on numerous other papers that are required before enlistment process can take place. Obtain these papers and have them ready when the board comes next week. If you are sure of the reserve you wish to enlist in. At that time the training board can check and insure you have the correct information, for three out of ten students fail to have the proper papers when the enlisting process comes due," says Pitman.

NYA month for men's program closes today. Your time-cards must be in by Friday noon.
