

Call for Papers

Secrecy and Society An open access peer reviewed journal

Special Issue: Pandemic Secrecy / Volume 3, Issue 2

This special issue of Secrecy and Society will explore “pandemic secrecy,” or the concealment of information concerning aspects of the COVID-19 global crisis, including secrecy's relationship with:

- accountability
- agency (regulatory) capture
- censorship
- conspiracy theories
- disaster and risk communication
- ethics
- freedom of information
- informed consent
- intellectual and academic freedom
- knowledge production
- language and framing
- patents
- policies
- political communication
- record keeping, data collection, and official statistics
- research and peer review
- technology
- theoretical aspects of pandemic secrecy

We welcome interdisciplinary work from researchers and scholars outside the U.S. Pseudonyms are acceptable. Book reviews are also sought for this special issue.

Calendar

Paper submission date / August 15, 2024

Issue published / December 31, 2024

Style Guidelines

For information regarding style, see

<https://scholarworks.sjsu.edu/secrecyandsociety/styleguide.html>

Contact

secrecyandsociety@gmail.com