Back Injury May Cancel Goodman's SJS Concert

Benny Goodman, 53, was admitted to Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York with a ruptured spinal disc and may have to cancel his appearance with Oakland Symphony, it was learned Friday by the Spartan Daily.

Goodman, famed "King of Swing," was to have appeared with clarinet and orchestra in Morris Dailey Auditorium in a performance of the Mozart Clarinet Concerto.

A spokesman for the hospital said the band leader was admitted last Thursday night and described his condition as "satisfactory."

The ailment may force Goodman to cancel a scheduled tour of 21 U.S. cities. He was scheduled to appear with local symphony orchestras as clarinet soloist.

Dick Dodson, activities adviser, said late Friday afternoon that four possibilities concerning the appearance of Goodman and the Orchestra were:

1—Goodman may still be able to appear here as scheduled.

2—A substitute soloist may perform, instead.

3—The Oakland orchestra may perform without Goodman or any other soloist.

4—The entire concert may have to be called off.

Following his concert in Morris Dailey with the Oakland Orchestra, Goodman was to have presented a special 45-minute jam session.

The orchestra, under its musical director and conductor Gerhard Samuel, had scheduled Beethoven's "Egmont Overture" and the Second Symphony of Brahms.

Goodman, who recently completed a tour of the Soviet Union, and made Nikita Khrushchev take note of "all that jazz," was born in Chicago in 1909.

He received his first musical training in a synagogue orchestra and later received lessons from a member of the Chicago Symphony.

Though Goodman was to make his mark in popular music, particularly swing, his debut at the age of ten in a children's concert was in the classic field.

Following dance band work in nightclubs during his late teens and

Proposition 1A To Determine Unions' Fate

Whether or not California's 18 state colleges will be financially able to construct College Unions in the near future depends ultimately on the fate of Proposition 1A, even though the financing of the unions is nowhere included in the $270 million bond proposal.

This fact and others concerning both Proposition 1A and College Unions were brought out during the CSCSPA (California State College Student President's Association) conference, held at SJS Saturday and Sunday.

Louis H. Heilbron, chairman of the California State College Board of Trustees, explained to the group of state presidents and officials that, if and when the Chancellor's Council approved the legal proceedings and the individual colleges' plans, "student funds must pay for the schematic drawings, the architect, equipment for the buildings and the working capital for about one year."

Prior to the conference, SJS and CSCSPA President Bill Hauck stated that "the Board of Trustees will certainly not be worried about College Unions if the proposition fails. They will be worried instead about how to raise the $100 million needed for expansion of the state colleges to meet the 120,000 additional students expected by 1965."

Dr. M. Bruce Fisher, Dean of Institutional Relations and Student Affairs of the California State Colleges, said later that Fresno State College and SJS are already well-advanced financially in regard to the College Union program.

Grad Interviews Start for June; Summer Session

Interviews for persons planning to graduate with baccalaureate degrees in June 1963 or during the '63 summer sessions should go for their graduation interview appointments immediately to the Registrar's Office, Adm102.

Appointments should be made one day in advance of the anticipated interview as the student must fill out records at the Alumni office and pay fees at the Student Affairs Business Office.

Interviews will end November 9.

No New Date Set For Discussing 7th Street Closing

No new date has been set for a meeting of SJS administrators and San Jose city officials, following the postponement of Thursday's proposed gathering.

The meeting was scheduled for discussion of the present Seventh Street controversy. Temporary closing of the street was asked by Dr. John T. Wahlquist, SJS president, and backed by San Jose Mayor Robert I. Welch and City Manager A. P. Hamann earlier this semester.

At the Oct. 3 meeting of the SJS Student Council, Welch stated that he would like to see City Manager Hamann "make a strong recommendation to the City Council that Seventh Street be closed on the basis that the college provide and put up the barriers."

Welch added later that the temporary closing plan would probably not be brought to the San Jose City Council until "after Thanksgiving." The meeting set for last Thursday was to be the first step in the closing.

President Wahlquist, who has been pressing the city since last spring for the temporary closing, was unavailable for comment on the postponement of the meeting.

Hamann said last week that before he would agree to any temporary closing, he would insist upon a written contract with the college stating that the closing would be temporary.

The meeting is expected to take place early in November, according to C. Grant Burton, executive dean.

Sigma Chi Fraternity Drinks Beer; Receives Month's Probation by SAB

Sigma Chi fraternity has been found to be in violation of a Student Activities Board rule concerning college drinking, and was suspended from social activities during November, according to Bob Weers, SAB executive secretary. Weers declared that "this action is part of a more stringent policy by the Student Activities Board."

Beer was served at a Sigma Chi function, Friday night, Oct. 12.

Halvorsen Crowned Homecoming Queen

Amid the splendor of a Grecian garden, Elaine Halvorsen was declared 1962 Homecoming Queen at Friday night's Coronation Ball at the San Jose Civic Auditorium.

More than 1000 persons were on hand to view the crowning of the 21-year-old beauty.

With tears streaming down her face, Queen Elaine was escorted to her throne by Mike Hooper, Homecoming chairman, and presented with a bouquet of red roses and a trophy.

The 5-foot-6-inch Homecoming Queen is an elementary education major from Los Angeles. She was sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa and Moulder Hall.

FIRST AMONG 43

Miss Halvorsen was chosen from a field of 43 applicants by judging and student balloting.

Her Majesty's court includes Judy Allen, 19, sponsored by Markham Hall; Lu Carter, 19, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega and Alpha Phi, and Jane Winter, 20, sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi.

The Queen and her court were presented to the ball audience through an arch formed by their official military escort, the ROTC Saber Brigade.

The announcement of Miss Halvorsen's title came shortly before midnight and was made by Phyllis Smith, Queen chairman.

From T. V. shows to bon-fires, Queen Elaine and her court will be kept busy this week officiating over Homecoming activities.

Students may get a closer look at their Homecoming royalty when the Queen and her court appear on the Frank Darien show tomorrow evening at 5:30 on KNTV, Channel 11.

Bill Hauck, ASB president, the Homecoming Committee, football players, yell leaders, an administrative official and several entertainment groups will also appear.

ROYAL JUDGES

Homecoming royalty will assist with the judging of Downtown Merchants' window displays. Fifty stores are competing in the contest.

Friday night's Bon-Fire Rally will be highlighted by the appearance of the royal family and of Dr. Dudley DeGroot, Homecoming parade Grand Marshal.

Activities begin to climax Saturday with the annual Homecoming Parade. Floats and marching units begin their trek from First and San Salvador Streets at 9:30 a.m. The procession will continue out on First Street toward Santa Clara.

Floats will be on display following the parade on Eighth Street near San Carlos.

That evening Spartans will clash with the University of New Mexico at the Spartan Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Searle Talks Today In TASC Lecture

Reed Searle, Democratic candidate for the 22nd District Assembly seat, will be the first speaker in a three-part lecture series on "What is a Subversive?" which is being presented by TASC (Toward An Active Student Community) this afternoon.

Searle will speak in TH55 at 3:30 p.m.

The speech will begin TASC's activities for the fall semester, according to Ray Grueneich, TASC chairman.

REED SEARLE
... TASC Speaker

Searle is on the board of directors of the Santa Clara County American Civil Liberties Union. Grueneich said, indicating that Searle's talk will come mainly from that viewpoint, as against that of a candidate for the assembly. Searle's opinions will be his own, Grueneich said, rather than official statements on behalf of the ACLU.

TASC's next speaker will be a conservative, with the makeup of a third program unsure at present. "The last program may be a debate," Grueneich said, "or we may have just two persons answering questions from the audience."

Such topics as the Louis Francis Amendment, (Proposition 24), the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Attorney General's list, and the question of loyalty oaths are expected to be brought up during the series.

"We are sure that at least one speaker will bring up each of them," Grueneich said.

This year's TASC program will center around the presentation of ideas on controversial subjects, Grueneich told Spartan Daily Friday.

"Opinions expressed will not necessarily be those of TASC," he said. "We're trying for as many viewpoints as possible."

Campus Parking Survey Set for Wednesday Classes

In cooperation with the city of San Jose, all students, faculty and personnel who are on campus during peak attendance hours Wednesday, will be asked to participate in a survey of traffic and parking conditions in the San Jose State College area.

Those present at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. will be given a questionnaire to fill out. Such information will be sought as: campus location, class (e.g. soph, staff, faculty), car ownership, transportation (how did you travel to college today?), time of arrival, time of departure, residence, and parking location.

All faculty members conducting classes during the peak hours will pass out the questionnaires to their students.

ASB officials and ROTC members will circulate the forms in the Library, College Union, dorms, bookstore, cafeteria, and at outside areas.

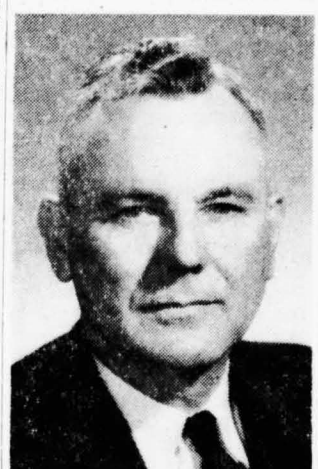

According to Pres. John T. Wahlquist, the survey, conducted by Wilbur Smith and Associates, Los Angeles traffic and parking consultants, will have great influence in "determining the ultimate closure of such streets as Seventh and San Carlos where they split up the campus."

Accumulated questionnaires will be turned over to the traffic consultants for interpretation of the data and recommendations to the city of San Jose.

Assembly Hopeful Slated to Speak At Demo Club

The San Jose State Democratic Club will present the second in a series of speeches by Democratic candidates at 3:30 this afternoon in CH235.

Alfred E. Alquist, Democratic candidate for Assembly, from the

AL ALQUIST
... Campaign Issues

24th district, will be the guest speaker and will discuss his campaign issues.

In a statement issued by Alquist, he revealed that the "central issue in this campaign is 'go' or 'no' in the face of dynamic growth." He also said with the rapid increase in population, inaction on the part of the assembly would be dangerous and costly to the taxpayer.

Alquist also added that he will help "maintain a favorable climate for the 'brain-power' industries upon which our district's prosperity and our nation's future demand."

Jesse Torres, president of the Democratic Club, urges all students to attend this afternoon's meeting.

Speech on Indonesia Set for Wednesday

Dr. James P. Heath, SJS professor of biology, who recently returned from a study leave to Southeast Asia, will present an illustrated lecture on "Indonesia: New Country, Old Land," Wednesday, in Concert Hall at 8 p.m.

The lecture will be sponsored by Sigma Xi, honorary science fraternity, and the College Lecture Committee.

The talk will cover the historical background of Dutch East Indies and the effect of the Second World War and independence on that country. Dr. Heath will also interpret the culture of Java and Bali.

Prank's End: 4 Students On Probation

Four San Jose State students were placed on official college probation for the remainder of the semester and are to perform two hours' service per week for the college for taking signs and a large cement urn from the campus.

According to Dean of Students, Stanley C. Benz, the fraternity to which the four students belong, "took a pretty dim view of the matter," and fined the students $24.99 apiece and placed them on social probation for one month.

Official college probation is noted on the students' confidential records and their parents are notified of the situation.

Dean Benz added that the students welcomed the work penalty because it was a chance to "add something positive to their records."

In another incident, a student was given a severe reprimand from the dean of students for "conduct unbecoming a student."

At the ASB Judiciary meeting Wednesday, it was reported that the student pushed a pedestrian off a narrow sidewalk near the campus. The pedestrian, an off-duty county sheriff's deputy, reported the incident to the college. The student apologized for his action immediately after the incident occurred.

Explorer-Scientist Shares 'Antarctic Adventure' Today

Think cold — and even colder yet.

That should give you a good idea of Antarctica, a massive continent of ice at the southernmost end of the Earth.

The exploration and scientific study that has been taking place in that vast land will be discussed this morning when Dr. Carl Eklund, scientist, explorer, lecturer, presents "Antarctic Adventure."

An illustrated lecture, the program will be given in Concert Hall at 11:30 today and is being sponsored by the College Lecture Committee.

Some 20 years ago, when the Antarctic was a mysterious ice field, Dr. Eklund was involved in its exploration.

He was with Admiral Byrd's expedition there from 1939-41 and accomplished one of the greatest dog sledding treks ever attempted. Dr. Eklund and a companion traveled 1,264 miles in 84 days while mapping Antarctica's coastline.

As a result of his exploration, he had a group of islands in the King George VI Sound named after him.

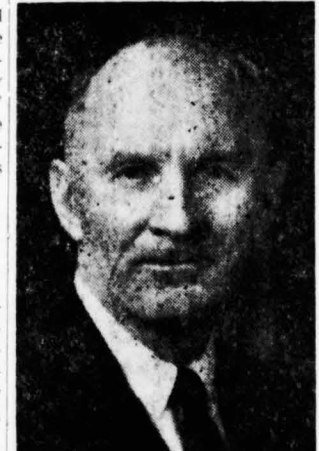

In 1957, Dr. Eklund returned to Antarctica with International Geophysical Year and was the scientific leader of one of the U.S. bases there.

He performed many scientific experiments, but his most famous one took place within a penguin egg.

Attempting to discover the temperature reached before the egg was hatched, Dr. Eklund built a miniature broadcasting station and placed it inside the egg where it broadcast signals for nine days.

Through this experiment, Dr. Eklund discovered that the eggs were warmed to an average of 92 degrees before hatching.

The color film accompanying the lecture will cover most of these experiences.

Goodman In Doubt

early 20's, Goodman, in 1934, decided to form his own band.

In 1935 Goodman added a new dimension to swing, in the form of soft, subtle "chamber music jazz" played by the first Benny Goodman Trio, with Goodman on clarinet, Teddy Wilson, piano and Gene Krupa on drums.

The trio became a quartet a year later with the addition of Lionel Hampton and his vibraphone.

Significant Goodman "firsts" include his bringing jazz to Carnegie Hall in 1938, and his later appearance there as a concert artist.

He also commissioned concertos for clarinet from Hindemith and Bartok.

He has performed the music of Debussy, Mozart and Brahms with leading symphony orchestras and chamber groups.

Goodman's tours as a musical ambassador have included a 1950 trip across Europe with his sextet and a tour of the Far East in 1956 under the auspices of the U.S. State Department.

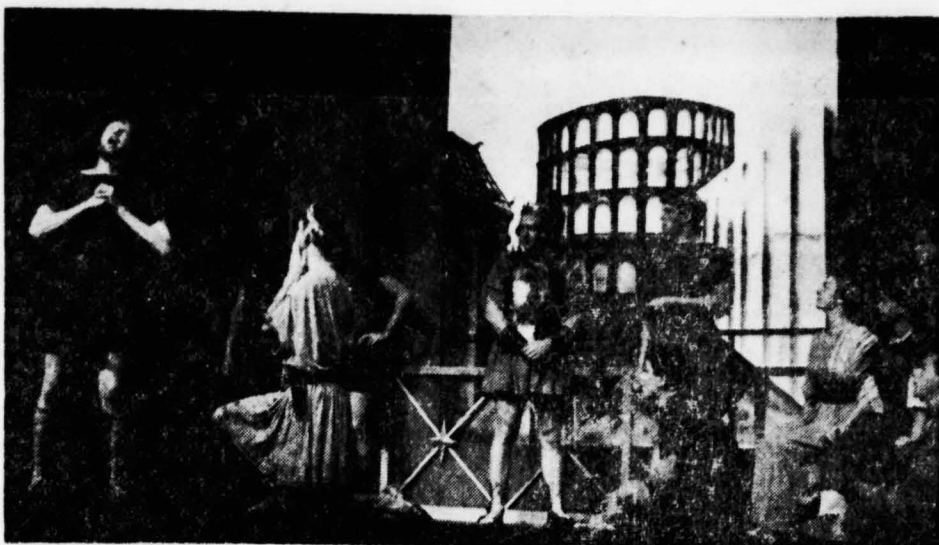

In May of 1958 he and his orchestra appeared for a week at the American Theater at the Brussels World's Fair.

Should Voters Approve State Proposition 1A?

By GEORGE MARTIN
Photos By Barry Stevenson

Mrs. Ruth Lavare, associate professor of English: "Yes, I think Proposition 1A should pass because the colleges are so short of space now that teaching is seriously impeded. We can see the results of lack of space right here on our campus. For example, there is great difficulty in getting any room at all for special lectures to appear during the hours that most people are on campus."

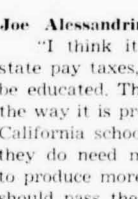

Wayne Pleis, graduate student, secondary education:

"As originally written, the bill stated that money could be used for buildings deemed necessary, and this was one reason for its defeat — people were wary of the wording. I'm definitely in favor of it, because we need more education, there's no getting around that. Being a graduate student going into secondary education, I feel that we definitely do need more educational facilities."

Jim Griffin, junior, business and industrial management:

"Sure, I'm for it because it's an investment in the future of the state. There's so much money to be spent, and it might as well be put into education as anything else. Building schools is just as important or even more important than buildings roads or dams, and the only way they can get money for them is with a bond issue. It is more money for the taxpayers to pay, but it might as well be invested in education as anything else."

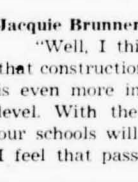

Joe Alessandrini, freshman, social science:

"I think it should pass. The people of this state pay taxes, and I think their children should be educated. This country seems to be lagging in the way it is producing technicians and engineers. California schools are coming up as a whole, but they do need money. It only seems logical that to produce more technically educated people they should pass the bill."

Rosemary Napier, junior, secretarial administration:

"I'm always looking forward to bigger and better things for our colleges and if the bond issue can help, I would certainly back it. I think if it could bring about better buildings and things like that it would be very good. I often hear people complain about Centennial Hall and the dorms, and I think that this bond issue might help us get better construction."

Jacquie Brunner, freshman, secondary education:

"Well, I think that we need the money, and that construction and building on the college level is even more important than at the high school level. With the increase of students each year our schools will soon be outmoded and outdated. I feel that passage of the bill is essential."

Miss Leonore Thompson, instructor in recreation:

"Proposition 1A, since it concerns the fact of college existence in California, is a vital issue to every man, woman and child in the state. It should be the utmost concern of every college student and faculty member to do all he can to convey the importance of the proposition to the public."

Lion's Performance Tops In 'Androcles' Opener

By BOB PACINI

A lion with a heart as big as a human stole the show Friday night at the opening performance of the Speech and Drama Department's production of Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

Jerry Gogol, as the lion, didn't say a word in the play, but he was by far one of the most memorable performers in the production that played to a capacity audience in College Theater.

It was as near perfect a performance as one could hope for on an opening night.

Acting, costumes, lighting and scenery were first rate, and the audience demonstrated its approval again and again with healthy, vigorous applause.

It would be difficult to single out any particular member of the cast as outstanding.

All were superb and thoroughly convincing in their roles.

SPECIAL CREDIT

But if special praise must be given, those to be listed would have to include Zoe Kamitses who portrayed Magaera, wife of Androcles.

Her role was brief but she made the most of it and drew from the audience some of the heartiest laughter.

She played her part to the hilt, and yet did not overdo it. Her acting was vigorous, straight forward and one of the highlights of the production.

Of course Arthur Conn, as Androcles, did an entirely credible job as the simple, trusting Greek tailor who marches in the Colosseum arena bravely and proudly.

He was the perfect foil for the tempestuous outbursts of Magaera.

AUDIENCE SQUEALS

His scenes with the lion were delightful and rich in comedy.

They brought squeals of delight from the audience.

Returning again to the lion, one can only say that it was a sheer inspiration on Shaw's part to create this character.

Gogol was uproarious as a lion with a huge thorn stuck in its front paw. He moaned and groaned and rolled about on the stage. It was almost too much when, after Androcles pulled the thorn from him, he stood erect and waited with Androcles across the stage.

His later scenes with Caesar were equally funny, making it difficult to pinpoint the comic highlight of the production.

STANDOUTS

Other standouts in the cast included Gerald Proost as one of the Christian prisoners who fights with his conscience over whether he should follow the God Mars, or enter the arena, "gentle as a lamb."

His booming voice proved an asset in a comic scene between him and a young Roman playboy, effectively played by Jack Stockdale, as he tries to "convert" the Roman courtier to Christianity with the use of a clenched fist.

Also effective was Ann Morris, as a saucy, spirited Christian maiden.

Russell Holcomb, as Caesar, also gave a first rate performance. This is not the usual type of Caesar and Holcomb gave a performance that Shaw himself would have approved of when he wrote this satire-comedy to show that Rome's persecution of Christians was political rather than religious.

28-MEMBER CAST

The rest of the 28-member cast also gave top-notch performances and added immensely to the smoothness of the presentation.

The prologue and the first act were flawless, though there were a few minor, unnoticeable slips in the second act that did not affect the general high level of the performance.

Much of the credit for the outstanding production goes to Elizabeth Loeffler, associate professor of drama, who directed the play.

Credit must also be given to J. Wendell Johnson for the settings, Bernice Prisk, for the colorful costumes and Kenneth Dorst for the lighting.

A novel and effective touch was the brief background music played before the beginning of each act.

Before the rise of the curtain on Act I, which finds a group of Christian prisoners on their way to the Colosseum, a satirical rendition of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was played.

The play should not be missed. It is comic, moving, colorful, well acted and well directed.

Repeat performances will be given this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:15.

Murphy Breaks Record As SJS Whips Stanford

By JOHN HENRY

Danny Murphy's record breaking mark helped lead the San Jose State cross country team to a 19-40 win over the Stanford Indians at the Stanford golf course Friday.

Murphy came in at 20:09.2 to beat Max Truex's old record of 20:15.8 by 6.6 seconds. It was the third win and third record in as many outings for Murphy.

The SJS squad's team time also broke a record as they took 1 hour, 41 minutes, 41.8 seconds to cover the 4.2 mile course. The old record was set by the Spartans last year at 1:43:27.5.

Coming in close behind Murphy was teammate Jeff Fishback who was timed at 20:19.7. This was the third fastest time ever run on the Stanford course, behind Murphy's and Truex's time.

The Spartans took six of the first eight places as they ran away from the country's third ranked team. The best the Indians could do was to place third and sixth.

Harry McCalla was third at 20:33.6 and freshman Dave Dubener was sixth at 20:44.

Jose Azevedo of the Spartans took fourth in the meet with a time of 20:37.6. His teammate Ron Davis came in fifth at 20:43.3.

Before the meet only nine men in history had broken 21 minutes over Stanford's course. In this meet the Spartans alone sent six men under the 21 minute mark and the Indians sent two.

The other Spartans under the mark were Ben Tucker in seventh place at 20:52 and Tom Tuite in eighth at 20:53. Coach Dean Miller was particularly pleased with Tuite's performance. It was the first time this year that he had run up to the times he had set last year as a freshman.

Freshman Joe Neff came in 11th for the Spartans while another SJS frosh, John Lodin was 16th over-all. Gene Gurule came in 17th for the varsity and Howard Thew came in 19th.

The Spartans upset Stanford's pre-meet thinking in grand style.

Coach Pyton Jordan of the Indians had predicted prior to the meet that "we will beat San Jose State."

The Spartans took six of the top eight places for the third time this year. They also set the same pace at the Long Beach Invitational and the Sacramento Invitational.

The win continued coach Miller's personal streak of not having lost a duel meet in track or cross country over the past thirteen years in high school and college coaching.

Coach Miller was highly enthused over the win as most of the team improved the marks they had set last year against Stanford. The Spartans will probably retain their No. 1 ranking in the nation with the win.

League-Leading CCSF Downs San Jose State Soccer, 2-0

By GENE WILLIAMS

Demonstrating why they are leading the Northern California Intercollegiate Conference, City College of San Francisco's talented soccermen turned back a stubborn Spartan eleven, 2-0, in a well played match at the local stadium Friday night.

Coach Roy Diederichsen's CCSF eleven dominated first quarter play, but failed to push a goal past the hustling SJS defense. Spartan goalie Slobodan Galeb blocked several Ram shots.

Ram goalie Gary DeLong, an all-American in 1961, stymied San Jose's lone goal attempt in the first quarter. Amagh Nudka, left wing, broke into the clear and appeared to have a sure goal when DeLong batted the leather away on a diving effort.

Galeb, having his best game of the year defending the San Jose goal, made two crowd-pleasing saves in the second period before the Rams finally managed to break the deadlock.

Waldron Hom, playing at the inside right slot, drove in swiftly from the right sideline and booted in a score from 15 yards out with only a little over five minutes remaining in the half.

A scoreless but well played third quarter was highlighted by the fine goal tending of both DeLong and Galeb. Both goalies made several saves on what seemed to be sure goals.

The fourth stanza was dominated by the Spartans, but it didn't show on the all-important scoreboard. Although they failed to penetrate the fantastic defensive tactics of DeLong and company, the locals moved the ball well and barely missed scoring on several occasions.

It was a frustrating evening for a much improved and highly spirited Spartan squad.

The final score came midway in the last quarter when Henry Contreras kicked in a rebound shot from six yards out.

Freshman Cage Team In Training

Although football fever is still very much alive on the SJS campus with the homecoming game less than a week off, coach Danny Glines has been busy preparing his frosh basketball squad of the upcoming cage season.

Glines is pleased with the 25-man turnout and feels he has the makings of a good club. "Of course it's too early to tell for sure," emphasized the Spartababe mentor.

Two former Campbell High School sensations, Mike Smith and Jeff Goodere, are expected to be leading candidates for first string berths. Goodere, who stands 6'6", is out with a pulled back muscle, but should be ready to go long before the December 1 season opener against Oakland Junior College.

Other outstanding California prep stars on the team include: S. T. Saffold, Frank Tarratts, Bill Clegg, Bob Griggs, Craig Ferguson and Pete Newell, Jr.

The freshmen's first home tilt will be on Dec. 6 against the San Francisco State frosh as a preliminary to the varsity's game against the Gator's at the Spartan Gym.

STRAIGHT FROM T
NEW YORK (UPI) — Allie Sherman, coach of the New York Giants, played college football at Brooklyn College where he was a T-formation quarterback.

Spartan mentor Julie Menendez was extremely pleased despite the shutout loss. He praised the entire team and termed the effort, "Our best game of the season."

Menendez lauded the play of Ed Zumot, Dietmar Demeter, Dave Kingsley and Lloyd Murad in particular.

Valdis Svans, regular Spartan left wing, was out with a broken finger and will probably miss Saturday's match with the San Francisco State Gators.

In the preliminary game the Ram JV's outlasted the San Jose junior varsity, 4-1.

Jim Monsees Tops Poloists in Scoring

Jimmy Monsees, lefthanded whiz of the Spartan water polo team, has scored 35 goals in the first seven games to be the undisputed scoring leader.

Monsees, who was an all-Nor Cal selection last season, heads the locals in goal assists with three.

Steve Skold has hit on 24 of 63 attempts to follow Monsees. David Corbet reserve forward, leads the team in shooting percentage with an 83.3 average, while R. J. Riddle is runner-up with 60 percent.

Goalie and captain John Henry has been a defensive standout all season for the Spartans. He has blocked 66 percent of the opponents' attempts.

Arizona State Breaks Jinx, Whips Spartan Eleven 44-8

It took four years to do it but coach Frank Kush of Arizona State finally beat the San Jose Spartans in football. The Sun Devils were out for blood and defeated the Spartans 44-8 in a run-away.

For the San Jose State eleven, the loss meant that they haven't won a ball game this season. The Sun Devils were out to beat the SJS team that had upset them four years in a row.

The game was a squeaker for the first half as both teams played fine defensive ball. The Sun Devils scored first with a two-point safety in the first quarter when a pass from center got away from Larry Doss and went into the end zone.

For the rest of the quarter and most of the second period neither team scored. With two minutes and 12 seconds left in the half the Spartans scored. The drive started on the SJS 29 where Cass Jackson took the kick-off and returned it to the ASU 42.

Rand "The Rifle" Carter gave to Herb Engel who took the ball to the 37. Carter then passed to Greg Rocha on the 20 and Rocha took the ball into the end zone for the touchdown. The pass for two points was incomplete but interference was called. Carter then gave the ball to Engel, who got the two points to put SJS ahead 8-2.

Arizona State took the kick-off on its own 32 and drove for a quick touchdown. The big play was a 35-yard pass play from John Jacobs to Dale Keller on the first play from scrimmage. With 52 seconds left Jacobs passed to Darnel Nelson on the eight-yard line. The pass was incomplete but interference was called.

Jacobs then passed to Keller in the end zone for the TD. John Seeborg kicked the point after to put ASU ahead 9-8.

With 33 seconds left the Spartans went to the air. Carter passed to Jackson on the 25. Carter threw again to the 32. His next pass was caught by Dave Johnson on the 39 but Johnson fumbled with ASU recovering.

With six seconds left Jacobs passed to Charlie Taylor for the touchdown. Another pass from Jacobs to Taylor gave the Devils two points and a 17-8 lead at the half.

In the third period Jacobs passed 32 yards to Keller for another TD to put Arizona ahead 24-8.

San Jose took the ball on its own 29 and went to the ASU seven yard line on the passing arm of Carter. He passed to Jackson for a gain to the 40. A long pass to Greg Rocha put the ball on the ASU 30. Another pass to Rocha put the ball on the 15.

Arizona took the ball on the 18 after Carter was thrown for a loss from the seven. Later the Devils took the ball on its 10 and drove for a TD to go ahead 31-8 in the fourth quarter.

Bob Paterson of the Spartans kicked the ball to the ASU one yard line. The Sun Devils then drove 99 yards for a TD. With seconds left the ASU third string went for the final TD.

Fight Fans Will Hear Two Anthems

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Promoters of the Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger World Boxing Association middleweight championship fight face a unique problem.

Courtesy requires that they play the Nigerian national anthem along with the Star Spangled Banner next Tuesday since Tiger comes from Nigeria.

But so far, they have not been able to hear a recording of the Nigerian anthem. Co-promoter Norman Rothschild says "we aren't too sure they have one. If anybody knows where we can get a recording of the Nigerian national anthem, we'd like to hear from them."

Tiger was supposed to take the day off Thursday, but didn't. He shadow-boxed three rounds; ripped the big bag for three more rounds and then went four rounds on the punching bag.

"I can't get him to take it easy," manager Jersey Jones said.

Meanwhile, Fullmer worked out two rounds each with Juan Sanchez and Kelly Burden — bringing to 253 the number of rounds he has boxed in preparation for this fight.
