Editors, Cheerleader Fired by USF Heads

By CHRIS HEADINGS

A newspaper editor isn't editing. A yell leader isn't cheering. A magazine editor isn't publishing. All are students on the University of San Francisco campus.

As of yesterday morning the editors of USF's Foghorn, campus newspaper, literary magazine and a yell leader had been fired by the university's three-member faculty board of discipline.

G. Edward Stephan, editor of the Foghorn, and Mike Kunath, yell leader, were given their walking papers after a hearing Thursday night. A third notice was handed to Leland Vandendale, editor of USF's literary magazine, yesterday morning.

EMPTY BEER BOTTLES

The 21-year-old newspaper editor was fired because two empty beer bottles were found in his office. Stephan, a senior from Paso Robles, did not deny the charge.

But he said he felt the action went deeper than that. "You know how a student feels about his campus," Stephan said. "Some try to do something for it, some don't. I try to do something. And those who want to preserve the status quo slap us down."

Yell leader Kunath, a junior from Lafayette, according to reports, said he was fired because "I have my ideas on generating school spirit and the administration has theirs, and the two don't coincide."

Leland Vandendale earlier expressed fear that the four-issue magazine he planned to expand would also be dealt a death blow. He received it yesterday.

"HELL RAISER"

Stephan was quoted in a San Francisco newspaper as saying "I'm kind of a hell raiser—at least in the realm of ideas. I've had a lot of philosophical discussions with some of the instructors. Maybe they didn't like my ideas."

"They knew how I felt and maybe they were afraid I'd be too outspoken as Foghorn editor."

Stephan told the Spartan Daily he didn't make the statements; but he said the quotes were not completely erroneous. "I didn't say

Prof Stenzel To Review Mann Novel

"The life-story of a contemporary scoundrel" is the subject of today's book talk by Dr. Joachim A. Stenzel, associate professor of foreign languages.

Dr. Stenzel reviews Thomas Mann's latest work, "Confessions of Felix Krull, Confidence Man," in rooms A and B of the college cafeteria at 12:30 p.m.

Dr. Stenzel's presentation is the first in a series of weekly book talks sponsored by the Faculty Library committee.

IMITATES WORKS

Mann parodies his earlier works in this novel, including "Magic Mountain" and "Doctor Faustus," according to Dr. Stenzel.

"In writing the life-story of a contemporary scoundrel, Mann reminds us of the picaresque novels of earlier centuries," Dr. Stenzel added.

NATIVE OF GERMANY

A native of Germany, Dr. Stenzel was educated at the universities of Florence and Pisa, Italy. He came to the United States in 1938 and worked in military intelligence for the U.S. Army during World War II.

Dr. Stenzel taught in several colleges in the Midwest before coming to SJS in 1959.

Copies of each of the books reviewed in the book talk series are available at the circulation desk in the library for the use of faculty and students.

those things, but they are true," he said.

WALKOUT

The editorial board of the Foghorn walked out on Friday. It was "not out of protest or sense of loyalty to me," Stephan said. "They were just revolted by the whole thing."

The staff of the USF's literary magazine also quit after their editor was fired.

An election will be held next week on the university campus to choose a new editor for the Foghorn, according to Stephan.

Biology Head Given Leave For Research

Dr. G. A. McCallum, head of the Biological department at San Jose State College, has been granted a year's leave of absence to serve as a research analyst for the Trustees of the California state colleges.

The services of the department head have been requested by Chancellor Buell G. Gallagher of the state college system.

Dr. McCallum, who is slated to take over his new post next week, will leave his duties as head of the biological science department to Dr. Carl D. Duncan, chairman of the natural sciences area, who will be acting head. Assistant to Dr. Duncan will be Dr. Robert Patterson, professor of biology.

At Stanford university, Dr. McCallum received his B.A. in 1935 and his Ph.D. in 1940. In 1940 he joined the San Jose State College faculty as a biology teacher. He became head of the department in 1954.

In addition to his other responsibilities, Dr. McCallum was a member of the first SJS faculty council, is presently director of the West Coast nature school, has been a regional director of the California State Employees assn., an adviser to freshman camp, and last year was a member of the student judiciary.

Student Council To Meet Today

The Student Council will consider dates for applications, petitions and election for freshman class representatives at their meeting at 2:30 this afternoon.

Other items on the agenda include consideration of a new Student Council post. The post calls for a recording secretary for the council, but the person appointed to the position would not be considered a "member" of the council.

Today's meeting will be held in the council chambers of the College Union, 315 S. Ninth st. All interested students are invited to attend.

POLITICAL BLACKMAIL?—Stepping into bitter political feud between former Vice President Richard Nixon and former California Governor Goodwin Knight—co-contenders for the GOP California gubernatorial nomination—California State Republican Chairman John Krehbiel of Los Angeles says in Sun Valley, Idaho that he heard months ago that Knight was planning "political blackmail."

State Department Official Explains Foreign Careers

In a "large" and expanding United States Foreign Service there are many career opportunities for college students majoring in such subjects as political science, history, international relations, and economics, said William Helseth, U.S. Foreign Service Officer, yesterday afternoon.

Careers as foreign service officers provide work in research, administrative, executive, and public affairs areas, he declared in a talk before approximately 60 students in CH226.

Helseth, a career diplomat currently stationed as a political desk officer for Turkey, outlined the schedule for students interested in applying for positions in the service.

OBTAIN FORMS

Applications to take the necessary examinations may be obtained at the Placement Office or in the Office of Political Science and Political Administration. Deadline for turning in the applications to the Civil Service Examination center in San Francisco is Oct. 23.

Students qualified to take the examination must be at least 21 years old, but must not be over 31 by Oct. 23, he explained.

Laurie, Tansey Discuss Worth Of State Colleges

Dr. Edward J. Laurie, associate professor of business, and Dr. Richard G. Tansey, professor of art, will discuss "Are California State Colleges Second Rate Institutions?" tonight at the SJS Democratic club meeting at 7:30 in CH359.

This became a national question recently when Christopher Jencks wrote an article in Harper's magazine accusing California's state colleges and junior colleges of being a "continuation of the local high school."

State College Chancellor Buell G. Gallagher declared the article was the writing of a "snobocrat" and that state colleges were being attacked for "rendering services to the American people instead of exclusively to an elite class."

Vance Packard First

Author, Columnist, Professor, Senator To Lecture in Series

Vance Packard, Senator Paul Douglas, Drew Pearson and Dr. Peter Koestenbaum are among the speakers to be featured this fall in the College Lecture committee series, according to Dr. Frank Willey, head of the Faculty Lecture committee.

The series' first speaker on Oct. 16 will be Vance Packard, author of several books criticizing today's society. He will deliver a lecture on "The Changing Character of the American People."

Packard has written "The Hidden Persuaders," "The Status Seekers," and his most recent literary effort, "The Waste Makers."

CONSERVATISM

Dr. Russell Kirk, following Packard on Oct. 17, will lecture on "The Future of American Conservatism." Dr. Kirk, political scientist and lecturer, is known for his advocacy of conservative thought in the English-speaking world.

"Existentialism and Science: A New Dimension in the Theory of Man" will be presented Oct. 25 by Dr. Peter Koestenbaum, SJS associate professor of philosophy.

Dr. Koestenbaum plans to discuss the greater interpretation of existentialism and phenomenology in conjunction with twentieth century man.

TROUBLE SPOTS

U.S. Senator Paul H. Douglas will give his views on "Our Trouble Spots." The Illinois Democrat and former professor at the University of Chicago has authored several works in economics.

Senator Douglas will present his stand on current international and national troubles in Morris Dailey auditorium the first part of November.

"Has the United States Become a Second Class Power?" columnist Drew Pearson will ask in a late November lecture.

BEST REPORTER

Pearson, called Washington's best reporter by many of his colleagues, has been picked by Saturday Review as the columnist whose work has been most influential on the American scene.

Dr. Willey reported other lecturers will be announced later as several possible talks by faculty members are currently pending.

SJS Graduates Receive Foundation Internships

Two recent SJS graduates are among 24 Northern California graduates selected this year to receive internships in public affairs at the Coro Foundation in San Francisco.

They are: Maryleela K. Rao, 21, who graduated in 1961 with a B.B.

in journalism; and William B. Sturgeon, 24, who received his B.S. with honors in business during 1960.

The internship is a nine-month, full-time training program in preparation for future public responsibilities in a broad range of careers.

FIRSTHAND EXPERIENCE

Each intern gains firsthand experience with government agencies, political parties, business firms, labor unions and civic organizations through field assignments and projects.

To be eligible for the program, applicants must be in good health and of sound character. While no specific major is required of applicants, they must have demonstrated capability in leadership.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

Miss Rao was Homecoming Queen last year at SJS. She is a native of Bombay, India, and was the only woman to represent India during the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia. She is a former vice president of Theta Sigma Phi and is represented in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Sturgeon, besides being the outstanding ROTC cadet from 1956 to 1958, was "outstanding male graduate" in 1960. He was president of Blue Key, and was a member of Alpha Tau Omega. Hailing from Palo Alto, he is represented in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Peace Corps Member Calls Plan Part of New Frontier

Martha Allshouse, a former SJS student and recently announced Peace Corps appointee, described the new program as part of a "new frontier" in international relations last night to more than 70 listeners at the Christian center.

The blonde Corps worker said that despite all the present controversy, the program is working toward its goal of spreading the Corps to underdeveloped areas.

The popular conception that corpsmen will live in mud huts in squalor was explained by Miss Allshouse as "mistaken." She added that the workers of her particular delegation are being sent to the Philippines to live and work as nationals under the sponsorship of the government there.

'CONSTRUCTIVE'

"I feel the Corps can be a way to do something constructive," Miss Allshouse said. "We can help other countries become more active in the world through the program."

The blue-eyed representative said more than 7000 islands are in the Philippines. "Many of these are fairly primitive." The Corps will work these areas in groups of four, she added.

The 22-year-old SJS graduate reported that only five per cent of Philippine students starting school graduate from high school. Only 50 per cent graduate from the sixth grade, she added.

'LEARNS LANGUAGES'

During the time Miss Allshouse attended the eight-week training program at Pennsylvania State university, her group was taught linguistics — a scientific study of learning languages. She said there is a total of 87 different languages spoken in the islands.

"We're not going over there as statesmen," she declared. "We're going as individuals to help individuals." She explained that the ideas of Corps members are stressed, not the spreading of American propaganda.

WORK TWO YEARS

Miss Allshouse will spend approximately two years working as a teacher's aide in science and public health.

As for housing, Miss Allshouse said the Philippine villages will take care of that—whether a modest hut or a house. "Personally," she said, "I'd like to live in a hut. It would be more interesting and comfortable."

The weather is hot, sticky and humid, according to Miss Allshouse. "Therefore," she explained, "sturdy cotton clothes are recommended."

The ceremony upon arrival is expected to be brief, "although, the Filipinos love receptions, Miss Allshouse said.

'Anything of Value Has Sacrifice'

Dear Editor:

Around the world the writer writes of war and war's regret... and yet, its necessity. We in America claim that there is a direct correlation between maintaining thermonuclear weaponry and maintaining our peoples' freedom. We don't want war, say our leaders, but if our freedom is threatened, we will destroy that country and its civilian population which stand in our way. Of course, a hundred or so million of our own people will probably die in the process.

Mountains—Ocean In Acapulco Jaunt

By JACK WOLISTON

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI)—One of the most scenic drives in Mexico is the 261-mile jaunt through mountains and valleys from the Mexican capital to this semi-tropical resort on the shores of the Pacific.

An early start from Mexico City provides a coffee break in Cuernavaca, the City of Eternal Spring, and time for a visit to Borda Gardens, once the home of Maximilian and Carlotta, and the Palace of Cortes.

The town square of Cuernavaca is as attractive as any in Mexico, and you will see many Americans in Cuernavaca who have found the town a perfect spot for retirement.

From Cuernavaca to Taxco, the silver center of Mexico, the modern highway curves and climbs through awe-inspiring mountains, reaching the 5700-foot level at Taxco, a national monument and one of the country's most interesting towns.

The town has been preserved in its 18th century Spanish colonial style, even to its narrow, cobblestone streets and its baroque houses and plazas. The orange-slatted buildings, perched precariously on the hills inside the town, offer a pleasing contrast with the green mountains surrounding them.

Probably the most interesting place in town is the Church of Santa Prisca. It was built with funds provided by a Frenchman.

31 Moscow 'Peace Marchers' Denied Red Square Speeches

MOSCOW (UPI)—A group of Western "peace marchers" was denied permission to make speeches in Red Square yesterday.

The group of 31 marchers, after a hike across two continents, was halted by Soviet officials just 100 yards from the Lenin-Stalin tomb in Red Square.

The group had hoped to make speeches advocating unilateral disarmament and an end to nuclear tests. No speeches were permitted.

'SILENT VIGIL'

Soviet officials said the demonstration would have to be held at the side of the square in front of the historical museum. After about half an hour of discussion with the officials, the group was allowed to proceed to the center of the square in front of the Lenin-Stalin tomb and stand in a "silent vigil."

Leaders of the group were obviously upset at being forbidden to make their speeches at the tomb.

The marchers, including 13 Americans, were subdued as they walked into Moscow earlier yesterday after a hike which started last Dec. 1 in San Francisco. Only eight members of the group had come all the way.

JEANS AND SNEAKERS

The male marchers were almost all bearded. All wore canvas sneakers, blue jeans and baggy sweaters. Several motorcycle police cleared their way through the sparse Moscow traffic and through crowds of curious Russians.

A police loudspeaker brought up the rear.

As they walked, the marchers handed out Russian-language yellow leaflets to the Russians, advocating general disarmament and explaining their stand against military service and payment of taxes.

The Moscovites read the pamphlets curiously. Many Soviet citizens applauded the marchers and waved greetings at them. The marchers called out, in Russian to bystanders, "Peace and Friendship!"

Mantle, who with Roger Maris provides the New York Yankees' home run punch, said today that it was "unlikely" that he would start in the opening World Series game against the Cincinnati Reds today.

"If I feel like I do right now, I certainly won't be able to play," said Mantle, who has spent four days in a hospital with a virus and for the removal of an abscess from his right hip.

"If I feel good, I certainly will try to play," Mantle said. He wore a large bandage on his thigh which still was draining.

Mantle appeared better, when he showed up for the Yankees' final pre-series workout, than he did Monday. His color was good but he still limped noticeably.

Nevertheless, the odds-makers installed the Yankees 9-5 choices to win the opener, with pressure-tested Whitey Ford going for the American League champions against another left hander, Jim O'Toole of the Reds.

Ralph Houk, who won the pennant for the Yankees in his freshman year as a manager, said he still is hoping Mantle will be able to play.

"He's played so many times before when he should have been on the bench, so maybe he will be out there," Houk said.

"I'd sure like to have him in there."

Houk said he would wait until after the Yankees' workout today before making up his mind about Mantle.

"If he can't play, it will be Roger Maris in center with Yogi Berra in left and John Blanchard in right," he added.

Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Reds had a doubtful starter, too, catcher Darrell Johnson. Although Johnson worked behind the two rookie Cincinnati receivers, Jerry Zimmerman and John Edwards, most of the season, Hutchinson wanted him in the series because of his experience. Johnson, who has a strained side muscle, was a third-string catcher with the Yankees and Hutchinson wants to take advantage of his knowledge of the Yankee hitters.

Both Johnson and Mantle appeared for workouts in big Yankee Stadium Monday, but Maris, the new home run king, did not dress for the practice session.

"I'm still all in," said Maris, "but I'll be ready Wednesday."

Johnson worked out but did not take batting practice.

Mantle, five pounds underweight, walked around the running track. He limped slightly.

He had been released from Lenox Hill Hospital only a couple of hours earlier. He also had been suffering from a cold.

Even without Mantle, the Yankees—on paper—have a big edge over the Reds in the power department. They have hit 240 homers, a major league club record, with Maris leading the way with that fantastic 61 followed by Mantle with 54. The Reds, on the other hand, hit only 158.

The Yankees also appear to have a big edge in fielding and in catching. Only in pitching—which usually is the most vital factor in a series—do the Reds match the Yankees.

It is that hitting and defensive superiority plus experience which apparently led the odds-makers to make the New Yorkers favorites. None of the 25 Cincinnati players ever has played in a series game.

But Hutchinson isn't buying those odds.

"They were favored over the Pirates last year, too," recalled the Reds' skipper. "Besides, the odds were much larger against us—60-1—on winning the National League pennant."

"We've been underdogs all year. We're used to it. I know we're not supposed to win, but I haven't told the players yet so they don't know it."

"After all, the games are going to be played between those white lines—and not on paper."

Both Houk and Hutchinson have their series pitching set. After Ford (25-4), it will be right handers Ralph Terry (16-3) and Bill Stafford (14-9) for the Yankees. Hutchinson will start right handers Joey Jay (21-10) in the second game and Bob Purkey (16-12) in the third. O'Toole's season's record was 19-9.

The first and second games in the best four-out of seven series will be played in Yankee Stadium today and tomorrow. Friday will be an open date for travel with the third, fourth and fifth (if necessary) games to be played in Crosley Field, Cincinnati. After the fifth game another day would be off for travel with the sixth and seventh games, if necessary, scheduled for the stadium on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 11 and 12.

All except standing room and bleacher tickets have been sold for both parks. Yankee Stadium holds 70,000 while Crosley Field holds only 30,000.

The long range forecast called for cloudy weather in New York on Wednesday with the temperature in the 60's.

Stanford Football Tickets on Sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Stanford football game on Saturday, Oct. 14, at 1:30 p.m. Students may purchase tickets at the Office of Student Affairs, in TH16.

All tickets will cost $1 with presentation of a SJS student body card. Student body cards will not be honored at the game.

There are 8000 tickets and they will be on sale as long as they last up to the game. The sooner students purchase their tickets the better choice of seats they will have.

The reason for a charge for tickets is that Stanford students customarily pay $1 for each of their home games.

ASB To Offer Bus Service To Stadium

Student bus service between the campus and Spartan Stadium will be arranged by the ASB for the remaining two home football games, according to Barney Goldstein, personnel officer.

Although originally started for dormitory residents, the round-trip service will be extended to the general student body in the future.

Plans are for tickets to go on sale in the dormitories during the week of the game, Goldstein said. Others will buy tickets as they load the bus. However, there will be "unlimited passenger space" as the buses will make continuous trips until all ticket holders are at the stadium.

Students will be picked up at and returned to the corner of Eighth and San Carlos sts. Ticket prices are not set but were 20 cents each during the University of Pacific game.

The possibility of taking student buses to the Oct. 14 Stanford university game in Palo Alto and the Nov. 11 UOP game in Stockton is being investigated, according to Goldstein. However, nothing is definite.

The service is being offered because of the parking problem created in the stadium area by the sale of the old 10th st. parking lot. The lot, which has been planted in grass and blocked off, is not open for parking, Goldstein said.

Casaba Meeting

Fresh basketball coach Dan Glines has asked that all freshman casaba candidates meet in MG201 today at 3:30 p.m.

NEW HOME RUN KING

ROGER MARIS and Sal Durante (right) both sport wide grins as Durante tells Maris how he caught his sixty-first homer of the 1961 season. Durante has been offered $5000 for the baseball. When and if he takes the money, Durante hopes to go on a honeymoon with his fiancée who was with him at the game to see his catch.

Frosh Upset In First Game

A mild upset was pulled last night when the Santa Clara JV's defeated the Spartan frosh football team 13-8, before a sparse crowd of 20 spectators at Spartan Stadium.

The Spartababes just could not find the magic goal line all night. They were stopped twice near the Broncos' goal line. Even a 52-yard jaunt by Spartan quarterback Hinano Kaumeheiva was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Finally, with 27 seconds left in the game, Kaumeheiva hit Bob Young with a seven-yard TD pass, climaxing a 45-yard drive. Mike Burke passed to Gordon Mace for the two-point conversion.

Santa Clara, after playing a scoreless first half, took advantage of a blocked kick by Pat Rogers, and scored a TD. Bill Summers picked up the pigskin and ram-bled 15 yards to paydirt. Fred Franzia converted.

In the fourth quarter, the Broncos clinched the game when Dave Harden climaxing a 54-yard jaunt by driving into the end zone from the two-yard line.

Six fumbles marred the game and kept the first half even.

Radio-TV Students To Resume Work On 'Perspective'

Radio-TV students of San Jose State College will resume production of the television series "Perspective" with the presentation of "Wagon Train" on Saturday, Oct. 7.

SPARTAN DAILY—5

'Need Improvement To Win' — Titchenal

After collapse of an unbeaten 2-0 record, Coach Bob Titchenal will be trying to get things ship-shape for Saturday night's encounter with the Colorado State University Rams.

"We expect a real tough ball game from Colorado State. If we don't play any better than we did against Idaho, we don't stand a chance to win," Titchenal said.

The visiting Rams will field a team Saturday evening which is reputed to be stronger than the club Coach Don "Tuffy" Mullison fielded last season that compiled a fine 8-2 record.

The Colorado State squad has around 20 junior college transfers this season. Thirteen lettermen return to further bolster the Ram ranks, including five first stringers.

The regulars returning are end John Nelson, tackle Joe Keegan, guard Nick Kohls, center John Cook and halfback Brady Keys.

Keys topped the ground-gaming statistics for CSU with 368 yards for an average of 3.4 yards per carry last year.

There are no lettermen quarter-backs returning for the Rams.

Titchenal indicated that ailing Spartan tackle Jim Cadile will probably miss the Colorado State tilt, but was not certain on Mack Burton, out of practice sessions with a sore leg.

Quality is the key to success at Western Electric

Admittedly, our standards are high at Western Electric. But engineering graduates who can meet them, and who decide to join us, will begin their careers at one of the best times in the history of the company. For plentiful opportunities await them in both engineering and management.

As we enter a new era of communications, Western Electric engineers are carrying forward assignments that affect the whole art of telephony from electronic devices to high-speed sound transmission. And, in the management category alone, several thousand supervisory jobs will be available to W.E. people within the next 10 years. Many of these new managers will come from the class of '62.

Now's the time for you to start thinking seriously about the general work area that interests you at Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell Telephone System. Then when our representative comes to your campus, you'll be prepared to discuss career directions that will help make the interview profitable.

After a man joins Western Electric, he will find many programs that will aid him in exploring the exciting course of his career — while advancing just as fast as his abilities allow. And he'll be secure in the knowledge that he is growing with a company dedicated to helping America set the pace in improving communications for a rapidly growing world.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6106, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

Consensus Tabs Dorms 'Hectic,' But Best of Approved Housing

By LESTER ON

If there is one word that can adequately describe dorm life, perhaps it can be said to be "hectic." And if a handful of interviews can be representative, then the consensus is that college dormitories are the best in approved housing.

Stolen Bikes Found on 11th St.

Two bicycles reported stolen by two SJS coeds were returned to their owners Friday after a resident in 200 block of 11th st. reported the bicycles had been left on property there.

Betty Gamage and Sandy Medina, both living at 354 S. 11th st., said the person had found the bicycles Friday and had been holding them for their owners.

Location of the bicycles was reported to campus police after they were described in a story in Friday's Spartan Daily.

outstanding attraction would seem to be that it brings so many students attending college away from home within communication of one another.

MEETING PEOPLE

As Jill Hall, a junior in psychology from San Anselmo, puts it, "the dorms offer many opportunities to meet people." Formerly president of her dorm association as well as past chairman of the Inter-Dorm council, she said these positions gave her a chance to participate in many activities.

To two coeds in education, Sue Dematteis from Redwood City and Linda Srob from Vista, the dorms were simply "the best of the approved housing." Both have lived in boarding and apartment houses before.

COED LIKES ATMOSPHERE

For Barbara Peter, another education major from Redwood City, it is the "friendly atmosphere" that she likes most.

When the question of what dorm life was like was put to Jennifer Jones, a freshman music major from Riverside, she jokingly replied "It depends on what hour." It is, however, a "hectic" life which she enjoys.

DORMS OK BUT...

But while there was agreement as to the conveniences and attractions of dorm life, each indicated a plan or preference for apartment living after reaching 21.

The time restrictions were generally felt to be fair, but the idea of a completely independent life was deemed the most pleasing.

Such restrictions, however, are not applied at the men's dorms and their absence seemed completely agreeable to those interviewed.

Like the coeds, each appreciated the chance of meeting and learning from so many people.

As Steve Ferry, a biological science major from Newport Beach, says, "You learn to get along with at least one other person besides yourself."

He suggested, though, pairing similar majors to a room so that each can help the other in their studies.

COMPLAINTS

On the minus side, there were mild complaints about the food, ranging from insufficient portions to excessive starch and greasiness.

There was an inquiry by Allan Greene, a sophomore engineering major from Santa Cruz, who asked why dorm residents were not allowed to wash their cars since the necessary facilities were available.

Both men and women students agreed, however, the conveniences, the services, the facilities and the interesting people there make it a tough combination to beat.

Other than maintenance of their own rooms, there is hardly anything else required except for observance of certain rules and restrictions.

As for the cost, it is low enough that a waiting list keeps the dorms running at full capacity.

NEW AUTO INSURANCE SAVINGS ANNOUNCED

Savings up to $120 on automobile insurance are now common for married men under 25 years of age with the California Casualty Indemnity Exchange.

"Married men in this age bracket are generally paying excessive premiums for the degree of risk involved," says George M. Campbell, Spartan Representative for the Exchange.

"We believe that a married man with family responsibilities is a more careful driver, and causes fewer accidents," said Campbell. "Therefore, he is entitled to rates for mature drivers."

FOR EXAMPLE:

A married man, age 22 with Bodily Injury Liability $10/20/000, Property Damage $5,000 and Medical $500 pays about $157 a year with most insurance companies.

With California Casualty he would pay about $60 less $16 dividend, or a net of $64 (based on current 20 per cent dividend). Thus he saves about $93 with the Exchange. (Other coverages with comparable savings.)

Campbell declared that even un-married men and women with good driving records may save over 20 per cent.

Music Graduate of SJS Dies of Cancer in Seattle

John Andrews, SJS graduate, and former soloist with the SJS College Symphony, died recently of cancer. His death came two years after that of his wife, Leslie Gilbert Andrews, who also was a former SJS music student and a cancer victim.

Andrews, 43, died Sept. 18 in Seattle where he had lived the past eight years, according to friends.

Born in Japan, where his father was with the U.S. State Dept., Andrews was considered one of SJS Music Department's outstanding graduates.

U.C. Library Privileges Given to State Teachers

Faculty members of institutions of higher education in the state of California are now eligible to use all University of California libraries.

President Clark Kerr of University of California at Berkeley approved this uniform loan policy for the faculties of other schools Aug. 29.

The provision will apply in three areas. References will be available at all U. C. campus libraries, interlibrary-loan privileges will be available through the teacher's own campus library subject to the standard rules of the lending U. C. library and borrowing privileges without fees will be available in the "borrowing area" adjacent to all U. C. campus libraries.

Faculty members also will be able to obtain library cards and they will be subject to the U. C. library standard rule set.

Their privileges will consist of withdrawal of materials for the regular or loan periods and will consist of having access to the main book stack.
