ABC Serves Notice; Threaten Party Raids

When will the Alcohol Beverage Control (ABC) raid a party? What power has the ASB Judiciary over SJS students? Will the San Jose Police Department break up a water fight?

These and other questions, relating to student conduct, were discussed at a meeting of ASB, college, and San Jose city officials and representatives of approved housing yesterday.

Dean of Students Stanley Benz said: "We want the students to have maximum freedom in the conduct of their activities, but they should have the responsibility that goes along with freedom."

ABC representative Charles Thompson said the ABC will raid any party "open to the public" where minors are served liquor. Thompson added the ABC checks with the college to see where parties will be held, and makes "spot checks" on these parties.

College living centers must register on a "pink slip" where and when they intend to hold parties, and submit these slips to the SJS administration.

An "open" party exists when anybody can attend. However, Thompson added, the ABC will raid a closed party if it suspects minors are served liquor.

ASB Chief Justice Rich Corby pointed out that the ASB Judiciary does not "determine the student's guilt. It determines the degree of involvement by the student." The Judiciary hears the case and recommends action to the college president through the Dean's office, Corby added.

Elmer Klein, chief of the uniform division of the San Jose Police Department, said the department will "be as liberal as it is allowed to be," regarding water fights and other student disturbances in the college community.

He stated the police "won't spoil the fun of students," but they will step in "when it (the disturbance) gets to be a hazard to life and limb."

MASTER PLAN ANALYZED—State Sen. Albert S. Rodda was among the principal speakers at yesterday's Academic Senate meeting in the campus library. Sen. Rodda analyzed the State

Academic Senate Reviews Finances

Members of the California State College Academic Senate were told yesterday that "California's unusual growth rate will place a financial burden on higher education."

"I can't be too optimistic myself," State Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento said, referring to the future of higher education in California.

"Unusual rate of growth, placing unheard of burdens on the state, and fiscal resources not adequate to do a sufficient job," were the reasons cited by Sen. Rodda for the lack of optimism.

Sen. Rodda, speaking to the California State College Academic Senate meeting at SJS yesterday, gave his views on the California State Master Plan for Higher Education.

In tracing the history of the Master Plan, Sen. Rodda pointed out that Senate Bill 88 gave $250,000 for a study of higher education in 1959.

In 1960 a special session of the Legislature was asked to pass the Master Plan, but its proponents wanting it a constitutional amendment, failed to have the Plan passed.

The original Plan was changed and subsequently passed as S.B. 33.

The Master Plan gave the state colleges their own Board of Trustees, which Sen. Rodda believes to be a major accomplishment. "However, major educational miracles quickly become forgotten," he added.

The Master Plan also provided for a joint doctoral program, which has currently been under fire.

Assigning specific roles to junior colleges and state colleges, with neither of the two having graduate schools in architecture, medicine, including dentistry, law and veterinary medicine, were also part of the Master Plan.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 156, which grew out of the Free Speech Movement at UC, established a committee to review higher education in the state.

Sen. Rodda said that state college faculty salaries and research grants to state college faculty by the Legislature will be prime objects of the committee's study.

Important items scheduled for today's session are: Recommendations from the Faculty Affairs Committee regarding salaries; Recommendation from the Executive Committee on Academic Freedom; and, Background report on A.B. 853, regarding names of state colleges.

Office Counting Student Teachers

Majors and minors in social science, history, economics, geography, political science and sociology who plan to do secondary student teaching in the spring semester should come in to the Social Science Teacher Education Office, CH137 before Wednesday.

Students will not be signing up for student teaching, but will give their names to the office so it may determine the number of teachers needed next semester, according to Dr. Robert H. Wilson, associate professor of sociology.

Grad Deadline

Today is the last day to apply for February graduation. A major-minor form approved by the appropriate department must be filed with the registrar's office.

Petitions Due Today at 4 For Eight Frosh Offices

All nominating petitions for eight freshman class offices must be turned in today by 4 p.m. at the College Union, Ken Lane, Election Board chairman, announced yesterday.

Also at 4 p.m. today all candidates will meet with Lane in the union.

Campaigning for the elections—Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 18 and 19—may begin Sunday, Lane added.

The eight freshman offices include: four Student Council seats and executive director, department director, executive secretary and finance director of the Freshman Assembly.

Also on the ballot will be an ASB constitutional amendment making the elective position of ASB executive secretary an appointive position. The ASB president would make the appointment.

The secretary's duties would remain essentially the same. The duties include: being administrative assistant to the ASB president; presiding over all ASB committee chairman meetings; being responsible for the functioning of ASB committees, and seeing students on the faculty-student committees fulfill their responsibilities.

Free Shots Set At Health Center

Free immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and typhoid will be given to students and faculty on Fridays between 1 and 4 p.m. in room 130 of the Health Building at 9th and San Carlos Streets.

There will be no charge for the shots, available all semester, but influenza shots will be given for 50 cents to limited students, payable at the Student Affairs Office, (B1).

Students under 21 years of age must have written consent from a parent or guardian. Consent forms are available at the Health Service. It takes at least five weeks to complete the series of injections.

Gymnastic Instruction

Now Offered

Weekend Co-Recreation will offer a new program of gymnastics with qualified instructors for both men and women starting tomorrow afternoon. Miss Milanna Nickliss, chairman of Weekend Co-Rec, announced.

Two SJS students, Tony Capolla and Miss Karen Fabin, will be instructing students on the rings, parallel bars, tumbling mats, long horse, and side horse in the Mini Gym, PER260, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. tomorrow and every Saturday.

The Men's Gym and the PER Building are open for Weekend Co-Recreation from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Admission is by student body card.

Trampoline, weightlifting, and swimming facilities will be available after 1:30 p.m. Badminton, volleyball, table tennis, and basketball, will be available all afternoon.

Student Quizzes Council On Union Facility Survey

John Hendricks, ASB president, Wednesday refuted charges that Student Council has gone back on a promise to have a survey taken of facilities to be included in the proposed college union.

Hendricks said the survey is "planned and will get under way in about four weeks." He made the statement in answer to Ira Meltzer, who questioned the existence of such a survey at Wednesday's Council meeting.

Meltzer, who described himself as "an interested student," asked three questions of council: —What happened to the student union facilities survey promised by Steve Larsen, ASB president when the union was first approved in December 1963? —Is the correspondence between ASB pres. John Hendricks and the ASB president of Fresno State College open to student perusal?

—Why doesn't the council recommend permanent closure of Seventh Street since, Meltzer said, "all the facts are known and there is no reason for further delay."

"As for what happened to the promised survey, it is, in fact, planned and will get under way in about four weeks," Hendricks said. "Professionals will design a program to keep the ASB out of debt, and as far as specific programs, such as bowling alleys or pool tables being included, we have made sure that we will have a flexible facility, built to accommodate the changing attitudes of the student body over a long period of years."

Klystron Tour Set For Today

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) will conduct a tour of the Stanford Linear Accelerator today for all interested students.

Students needing rides or able to supply rides to Stanford should meet in the main lobby of the Engineering Building at 1:30 p.m. The tour should last from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., according to Bruce Townsend, president of IEEE.

The Stanford accelerator is a particle accelerator used for physics experiments by scientists from all over the world, according to Townsend.

Student Presidents To Debate New Bill

The California State College student President's Association (CSCSPA) will discuss the ramifications of the Collier Bill this weekend at Fresno State, John Hendricks, ASB president, said.

Hendricks, who is CSCSPA vice-president, will head a delegation of three student government officials. The other two are ASB Vice-President Jerry Spolter and Bill Clark, junior representative and special assistant to Hendricks.

The Collier Bill, introduced by Assemblyman John Collier (R-South Pasadena), calls for the student to pay back over a 20-year period a specific tax based on the yearly wage after graduation and the cost of instruction for the years the student attended college.

If the student does not earn a minimum yearly wage of $4,000 no payment would be required in that year, and the student's obligation would end after 20 years, whether it was fulfilled or not.

Hendricks added a resolution sending a permanent representative from the CSCSPA to the National Student Association (NSA) would "probably be defeated."

The NSA is a nationwide student government association which takes stands on national and international issues.

Hendricks also added that a state college system wide entertainment program would be discussed. He said costs could be cut by having big name entertainers hired to appear at several state colleges consecutively, rather than each college seeking its own entertainers.

Hendricks stated a large portion of the meeting will be devoted to organizing the CSCSPA into committees.

Doctors Announce President Johnson In Good Health

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's doctors pronounced him in "excellent health" Thursday and said the operation to remove his gall bladder would start at 7:30 a.m. EDT Friday.

The President arranged to enter Bethesda Naval Hospital in the Maryland suburbs late in the evening after attending a special "Salute to Congress" at the State Department.

For the next 10 days to two weeks, while the President is convalescing, the 19 story hospital on the Naval medical complex will be, for all practical purposes, the White House.

The president moved rapidly from one appointment to another Thursday as he swept his desk clear of business.

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, the 50-year old Mayo Clinic surgeon who will perform the operation, said it should be about six weeks after the gall bladder is removed before the President will feel as good as he evidently did Thursday.

Friday Flicks

"The Red Badge of Courage," starring Audie Murphy, Bill Mauldin and Royal Dano is tonight's Friday Flick.

The film, a psychological study of a young Union soldier in the Civil War, will be shown at 6 and 9:30 p.m. in TH35. Admission is 35 cents.

Red Chinese 'Not Isolated,' Says Reporter

Miss Lisa Hobbs, award-winning San Francisco Examiner reporter, told a packed Concert Hall audience yesterday that the Red Chinese are "so welfare-minded that they might come over and rescue us from our oppressed conditions."

She discounted the theory that the Red Chinese are socially isolated in her report on her 21-day trip through six cities where no American newsmen had been admitted for ten years.

"Thousands of salesmen, engineers, and businessmen from Africa, Europe, and South America trade daily with the Chinese, buying and selling their products."

Miss Hobbs stated "the Chinese are not interested in joining the UN, which they call the tool of American Imperialism."

"Frankly, I think we're the isolated ones. They have nothing to gain by joining the U.N. Instead, they would only lose the unique position they flaunt so advantageously."

"The Chinese Revolution" is caught up in the hearts and minds of the people. It is not simply an ideology impressed upon them by an oppressive government," she explained.

"In the communes I got this perception of the revolutions. Here there is an enormous sense of innovation," she continued. "People have a feeling they have a value, no matter how menial their work."

She saw a man making a har-

Miss Hobbs explained that educated parents must devote themselves entirely to work for the state and children are placed in state controlled nursery schools.

"The University education system made my hair stand on end," she continued. Students are housed eight to a room, with board beds. "I've never felt such intensity and dedication as I did when I visited Peking University."

The Chinese system has one teacher responsible for eight students. The teachers live with the students and become a part of the student's life, from high school through college. Most popular required foreign languages are English and Russian respectively.

When Miss Hobbs asked about non conforming students, she was informed that there are no non-conformists in Red China and "if you don't learn, there is always need in the country for agricultural workers."

One month of every year students are sent with their teachers and principals for a month's work in the fields. Men and women are trained and hold jobs on an equal basis. Miss Hobbs observed an equal ratio of male and female engineers, physicists, doctors, scientists, and teachers.

There is also an equalizing factor in the military where generals wear the same uniform as privates. Generals do the work of a private for one month of the year.

"THE RED CHINESE are not interested in joining the U.N., they're doing well enough without it," comments Lisa Hobbs, first U.S. newspaper reporter to enter Red China in nearly ten years. The award winning San Francisco Examiner reporter described her 4,000 mile trip to a capacity crowd in Concert Hall yesterday morning at the first of the ASB Forum Lectures.

Disrespect Breeds Violence

The last few months have revealed a serious lack of a basic American political concept—respect for law and order. "Respect" has come to be a trite and misunderstood verb, but Webster's Dictionary (1963 version) describes it simply as "to consider worthy of high regard."

It is easy enough to point one's finger at the South and note examples of civil discrepancy and mob violence from various sectors. It is easy enough to point one's finger at the enormous crime rate of New York or Chicago. But it is quite another thing to recognize the significance of the Watts Riots in Los Angeles, where 36 people died, the often-overlooked raids of "Hell's Angels" motorcyclists, or even the very recent conflicts various SJS students have had with police.

The right to speak out, to object, and to seek change through legal channels is a basic right in the United States. But the practical desire for a workable and orderly form of life demand a degree of respect for existing forces. It is not a basic right to encroach upon the rights of others by breaking city ordinances, state, and national laws—especially in the name of "fun." Students are certainly entitled to their times of relaxation, but disregard for law and order can only further expand the present trend of disrespect and violence.

Corporate Donations Double

The Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc. has announced that American corporations contributed an estimated $250 million to colleges and universities last year.

Contributions have more than doubled in the past ten years. In 1956, donations to institutions of higher learning by business amounted to only $109 million.

This strengthened support of higher education by private enterprise is heartening to see. With the extended efforts to aid education that the federal government has already made, it is good that business is attempting to share increased responsibility in promoting better education.

It is a sign of a healthy society when business and government work together in a contributing movement for education.

Education is one investment that offers definite long-run returns. It is to the advantage of both business and government to expand programs of financial support of education.

High Objectives Spark AWS

When a coed enters SJS she is automatically a member of AWS, or the Associated Women's Students. One may ask what is the purpose of an organization which has no selectivity, no membership requirements, and an almost complete unawareness of its existence on the part of most of its members.

If the function of AWS was simply the coordinating of all women's activities it would be worthwhile. AWS, however, has other, more important functions. It gives coeds the opportunity to govern themselves, to formulate and administer the regulations that they themselves must adhere to.

The executive and judicial boards of AWS, both elected by the women students, function as direct representatives of these students. Through these board members the students have a voice in the processes that affect them directly, such as AWS rules concerning living centers.

The AWS does have a purpose. Its purpose is to govern, to unify, to provide a means of communication between the women students and other facets of campus life. Its functions are varied and provide a wide range of activities in which the women student can find much satisfaction.

The Guest Room New Breed Differs

By CAROL ARMSTRONG

Today it is the vogue to be different. The beatnik is old hat. We now see a new breed of weirdos infiltrating our everyday lives. These people wear outlandish clothing: funny hats, boots, stockings, glasses, haircuts, etc.

What makes them deliberately cast off society? Is our way of life so contemptible that they must alienate themselves from it? Are these people afraid to face reality? Do they feel that they must hide from society behind strange costumes? These questions are not new. They have been asked about the beatniks for years. The answers are the same for the pseudo protest set.

These people are usually depraved of attention. They are not hiding from society or necessarily rejecting it. They are merely people who don't fit into normal circles. They probably spend twice as much time figuring out their costume for the day than an ordinary person. They are conforming more rigidly with their own set than most people conform with society.

Penn Pals' Music Shakes Up Co-Rec

Editor:

William Penn and his pals played at Wednesday's Co-Rec, and they were a ringing success. In fact my ears are still ringing.

But even though Penn's band showed up even later than most Co-Rec bands (75 minutes late to be exact), it was worth waiting for, I think.

The group as a whole is an example of the good, sharp sound that can be put together with three ingredients: a maximum of hard work and money, and a minimum of talent.

Penn's Pals favor the hard rock Tottenham sound, made popular by groups like the Dave Clark Five, the Animals, and Paul Revere and the Raiders.

Penn's Pals seem to like Revere's Raiders. Not only do they imitate their music and their band name; they also copy their clothes. The Pals came in full Early American costume; ruffled shirts, wig-like hair styles, three-cornered hats, and four-cornered heads.

Though they are essentially a rubber stamp of some of today's more popular groups, they do have a well-equipped band: they have five microphones, one for each member, a Gibson guitar, Fender bass, Vox organ and five good-sized Fender amplifiers, all of which were turned up too loud.

Now if they can only learn how to use their equipment, they'll really be great.

As for that rumor going around, I doubt if it's true. I mean the rumor that Berkeley's seismograph registered the performance of Penn's Pals at 7.5 on the Richter scale.

It couldn't have been more than 6.8.

Economics Student Suggests Solution to Unemployment

Editor:

One of the great controversies of today is whether or not automation is a real benefit to man. I have just begun a course in economics, and my instructor explained that, in the future, workers who become unemployed because of automation will have to be paid by the government not to work and not to riot.

Ideally, they will become a class of full-time consumers who will buy the many products which will pour from the computer-run factories.

This is actually avoiding the real problem: namely, what will we do with people that are replaced by computers?

The simple solution is usually overlooked and it is in this case. Simply get rid of these people!

A few people will object for humanitarian reasons, and the economists will argue that such action will destroy our consumer economy.

But I only need to point out that those computer-operated factories can just as easily make yachts for a few employed persons as make speedboats for the masses.

Question Man

By BOB FISHER

What is your general reaction to Pope Paul VI's visit to the U.S. last Monday and what effect and/or significance do you place on it and his plea for world peace?

Steve Savage, senior, meteorology, Sacramento. I don't think his plea will have much effect. I feel he is asking for peace in the wrong place. He should go to the source of the trouble and speak to the people who need his advice.

Mary Edwards, senior, English, Menlo Park. I don't think his plea will have any concrete effect, but it is a fine gesture. It shows that he recognizes that the church must take an active role in world affairs.

Scott Willey, sophomore, electrical engineering, Sunnyvale. World leaders have been asking for peace for thousands of years; I don't think his plea will cause any drastic change.

Karen Martens, sophomore, geography, Walnut Creek. I think Catholics might be more impressed than others. It is good that he is interested in participating in world events during a time of crisis.

Djavad Kasravi, grad, political science, San Jose. I think it was more significant that he came here than what he said; not for his plea for world peace but because he is the first Pope to visit the U.S.

Judy Gerson, grad, dance, Los Angeles. I think the U.S. has made too much fuss over his visit. It is nice that he takes an interest but he is in no way forceful as far as a mouthpiece of world peace. The church should concentrate more on other problems and places in the world where its help is needed more.

Nathaniel Melson, junior, business administration, Tracy. First, I think his visit was extraordinary; it shows more liberalism and it should cause better understanding between his religion and others. It's possible that his plea might have some effect over here.

Claudette Smith, junior, sociology, Corpus Christi. I think that it is significant that the Popes are becoming more liberal and taking an active part in world affairs and that the church is changing some of its views.

Laser Beam Easily Penetrates Steel

By PAT HEFFERNAN

LET THERE BE LIGHT—Dr. Fred E. Holstrum demonstrates a gas laser by throwing a beam of "coherent light" on a piece of paper. He is building a gas laser which produces its own electricity by mixing exotic gases. Lasers can be used for operations, welding, and carrying television programs and phone calls.

according to Dr. Fred E. Holstrum, chairman of the Physics Department who is building just such a machine.

The machine, called a gas laser, produces the beam by utilizing the energy released when certain gases are mixed together, in this case helium and neon.

The laser beam, coherent light in scientific parlance, is capable of carrying television programs and phone calls for millions of miles, performing delicate operations, and drilling and welding the hardest metals.

"The possibilities for lasers are almost infinite," said Dr. Holstrum.

The beam is capable of such feats because its light is "coherent," which means that it doesn't fan out into a ray, but rather stays in a straight beam, which can be varied in width. This concentrates the energy of the light in a small area.

Scientists can use this energy as light, heat, or as a carrier wave because the light waves within the beam all vibrate in the same direction. Waves in ordinary beams vibrate in many different directions at once, causing the beam to spread out into a ray.

The Physics Department's present gas laser was built commercially, but Dr. Holstrum is building a portable laser machine for his experiments. The commercial machine is not suitable for experiments.

Dr. Holstrum is working on a grant from the SJS small grants fund to build a laser that he can use with different mixtures of gases to see which gases work best.

"The mixtures now being used in commercial gas lasers resemble rocket fuels," said Dr. Holstrum, "but we intend to experiment with more exotic gases." More exotic gases include krypton, xenon, and neon.

First Group Of Refugees Reach U.S.

MARATHON, Fla. (UPI) — What may be the first boatload of Cuban refugees to reach the United States under Premier Fidel Castro's new "open door" policy landed here Thursday.

Six women, six children and three men arrived in a 25-foot boat. One of the men told a newspaper that the Castro government helped them leave the Communist island.

The 15 reportedly were taken to Key West.

Federal Immigration and Customs authorities said they were investigating the reported arrival, but added they had no immediate knowledge of the incident.

It was reported that Vartolame Julian Rosales, an exile living in Miami, phoned his wife in Cuba and told her to meet him at the Port of Boca de la Camarioca in Matanzas Province.

This is the port Castro has designated as the departure point in his recent offer to allow Cubans to leave their homeland and come to the United States.

Rosales reportedly left Key West Tuesday in the 25-foot boat, the Mayday, and went to Camarioca, picked up his wife and the others and left for the United States.

Advisor Seeking Group To Model National Costumes

International students willing to model their national costumes are being sought by Thomas Coke, foreign student advisor.

One group is needed to exhibit their costumes for the West Coast Medical Technologists' Convention held at the Sainte Claire Hotel on Friday, Oct. 15.

Students will model their native costumes from 12:45-1:45 p.m. Coke is also seeking students who will wear their national costumes during the half-time show of the SJS-Arizona State football game on Saturday, Oct. 16.

One member of each country represented will be supplied with the flag of his country. "The purpose of this show is to focus attention upon the foreign student population in San Jose," Coke said.

Interested foreign students may inquire or sign up in ADM201.

New Publication Sets Sales Goal

The New Student, a new SJS student publication, has sold more than 2,300 copies in its first week, according to Ira Meltzer, editor.

The paper sells for one nickel. Co-editors Meltzer, senior public administration major, and Phil Whitten, graduate student in sociology, report a circulation goal of 4,000 has been set and that all advertisers with one exception have renewed their accounts.

Meltzer and Whitten state, "The New Student came into existence to fill a void which has long existed on this campus. We intend to report news in depth and to print outspoken, creative and researched editorials about issues concerning this campus, the nation and the world."

Two SJS Organizations Planning Help for Strikers

Two SJS student organizations are planning to send food and supplies to striking agricultural workers in the San Joaquin Valley for the second consecutive weekend, the Spartan Daily learned yesterday.

Friends of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) have been gathering food supplies from shoppers at grocery stores in cooperation with an area-wide SNCC effort.

SNCC worker Brian Heggen, reported about five carloads of food from the San Jose area were delivered to Delano last weekend. More deliveries are planned this weekend.

According to Heggen, the strike began two weeks ago in Delano when 2,500 grape-pickers demanded an increase in wages from $1.20 to $1.40 an hour.

Emerson Street, representative of the Central Labor Council in San Jose, said the strike of the Mexican and Filipino-Americans is backed by the Agricultural Worker's Organizing Committee of AFL-CIO and by the Farm Worker's Association, an independent organization.

Mrs. Fred Hirsch, a member of Santa Clara Valley's Friends of SNCC and one of several local people who went to Delano to view conditions of the strikers, described the conditions as worsening.

The owners, Mrs. Hirsch asserted, said that any workers leaving the work camps would not be readmitted, which "of course would make it impossible to go out for supplies." Many of the camps, she added, were being evacuated.

Learning Processes Simplified by Film; Technique Refined by SJS A-V Dept.

By DAVE LEBESCH

Use of a relatively new educational technique is simplifying the learning process in several classes at SJS.

The new technique, refined by the Audio-Visual Dept., involves the use of motion pictures.

While this may not immediately seem like something new, it is: for this is not the standard use of 16 millimeter sound instruction films, but is instead the use of an 8 millimeter continuous use film clip "single concept" unit.

STUDY VARIOUS ASPECTS

This unit makes it possible for individual or small groups of students to see filmed illustrations of various aspects of their immediate curriculum and to study the motion picture as many times as they wish to.

either in regular action or by individual frame.

The use of the new units was explained by Senior Photographer and A-V Photo Lab head Richard Szumski and by A-V Utilization Coordinator William Allan.

The units consists of a small box-shaped 8 millimeter motion picture projector resembling a slide projector in appearance. A plastic cartridge containing up to 50 feet of film, lasting about four minutes, can be simply inserted into a slot in the projector.

CONTINUOUS FILM

"The film in the cartridge is continuous," Szumski noted. "When the film ends, it is ready to be shown again. No rewinding is necessary, as it is in a standard projection unit."

The entire projector is inserted into a recess in the large viewer with a screen about 6" by 10" square, large enough to accommodate from one to five viewers comfortably. Many units are equipped with a still clutch, so students can study individual frames.

Allan called the machines the "self-teaching element of a course," and noted that certain classes, including Ed. 123 and 124 and the Industrial Arts computer center were using the machines for illustrations of course aspects.

"The A-V Dept. produces the films and works with the instructor to illustrate the specific point or points he is trying to show, rather than necessarily an entire operation," Szumski explained.

Szumski and Allan noted that SJS Track Coach Lloyd C. "Bud" Winter is currently planning to use the units to study the form and styles of the athletes he coaches.

Lisa Hobbs Tells Theta Sigs:

'Society Challenges Career Women'

The career woman of today and tomorrow faces a never-ending "battle of the sexes" and are subject to constant social pressures in nearly every activity she undertakes, according to Lisa Hobbs, San Francisco Examiner reporter.

Miss Hobbs gave her views on the role of women in contemporary society at a luncheon yesterday with the members and guests of SJS chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Among the guests present at the noon affair was Dr. Cornelia A. Tomes, SJS associate dean of students and activities, who heard Miss Hobbs criticize the "old duffle-fuddle concept" some men have that it's all right for a woman to work, but not be committed to their work.

MEN vs WOMEN

"Being a woman in what once was considered a man's world has its advantages and disadvantages," the reporter said. "There are still many men in my profession who hold fast to the idea that women just cannot do the work required in a news office."

The Australian-born and award-winning journalist noted that the problem was not only male versus female, but also that women have become somewhat fragmented in their thinking due to their constant aim to please.

'CLOUDED VALUES'

Women's values have become so clouded that they are too easily influenced by fashion magazine writers, their husbands, their neighbors and "those pansy-like hairdressers who dictate what we should wear, how we should act, and how we should fix our hair," she told those at the luncheon.

"So we react to their wishes and go along with them because we cannot resist their advice, or we feel that we must conform to be accepted by society," she added.

To exemplify her point, Miss Hobbs revealed that one of her favorite activities is to play football with her two sons, 11-year-old Chris and Jonathan, 8.

"But it's considered quite traumatic in my neighborhood," she laughed. "No one else plays football with their boys. I like the exercise."

LIFE AS WIFE

Miss Hobbs, who comes from a family of journalists, has been married to Jack Hobbs, a Bay Area school teacher for 16 years.

"My husband and I share the household duties of cooking and cleaning because of our busy schedules," the journalist informed. "Although I have the weekends free, my working hours run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on some days and 1-9 p.m. on other days."

Learning to cook and prepare exotic foods is one of her main ambitions at the moment. Yet, as far as career ambitions are concerned, Miss Hobbs felt that she has been very fortunate in getting one break after another.

Miss Hobbs is reported to be the first American news reporter to enter Red China in almost ten years.

Her advice to the career woman of tomorrow was for the individual to find out who they were.

Harriers Must Prove They Are Best-Smith

Cross-country coach Merv Smith is leaving it to his runners to prove to themselves that they are one of the best teams in the nation — as Smith believes they are.

This will be the task the harriers face when they compete in the huge Sacramento State Invitational Saturday.

This meet will pit the Spartans against strong California and Stanford runners among the 200 competitors.

"It's up to the team to win this one . . . we can do it if we have the right attitude, but only then," Smith said.

Although refusing to make a prediction, Smith did admit the Spartans "have shown great team spirit in practice this week, and it is all building to Saturday."

This spirit has been growing despite a rash of minor injuries, with the runners working out despite pulled muscles and sore ankles. "If we can persevere with slight minor injuries as we have this week, I know we will get somewhere nationally," Smith beamed.

The second-year mentor felt this meet would be indicative of the whole season for the Spartans.

A win would put the Spartans "in good shape" for the NCAA meets next month in Smith's estimation, while a loss would indicate "we need a lot of work."

The Spartan freshman squad, also plagued by injuries, will compete at Sacramento Saturday against other Northern California frosh squads (notably Stanford) and NorCal junior colleges.

Soccer Contest in Elks' Bowl

By BOB REED

"Playing British Columbia in the Elks' Bowl will be one of the biggest thrills of my life."

So says SJS soccer team co-captain Hap Sermol, who, like the rest of the squad, is eagerly awaiting tonight's contest.

Hap, who at 26 is the elder half of the Spartans' brother combination (Joe is 21), looks forward to the game both for its international flavor and because it will give the SJS eleven a chance to play one of the top teams in North America.

WORLD'S MOST POPULAR

"I can't think of a better way for local residents to be introduced to the world's most popular sport than to come out to tonight's game," Hap says.

"Americans seeing a soccer match for the first time are usually amazed at themselves for not going to one sooner."

Hap, who was born in Germany but is now a U.S. citizen, has been involved in the sport since he was five years old, and understands it so well he can be considered a student of the game.

"No sport exists which demands more from an athlete," he says. "One must use all his senses at all times."

KNOW TEAMMATES

"It is very important for the soccer player to know his teammates well, both on and off the field, as he must be able to think like them and anticipate their moves."

"He can't be a 'glory hog.' A good soccer player always passes off to a teammate who is in a better position."

"Since one is constantly moving in a soccer match, he must be in excellent condition, so smoking, drinking and late hours are out."

Hap would like nothing better than to see the Spartan team national champions.

"We have what it takes," he says. "With a few breaks—and every team needs them—I see no reason why we can't go all the way to the NCAA finals this year."

SPORTS PROGRAM

SJS conducts one of the most complete inter-collegiate athletic programs in the nation, with some 30 teams carrying the "Spartan" colors into competition.

Jim Kaat Out-Pitches Koufax As Minnesota Whips L.A.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Jim Kaat outpitched Sandy Koufax and hit a two-run game-clinching single Thursday to give the Minnesota Twins a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a commanding two-game to none lead in the World Series.

The series will resume, after today's day off for travel, in Los Angeles where the next three games of the best-of-seven sequence are scheduled for Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The teams will return to Minneapolis-St. Paul for games six and seven, if they are necessary, next Wednesday and Thursday.

A crowd of 48,700 in Metropolitan Stadium Thursday saw the 26-year old Kaat, and 18-game winner during the American League season, limit the Dodgers to seven hits and strike out four in his first World Series appearance.

Koufax, brilliant 26-game winner for the Dodgers during the National League season, struck out nine Twins and held them scoreless until the sixth inning when they broke through for two runs with the aid of an error by veteran third baseman Junior Gilliam.

Zoilo Versalles reached second base to open the sixth when Gilliam let hot smash go through him into left field and was sacrificed to third by Joe Nieseck. American league batting champion Tony Oliva snapped the scoreless deadlock with a double into the left field corner and he scored the second run of the inning on a single by Harmon Killebrew.

Ron Perranoski, who took over the Dodger pitching after Koufax was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning, yielded the Twins' third run in the seventh when Versalles tripled with two out and scored on a wild pitch.

The Twins added two more clinching runs in the eighth on Kaat's single after the bases were filled on two walks and Bob Allison's double.

Kaat, a 6 foot, 4-inch, 225-pounder, yielded the only Dodger run in the seventh on singles by Ron Fairly, Jim Lefebvre and Johnny Roseboro.

Eleven New Starters at Provo As Anderson Seeks Spark

NEW QUARTERBACK—Carrot-topped junior Bill Casey takes over the signal-calling duties for the Spartans tonight when they tangle with Brigham Young in Utah. Casey is part of an entirely-new offensive backfield.

Head coach Harry Anderson made eleven changes in the SJS gridders' starting line-up for tonight's contest against BYU at Provo, Utah.

The changes were made because of injuries and Anderson's displeasure over the Spartan's performance against Utah State last week. He hopes the difference in personnel will add some spark to the SJS attack.

The biggest turnover of pigskins is in the offensive backfield. Junior Bill Casey has replaced injured Ken Berry at quarterback.

Senior Jerry Bonetto will start at fullback instead of Charley Haraway and sophomore Bobby Trujillo will be at half in place of John Travis.

NEW PASS RECEIVERS

A switch of positions was made in the pass-receiving department when Anderson stuck defensive halfback Dennis Parker at flanker and moved Steve Cox to split end. Last week's split end, Harry Kellogg, was shifted to tight end.

On the offensive line, center John Boyd moved ahead of Fred Gereb and Lindsay Hughes, and will start against the Cougars.

Fred Heron will return to the starting line-up tonight at right guard after sitting out most of the season with a leg injury. He suffered a mild concussion against Utah State, but has fully recovered.

Defensive standout Martin Bacaglio will be a left tackle instead of Ray Lychak.

BERRYS DOUBTFUL

Doubtful participants for tonight's contest are the two Berrys, Ken and tackle Brent. Linebacker Steve Arnold is also injured.

The Spartan defensive secondary, which was flooded by Utah State passes last Saturday, will have to face a pass-happy BYU squad.

Cougar signal-caller Virgil Carter has carried his team through its first three games with seven touchdown passes. BYU has won two of those contests.

Hoping to strengthen the SJS pass defense, Anderson has injected John Owens and Jim Rhodes in as halfbacks.

BYU has never beaten the Spartans in eight attempts. The series dates back to 1946. SJS won the last encounter 14-13 in 1961.

VOLLEYBALL ENTRIES DUE

All two-man volleyball entries must be turned into the intramural office by 3:30 this afternoon, according to intramural sports director Dan Unruh.

The tournament is scheduled to get underway late next week.

BRONZAN HEAD COACH

SJS Athletic Director Bob Bronzan, former Spartan grid great, was named head coach of the San Jose football squad in 1950.

He was named Northern California Coach of the Year three times before retiring at the end of the 1956 season.

Piloting the Spartans through increasingly stronger schedules, Bronzan's teams were consistently prominent in national statistics.

Poloists Tangle With Pomona After Enthusiastic Scrimmages

By PAUL SAVOIA

This year's seniors on the water polo squad and next season's probable starters will split the playing time tonight as the Spartans host Pomona College at 8 in the Spartan pool.

With a top-flight preliminary game pitting the Spartan frosh and College of San Mateo (see adjoining story) at 6:30, Coach Lee Walton promises a full night of exciting water polo.

The Spartans played to full houses the last two Friday nights in pasting UOP and Fresno State. Walton promises the Southlanders will provide more opposition than the previous two Friday night opponents.

WATER POLO AREA

"Although I don't know exactly what to expect from them, they have their top scorer back from last year (Gordon Watson), a veteran crew backing him up, and the advantage of coming from a great water polo area," Walton explained.

Walton plans to start a completely senior line-up tonight, including Lou Tully and Bob Pitcher, who have not started previously this season.

Whenever necessary or desirable, Walton will insert a squad composed of only juniors and sophomores — a sneak peak at the 1966 season.

PHYSICALLY ROUGH

The huge coach has been pleased with squad workouts this week, saying — again with that somewhat sadistic smile of his — "This has been a very rough week physically."

Walton also reported several fights during the course of enthusiastic scrimmages, which he credited to the great competition to make the first squad.

"This physical animosity is good," he commented as the gleam in his eye increased.

Air Force ROTC Only Unbeaten 'B' League Team

Air Force ROTC is the sole undefeated team in the independent "B" league, as Wednesday's games saw previously unbeaten Whiskey A Go-Go get cooled off by Moulder Hall 18-7, and Allen Hall lose by forfeit to Army ROTC.

The Air Force gridders continued their winning ways by stomping the winless Matadors 24-0. Sam Young starred for the winners, passing for one touchdown and running for another.

Roy Whitten, who made several spectacular pass receptions, including one for a TD, and Corky Spurlin, who ran for two scores, led Moulder Hall to its surprise victory.

In the only other "B" contest, Toad Hall and Newman Knights both forfeited.

Saces continued to pace the "A" league, as Pat Duggan rifled four touchdown passes in a 28-0 conquest of Blue Flame.

Other battles found undefeated Me and Them in a 14-0 win over Sig Eps No. 2, KC All-Stars over Markham Hall 18-0, and Theta Chi No. 2 winning by forfeit from SAE No. 2.

CSM Bulldogs Test Freshmen Poloists

A home-court advantage and a dedicated attitude are the only factors that will keep the Spartan frosh water poloists in tonight's contest with strong College of San Mateo.

Game time is 6:30 p.m. in the Spartan pool.

San Mateo has only one loss on the season, and that a mere three-point defeat at the hands of all-ways-powerful Foothill. The Spartababes have split four contests.

Russian Rocket Takes Dead Aim At Lunar Surface

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet moon rocket Luna Seven took dead aim at the lunar surface today amid growing speculation a soft landing was planned. The feat would be a first in unmanned space shots.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, announced that the 3,000 pound package of instruments was "functioning normally" and would reach the moon at 1:08 a.m. Moscow time, 6:08 p.m. EDT today. "Communication with the probe is stable," Tass said.

"There have been 12 communication periods since the start of the flight. The trajectory of the station's flight is close to the planned."

Center Available

The International Student Center at 285 S. Market St. is available as a meeting room for any interested SJS group, Miss Ann Ewing, ISC director, said.

There will be no charge for the use of facilities, but a donation to the Center will be appreciated, Miss Ewing explained.

Reservations may be made by calling the Center, 295-1412.

U.S. Forces Strengthened In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. military strength in Viet Nam soared to a new high of 140,000 men today when final elements of the 1st Infantry Division poured ashore.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes meanwhile continued to pound Communist targets in both North and South Viet Nam.

Combat ready troops of the famed "Big Red One" landed at Vung Tau, 37 miles southeast of Saigon. A U.S. military spokesman said the 15,000-man division would join the division-size Marine Corps Third Amphibious Force and the Army's 1st Cavalry Division as the major forces in Viet Nam.

Elements of the 101st Airborne Division killed 17 Viet Cong today in a one day operation eight miles south of Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

The paratroopers also captured 10 Viet Cong suspects and found a five ton stockpile of rice hidden by the Communists.

U.S. Navy planes from the carrier Oriskany attacked a military barracks and several bridges 65 miles south of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, around midnight.

In ground action by Vietnamese government troops Wednesday, a sweep 75 miles southwest of Saigon resulted in 13 Viet Cong killed. Government casualties were listed as "light."

Texas University Suspends Greeks

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — The president of North Texas University today indefinitely suspended a fraternity in an investigation of four students charged with assault and "senseless and unprovoked" maiming in attacks on three other students.

One of the students attacked lost an eye. A second suffered a deep shoulder cut when pushed through a plate glass window. The attacked students said they did not know the students who attacked them Tuesday night. The charged students were indefinitely suspended.

North Texas President J. C. Matthews announced that the relationship of the fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha, to the attacks was under investigation. He later announced the indefinite suspension of Pi Kappa Alpha from "all activities."

Three of the students charged were Pi Kappa Alpha members and the fourth was a pledge.
