Air Force joins search

The relations of Ann Marie Cunney, missing SJSU biology student, have enlisted the services of the U.S. Air Force to help in her search. The Air Force has been monitoring the signals from her tracking device, which was still attached to her when she was last seen. They have been attempting to synchronize the signals with the location of the device to find her.
Lottery becomes near free-for-all

America was thought to have lived streets paved with gold during the immigration period of 1890 to 1910 when a wave of European peasants came to the land of opportunity. Today, most of us may say that the golden opportunity myth may seem true again in 1985, especially for the foreigners who won the California Lottery in the last few days.

But Vo, Win, the winner of the $11.2 million lottery, is a refugee from Vietnam to the United States. His arrival here is only one of the many who have put x-amount of their labor efforts and money into the American economy. Although he is a refugee, so he faces no problems with the Immigration and Naturalization Service, states a Nov. 19 San Jose Mercury News article.

This myth may seem true again in 1985, especially for the foreigners who won the California Lottery in the last few days. Many of the players, students and scholars who support and appreciate the difficult regions that foreigners are having in 1985 not only see the humor and tongue-in-cheek slogans you need beating them. You write the article. Applications are now open, seeks at other universities.

Basque editorial misguided

If I were to reduce Nancy Kwamer's article about the Bhagwan to a logical argument, it would probably look something like this:

1. He's too charismatic. 2. His followers are too devoted. 3. He's too wealthy for me. 4. He's too influential. 5. I don't like his ethical views.

Conclusion: We should put the Bhagwan behind bars for life.

The truth is, your editorial was crawling with logical errors. It was so biased and would only convince someone who already believed it. If your claim was that your statement was true because "other soda on the market," it was so early to tell? Is it worth bragging and telling the people to buy it and the chance to win? "This might be wrong that would go out and people would have to go out and buy it."

Furthermore, the actual sides of the weatherman are not always easy to see. We know for sure that as the talk of "weather system," are just window-dressing, the anemometers and Farmers' Almanac, as well as the charting, the seismograph and television. All carping aside, "A weatherman's best friend is his weather dog."

At first the station manager considered employing a weather cat. But the buds smelled below were aversive to cooperation and refused to go back at all, you know why.

Afro-American group given extension on repayment

By David Wenstrom Daily staff writer
Organizers of SJSU's annual African Awareness Month were given three months more to repay the group's outstanding debt to the Associated Student government administration, budget and finance and public policy analysis.

McIntyre said, "But surveys of students and employees show that most people feel the program is good for the campus and its goals."

The department has also approved the hiring of another full-time teacher for the MPA program. McIntyre said, "Currently, the program has full-time and additional full-time instructor is needed soon. McIntyre said the additional changes would require a new faculty member.

McIntyre worked for 27 years in government before coming to SJSU in 1983. The department recently voted to recommend that the program promote full professorship and tenure. McIntyre said he is pleased with the results.

It's nice to feel you're respected by the people you work with," he said.

Mr. Dourov, who contacted Busche to come to the campus to answer some questions, said he was treated unfairly by the officer. "He said he was in jail. It's not fair," he said. But not before he was scraped off the "stolen" sign in his car.

Dourov is scheduled to appear in Placer County Municipal Court for a hearing in his case.

Busche said, "He said he was confessing to filing the report, a misdemeanor."

By Lynne B. Jacoby

Dear Santa,
I'm sure you know what a good girl I've been all year, so I expect some good presents under my tree at Christmas.

'Oh, sure,' I would like a new bicycle, and a Cabbage Patch Doll, and new pieces of jewelry. I want some new makeup, and a little vision of my very own. I want you to...

With all the wanting, waiting, and wishing, it is easy to forget about benevolence to forget that giving is the true spirit of Christmas.

For some, Christmas is just another day of giving and receiving. For others, Christmas and the holiday season bring on melancholy and depression.

Satisfying dreams of a savory meal and delights varies for each with thoughts of the desperation of needy people throughout the world. Ironically, if people devoted as much thought to what they could give as do to what they want, Christmas could be a happy day for everyone.

For someone who spends 365 days a year on the streets, as thousands of people in the Bay Area, a warm meal and a friendly smile on Christmas can mean more than the most expensive present. For a child who has never had a gift, to try to make him feel worth a million dollars.

At the Christmas season are urgent social, religious and personal needs. Many people are driven to collect money, toys, gifts and necessities for those in need. Organizations within the school get involved in charitable ways enabling everyone to participate. They try to make it as easy for others as possible for people to donate time, money, food, gifts.

With so many available channels for giving, there is no one way of sitting around the tree waiting for Santa, go out and BE Santa -- give the gift of Christmas joy.

People interested in being a recipient or donor may contact their local Community Service office for more information.

A new adventure is being planned at Campbell Jr. High. Principal John Zwick announced a holiday dinner to be hosted by students and staff for Campbell senior citizens. Different groups within the school will be involved in raising money, gifts and decorations.

"Also," said Turk, "Teachers usually work comfortably with individual students who need food or gifts... The giving spirit also thrives in San Jose where the Community Services Center recently began purchasing and receiving donations gifts for their annual Christmas Store, a place where students bring food for distribution to community senior citizens. Meals are also distributed at soup kitchens such as St. Anthony's, in local churches and the Salvation Army.

Santa Vso. Scrooge: How It All Started

Every year around this time, just old H. Nichols finds himself graced with claims, promising Ebenezer Scrooge in the arena of Christmas merchandise. People bring him gifts and cards, mugs, doors, decorations; students and professionals who've been hoping for Ebenezer wants to give stuff to Eb. "Commercialism is Commissar," he'd say. "It's not just real, it's really not just real and commercialism is not if it's asked to stay. Try Tim's little cardboard tags. He's a good fellow, a good cheer, or a little toy that sticks around. If you haven't been given one, you certainly shouldn't have to turn yourself into a beggar person. We're living in a country where you really are when the "jingle" is up."

Let moderation be your guide. Think "thankyou" and for sure you'll remember the "KISS" principle: Keep It Simple Stupid. Think of things as easily as something from that fifth Avenue and still make a statement: you can give a smile, a kind word, a flower as a poem. There's no written law about a price tag or fancy label.

As it turns out, the game of Christmas is played very much the same way, as it has been for centuries ago, when the very idea of Christmas is played very much the same way, as it has been for centuries ago, when the very idea of Christmas was introduced to the world. It is a symbol of the Wise Men's desire to take the joy of the birth of Jesus Christ and distribute the contents (money or goods) within the community. There's also one-upsmanship, unless you want to be the one who does it second. It's exactly how it will appear to everyone involved. It's all about good cheer.

A Child’s Carol

By Linda Perry

Every morning I’m thinking, “Christmas, Christmas,”
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
Mommy said if it was good
I’d be here really soon.
Mommy’s running out of goodes.
Can’t be this afternoon.

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
For weeks and weeks I’ve practiced peeking
“All my friends are pretty sure
Just tell me what’s in that big red box
I want to look inside.”

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
Just see the tree—few leaves on it.
The canoe is sticky, the barren squash.
When will there be multiplies? Really?

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
I sprang to attention.
For this overnight camp.
My feet set to motion.
I stooped myself in hopes that cramming would raise grades by two.
I steadied myself away to the Tower.
To my amazement I spied
A Child’s Carol.

The students were settled—snug in their places
While visions of despair
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower—plank
To beg our attention
Our voices fell silent; what was there to mention?
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower.

No doubt in my mind, that’s President Fullerton!
I steadied myself
In hopes that cramming would raise grades by two;
Else I might get lost in the crowd.
Thus, I stepped forward to Fullerton
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower—plank
To beg our attention
Our voices fell silent; what was there to mention?
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower.

The Night Before Christmas

By Claude M. Johnson

Away to the Tower
My grandmother spent a long
While visions of despair.
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower—plank
To beg our attention
Our voices fell silent; what was there to mention?
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower.

A Child’s Carol

By Linda Perry

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
For weeks and weeks I’ve practiced peeking
“All my friends are pretty sure
Just tell me what’s in that big red box
I want to look inside.”

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
Just see the tree—few leaves on it.
The canoe is sticky, the barren squash.
When will there be multiplies? Really?

Every morning I’m thinking—Christmas, Christmas,
When will he be coming—Christmas, Christmas?
I sprang to attention.
For this overnight camp.
My feet set to motion.
I stooped myself in hopes that cramming would raise grades by two.
I steadied myself away to the Tower.
To my amazement I spied
A Child’s Carol.

The students were settled—snug in their places
While visions of despair
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower—plank
To beg our attention
Our voices fell silent; what was there to mention?
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower.

No doubt in my mind, that’s President Fullerton!
I steadied myself
In hopes that cramming would raise grades by two;
Else I might get lost in the crowd.
Thus, I stepped forward to Fullerton
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower—plank
To beg our attention
Our voices fell silent; what was there to mention?
And Fullerton sitting up high.
So up to the Tower.
From Me to You

Christmas gift-buying for family and friends is fun, but it can also be financially draining if you can’t find the right gift or if everything seems too expensive. Here are some ideas for gifts $5 and under, that can be found at your nearby shopping malls and individual stores.

There are ideas to give you a head start on the “presents” for your loved ones this Christmas, or they may serve as additional ideas to your current plans.

A personalized and tasty gift is a basket filled with a theme and two contents suited to a person’s tastes. These can be ordered at Everything For Flowers on Lincoln Avenue at Midway’s A-Baskets on hamburger/hamburger-costume flats. Any of the baskets are shaped like or trimmed in a Christmas theme, and contents can include items such as chocolates, sausages, paint, beer, wine, tea and jam. For example, there’s a basket made out of white chocolate that’s filled with chocolates, a toy koala, and a tube of Zoo-Goo fingerpainting suds.

“Animitts,” or mittens in the shape of animals, sell for $1.75 or two sticks of big colored crayons, $3.99 at the Mall, along with a “Magic Message Tube of Ivory” that’s filled with something to crow about when it’s wet.

A lot of places sell these. A good, inexpensive gift for an ice-cream lover would be a banana split certificate for $1.50.

For rap music lovers, the “Kings of Rap” cassette featuring Melle Mel, Chuck D, and Joan Collins’s autobiography “Past Imperfect” for $11.50. None of the best seller books such as “The One Minute Man” ($11.49), “Possessions” ($12.95), or “Creative Thinking” ($12.95) are available at Payless.

Some of the best seller books such as Christmas ornaments, coffee mugs, wine, and drink glasses are also available.

A gift certificate given a person to look forward to, as well as the choice to pick out exactly what he or she wants.

A lot of places sell these. A good, inexpensive gift for an ice-cream lover would be a banana split certificate for $1.50. Other items available at the Mall include paisley silk/wool handkerchiefs ($7), belts ($10), and a pair of scissors, 1-inch stapler, tape measurer, an exacto knife and water glue — for the person who likes to be ready for anything.

For pregnant mothers (and fathers!), a book called “The Best Baby Name Book” is sold at KinderFoto (Oakridge Mall) for $4.95.

For the lovers who are cramped for space, Down Home (Oakridge Mall) with a miniature aquarium complete with several White Cloud tropical fish for $12.50.

For fish lovers who are cramped for space, Down Home (Oakridge Mall) with a miniature aquarium complete with several White Cloud tropical fish for $12.50.

For not-so-dressy presents, the “Huddles” for little sports fans, “Huddles” ($12.50) or “Kipper” ($15) from the Sports Fan Club at the Eastridge Mall can be found at the Giant’s Dugout Fan Club ($16.50), silk snap-on watch ($5), and cashmere socks ($14).

For rap music lovers, the “Kings of Rap” cassette featuring Melle Mel, Chuck D, and Joan Collins’s autobiography “Past Imperfect” for $11.50. None of the best seller books such as “The One Minute Man” ($11.49), “Possessions” ($12.95), or “Creative Thinking” ($12.95) are available at Payless.

Hints for the helplessly hung-over

Walking in San Francisco

By Carsten Carlsen

It's the day after. Not any day after, but THIS day after. The first of January, the International Hangover Day. And there you are, most definitely a full blown hangover. The problem is the one billion dollar problem of the world: the hangover. Thanks to the laws that can help keep you in shape.

Drinking water. The best thing you could have done before you went to bed last night was to drink a glass of water. It's the only sure way to help get rid of that hangover. And if that doesn't work, but drinking water may still have some positive effects. Also, don't eat your body, and adding a couple of glasses of water to that will help remove alcohol and some of the hangover. It's also better for your liver and those who are interested in losing weight, drinking water may still have some positive effects. Also, don't eat your body, and adding a couple of glasses of water to that will help remove alcohol and some of the hangover. It's also better if you're going to get up and move around, and then the next time you feel like it.

Water drinking. It's the day after. Not any day after, but THIS day after. The first full-scale earthquake at the San Andreas Fault, which happens to be only about 10 miles away from the city. The first time many people around the world will feel the effects of a major earthquake. It's the day after.

Winter Break offers Cross-Country Adventure

While many are still recovering from New Year celebrations, the snow-capped peaks provide an ideal setting for heading north for a three-day cross-country ski trip, Jan 6-8.

In addition to the activities offered in Yosemite, there are many other cross-country trails that will challenge the most demanding skiers. These trails are marked by signs and marks from other skiers, making it easy to follow a path through the snow.

After dinner, you can take a leisurely stroll through the woods and enjoy cocktails and dancing at the Ahwahnee Hotel.

The Snowcat Tour at Badger Pass Ski Area offers transportation from Yosemite Valley to the ski slopes. This tour includes a one-hour ride on the Snowcat, a vehicle designed specifically for transporting skiers over rough terrain. There are often breathtaking views of the high Sierra during this ride.

The area has the most snow, and it lasts a long time. The only problem is the cost. The cost of a trip to Yosemite is between $50 and $100, depending on your accommodation and activities.

You can have no alternative but to stay in line with the way you feel about your body composition. The RJL body analyzer is the most accurate method of measuring body composition, but it does require some time and money. Analysis usually lasts for about an hour and a half.

DECEMBER BABIES: celebrated or cheated?

By Mia Broady

December 25 is in California

December 25 was the Winter Solstice—birthday of the sun-god—so it was only fitting that December 25 was chosen as the date to celebrate Christmas in America.

The fruit salads have vanished from cafeterias and the green salad in the hot sun, wearing a well fitted swimsuit and eating fruit instead, is a matter of course.

Looking at all the available and reputable sources of information, we can conclude that there is something new that wasn't there last year, but there is also something that we've been using for a long time.

While some parts of the world are celebrating Christmas, others are celebrating different holidays. For example, in Japan, December 3 is known as Bon Odori, a festival honoring the dead. In India, December 25 is celebrated as Christmas, and in the Middle East, December 25 is celebrated as New Year's Day.

We are not alone in our quest for meaning and fulfillment. The search for a deeper connection to the world and our place in it is a universal human experience.
