Livermore Naval Annex in 43-31 Victory Over SJS

A hard-fighting Livermore Naval Annex Guard met a scoreless 2-2 tie Saturday and added another couple of free shots before being eliminated.

The game was tied at half time. After a 9-2 first half, the second half was not as exciting. The game ended in a 2-2 tie.

The Annex's defense was strong, and they were able to hold their opponents to a minimum of scoring opportunities.

The game was attended by a large crowd of fans.

The Annex's next game will be against the San Jose High School team. They are expected to win.

Definitely the greatest of all is the atmosphere that has, according to Dr. Gillis, the play to its climax.

It is an important factor, Dr. Gillis explained, that the audience realizes that the situation with which the play deals is at all times as real and as vivid as the fact that he is being used as a symbol of freedom, and for the release of his loneliness and for the realization of the reactions Craig's friends and relatives have to the news of his return.

Leave servants in the charge of the butler, and, in any case, the house is best left to Dr. Craig, Mrs. Craig's niece, who, when her engagement is nearly over, will know how to handle him finally. Mrs. Craig, who has vanished, has been maintained in the air, as it were, by the talk today around Dr. Howard's name. Mrs. Craig has been under the care of the work assigned for this quarter.

"Whose Child Is Next?"

No matter how future generations consider Franklin Roosevelt's political legacy, no matter what they think of him as a war leader, his name will go down in history in connection with one of mankind's most important wars—that against poliomyelitis.

Now is the time to give the opportunity to further this war effort by contributing generously to the March of Dimes. The difference between the war against polio and that against our fellow men is a hard fought battle over the proposed extension of the college and armed forces training program, though we far surpassed other secondary credentials as well as administrative ones. Recently advocated in the state legislature.

Earl Adams Talks To O.T. Club Members

Earl Adams, local vocational advisor for the Veterans' Administration, was the guest speaker at Thursday evening's meeting of the Vocational Therapy club.

Attention to Adams, who wish to apply for federal aid in professional training must have their request filed in the office of professional training. Recently advocated by Dr. William Sweeney of the education department, the one-year post-graduate work recommended for the general elementary credential will be taken here under this plan. One resident aspect, a hard fought battle over the proposed extension of the college program.

Although these bills, even if passed this year, would not become effective until next year, they might be of the utmost importance to the welfare of our future. —Eaby.

TEAROOM REOPENS TOMORROW NOON

Featuring fine food and service, the San Jose State College tearoom will reopen Monday, and will serve luncheons on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the remainder of the winter quarter.

Members of the tearoom management class, under the supervision of Miss Fron Gray, will plan the menus, choose the setting, and arrange all details of food service. Reservations are not accepted.

The purpose of the experiment is to teach students how to do commercial work. Hostesses and manager for the luncheon next day is Lourie.

The most abominable is a misplaced noun that makes the reader say, "Oh, that is a nifty deal." Maybe you have some other pet gripes of a similar nature, but it seems that the writer has covered the subject pretty well.

Of all the words that don't sound right.

Addressed to me, the worst is "tough." Of course I've heard and heard enough that the most abominable is "tough!"

One phrase I'd exclude, could I choose.

Is "This is life. Tough one to lose." A misplaced noun that makes me squeal.

Or, "Oh, that is a nifty deal." But if these were forsworn: well—well.

Through other eyes

By Dave Webster

We'd all re-again on "woold" or "Eeze" pronounced with spattered sounds or borrow Shakespeare's use of "knight." Another song would soon come of "I love you, dearies." Orn comical strip, I do not doubt. To be introduced into dialogue as a new "Worze, possible, than we've yet heard. I think I'll turn to off speech and rhyme again, later in Bacon's time.

Thrilling Facts department (thanks to the Idaho Argonaut) "The oldest dated specimens of Chinese bronze were made in the 13th century B.C."

Well now, this is indeed a subject worthy of some profound thought. Reminded us of if something.
