Four Thousand March!

By GARY PIERCE
Daily Political Writer

SAN JOSE STATE students marched peacefully Tuesday and Wednesday in direct contrast to Monday's confrontation with the police. Students will express their displeasure over the U.S. Vietnam policy once again today at 11:30 on the ROTC Field.

The A.S. government-sponsored mass march started on First Street at 2 a.m. and traveled through San Jose's business district, picking up people from the sidewalk who joined the protest.

There were no reported acts of violence during the demonstration. Reaction among the students was generally positive. Some showed up early to participate in the protest. "I'm just here enjoying the atmosphere," said one student.

A.S. President James Edwards participated in the protest and remained near the head of the procession. The procession started at 2:40 a.m., and most of them proceeded to the podium platform area at the south end of Fourth Street.

"The crowd interest to participate almost hour before dimming with the promise of maintaining the protest.

C.U. Flooded—Anti-War Letters

The developers never thought that such letters would still be coming in.

On Monday night, three thousand letters and what seemed to be an endless stream of students started arriving at the Post Box. By late night, the A.S. government's Post Box was overflowing with letters calling for the end of the Vietnam war.

The A.S. government-sponsored mass march took place on First Street at 2 a.m. and traveled through San Jose's downtown area, picking up people from the sidewalk who joined the protest.

There were no reported acts of violence during the demonstration. Reaction among the students was generally positive. Some showed up early to participate in the protest. "I'm just here enjoying the atmosphere," said one student.

A.S. President James Edwards participated in the protest and remained near the head of the procession. The procession started at 2:40 a.m., and most of them proceeded to the podium platform area at the south end of Fourth Street.

"The crowd interest to participate almost hour before dimming with the promise of maintaining the protest.

C.U. Flooded—Anti-War Letters

The developers never thought that such letters would still be coming in.

On Monday night, three thousand letters and what seemed to be an endless stream of students started arriving at the Post Box. By late night, the A.S. government's Post Box was overflowing with letters calling for the end of the Vietnam war.

The A.S. government-sponsored mass march took place on First Street at 2 a.m. and traveled through San Jose's downtown area, picking up people from the sidewalk who joined the protest.

There were no reported acts of violence during the demonstration. Reaction among the students was generally positive. Some showed up early to participate in the protest. "I'm just here enjoying the atmosphere," said one student.

A.S. President James Edwards participated in the protest and remained near the head of the procession. The procession started at 2:40 a.m., and most of them proceeded to the podium platform area at the south end of Fourth Street.

"The crowd interest to participate almost hour before dimming with the promise of maintaining the protest.

C.U. Flooded—Anti-War Letters

The developers never thought that such letters would still be coming in.

On Monday night, three thousand letters and what seemed to be an endless stream of students started arriving at the Post Box. By late night, the A.S. government's Post Box was overflowing with letters calling for the end of the Vietnam war.

The A.S. government-sponsored mass march took place on First Street at 2 a.m. and traveled through San Jose's downtown area, picking up people from the sidewalk who joined the protest.

There were no reported acts of violence during the demonstration. Reaction among the students was generally positive. Some showed up early to participate in the protest. "I'm just here enjoying the atmosphere," said one student.

A.S. President James Edwards participated in the protest and remained near the head of the procession. The procession started at 2:40 a.m., and most of them proceeded to the podium platform area at the south end of Fourth Street.

"The crowd interest to participate almost hour before dimming with the promise of maintaining the protest.

C.U. Flooded—Anti-War Letters

The developers never thought that such letters would still be coming in.

On Monday night, three thousand letters and what seemed to be an endless stream of students started arriving at the Post Box. By late night, the A.S. government's Post Box was overflowing with letters calling for the end of the Vietnam war.

The A.S. government-sponsored mass march took place on First Street at 2 a.m. and traveled through San Jose's downtown area, picking up people from the sidewalk who joined the protest.

There were no reported acts of violence during the demonstration. Reaction among the students was generally positive. Some showed up early to participate in the protest. "I'm just here enjoying the atmosphere," said one student.

A.S. President James Edwards participated in the protest and remained near the head of the procession. The procession started at 2:40 a.m., and most of them proceeded to the podium platform area at the south end of Fourth Street.

"The crowd interest to participate almost hour before dimming with the promise of maintaining the protest.
Closing a Unique Chance

Paradoxically, the Spartan Daily wants to thank Gov. Reagan for his cynical move. He has, in fact, tried to persuade the people at the rallies to volunteer as "authorities" throughout the southeast by Juno 30? I. for ones sincerely.

I have opposed the Vietnam War since 1965. I have not and will iiii vote for any voter education. Members of Congress who are not responsive to members of Congress who support the war. They should make clear their opinion. If you do agree, we respect your opinions, but please listen because we need your support if you do agree.

But perhaps what is happening at SJS now is the movement to a more mature and relevant experience. In recent days, students are needed to advertise the issues, the cause. But today the campus is filled with those students, those leaders, those people who are coming to terms with the Vietnam, further splitting the country.

Instead of violence, let us see peace. Let the police, the bird dogs, the National Guard see their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality, to let Middle America understand their brutality.

If we use our violence, we shall not survive. We must not fail in our cause. We must not fail in our cause. We must not fail in our cause. We must not fail in our cause.

Staff Comment

Credible?

By KAREN PETTERSON

"The struggle is turning an important center." — Sec. of State Dulles, Dec. 14, 1961

"Every quantitative measurement shows that South Vietnam has a peak and will start to level off." — Sec. of Defense McNamara, Oct. 19, 1961

"We are generally pleased... we are very sure we are on the right track." — President Johnson, July 13, 1967

"The distance we have come since 1965 is incredible. Then all the trends were wrong, now we can see..." — L. B. Johnson

"We shall end this war. It's a protest against an unjust and un-

There is no need to exaggerate. Peace in the world, except for Gulf of Tonkin, is a real possibility.

It's a protest against an unjust and un-

Every quantitative measurement shows that South Vietnam has a peak and will start to level off." — Sec. of Defense McNamara, Oct. 19, 1961

"We are generally pleased... we are very sure we are on the right track." — President Johnson, July 13, 1967

"The distance we have come since 1965 is incredible. Then all the trends were wrong, now we can see..." — L. B. Johnson

"We shall end this war. It's a protest against an unjust and un-

Every quantitative measurement shows that South Vietnam has a peak and will start to level off." — Sec. of Defense McNamara, Oct. 19, 1961

"We are generally pleased... we are very sure we are on the right track." — President Johnson, July 13, 1967

"The distance we have come since 1965 is incredible. Then all the trends were wrong, now we can see..." — L. B. Johnson
Compelled Foreign Ministry

The U.S. Department of Defense announced the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam. The announcement was made in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Foreign Ministry Statement

The U.S. Department of Defense announced the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam. The announcement was made in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Vietnamese Troops

South Vietnamese troops have been killed in the fighting. "It was also reported that 3,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have been killed in the week of Cambodian conflicts, according to U.S. official sources. The fighting was described as a "day of death" by the Cambodian government.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Nixon's Announcement

President Nixon announced his plans to withdraw American forces from Cambodia. "Nixon's announcement was made in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Nixon's announcement was made in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Reported Casualties

American officials have reported 176 South Vietnamese troops killed in the fighting. The American military has seen a significant increase in casualties in recent months, with over 20,000 American troops killed in the fighting. The U.S. military has been under increasing pressure to withdraw troops from South Vietnam, and the announcement of the withdrawal was seen as a significant victory for the anti-war movement.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

The announcement came in response to the growing number of incidents in which U.S. troops were involved in combat with South Vietnamese forces. The withdrawal was expected to take place over a period of several weeks, affecting up to 176 South Vietnamese troops. The move was seen as a major setback for the U.S. in its efforts to stabilize the region.

Peace Talks

Peace talks between the U.S. and South Vietnam are continuing. "The peace talks are expected to continue until a comprehensive agreement can be reached. However, recent protests and the protests of American youth, Hinkle said, "remain a parallel between the cur-"
Military Arms Spending

'Security' Becoming Expensive

"Security" and pride may cost the world $1 trillion in the next two years or so, an economist big and small, Howard A. Hanson, said today.

Details of arms spending have been compiled by the UNDISC magazine, Partisan.

Eight years ago the U.S. and Soviet leaders were engaged in a nuclear standoff, with East and West each having the capacity to destroy the other in a single strike. Now, with the world on alert in the 1970s, the stakes are even higher.

"A $1 trillion bill was dropped in 1967 and it would have been $370 million for the last bill to come down. Of this total, the 1960s war in Cambodia consumed 5,750 years of economic activity," according to the Courier report.

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, in a Washington Post interview, said: "The Congress has already allocated $1 billion for the Asian buildup. The reason is not political. It is that we have been living in a world of uncertainty, and we have seen the growth of radical forces that have the economic capability to arm the small, developing countries often speedier than on arms as they have been doing in recent years." According to the Courier report.

On Wednesday, April 30, South Vietnam troops prepared to join the American military operation in South Vietnam. This was the first public announcement of American troop movement into Cambodia.

JENNY PEARSON

"Neutral" Cambodia Caught in Middle

President Nixon's Cambodian policy in the Middle East requires a continuous buffer system. By mid-April, Communist troops had regained control of most of the border area east of the Mekong River. There was evidence that the Americans remained committed to the war.

The Pearson Report, called for an American military operation in South Vietnam but said in the United States air attacks in North Vietnam may be resumed as a sign of disapproval. The U.S. was reducing its forces in Vietnam, or whether to take advantage of Lon Nol's anti-Communist leanings to deprive North Vietnamese troops prepared to join the American military operation in South Vietnam.

The government of Sihanouk, which had the most influence over Cambodia, was overthrown in March by Premier LAM Nol's anti-Communist forces rather than to promote economic aid and development in the region.

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action.

The U.S. military was called to Cambodia. American military assistance. The Pentagon announced President Nixon's Cambodian policy.

 keraneking day President Nixon agreed to end the U.S. air attacks in North Vietnam but said that 100 U.S. planes had resumed raids in Laos. Nixon delayed a decision in early May because high officials have implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House earlier to consult before the Senate whom Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld would consult before the Senate whom Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld had not consulted or informed. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182. frem an action. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee also opposed the move to send troops into another war.

Decision Deferred

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

On Wednesday, April 30, North Vietnamese forces supported by American military assistance. The Pentagon announced President Nixon's Cambodian policy.

This was the first public announcement of American troop movement into Cambodia.

"Neutral" Cambodia Caught in Middle

President Nixon's Cambodian policy in the Middle East requires a continuous buffer system. By mid-April, Communist troops had regained control of most of the border area east of the Mekong River. There was evidence that the Americans remained committed to the war.

The Pearson Report, called for an American military operation in South Vietnam but said in the United States air attacks in North Vietnam may be resumed as a sign of disapproval. The U.S. was reducing its forces in Vietnam, or whether to take advantage of Lon Nol's anti-Communist leanings to deprive North Vietnamese troops prepared to join the American military operation in South Vietnam.

The government of Sihanouk, which had the most influence over Cambodia, was overthrown in March by Premier LAM Nol's anti-Communist forces rather than to promote economic aid and development in the region.

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House earlier to consult before the Senate whom Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld would consult before the Senate whom Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld had not consulted or informed. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.

Nixon delayed a decision in the hope that the future Union might be able to provide North Vietnam and possibly Communist China to participate in a peace conference in Indochina. This was condemned by a number of Communist leaders in Japan, China, and the U.S. who see the President's action as an implied approval of "most vicious tactics."

The following week Nixon faced a decision to widen the war... a new defense appropriations bill was introduced in Congress in an effort to nullify the President's action. The House favored a "firm commitment" to widen the war by a vote of 253 to 182.
THE TREND TOWARD non-violent protest at San Jose State began with a student directed march Tuesday in response to Monday's violence, which has been blamed on a few overzealous plainclothes police officers. Thousands of students marched peacefully Tuesday and again Wednesday through the streets of San Jose and several rallies were held on campus to discuss the war in Southeast Asia.

—Daily photos by Bill Kamberg, Don Philby, Bruce Rosenhart and a student photographer
Schools Closed; Statewide Anti-War Activities Continue

Gov. Reagan officially closed the 1401 W. San Carlos St., San Jose, San Jose State University and Stanford University from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. today. The move came in the wake of several anti-war demonstrations across the state.

At the State University, the administration announced that all classes would be canceled from 8 a.m. until noon. At Stanford, the administration announced that all classes would be canceled from 8 a.m. until noon.

Shut Down

The moves on the Berkeley campus were announced by the Chancellor, the University of California at Berkeley, on Wednesday. The announcement came after the state's Board of Regents voted to suspend classes on the campus.

At the University of California at Berkeley, the announcement came after the state's Board of Regents voted to suspend classes on the campus.

Injunction Continues; Raids Ended To Meet Heed Warnings

Complied from Associated Press

A local State University student group yesterday warned of "imminent danger" to the administration of the campus if the university continued to close classes.

The administration at the State University announced that classes would be canceled on the campus today.

Fortran Statement in a computation one act

FIRE BOMBS

Riverside City College was closed today after student activists set fire to the campus. The fire started in a small area near the administration building.

FREE

Available at EMERY'S
1101 W. San Carlos St., San Jose, California

FREE TAMELE SAVES STEAKS AND SPEARS AND ANOTHER

Manney, the Hawaiian Minstrel

4042 Sierra Creek Rd.

Phone 246-6658

TIBET HOP GAR KUNG FU SCHOOL

9A.

SPECIAL RATE FOR STUDENTS

STUDENT PIPE SPECIAL

Great Salt $75.00

Sportster $85.00

Biker $95.00

With All Bag 350 bredro Tobacco

45 N. 1st 297-0643

GIVE THE TRADE WINDS TO...

BOB HIMLS VOLKSWAGEN

1506 North First Street
San Jose 286-9800

25c worth of regular and a glass of water for your husband.
Television Review
Reagan Speech 'Excellent Entertainment'

By STEVE SWENSON
DAILY ENTERTAINMENT WRITER

Recent developments have created a remarkable comeback for Ronald Reagan, who was once a has-been, Western movie actor.

In his own television show "Hollywood Squares," those who thought he was a washed-up star could no longer dispute his Hollywood training. When the site of his being wondered what Gov. Reagan, after leaving the stage and going to college, was going to do, he got on the air and began to talk. The show, "Hollywood Squares," made him a star.

He is now a governor of California, a state governor trying to maintain peace and orderly conditions. Reagan, back in the saddle, and in a position to handle a challenge and make a believable performance.

My only criticism of Reagan's show was his bad design. I think that, when you try to reach the youth as well as the regular audience, a lot of what you try to do is not going to work. You must make sure that you are reaching the right people.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.

Teach-In On Draft 700 S

Despite Governor Reagan's order yesterday to the State Colleges and University of California System, the teach-in remained. Some 700 students met on the 82 campus yesterday for a teaching project.

Conducted by Professors Against the War (PAW), teach-ins were working on this past week. The police never arrested any of the protesters.

An environment during the events was created. The Governor's office had the teachers on illegal assembly. Protestors were told that police would be called if they did not leave immediately. However, the environment seemed to continue with the teach-in. The police never arrested anyone.

Campus TV Station

The community TV station, created by students, provided a unique and diverse source of information. The station broadcast teach-ins, interviews, and other events related to the teach-in.

The teach-in became a platform for students to express their views and concerns about the war in Vietnam. It allowed the students to engage in discussions and debates, promoting critical thinking and awareness of the issues.

Teaching on-campus, the teach-in provided an opportunity for the students to take an active role in the movement. It highlighted the importance of education and the need for a more informed and engaged society.
Police Officer Quits Following Skirmish

By CHARLOTTE MUNDY
Daily News Editor

JAY CLARKER
Daily News Staff Writer
San Jose Police Officer Ralph James, 22, of San Francisco, is returning to his residence on Friday night after a heated confrontation with Chief of Police in the rear of the campus.

James, 22, is recovering from his injuries in his residence. He said he cannot see the Chief of Police and the students in the building.

The conflict that prompted James' action began on the morning of Thursday, March 17th. James had been a member of the campus police for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts.

James said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

James said he had been working on campus for two years and had never been involved in any conflicts. He said he had been working on campus when he heard a commotion in the rear of the building. He went to investigate and found a group of students attempting to enter the Chief's office. James immediately took action by entering the office and closing the door. He then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.

The Chief of Police then emerged from the office and confronted James, demanding that he leave the campus. James refused, saying that he was trying to protect the students from the Chief. The Chief then took his badge and headed for the students in the building.