

Publish or Peril:

Educating Students on Open Access, Author's rights, and Putting their work into an Institutional Repository.

Introductions

I'm Teresa Slobuski,
Liaison Librarian at San Jose State University.

Who are you?

Special Thanks to..

Janice J. Baskin, Director of Library Publications at Azusa Pacific University for suggesting the topic.

Poll Questions

- Does your university require students to place their thesis/dissertation in an IR?
- Does your university submit thesis to Proquest Dissertations and Thesis?
- Does your university have other student work in the IR? (E.g. Student run ejournal, other projects?)
- Does your university promote open access publication for your faculty?

Break Out Questions

- How is your university/college currently educating students about open access?
- Does your campus have a method of teaching students about their author's rights?
- What are the pros and cons of placing student work in an IR or other open systems?
- What are ways we can do more?
